JAPAN NEEDS AMERICAN AID BUT MAY HAVE TO OPPOSE U. S.

Russia Working to Form Triple Asiatic Alliance Against West.

JAPS ANNOYED

Want Exclusion Laws Changed—Russians Resent Refusal of Recognition.

Russia Working to Form Triple Asiatic Alliance Against Western Powers—Japanese Smarting Under Exclusion Laws Want a Change in Our Attitude—Chinese Likely to Take up Discrimination When They Become Powerful—Russians Resent Our Refusal to Recognition — Opportunity for America to Help Develop Japan.

BY UPTON CLOSE

"When an Asia awakened everywhere stands behind Japan in her demand for the abolition of racially discriminatory treatment your Congressmen in Washington may not feel so free to ignore the feelings of us on this side."

Minoru Oka, ex-Cabinet Minister, Japanese delegate at Versailles; editor of the leading economic publication in Japan and "policy" editor of the Tokio Asahi and Osaka Mainichi (combined daily circulation of 2,500,000), was speaking. He showed no rancor; he is one of the least militant of Japanese leaders.

Leadership in the revolt of Asia against white dominance and discrimination has suddenly passed from Turkey to China—from the European to the Pacific front. At the same time the championship of "white civilization" and the prestige of the white nations has passed from Great Britain to the United States.

Great Britain's hands are tied by an idealism, however faulty, which has come out of Moscow; which causes British labor to side, to its own material loss, with Chinese coolies against its own Government, and grooms China and Afghanistan to knife Great Britain in the back just as the British groomed Japan to strike Russia before 1894.

"Age of the Pacific" is Here.

"The Age of the Mediterranean has passed, the Age of the Atlantic is passing, the Age of the Pacific is upon us," said Theodore Roosevelt. Were he living today he would point out that it is here, with Russia, China and the United States facing one another across an ocean which thus far has not been streaked with blood, and he would say, in harmony with his policy when President, that the fundamental principle of America's statesmanship should be the creation of an upstanding, friendly Japan.

Although it is a principle that the "near rivalry always overshadows the far grudge," Japan is certain to be forced into a "Triple Alliance of Pacific Asia" unless she is given not only friendly words, but definite aid by us. Since the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, at the insistence of the United States and the British Dominions, and the passage of the American immigration act of July, 1924, which convinced Japan that she could never make real friends of the Anglo-Saxon duo, Japan feels she is the most isolated nation on earth.

Russia Bidding for an Alliance.

No country that does not produce its own iron and coal or all of its own food can afford to remain isolated. Russia is bidding for Japan's friendship, as is shown by the recently renewed fishing, mining, timber and oil concessions in Siberia and Saghalin Island, some of them taken from previous American concessionaires like Sinclair.

In 1922 I was sent by General Wu Pei-fu, then dictator of China's Government, to greet Abraham Adolph Joffe, the first Soviet Ambassador to arrive in the Far East. After traveling with him from Harbin to Peking I published in an American magazine that Russia's ultimate policy in Pacific Asia was the formation of a triple alliance of Russia, Japan and China. Every Russian-engineered development since has been in that direction.

Russia has concluded very intimate treaties with Japan and the Peking Government. She is aiding with advisers and her merchant fleet on the Pacific Asian coast the Cantonese Nationalist government. This fleet has made the arms embargo of the Western Powers against Canton practically ineffective. Russia is carefully avoiding a clash with Japan in Manchuria, while at the same time checkmating her in every move to support an anti-nationalist movement in China.

Willing China Should Lead.

The result is that Japan has resigned herself to the Chinese nationalist movement, and will be the last Power to offend it and the first to recognize it.

"We recognize," said Mr. Oka, "that China is going to take political primacy in Pacific Asia away from us. But we can endure that—turning our ambitious national spirit toward cultural rather than material achievement—if China will enforce world-wide respect for the dignity of our race."

The feeling in Japan against our method of restricting immigration, which they regard as our arrogant placing of the yellow man in a lower category of the human race, is vrey deep. Nor is time mitigating it a particle.

"There is not a Japanese," said Yusuke Tsurumi, who is building a Young Men's Liberal Party upon the ideals of President Wilson, "who would not give his life today to remove the stigma which he feels has been gratuitously placed by your Government upon our nation. We wait and trust for the better nature of your people to assert itself."

United by "Inferiority Complex"

Americans do not realize that this feeling of "inferiority complex" may unite Japan, China and Russia against us. China boycotted American goods in 1886 in resentment against our exclusion act. Only more urgent troubles have prevented Chinese prosecution of this grudge. Will a China on her feet as a first class power submit to the treatment extended her merchants, professors and students in American immigration stations?

A Chinese student said to me: "God grant I live to see the time when every American who lands on Chinese shores is put through the indignities I suffered in one of your ports!"

The core of the Russian hostility to America and all our institutions is a very similar resentment to that in Japan and China at the "Holier than thou" attitude they believe we take. Here is the issue of human sentiment that means more to the Pacific Asian nations than commerce and trade—which may easily unite its great potentialities against us.

The feeling in Japan can be allayed by admission of Japanese on the percentage basis applied to all other peoples. One-hundred and forty-nine Japanese would be allowed in each year (less than are actually squeezing in now).

Chance for Close Relations.

But another wonderful opportunity for building friendship is extended. American capital is invited to build Japan into a self-reliant, friendly Power. She has reached the point where only large amounts of capital from the outside can speed up industrial development fast enough to maintain her people in their present standard of living.

Her desperate economic situation is shown by the annual yen 250,000,000 unfavorable balance of trade. Japan has been paying out this of her gold reserve, with the result that this reserve has dropped two-thirds in the last five years. Today it is barely sufficien to cover the reserve for her paper currency. A decision by American women to cease wearing silk stockings would throw Japan's whole economic system into panic, for 40 per cent of her exports, the bulk of which are silk, go to America.

Yet Japan is fundamentally sound. She is merely in the position of an expanding business needing additional capitalization.

"If I am given the government," Mr. Tokonami, leader of the Seiyohonto party, said to me, "my foremost concern will be the encouragement of American investment in this country. Why is it that Americans will put unlimited money in every other country in the world, and pass over Japan, who has never defaulted nor postponed payment on an obligation?"

DEFENCE SCHOOL WELL UNDER WAY

Students From Dominions and British Services Attend Imperial College.

LONDON, March 18 (Canadian Press Despatch).—The new College of Imperial Defence, in which Brig.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, deputy chief of the Canadian general staff, and Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., are the Canadian "students," is now well into its first term. It was foreshadowed by the Earl of Balfour last summer when he dealt in the House of Lords with the government's policy for co-ordination of the fighting services.

The aim of the new institution is the study of the problem of the defence of the Empire, regarded not as a series of naval, military, and air questions, but as a single method of controlling and employing all those forces which go to make up the strength of the Empire for war. Hitherto there has been Naval War College, where the question of maritime operations have been studied; and Naval, Military, and Air Staff College with their specialised functions. Although excellent progress has been made of late years in bringing these seminaries into closer touch one with another, there has been an obvious need for a central institution where the correlation of the three Services throughout the whole Empire should be the chief, if not indeed the sole, study. The College of Imperial Defence now fills the gap.

The Commandant is Vice-Admiral Sir Herbert Richmond, whose appointment has been viewed by the three Services as an earnest of the success of the new venture. He is assisted by a staff of three distinguished officers drawn from the Navy, Army, and Air Force respectively.

The whole science of war being now in such a state of flux, it is probable that commandant, staff, and students will at first be content to study the problems of it rather than to attempt to arrive at solutions. The present course will last throughout the year, and is confined to a maximum of 30 students in quotas from the Navy, Army, Air Force, India, the Dominions, and the home Civil Service. Normally the quotas are five each for the groups named, but as all are not taking up the full allotment this time the Navy and Army furnish six each. The first course will therefore be attended by 25 officers. Captain G. C. Dickens, C.M.G., R.N., Colonel J. G. Dill, C.M.G., D.S.O., from the 2nd Infantry Brigade, and Group Captain P. B. Joubert de la Ferte, C.M.G., D.S.O., are the instructors for their respective Services; but the appointment of a civil instructor is temporarily in abeyance. The permanent secretary, who will also be the librarian, is Major L. A. Clemens, M.C., transferred from the Secretariat of the Committee of Imperial Defence.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

WATER POWER PROGRESS.

Q.—What was the water power progress in 1926?

A.—365,000 horse power of water power was developed in 1926, representing an additional capital investment of $25,000,000, making a banner year in hydro-electric enterprise, while other projects under way will add another $1,700,000 horse power to the total development, bringing it up to 5 millions.

HE COULD remember when the whole office had called him "the coming man." . . . What a difference now! He was barely getting along! His pep, his energy, all his old-time fight were gone. His prospects shattered! What had happened?

Constipation is the cause of much unhappiness and ill-health. It wrecks strength. It saps vitality. It sickens the mind and body! Yet, it can be relieved—yes, prevented! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring safe relief—prompt prevention!

Why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines—at the same time it gently distends them, purifying, removing wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is usually too small to be effective. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN—because it is 100% bran.

No need to risk habit-forming drugs!

How different is ALL-BRAN from drugs and pills—whose dose must be constantly increased to remain effective! ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak a few moments to bring out its full crisp flavor. Mix it with other cereals. In soups. Try the recipes on every package.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

Don't risk part-bran substitutes. Insist on genuine Kellogg's — the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

SOCIETY

Messrs. J. Skinner, J. McDonald, and T. Hooper attended the Owen Sound-Montreal hockey game in Toronto last evening, and were also guests of the Kiwanis Club at the dinner in the Prince George Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton are spending several months in California.

Last evening a Shamrock tea was held at the home of Mrs. E. L. Woodley, 566 Chamberlain Street, under the auspices of Group Number Three of the Women's Missionary Society of St. James' United Church. The attendance was large and the event proved very successful. Decorations of the house and arrangement of the refreshments were carried out in the emblematic green and white of the day. A musical programme included contributions by Mrs. P. Dallin, Miss A. Crocker and Miss M. Wood, who gave vocal solos, Mr. and Mrs. McLaren, Miss Wood and Mr. Rowe, who rendered vocal duetts, and Mesdames English and Rowe and Mr. McLaren, who gave readings.

About thirty members of the Kiwanis Club were in Toronto last evening, as guests of the Riverdale Club at a banquet held at the Prince George Hotel. Kiwanians and their friends, to the number of about one hundred and fifty, were in attendance at the function, also members of the West Toronto and the Downtown Kiwanis Clubs. A feature of the evening was the presentation to the Peterborough Club of the travelling cup which is presented yearly to the club having the most mileage, the idea being to promote inter-club visiting. A very fine musical programme included readings by J. Cameron, noted entertainer of Toronto, and numbers by a vocal quartette composed of Mr. and Mrs. Vandervort, Miss Butt and Mr. Binns. Among the local Kiwanians who attended the affair were President I. McNabb, Dr. and Mrs J. J. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKone, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. I. Lillico, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. Johns, Dr. and Mrs. E. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. M. Bredin, Mr. and Mrs. H. Boyle, the Misses M. Merrell and B. Conroy, Messrs. C. Elliott, J. Chadwick, J. Dewart, H. Dicken, H. Huffman, H. Niven and R. Irwin.

Mrs. T. G. Grieve, Brock Street, and Mrs. H. Strickland, of Toronto, who have been visiting in the city, are spending the day in Lakefield.

A very successful Shamrock tea was held yesterday afternoon in the Guild Room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. Decorations were appropriate to the season, and an effective table arrangement included a green hat filled with yellow daffodils and surrounded by green tulle, and green candles in silver holders. The guests were received by the president of the W. M. S., Mrs. Robert Hall, assisted by Mrs. Wm. Allan, Mrs. W. R. Turner and Mrs. H. B. Cowan. Tea was poured by Mrs. E. F. Mason and Mrs. R. Davidson, assisted by Mrs. F. Weir, Mrs. J. Marsh, Mrs. J. P. Pulkinghorn and Miss E. Cameron. Mrs. J. Garbutt acted as general convenor. A sale of home-made cooking was in charge of Mrs. R. H. Hunter and Mrs. S. Taylor.

Mrs. George Foster, Aylmer Street, representing Vimy Ridge L.O.B.A., and the Misses Flossie Brown and Myrtle Frost, representing Eastern Star L.O.B.A., are in attendance this week at the convention of the Lady Orange Benevolent Associations of the province, being held in Cornwall.

A very pretty and well-attended St. Patrick's Day tea was held yesterday afternoon in the sitting-room of the Parish House of St. John's, under the auspices of the Church Women's Association. The decorations were carried out in a manner appropriate to the season, the assistants wearing white dresses, green caps and shamrock aprons. The table was very attractive with its color scheme of silver and green, its lace cloth and basket of spring flowers, banked in tulle of Nile and emerald green, and green candles in silver candlesticks. The guests were received by the president, Mrs. A. H. Stratton, and Mrs. C. L. Brewer, general convenor of the group which has charge of entertainments for March and April. Tea was poured by Mrs. A. Stevenson and coffee by Mrs. W. J. Kent, assisted by Mrs. F. L. Roy, Mrs. R. Denne, Mrs. E. J. H. Vanston and Mrs. G. Lyons. The sale of delicacies was in charge of Mrs. Webber Turner and Mrs. J. J. Howden, and Mrs. W. Sangster officiated as treasurer.

At the conclusion of the performance of "My Irish Rose" by the dramatic Club of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, given in the Grand Opera House last evening, the cast was entertained at a banquet held in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum, Simcoe Street. The director, Mr. J. J. Southern, was presented by the cast with a handsome pair of military brushes, the presentation being made by John Holland, with an accompanying address read by Charles Carson. Rev. P. Costello, Rev. J. McAuley and Rev. G. Maher were present, and made complimentary addresses.

The "Y" Men's Club entertained their friends at a ladies' night held at the Y.M.C.A. last evening. A dinner was followed by a theatre party at the Capitol. About thirty people were in attendance.

An informal and jolly St. Patrick's Day party was held at the Y.W.C.A. last evening by the ladies' kymnasium classes. After a series of games and contests, refreshments were served in the green room, from a prettily decorated table. Prizes for costumes went to Mrs. R. Hall, as George Young; Miss Jeffrey, as an Irish Maid; Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, in pretty Irish costume; Mrs. S. Hetherington, as Topsy Turvy Irish, and Miss M. Jory, best man. Judges were Mrs. D. Drummond, Mrs. H. Foote and Miss C. Littlefield. Prizes for races were won by Mrs. G. Gibbons, Mrs. S. Hetherington and Mrs. R. Hall, and for group competition singing by Mrs. C. Westbrook's group, singing "John Brown's Body," and Miss E. Mitchell's group, singing "Jingle Bells."

Mrs. E. Morrison, superintendent of the Y.W.C.A. residence, entertained the girls at the house last evening at a dinner held in the dining room. About eighty-two guests were present, including several of the Board members; also Mr. and Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, Mr. and Mrs. D. Wren, and Dr. and Mrs. A. Moir. The decorations were in keeping with the season, and the tables were very attractive. Tall green candles in green glass holders formed centrepieces, with flat large green shamrocks, little Irish flags and frilly green baskets for sweetmeats. A real shamrock boutonniere was at each place also. The curtains of the room were decorated with huge shamrocks, and an Irish flag occupied one side of the wall. The programme included an excellent dinner of Irish atmosphere, and several contests. The table winning one of the contests was represented later by the reading of an excellent original Irish poem by Mrs. E. Harvey, its composer.

A number of radio "fans" report the reception last night very clearly of the vocal solo, "The Last Rose of Summer," broadcasted by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, from Station CJYC. As broadcasting from Toronto is not always well received here, they were pleased to get this local artist in such satisfactory manner.

To celebrate the birthday of Judge Daniel Patrick O'Connell, formerly of this city, a dinner and bridge party took place last evening at his home in South Drive, Toronto. The guest of honor was showered with tributes of the day, and the table was gay with a profusion of St. Patrick's colors and favors.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Faith was so angry when she left Blumfeld's fur shop, with the mink coat again safe in the suitcase, that she forgot her timidity and her fears. Before that saving anger had cooled down she was back on State Street, and, within five minutes, demanding, haughtily, an audience with the manager of an exclusive establishment before which she had hesitated in an agony of indecision less than an hour before.

Not even the thick-carpeted, silk-draped elegance of the shop daunted her. She held her head high as slim, haughty princesses of the world of fur coat models paraded past her, staring at her obliquely out of mascaraed, faintly contemptuous eyes.

"This way please," a suave young salesman beckoned to her.

She followed him up a broad marble staircase to the offices on a balcony overlooking the display rooms.

"Mr. Garner will see you, Miss." The salesman opened a door for her and she entered a private office sedate with mahogany and Oriental rugs.

Conscious that she looked out of place, in her shabby clothes, in the magnificence of her surroundings, she did not allow herself to resent the fact that the thin-faced, keen-eyed man at that desk did not rise to greet her. She set her suitcases down close to the door, then approached his desk, still buoyed up by her righteous anger.

"I am Faith Lane," she began without a tremor. "My sister, Cherry Lane Wiley, has asked me to sell her mink coat, and I have brought it to show to you."

"Cherry Lane Wiley?" To Faith's intense surprise, the stern face of the fur shop manager relaxed into a smile that was almost eager in its excitement. "The copper-haired mur—I beg pardon! Of course I've been following the case. I'm extremely interested. Have a seat, Miss Lane. Happy to meet you. Now, tell me—what will her defense be?" He leaned forward with boyish excitement.

"I—please, Mr. Garner, I'd rather not discuss the case," Faith stammered. "Thanks very much for your interest. I—my sister—we are desperately in need of money, Mr. Garner. We are working people, or rather, we were working people, until this thing happened. Cherry worked and my father and brother. Now there is only Junior—" She caught herself up sharply, ashamed that she appeared to be appealing to his sympathies. "I am merely trying to explain why it is necessary for us to sell anything of value that my sister owns."

"I understand," Mr. Garner nodded. "Let me see the coat. Garner's does not buy used fur coats, but I can probably direct you to a manufacturing furrier who will give you the best price possible."

When the beautiful coat was in his hands, the fur shop owner drew a sharp breath of admiration. "Perfect! Finest skins! Perfectly matched! You ought to get a good price for this Miss Lane. I'll call up Frankel myself. But—just a minute. Have you any credentials with you? It's just a form, of course. I believe you are what you say you are, but as a matter of business.—"

Faith opened her handbag and drew out a folded slip of paper which carried Cherry's formal conveyance of the coat from herself to Faith. It had been Bob's foresight which had armed her with this protection.

The interview with A. Frankel, the manufacturing furrier, took place in Garner's private office. Garner seemed loath to have Faith go out of his life, thus breaking his prized personal contact with a famous murder case.

"Sure, I take it," Frankel, a tall, thin, flat-stomached young Jew, said almost immediately. "Already I got a customer for this coat."

"Do the right thing by Miss Lane now, Abe," Garner admonished him.

"I tell you, Miss Lane," Frankel became familiarly confidential, as he tapped her on the shoulder. "Miss Peggy Brainerd, the musical comedy star, is a customer of mine from long back. She says to me only last Saturday, she says, 'Abe I got a sugar daddy that's loosened up on the fur coat proposition. You find me a nice mink coat, and sell it to me at manufacturer's prices, and I'll send a couple of other girls to you.' I do a little private business on the side, you understand, Miss Lane. I manugacture furs for Garner and all these swell shops in the Loop, but I got me some private customers, too."

"Maybe Miss Brainerd wouldn't want the coat, if she knew—" Faith began, blushing uncontrollably.

"Knew that it belonged to Cherry Lane Wiley, the jazz mur—" Frankel began.

"Whoa, Abe," Garner warned him. "Sure! Excuse it, please, Miss Lane. I'll give you a receipt for the coat, and tomorrow or today maybe I get hold of Miss Brainerd, and make a bargain with her. To you goes one thousand dollars now—whether I sell the coat or not!" he exclaimed, with a large gesture, as if he were conferring upon her the wealth of the Indies.

Faith's heart sank. "Only a thousand?" she asked faintly. "It cost thirty-five hundred dollars—"

"From a swell Fifth Avenue shop, that made a thousand dollars profit," Frankel shrugged. "And it was new then. Now it is second-hand. Yeah yeah, I know. It looks so good as new, but it's second-hand, and I'm lucky if I get my money back."

Faith turned appealing to Garner, who nodded slowly. "I think you'd better accept Frankel's offer, Miss Lane. It's really a generous one, under the circumstances."

A few minutes later Faith folded Frankel's check and placed it in her purse. After all, she consoled herself, a thousand dollars was a large sum of money. It would buy food and clothes for the Lane family for months. And there still remained the other suitcases. Stooping swiftly, she lifted the heavy case and opened it on a chair.

"Look!" she cried, hope routing her feeling of humiliation. "This is the wedding dress. Made by a famous Fifth Avenue modiste, to Cherry's order. Of course it's awfully tiny," she deprecated, "but there are a good many tiny girls these days. Isn't it adorable?" she added wistfully, as she held the shimmering satin, embroidered with tiny pearls and rhinestones, against her own tall, splendid figure.

Frankel and Garner handled the exquisite dress almost reverently, looking at each other questioningly from time to time, and uttering little clucking sounds of admiration.

"It's sure a swell dress, Miss Lane," Frankel told her. "And the wedding veil, too! I never seen no prettier in all my life. Wait! I got an idea! No, tomorrow I tell you. Pack these things back up in your suitcase and take 'em back to the hotel with you. Don't let anybody else see them, get me? I got a swell idea!"

As she left the room a little later, Garner was holding Cherry's note between his fingers, while the two men sat close together in conference, Frankel talking in low, excited tones, Garner nodding thoughtfully.

Topic for the Week.
"CHRIST IS A SPIRIT"
Friday
"It Means He is Present With Us"

SCRIPTURE: Read—John 16:1-24. "Lo, I am with you always even unto the end of the world" (Mt. 28:20). "It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I go I will send Him unto you" (Jn. 16:7). "I can do all things in him that strengtheneth me" (Phil. 4:13).

See—Matthew 18:20; John 14:18, 19.

MEDITATION: Jesus of Nazareth could be with only a few people, and that for a short time. But Christ as the living Spirit can be with everyone everywhere, and always. Is it not good therefore that Jesus exchanged physical presence for spiritual? Now the Holy Spirit, who "shows us the things of Christ," deals with us directly in our hearts. In these inner experiences Jesus Christ is with us. May my contemplations open the door for His presence and make me a self-sacrificing servant of mankind.

"The heaven of heavens cannot contain Thee, but the broken and the contrite heart can; it is there Thou delightest most to dwell."

HYMN:

O Master, let me walk with thee
In lowly paths of service free.
Tell me Thy secret, help me bear
The strain of toil, the fret of care.

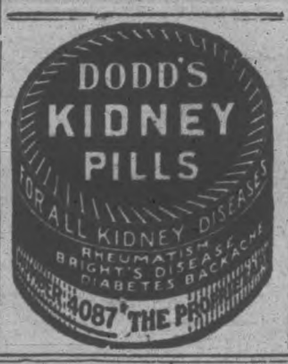
Teach me Thy patience; still with Thee
In closer, dearer company,
In work that keeps faith sweet and strong.
In trust that triumphs over wrong,

In hope that sends a shining ray
Far down the future's broadening way,—
In peace that only Thou canst give,—
With Thee, O Master, let me live.
—Washington Gladden, 1879.

PRAYER: Thanks for the gospel record.

Pray for—presence of Holy Spirit; travelers on land and sea.

Collect—O God, who dwellest in the beauty of holiness, we praise Thee for the beauty of the earth, for loveliness embodied in noble men and for the revelation of Thyself in Jesus Christ the incarnation of Thy conquering love. We are covered with shame at the thought of Thy faithfulness for we have not been ever true to Thee. Keep us from infidelity to Thy friendship. Save us from treachery of soul. From the choice of evil and from the enthronement of the lesser things, deliver us. Awaken in us a living sense of Thy Spirit. Give us hunger and thirst for righteousness. May our hearts burn with the presence of Christ in us. So would we enthrone Thee, trust Thee, love Thee, obey Thee; all by the grace of Christ. Amen.



DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The hat and bag are made of ribbon shading from pastel blue to navy and the white scarf is trimmed with ribbons of the same sort.

Some women never actually buy any ribbon by the yard. They may not even know that they wear any ribbon—yet ribbon is very much employed this spring and it would be hard to find any spring wardrobe that did not include ribbon in some form or another. The milliners have made use of endless yards of ribbon, not only to trim hats but for the actual covering of the hat itself. Sometimes a hat with scarf to match is made of the same sort of ribbon, and it is possible to have purse, hat and scarf all made of ribbon of the same sort.

Gloves with ornamental cuffs are frequently finished with narrow ribbon. Sport frocks have ribbon belts finished with buckles. Attractive little hand bags of the pouch variety may be made from ribbons and the ornamental waistcoats which are so much favored for wear with the new spring tailored suits are often more conveniently made from lengths of ribbon than from silk of other sort.

Flutings or bandings of ribbons are often used to introduce a colorful bit of decoration on some of the new spring frocks and sashes of wide ribbon with enormous bows and ends of the ribbon at the side are gaining favor as spring advances. At a recent wedding, fichu frocks of creme de menthe green tulle were decorated with wide green ribbon of the same sort, that was drawn twice around the hips and then tied in large bows at the side. Bridesmaids walking at the right had their large sash bows at the right hips, while those at the left wore their bows at the left.

Variety seems to be characteristic of the present vogue for shoulder and buttonhole artificial flowers. There s no one sort of flower that you can say "everyone is wearing." Carnations, chrysanthemums and gardenias have been much worn recently, but with the approach of spring all sorts of spring-time blossoms will be chosen—jasmines, pansies, wall flowers, white violets, corn flowers, forget-me-nots. One thing is certain and that is that there will be no lessening of the fashion for artificial flowers—but to be worn effectively they must be of a very good quality and perfectly fresh. Nothing detracts so much from the effect of an otherwise smart ensemble as a cheap flower or one that shows marks of grime or wear.

BOY OF EIGHT RESCUES GIRLS

Draws Two Lassies His Own Age From Grand River at Galt.

DURING FLOODS.

GALT, March 18.—Stanley Bates, aged 8, of Wellington street, is today Galt's youngest hero. He rescued two girls, Beatrice Robinson and Peggy Elliott, both about 8 years of age, from drowning in the swollen Grand River.

Since the flood children have been attracted to the river. The two girls were standing on the bank, when suddenly both fell into the water, probably because of an attack of dizziness.

The two girls were in the grip of the current, which began to draw them from the bank, when young Bates climbed over blocks of ice. He pulled the Robinson girl out of the water, and the little Elliott girl managed to get a grip on a piece of ice, but she became dizzy and was about to fall back into the water, when he reached her and brought her safely to shore. The water in the river is still high on account of the flood on Sunday night.

GENERAL STRIKE ORDER SENT OUT

Chinese Labor Leaders Call On Men To Maintain Order.

CLASH REPORTED.

SHANGHAI, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)—The General Labor Union today issued a communique calling a general strike to begin to-morrow at noon and continue until the Nationalists (Cantonese) occupy Shanghai.

The communique calls on the workers to maintain order and avoid becoming involved in any mob action, and notifies the public that the strike is purely of a political nature and intended to show sympathy with the Nationalist cause in the fight against the Northerners.

Detachments of Northern troops have been ordered along the Shanghai-Nanking railway in an attempt to prevent workers from leaving.

A report from Peking to-day says coolies belonging to the "avenging society,' clashed with British marines at Chungking yesterday and seized naval stores being conveyed from a boat to the British canteen ashore.

The marines, who were unarmed, were accompanied by British Consul Pratt. They gave chase when the coolies seized the stores ,and the latter dropped them. When the marines picked up the goods again, however, the mob attacked them with sticks and stones and the British were forced to abandon the supplies. The British suffered no serious injuries.

FORCED TO SIGN CHECKS.

SHANGHAI, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)—C. E. Geddes, formerly head of a well known British firm, told the police to-day that he had been locked in his own house by four armed Chinese and forced to sign checks totalling eight thousand taels ($4,800).

TWO CITIES THREATENED.

SHANGHAI, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Both Nanking and Shanghai are seriously threatened by the Cantonese armies which are engaged in a large scale offensive against the Northerners to the north-west of this city.

The violence and scope of the Southerners' thrust ,together with the defections from the Northern ranks, indicate the early fall of Nanking and the possible isolation of Chang Tsung Chang's Northern forces in Shanghai, in which event this great International port would become an easy prize for the Southerners.

The strongest pressure is being exerted in the directions of Chengchow, Wusih, and Soochow, all of who are on the railway between Shanghai and Nanking. The latest successes of the Southerners include the capture of Wukiang, a short distance south of Soochow, and Lishui, south of Nanking.

STRIKE CALLED AS TEST.

LONDON, March 18. — (United Press.)— A general strike has been called in Shanghai for Saturday and Sunday as a test to see whether a strike for a long period would be practicable, E. Ashemead-Bartlett, the Daily Telegraph's correspondent reported to-day.

Ashemead-Bartlett cabled that the Cantonese had occupied Lishui and that Guerilla bands had cut the Shanghai-Nanking railroad again above Soochow.

SOLDIER DROWNED.

CHUNGKING, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)—More than a hundred passengers are believed to have been drowned last night by the wrecking of the motor vessel 'Chengfu' in the Yangtse river.

Most of the victims were soldiers. The disaster is attributed to the soldiers' demands that the vessel undertake to navigate this dangerous stretch of river at night, contrary to usage.

ROBBERS TIE UP POLICE OFFICER

PORT HOPE, March 18.—One of the most sensational robberies and hold-ups that have occurred in Port Hope for many years took place here early yesterday morning, when two unidentified thugs bound and gagged Constable William Harvey and then looted Patterick's clothing store to the etxent of $300 worth of clothing and $33 in cash. Local police were soon on the trail of the hold-up men and travelled as far as Toronto, where the city authorities were given descriptions. As yet no reports have been received regarding their apprehension.

Constable Harvey states that he was making his usual rounds, and that when walking around the rear of the stores on Walton Street, he was confronted by two young men armed with revolvers. The constable was ordered to keep quiet and his revolver and flashlight were removed. Powerless to do anything he was taken to a neighboring garage, where he was gagged with pieces of dirty blanket and tightly bound with a strong clothes line.

His assailants then forced an entrance to Pattenick's clothing store on the main street of the town and in full glare of street lights. Clothing was carefully examined, and more than $300 worth of merchandise was stolen, including overcoats, suits, boots, caps, suitcases, etc. The cash register was pilfered and $33 was stolen.

Constable Harvey succeeded after a time in freeing himself from his bonds and, together with Chief of Police Thomas Murphy, commandeered a Toronto delivery truck, the driver of which had noticed the bandits proceeding in a westerly direction. The pursued car was not overtaken, but Toronto and police of other near-by centres have a description of the car and men. The number of the car was obtained before it left Port Hope by a night workman who was on his way home.

Higher Earnings

Can Reasonably Be Expected

—says Saturday Night

IN its Gold & Dross columns, Saturday Night gives investment advice which is manifestly unbiased and conservative. Every opinion expressed is made on the basis of cold analytical study, and is therefore authoritative.

What Saturday Night says with reference to the attractiveness of the 7% First and Refunding Income Gold Bonds of Canadian Department Stores Limited, should therefore be helpful to all investors. The following statement appeared in a long article published in the issue of March 12:

"It is reasonable to suppose that centralized buying of merchandise from large manufacturers and consolidated operation will increase the net earnings. This will depend mainly on the experience and ability of Mr. G. H. Rennie, President and General Manager, who had with the Robert Simpson Company Ltd., a remarkably rapid rise to the position of Assistant General Manager. He is off to an excellent start in his new task in view of the fact that many of these stores are the leaders in their particular communities, and have all been established for a period averaging more than 44 years."

Lowest Prices This Season Recorded By Wheat To-day

CHICAGO, March 18.— (Canadian Press.) — Fresh downturns carried wheat to-day to the lowest prices this season. Selling was due largely to continued favorable crop advices, especially from the south-west telling of prospects nearly perfect with about a ten per cent. increase of acreage. Opening unchanged to 3-8 off, wheat underwent a material decline all around. Corn, Oats and Provisions were also weaker, Corn starting unchanged to 3-8 cents off and subsequently showing a decided general drop.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 1.35 7-8, July 1.30 7-8; Corn, May, 76 3-8, July 80 3-8; Oats, May 45 1-4, July 45 1-2.

Contest For Chocolate Malted Milk Drinking Record Ends Before Contestants Consume 4 Quarts Agreed On

Two youthful men of the city last night came pretty near to setting a record which might have gone down to fame along with the annals of coffee-drinkers and pancake eaters. They set out to consume quantities of chocolate malted milk. This beverage is refreshing and nourishing, if taken with discretion. The young men bet each other that they could down the contents of a glass pitcher, four times refilled, at a sitting. This pitcher is a sizable one and would hold quite easily the contents of four small cups, or almost a quart of liquid. To make away with enough chocolate malted milk to fill it four times was the wager, which came pretty near to being implemented. The "Little Mary" of one drinker (to give the stomach the poetic name bestowed upon it by our English cousins), revolted at the third pitcher, and the complexion of the other turned a delicate green along about the middle of the last. Probably both had enough chocolate malted milk to last them for some time. Neither won the bet.

TIME TO START TENDER PLANTS

Many Can Be Sown Now in Boxes To Give Them Start.

OTHER PREPARATIONS.

Many tender bedding plants for the window box and hanging baskets can be grown by the amateur if started indoors this month, while the hardier sorts if given an earlier start in this way will come into bloom several weeks sooner than if planted directly in the open. The same is true of many vegetables, such as tomatoes, cabbages, lettuce, melons, and even a few beets, carrots and hills of corn. Starting these indoors will materially hasten the time when they will be ready for the table. A shallow cigar box or something similar is the best thing to grow these in where space is limited, or if there is plenty of room a florist's "flat"—a shallow box 12 inches by 18—may be used. Punch a few holes in the bottom of the box to allow drainage, and add a layer of cinders or gravel to serve the same purpose. Get some fairly good soil, and break it up fine. If there is not a supply already in the cellar, the nearest greenhouse man will be glad to sell some. Moisten the earth, then mark off the rows, which need only be one inch apart, sow the seed, and cover the top of the box tightly with a piece of sacking or burlap. This keeps the seeds from washing away and hastens germination. It is best to start the seeds in a warm, dark place, and when they have pushed up through the soil, remove the burlap, and give them full sunlight. Unless there is a storm window on outside keep the box back at least eight inches from the glass to avoid drafts and low temperatures.

Making the Hot Bed.

Where one has a larger garden and wants to get off to an early start, it is better to build a hot bed than to try and grow the early plants indoors. Secure a supply of fresh horse manure, which has been turned every day or so to prevent burning, and store this in some sheltered spot until ready to use. The hot bed should be located where it will be convenient for the attendant, and it must be protected from the north and west winds by fences, buildings or shrubbery. Make a pile of the manure eighteen inches deep, and be sure it is well pressed down. If drainage is good, a hole may be dug and the manure placed in this. On top of the manure place a light frame of wood any desired size and cover tightly with a window sash, sloping this a few inches towards the front which must be south. Cover the manure with three or four inches of fine soil. The bed will heat up rapidly at first, but by the fourth day will have cooled down sufficiently to allow planting. In cold weather water sparingly and only on bright days. Ventilate a little every day by raising the sash, keeping this open longer as the days grow warmer. Plants should be transplanted once, and hardened off in a cold frame, which is similar to the hot bed only without the manure, before being set outside.

Watch the Lawn.

A careful inspection of the lawn is advisable as soon as the frost comes out of the ground. The past winter has been particularly severe on wintering grass and clover, some of the coldest weather occurring when there was little cover of snow. As a result, there has been a good deal of freezing and thawing, which alternately contracting and releasing the top layer of the soil breaks off many fine roots and thus kills the grass and clover. To correct this condition, it is advisable to go over the lawn in early spring with a heavy roller or pounder. Bare and thin spots should get new seed and plenty of it. Sprinkling this over a late snowfall is a good plan, especially when the snow is melting and will disappear in a few hours. The seed will work down into the soil and germinate in a few days.

Plant Sweet Peas Early.

There is another early job. Sweet peas should be planted just as soon as one can work up the ground. These will come along in first-class shape no matter what the weather following planting is like. It is best to dig a trench about a foot or so deep. Place a layer of rich soil or rotted leaves or manure in the bottom, covering it with about six inches of fine loam. In this plant the sweet peas about three inches deep, and an inch apart. The rains will gradually fill in the trench, and the plants will develop a very deep root growth as a result, which will protect them against summer droughts. Get the very best seed possible, and try some special shades. After the peas have come up an inch or so, thin out to four inches apart, and supply brush work, strings or poultry netting at least thirty inches high for the vines to climb on. Wire netting is the least desirable for this purpose, as it is liable to injure the growing plants.

Save broom sticks for stakes, and small boxes for indoor planting. Spread manure on the garden as soon as it can be procured. Do not be in a hurry to remove the winter cover from the perennial bed and tender shrubbery, but do not leave this there until the young growth is smothered.

Mrs. W. R. Bennett, 2307-14th St. West, Calgary, Alta., writes:—"Over a year ago, before my twins were born, I had an attack of pneumonia which left me with a very bad cough.

Thy duty do and shun it not;
To the path of duty keep,
Though it be an upward steep.

Life was meant to be a task,
Not in noonday sun to bask;
If you ask in humble prayer,

Through the heat and crowded mart.

Soon will come the rest and shade,

TWO ATTEMPTS TO RUIN PLANT

Water Drawn From Boiler and Pump Motor Stopped.

WATCHMAN BEATEN.

GRIMSBY, March 18 — Two attempts to wreck the plant of the Growers' Cold Storage and Ice Co., Ltd., were discovered just in time to avoid disaster. Early yesterday morning all the water was drained from the boilers in the engine room, and when a thorough investigation followed the discovery Chief Engineer Southward found that a motor in the pump house had been stopped and that the whole plant was threatened with a deluge of ammonia gas.

Night Engineer George Brignell discovered that the boilers had been drained. Had he attempted to turn water into the hot boiler, a disastrous explosion would have followed, officials say. He called other employees, and the fires were immediately drawn. The second attempt threatened not only the property but the lives of all the workmen.

Officers of the company say they cannot explain what they term definite attempts to destroy their plant. About two weeks ago the night engineer was knocked unconscious by two armed and masked men, but no attempt was made at that time to damage the property. Provincial Police are conducting a thorough investigation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE CHRISTIAN'S HOPE

Text: John 14:1-3; 2 Corinthians 5:1-10; 1 John 3:2 3.

Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.

In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.

And if I go and prepare a place for you I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also.

For we know, that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven:

If so be that being clothed we shall not be found naked.

For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.

Now he that hath wrought us for the selfsame thing is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord:

(For we walk by faith, not by sight:)

We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord.

Wherefore we labor, that, whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him.

For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.

Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is.

And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself even as he is pure.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 20. The Christian's Hope. John 14:1-3; 2 Corinthians 5:1-10; 1 John 3:2, 3.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D.,
Editor of The Congregationalist.

The first two passages that have been chosen for this lesson emphasize the Christian's hope as the hope of immortality. They look beyond this life to the life eternal, and they are clear and definite in their assertion of the hope that this life is but a phase of eternal life in the mansions of God.

The third passage, however, interprets this hope and gives it its true setting in the foundations of present experience. The hope of the life beyond comes from the life that now is. The fact that the gift of God is eternal life rests upon the evidences of the eternal in the life that God has given us.

It is the fact that we are now the children of God that leads us to believe that it is not yet made manifest what we shall be, and that enforces the hope that there are larger and richer experiences as we come more fully to know the Master and to see him as he is.

A Persistent Idea.

The idea of a life that would be freed from many of the present limitations of sense is one that is very persistent in human thought concerning life. We are conscious in many ways of the limitations of the senses through which we experience the world. And there are glimmerings in human experience of a life that rests more upon intuition, and upon some form of spiritual apprehension and contact.

There can be no doubt that Jesus lived pre-eminently in a world of such intuition and apprehensions. He felt the reality of the eternal and the permanency and power of the things that cannot be seen.

Think of what these things are that cannot be seen! We cannot see goodness, though we can behold its manifestations. We can not see truth, though we may apprehend its forms. We cannot see love, though we may feel its quickenings and its inspirations. We cannot see courage, though we know the reality of that power which moves men to great deeds and which upholds them in crises of danger.

Is this world of these unseen things less real, less vital, than the world of our material sensations? Is not Jesus speaking the language of reasonable assumption and common sense when he says, "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you?"

There is a place for hope in life because the place of love in life is so secure. If we lived in a world without love there would be little hope of immortality. There would, in fact, be little hope of anything worth while. It is in this sense that love is greater than either hope or faith, the three abiding verities.

The Use of Hope.

But hope, it should be realized, is related to living. What is the use of hope unless it makes our lives more worthy of all that we hope for? So John, as he speaks of this great experience of love, and the hope it gives of larger experience, says: "Everyone that hath this hope in him purifieth himself even as he (that is, Christ) is pure."

The hope of immortality cannot be separated from the beauty of good living. What would there be to live for immortally unless our lives were worth continuing?

So immortality touches present life. We are living the immortal life daily, or we are not living it at all. Paul said, not the gift of God will be eternal life, but "the gift of God is eternal life."

PIE SOCIAL HELD

Norham United Church Ladies Provide Good Programme.

WARKWORTH, March 18.—A pie social under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Norham Trinity United church was a great success. At eight o'clock the hall was crowded.

Mr. John Diamond in his genial manner acted as chairman. His task was not a hard one as he had before him a copy of the best programme that has been given in Norham for some time. After a few well chosen remarks by the chairman, the following programme was given:

Opening Chorus—Homeward Bound.

Recitation— A Small Boys' Prayer, by Miss Mildred Curtis.

Debate—Resolved, that the automobile has been a benefit to the country. The affirmative side was taken by Mr. Norman McCubbin and Mr. Oscar Laver. The negative side was presented by Mr. Ewart Huycke and Mr. Ivan Denike. Each speaker presented his arguments in a very forcible manner. The judges, Mrs. C. H. Curtis, Mrs. Lorne Evans and Mr. Fred Huycke, after carefully considering the points, awarded the decision to the negative side.

Comic quartette—O-p-r-a, rendered by Messrs. F. H. Huycke and C. H. Curtis, Mrs. F. H. Huycke and Mrs. William Grant.

Recitation—Rastus Brown's Sermon on the War, by Miss Laurel Arkils.

Solo—Mr. R. T. Knight.

Recitation— The Cattle Thief, by Mr. C. N. Curtis.

Male Chorus—Hear Dem Bells.

The committee, Mrs. F. Huycke, Mrs. J. Diamond and Mrs. Lorne Evans, is certainly to be congratulated on this splendid programme.

After the programme pies, sandwiches, and coffee were served. There was Cream pie to the right of us,
Lemon pies to the left of us,
Berry pie in front of us
Pies by the hundred.

There was apple pie passed to us
And also cherry pie passed to us,
And how some ate so much
Everyone wondered.

FIGHTS TONIGHT

With Tex Rickard's promise that he will give him a place in his heavyweight tournament as an incentive apart from anything else Quintin Romero Rojas the South American champion will surely be on his mettle when he boxes the Canadian champ, Larry Gains in Toronto tonight. It will be the first appearance in Canada of the notable Chilean and his compatriots are preparing a royal reception for him. Rojas is as big an idol in Chili as Firpo is in the Argentines.

ROJAS WORKS OUT

TORONTO, March 18.—Rojas, the Chilean candidiate for the world's heavyweight championship honors arrived in town Wednesday morning and worked out in the afternoon before a select audience of newspaper critics at the Union Jack Club. He looks heavier than his 195 pounds and shorter than his 6 ft. 2, though impressively long and rangy. Evidently he has been in hard training to be expected from a battler in the elimination tournament at Madison Square Garden, New York.

The visitor is not as fast or shifty as Larry Gains, the local heavy who engages him at the Coliseum tonight, but he is built more on the lines of his opponent and is not of the stocky, blocky type.

The work Wednesday was largely of the gym kind, but the Chilean seems to have been through a stern session of training and handles himself like a man who knows his business.

He has every appearance of being a hitter and his record rather bears that out. He also has plenty of confidence and his win over Gains in Paris tends to make that firmer. In fact he brought with him as a gift to his opponent three snaps of their Paris battle which showed Larry getting none the better of the argument, the third showing him stretched out dead to the world. The idea is to not let Gains forget, but Larry thinks he can turn the tables this time.

The other four bouts on the card are only slightly less interesting than the main squabble. All but the curtain-raiser are really tests as to whether the boys are ready to step up to Canadian championship standards in their classes and that applies especially to Cliff Graham, "Frenchy" Belanger, and Doug Lewis.

TO REPORT IN COURT.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 18.—Abe Robinson, of Madoc Township, who was rearrested after being found not guilty on a charge of murder, was yesterday examined for mentality by Drs. The report of the findings will be given in court when Robinson appears on the 22nd.

Robinson was not put in jail, but allowed to walk about the streets or anywhere he desired to go, but always in company with a constable. He is living at the Queen's Hotel, and does not appear to be discomfited by the predicament that he finds himself in. 'I am sane and always have been so," said Robinson, "and I cannot understand what it is all about."

STOP LUMBERING AROUND APSLEY

Lumbermen Making Preparations Now for Drive Down Eel's Creek.

GOOD WINTER

APSLEY, March 18.—With the advent of the big thaw which is now in progress all lumbering operations have stopped. Camps have broken up and most of the men are home again. Eeels Creek shows signs of breaking up and preparations are being made for the big drive of logs which is ready to be started for Peterborough. It has been one of the best winters in history for lumbering in this section of the Province.

The motor trucks of D. Brown and George Stephens made their initial trip to Lakefield and Peterborough on Monday.

Wolves have frequently been heard during the past two weeks within a mile or two of the village. They are chasing the deer from the vicinity of Jacks Lake into the swamps just east of here.

MAROONS SAFE IN THIRD PLACE

Beat Americans, Ending Their Chances of Getting Into Play-off.

N.H.L. SCORES.

MONTREAL, March 18. — Montreal Maroons clinched third place and a play off berth in the International section of the National Hockey League when they beat a crippled New York American team here last night 2-1. The defeat ended any chance the Americans had of qualifying. It was a ragged game, and the second string players were the only ones to show real hockey.

Montreal took a two-goal lead on tallies by Phillips and Carson. Roach brought the Americans close with a goal near the end of the middle period. In the final session the Americans threatened and but for the brilliant goal minding of Benedict, would have tied the score. Americans were without Billy Burch and Lionel Conacher, $7500 a year stars, who have been indefinitely suspended by Manager Newsy Lalonde for failure to observe training rules and keep in condition.

PITTSBURGH 6; CHICAGO 2.

PITTSBURGH, March 18. — After losing five games in a row, the Pittsburgh Pirates showed a complete reversal of form last night and defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 6 to 2 in a National Hockey League contest. The Black Hawks got off to an early start when Dye and Trapp scored after a few minutes of play but their leadership was short lived. Pittsburgh scored two goals in each of the three periods.

OTTAWA 1; BOSTON 0.

OTTAWA, March 18. — Ottawa Senators stretched their point lead in front of the Canadian circuit of the National Hockey League to three full games by routing the Bruins of Boston 1-0 last night; "Hooley" Smith banged in the lone tally after nine minutes of play in the opening period, when he blazed in close to trick the Bruin net tender on a rebounding shot.

RANGERS 2; DETROIT 0.

WINDSOR March 18.—Extremes of the American group of the National Hockey League met here last night and the section-leading New York Rangers shoved the Detroit Cougars farther into the cellar by a 2 to 0 score. Bill Cook made both goals and was unassisted on each. The game was hard and 13 penalties were inflicted.

HOCKEY RESULTS.

The scores of hockey games played last night were as follows:

O.H.A. Memorial Cup.

Eastern Final.

Owen Sound 5, M.A.A.A. 1.

National League.

Ottawa 1, Boston 0.
Montreal 2, Americans 1.
Rangers 2, Detroit 0.

GREYS ENTER FINAL GAMES

Eliminate M.A.A.A. Team From Memorial Cup Eastern Finals.

FLASH IN THIRD.

TORONTO, Mar. 18 — Owen Sound Greys qualified for the Canadian junior championship at the Arena last night with their 5 to 1 victory over Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, but the Quebec champions were gloriously heroic in defeat, and gave the kings of the Ontario kids the greatest of scares. Seldom has such pluck been shown in any hockey game, and the gameness of Lorne Whyte, the M.A.A.A. goalie, will long be remembered by the crowd, that was thrilled by his display. Whyte sustained a broken nose in the first ten minutes of play and was carried from the ice, unconscious and covered in blood, but after medical attention at the hospital he returned to his post between the pipes, allowing Ewing, the regular left winger, to help out the rapidly tiring front line. Ewing stepped before the strings in the emergency and guarded the goal while the regular net minder was being repaired and he did his work well.

The Ontario titleholders greatly underrated the team from Montreal and were almost caught napping, being held scoreless until well on in the second period. The Greys could get close to the cage, but there their efforts ended, as the Montrealers stole the puck or lifted the carrier's stick, just as he was about to shoot. The Winged Wheelers checked back consistently but lacked team play or finish, although they had the material for a real championship team. Individually they were brilliant, skating well, while every player knew how to hande his stick, their clever manipulation of the rubber baffling the Greys' best.

Many times the Montrealers weaved their way through the Greys and in on top of the goal, but they could not pick corners, and their drives on the nets were easily handled by Benny Grant.

Greys Only Go in Flashes

The Greys won the game in the second period with a brief flash of the hockey they played to conquer Iroquois Falls Eskimos, sweeping in on the M.A.A.A. cage for three quick counters. Markle started the scoring on a long drive through a maze of players, while Shrimp McDougall added two more in the next two minutes on sensational solo efforts. Only in the two minute rampage that landed three tallies did the Greys have a chance to show their real ability.

GRADS LEAVE FOR THE WEST

Play in Finals to Represent Canada at Olympic Games.

ALLAN CUP SERIES

TORONTO, Mar. 18 — The Varsity Grads departed from the Union Station at 9 o'clock last night via Canadian National Railways to play in the finals for the Canadian amateur hockey championship, the Allan Cup, and the right to represent Canada in the Olympic hockey series at St. Moritz, Switzerland, next year.

Ken Lash, manager of the Grads, is unable to make the trip, and Frank Fisher will be in charge, and the following will make up the U. of T. party: Dr. Joe Sullivan, Norbert Mueller, John Porter, Ross Taylor, Frank Fisher, Hugh Plaxton, Dave Trottier, Dr. Lou Hudson, Frank Sullivan, Charlie Delahey, Bert Plaxton, Grant Gordon, Coach Conn Smythe and Trainer Joe Carruthers.

It is expected that there will be a large crowd at the station to give the team a send-off.

The Grads will arrive in Winnipeg on Saturday, when a workout will be held, and Calgary will be reached early on Monday morning, when the players will get another chance to stretch their legs. The eastern champions arrive in Vancouver on Wednesday morning, giving them three days' rest before the first game of the finals on Friday, March 25. The second game will be played Monday, March 28, and if a third contest is necessary it will take place Wednesday, March 30.

Accompanying the Grads will be the officers and eastern delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, which opens in Vancouver on Friday, March 25, at 10 o'clock in the morning. President George B. McKay, of Kitchener, and Treasurer Sheriff J. F. Paxton, of Whitby, will represent the Ontario Hockey Association; Dr. Hutt, of Chesterville, the Ottawa and District Association; Major Stuart Forbes, of McGill University, the Intercollegiate Union, and Frank Morrissey, of Montreal, the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association. Registrar Treasurer W. A. Hewitt, of Toronto, and Vice-President W. A. Fry, Dunnville, are the C.A.H.A. officers from the east, who will be on the same train. P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic committee also will be in the party.

JOHNSON WINS BILLIARD TITLE

Defeats Osborne by Ninety-Three Points in Final Game.

AMATEUR HONORS

TORONTO, March 18.—J. Johnson of the West End Canadian Legion Club is the amateur billiard champion of Ontario by virtue of his victory Wednesday night at Wednesday night at Brunswick hall over H. S. Osborne at the same club in the final block of their 1,000-point match.

At the commencement of the night's session Osborne was in play with an unfinished break of 6. This, however, he only carried to 14. From this on the game proceeded very slowly and evenly until Johnson put in two breaks of 35 and 46 respectively, followed by 37 and 21 in successive visits to the table. At this stage Johnson was leading by 140 points, when Osborne made a grand recovery, making two breaks of 52 and 47 in succession.

At this stage Osborne looked to be in striking distance, being only 30 points behind, but Johnson with his usual determination went ahead again with breaks of 31, 32 and 21, finally winning out by 93 points. The score was: Johnson 1,000, Osborne 907.

The game from a spectator's point of view was exceedingly interesting. The championship being at stake, the game at all times was a battle of wits. Each stroke received very careful attention on the part of both players. It seemed to be a matter of who got let in for a break, the fact that Osborne was defeated being largely due to the fact that he got few good "leaves," and was at times unfortunate in losing his opponent's ball, which compelled him to bring his breaks to a voluntary close.

California has an automobile for every 2.9 persons.

Dr. Jennie C. Murphy of Yankton, S. Dak., was the first woman street commissioner in the world.

Bank Robber's Moustache Results In Identification

DETROIT, Mich., March 18. —Harry Smith, 26-year-old bank robber, who was shot and killed yesterday in front of the Maccabee Temple, Putnam and Woodyard Avenues, when a detective recognized him as a suspect, was identified at the county morgue as the man who robbed the Peninsular State Bank branch on Mack Avenue of $1,492 two days ago.

Smith's vanity in refusing to shave off a little brown moustache caused Detective John Lawrence to recognize him and resulted in his death.

INCREASED GRANT FOR OLYMPIC TEAM

Dominion Government Considering Request for Grant to Can. Representation.

OTTAWA, March 18—The Dominion Government has at present under consideration a request for an increased grant to enable the sending of Canadian athletes to next year's Olympic games in Amsterdam. The request was conveyed to Premier Mackenzie King Wednesday by a committee composed of Chairman P. J. Mulqueen of the Canadian Olympic committee; Dr. A. S. Lamb, honorary secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada; Prof. Thomas Loudon of Toronto, and William Foran and Harvey Pulford, of Ottawa.

The delegation was received by the prime minister and Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of finance. They were given a cordial and sympathetic hearing, and both the prime minister and the minister of finance promised to carefully consider the matter.

The addtional expense that will be incurred through the enlargement of the Canadian contingent to the Olympic games was pointed out by Chairman Mulqueen.

For many years the Olympic committee has received a grant from the Dominion Government, but the inclusion of ladies' sports on the Olympic program will necessitate an increase, and this was stressed by Chairman Mulqueen.

STUDENTS COMING TO TABERNACLE

Young People Will Conduct Special Services on Sunday.

There is coming to Bethany Tabernacle a group of twelve young people, students of the Canadian Bible Institution of Toronto, for the services on the coming Sunday. These young people are fired with Christian zeal for the salvation of the young people everywhere, and the work of the Lord. This group and others have visited different places near Toronto, and always have brought blessing by their consecrated preaching and singing.

The students will be under the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hammond, who were greatly used of God last summer in Western Canada. Others of this group spent their vacation preaching in the mining, lumber and construction camps of Northern Ontario under the Shantymen's Christian Society.

There will be three big meetings. Morning service at 11.00, an afternoon service at 4.00, and a great closing meeting at 7.00 in the evening.

The students will render special music at each service.

KIWANIS TALK IS GIVEN TO-DAY

District Secretary Gives Splendid Address on Kiwanis Education.

AT NOON LUNCHEON.

That the educational committee was the little red school house of Kiwanis, was the declaration of J. Smyth Carter, District Secretary and a member of the Toronto Downtown Club, in speaking to the Peterborough Kiwanis Club at their luncheon today.

A feature of the luncheon was the presentation of a magnificent silver cup which the local club had won by reason of their efforts during the past year in inter-club visiting. The presentation was made by Past President J. J. Craig. T. Mark also presented a cup for the best team in a ten weeks' attendance campaign.

The booster for the day was C. D. Cook. The prize winners were Walter Kidd, A. J. Reynolds, and J. R. Marshall. The programme was supplied by E. Vern. Morphet, who rendered a monologue and a song.

J. A. McKone delivered a few interesting sidelights on the inter-club visit to the Riverdale club of Toronto, which took place yesterday.

J. Smyth Carter

Mr. Carter prefaced his speech by making many complimentary references to the local members, many of whom he had met in Toronto. He was exceptionally pleased, he said, to be able to come to Peterborough and meet the remainder of the club. He extended the greetings from the Toronto club, also of the District Governor, and assured his listeners that the Peterborough members were always welcome at any time.

A little trait of character very necessary in life, he said, is imagination —a man does not get very far unless he visualizes things.

The motto of Kiwanis club is "We Build." Just visualize a building representing International Kiwanis and District Kiwanis, he said.

Underneath the superstructure, he continued, you must have a firm foundation; that is the unit club, and your club is one.

"What is Kiwanis education?" he asked. "It is a passing into the minds of the Kiwanian the principles and the objective for which Kiwanis stands."

The first thing necessary to Kiwanis education is a chairman and a committee. They really feature the big job in Kiwanis.

Before a man becomes a Kiwanian he should be told what it means; that it is not a pastime club; that fun is simply a by-product; that it is a club of endeavor, which accomplishes things. Talks on Kiwanis principles, he said, could not only be made interesting to new members but arranged so that the older members would benefit as well.

The flow of education should be continuous and should include in addition to the new member and the old, the public, many of whom have wrong conceptions in regard to the organization.

"The big feature of Kiwanis," he said, "is that there is something to work for and as one goes along life's highway he is pleased to look back on the good things that he has done. In retrospect one thing always stands out," he said, "and that is the little red schoolhouse, where most of us received our education. The educational committee of the Kiwanis Club is the little red school house of Kiwanis—think of it in this way and you will bless the day you joined the club," he concluded.

The thanks of the members was conveyed by F. H. Dawson.

JONES—In loving memory of my dear sister, Mrs. George Jones, who died on March 18, 1926.

I know she suffered day by day,
It caused me bitter grief

My lips cannot say

My heart cannot tell

God only knows how I
miss her,

Attacked By Thugs While On Way Home From Business.

KINGSTON, Ont., March 18.—E. C. Pearson, proprietor of the College Inn Bowling Academy, reported to the police that he was assaulted about one o'clock this morning by one of two men who gave him a "lift" in an automobile on his way home. The men were strangers to him and it is the opinion of Mr. Pearson that they intended to rob him but at the last minute got "cold feet." Mr. Pearson was very roughly handled by one of the men and as a result was confined to his bed all day today, but no serious results are anticipated.

It appears that a car came along Princess Street about 12.45 as Mr. Pearson was leaving the bowling academy to go to his home. One of the men called out to Mr. Pearson, "Going up," and offered to give him a ride. He got in the car and asked to get out at the corner of Princess and Frontenac Streets, so as to go home, but the men would not stop the car and carried him on to the corner of Victoria Street, three blocks away. Here the car was turned and as Mr. Pearson got out, he was attacked by one of the men. Mr. Pearson, who has but one arm, beat off the man as best he could. He told the fellow he had no money and the man who had remained in the car told his companion to "lay off." Mr. Pearson was then allowed to proceed to his home, and the car drove off.

FACE TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Vaughan and Mrs. Fisher Committed For Killing of Fisher.

SHOW NO EMOTION.

TORONTO, March 19 — John Albert Vaughan and Mrs. Myra Fisher who are jointly charged with the murder of Albert Fisher at Woburn, on Feb. 7th last, were duly committed for trial by Magistrate Browne in the County Police Court yesterday. Their trial will likely take place at the Spring Assizes in April.

A. R. Hassard, counsel for Vaughan, argued strongly that no sufficient evidence had been adduced to warrant sending the prisoners up for trial, but Magistrate Browne was adamant, and declared that if counsel argued until doomsday he could not change his opinion. "I find as a matter of fact," he said, "that the crown has established a prima facie case, and the evidence points to the guilt of the accused, Mrs. Myra Fisher and John Albert Vaughan."

The committal was made following the evidence of Inspector Hammond, who was the principal witness at the hearing yesterday. The inspector told of finding blood stains on Fisher's car, and recounted his conversation with Vaughan and Mrs. Fisher. It appears from his evidence that Vaughan had at first denied seeing Fisher's body in the burning shed until help arrived, but later admitted that he saw the deceased on the floor with his clothing in flames. He had done nothing to put the fire out, explaining that he did not wish to throw water on the gasoline.

Neither Mrs. Fisher nor Vaughan exhibited the slightest emotion when the decision was announced.

Before supper was announced the bridal couple were called to the sitting room, where a shower of numerous and beautiful gifts were brought in a large clothes basket. Among the gifts was a half dozen silver tea spoons from the Five Hundred Club of which the groom is a member.

In a previous account of the Greenly-Shore nuptials a correction is to be made. Instead of Miss Verna Hay assisting the bride, it should have read Miss Verna Shore, sister of the bride.

SAINT and SINNER

After leaving Frankel and Garner, Faith went immediately to her hotel where she locked the suitcsae containing Cherry's exquisite wedding dress and the few other articles of her trousseau in the closet of her room. The sight of the empty suitcase which had held the luxurious, glistening mink coat wrenched her heart with pity for Cherry. But a little glow of triumph routed the pain. After all, she had a thousand dollars in its place, and a thousand dollars meant comfort for three or four months for the Lane family.

She had an early dinner in a fantastically decorated tea room, ate slowly and with a faint edge of appetite, profoundly grateful for the fact that none of the stout, discontented-looking women who nibbled gluten bread and drank sugarless tea gave her even a second glance.

In her home town she could not have taken a bite unobserved; every eye in the tea room would have been devouring her, avidly curious as to how she was "taking it"—her relationship to an accused murderess.

But here in Chicago she was merely a pale-faced, sad-eyed girl, not pretty enough to attract attention and too shabbily dressed to be looked upon with envious, speculative eyes.

It was equally satisfying a little later to find herself an unobserved atom in a great, rococco palace devoted to vaudeville and motion pictures. She even laughed, aloud at the antics of a comedian, and when the "feature picture" began to unreel, she forced herself to concentrate on the complicated foolish story as if it were the most important thing in the world. She was feeling almost cheerful and quite pleasantly tired and ready for bed when she returned to the small, ugly hotel.

The night clerk was obviously excited when she asked for her key.

"The lobby has been full of reporters all evening, Miss Lane, waiting to see you. A couple of them are still here."

"Oh!" moaned Faith, casting a desperate, hunted look over her shoulder. "I don't want to see any reporters, please! Can't you help me? How did they know I was in Chicago?"

Before the clerk could answer a long-legged, carelessly dressed, sharp-faced young man came slouching toward the desk, removing a battered felt hat and extending a cordial hand as he did so.

"Miss Faith Lane? I'm Evans of The Chroniele. Sorry to trouble you so late, but we want a follow on that yarn The Express is running about your being here to sell your sister's trousseau for funds for her trial. Great stuff! I got a cameraman here, and we'd like some pictures of you with the wedding dress. The Express is running a front page splash, showing Peggy Brainerd in the mink coat—"

He stopped only when Faith held out her hands imploringly and looked as if she were going to faint.

"Please!" she gasped, so white that pity flickered for a moment in the reporter's keen blue eyes. "I had no idea the papers would get hold of this! I—can't pose for you. And—" she caught her breath sharply, "I have nothing else to sell." Her contralto voice, richened by tears, quivered on the lie but her eyes met his defiantly.

"Maybe you'd like to see The Express," the reporter suggested, drawing a folded paper from his coat pocket. "They sure splurged on it. And it's up to me to get a good snappy follow on the story."

The paper shook violently in Faith's hands as her horrified eyes took in the great headlines and the two-column picture which occupied the center of the front page.

"CHERRY'S TROUSSEAU SAVES STARVING KIN," declared the seven-column streamer head in the paper which shook in Faith's trembling hands. A two-column "cut" in the center of the page depicted Miss Peggy Brainerd, Chicago's musical comedy favorite, posing in Cherry's gorgeous mink coat Faith had sold to Frankel that afternoon.

"Not superstitious!" declared a line of capital letters below the picture. "Lovely Peggy Brainerd purchases mink coat given to Cherry Lane Wiley, described as the most beautiful girl ever indicted for murder in the United States, by her aged fiance, Ralph Cluny, for whose death Cherry will stand trial in January. Miss Brainerd flashed her famous 'million dollar smile' when a reporter for The Express asked her if she had any qualms about wearing a coat which had once graced the beauty of an accused murderess. "That makes the coat priceless. I am happy to own it,' she retorted."

"I don't think I want to read it," Faith shuddered, dropping the paper to the floor and turning back blindly to the desk. "Please give me my key."

"But Miss Lane," Evans protested in a cordial and sympathetic voice. "It is our desire to help you sell the rest of Cherry's—your sister's—things to the best advantage. I've got a swell scheme—"

"That's what Frankel said—he had a swell scheme," Faith answered him with bitter weariness. She turned away from the desk with her key in hand. "And this is the result. I am betrayed into the hands of the press again. Oh, don't you see what it's done to me? I came here to raise money—and we're not 'starving kin'," she interrupted herself passionately.

She began to walk toward the elevator, her head averted from the reporter who was following her. There was the report of a flashlight.

"Oh, why can't you leave me alone?" she begged piteously. "Surely we have trouble enough without—"

"Listen, Miss Lane," Evans begged, real contrition in his voice. "You can't escape publicity to save your life. And you admit that the family needs money. Now I've got a proposition to make to you. If you'll let me photograph the wedding dress and the other clothes you brought here to sell, I'll guarantee to create such an interest in the things in the minds of the public that they'll bring enormous prices. You can't afford to miss a chance like this. Be reasonable!"

"I can't argue with you. You wouldn't understand." Faith passed a hand across her tear-filled eyes. "But I can't do it. If we were actually starving, we'd rather starve than capitalize Cherry's troubles. She is innocent, and I shall never forgive myself for having added to her humiliation. I know you meant well, but—oh, please let me go."

The second reporter who had been lounging in the smoking room hurried forward as the elevator answered Faith's summons. So piteous with appeal was her face that the colored elevator operator voluntarily pushed aside the two reporters when they tried to enter the car.

"Thank you!" Faith sobbed as the car shot upward. "This is for you." And she fumbled in her purse for a dollar bill.

"Keep yo' money, lady," the colored boy grinned, sympathetically. "Ah was in trouble mahself once."

Astrologers read this as rather an unimportant day in planetary direction.

There is a benefic aspect for all who engage in correspondence, but there should be special caution in love letters.

The seers warn that another period approaches when women will be exceedingly pertinacious in their pursuit of romance.

Again the planetary influences so apparent in the World War when women were keenly emotional are discerned by astrologers.

There will be many unwise love affairs and disastrous marriages in the coming months, it is foretold. The young will be wiser than their elders.

Women are to be prominent in all industrial contests, it is prophesied and one great leader is to develop in coming events which will be extraordinarily exciting.

There is a sign of fair promise to-day where the navy is concerned and apparent honors for naval officers.

Religious matters will come to the fore again and missionaries will be involved in world conflicts, it is prophesied.

A great fire in London or some other city in the British Isles is foretold by astrologers.

Saturn is to have a disturbing influence in Austria and also in Czecho-Slavia.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect good news as a result of secret plans. The year should be prosperous.

Children born on this day are likely to be exceedingly easy to mold according to preconceived plans. They should be highly educated.

Although a benefic aspect dominates to-day, it is not a fortunate one in planetary influences, according to astrology.

The sun enters Aries to-day with aspects presaging three months of sensational world events.

Aviation and wireless will assume new importance, owing to international matters, and wonderful inventions will be introduced.

Censorship of the foreign press is foretold and in consequence a great protest is to arise.

Seditious propaganda will be widely disturbed and the secret service may reveal a startling plot of some sort.

Governors of states and even the President may be assailed furiously owing to the machinations of secret enemies, it is foretold.

With the rapid passing of many men who have been long national figures, new leaders will arise and among them will be trained educators and heads of big organizations.

The Masons, Elks, and other fraternal organizations are subject to conditions making for growth of influence and apparently they are to perform important public service.

All the signs seem to presage startling evolution in invention and trade, but at the same time destructive forces will be strong.

Food is to occupy attention and methods of concentrating it so that it can be easily transported will be devised.

Chemistry is to become more and more important in world economies and while it will be responsible for many blessings it will make possible a gas more terrible than any yet dreamed of, the seers prophecy.

Pereons whose birthdate it is may meet certain severe tests in the coming year, which should be on the whole prosperous.

Children born on this day probably will have high ideals and often will be disappointed, but they should have ability to perform important work in the world.

The scarf tied on the shoulder is of plaid silk to match the sports stockings.

Fads have an odd way of passing off the stage of fashion for a season or so and then reappearing. There is no sort of novelty in the reappearance but it is usually received with rather a warm welcome.

Kerchief squares worn loosely around the neck or shoulders and tied in a knot at one side were popular two or three years ago. The fad waxed and waned as is usually the case and no one thought anything more about it. This winter these knotted squares reappeared at some of the winter resorts.

The square neck scarf was favored last summer. In France it seemed to be preferred to the scarf of oblong shape, perhaps because it lent itself to use with the two-piece tailored suit rather better than did dht oblong scarf whose long ends got in the way of the closing of the jacket. They were usually worn with ends at the front, either hanging loose or else lightly folded over. There are crepe de chine squares of a bewildering variety of colors to choose from and some of the new squares are of chiffon.

Color combinations for spring are sometimes quite daring. One of the noted French dressmakers has made a green skirt with an old rose jumper. Paquin uses embroidery that looks like silk braid in rainbow stripes to edge gray silk crepe. Turquoise blue evening gowns are worn with pink roses. The fashion for vibrant blue shades grows with the season and there are charming afternoon frocks of georgette and other light-weight materials showing the combination of three shades of clear blue. Some of the French dressmakers are even making evening frocks of georgette in the bright indigo shade that we call royal blue. A red and white foulard frock from one of the French houses has a navy blue coat with lining of red and white foulard.

Absinthe green and mustard yellow are spoken of as new colors in Paris—and it is now taken for granted that navy blue shall be worn with pink. Once we might have considered this as rather an obvious color combination—if not actually insipid. But the dressmakers have got over their frantic straining after what appears to be sophistication and are giving us color combinations that are quite frankly pretty and becoming.

BOSTON CREEK DISTRICT

Our recent reports on this property have pretty fully covered the situation. There is nothing particularly new to add. The most important work going on at present is the driving of the cross-cut on the 1,000 ft. level. It is expected that this work will show the necessary improvement in ore grade to enable the property to at least break even on operations. From our own knowledge of the property we can only say that there are undetermined prospects at this depth which will have to be proven. Work above this 1000 ft. level has to date failed to show sufficient ore of a high enough grade to operate the property so that it could pay its own expenses. Financing has been carried on so that the difference between production and operating loss has been regularly taken care of. However, there is a limit to financing of this kind and when a property has reached a depth of 1000 ft. in this country, and has a mill on it and in operation supposed to be good for a tonnage of 150 per day, it is as a general rule expected to pay its own way, so that while financing will undoubtedly have to be continued we would not be surprised if in the near future those parties who up to date have been doing the financing would begin to see the error of their ways and realize that they would be well out from under.

In the mine itself, outside of the work mentioned above on the 1000 ft. level, some ore is being obtained from the 807 vein, on the 800 ft. level. This ore is very similar to that which was obtained on the upper level. It is also decidedly limited in its extent, so that unless a very decided improvement, which by the way we don't expect, takes place on the 1000 ft. level, the property will continue as in the past, to operate at a very decided loss. We consider it to be a prospect only. Recently the shares of this Company have had a very considerable drop and we still consider that they are selling a great deal too high for a decidedly unproven prospect.

Wall Street Unsettled By Break In Houston Oil

NEW YORK, March 19 (Canadian Press).—A sharp break of approximately 10 points in Houston Oil, combined with the cropping out of a number of new weak spots in other section of the list, finally unsettled today's market after an earlier period of ups and downs, as control of the price movement shifted from one speculative group to another. Operators for a rise endeavored to maintain bullish enthusiasm by extending support to United States Steel Common, General Motors, Lacawanna, and some of the other recent leaders, but bear traders continued their persistent campaign for vulnerable specialties. Warner Pictures "A," which had been under heavy liquidation for about a week, broke three points to a new low for the year. Lackawanna, concerning which rumors of special dividend distribution have been revived, was bid up to 162, the highest price since 1921. Burns Bros. issues, which were weak yesterday, received better support on the assurance of officials that dividends on the "A" stock would be maintained. Philadelphia Company crossed 100 to new high record and a better demand was noted for Pierce Arrow, Hudson, Delaware and Hudson, New Haven, Gulf, Mobile, and Northern, and Norfolk and Western. The closing was heavy. Total sales approximated 900,000 shares.

Trading In Mines Active; Wright-Hargreaves Features

TORONTO, March 19 (Canadian Press). — Trading was active and steady on the Standard Mining Exchange today. The market was broad with gains and losses being about equally divided. Wright-Hargraves provided the feature price movement by soaring 40 cents to 10.90. McIntyre was another strong spot, advancing 15 cents a share to 25.50. The balance of the dividend-paying gold stocks were firm and unchanged.

South Keora, after yesterday's drastic decline in which it dropped 49 1-2 points from 64 1-2 to 15, showed a firmer tendency today and moved up six points to 21. Nipissing gained 5 to 8.40. Argonaut Consolidated firmed a half to 35 in active trading. Barry Hollinger was weaker, declining a half to 42 1-2. Noranda featured the unlisted section with a gain of 10 cents to 23.90. Amulet dropped 5 to 128. Central Manitoba Gold weakened 3 to 115. Potter Doal gained one to 52.

Cosmos Features Trading On Toronto Stock Market

TORONTO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Cosmos Imperial Milling again featured the trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. It was the leader in activity and scored a gain of 7-8 at 20 5-8 after previously selling as high as 21 1-2. British American Oil of the unlisted department was an outstanding attraction with a turnover of over 4,000 shares. It sold up to the new high of 24 3-4, the close at this figure representing a gain of 3-4. The distiller issues were irregular. Seagram was active and declined 3-8 to 22 1-2. Walker experienced considerable profit-taking and weakened 1-2 to 35. G. and W. was firmer at 54 1-8, a gain of 5-8. The bread issues were dull. Twin City was strong in the traction group, advancing 1-2 to 56. Brazilian was active and stronger, gaining one point to 126 3-4.

Wheat Goes Down Again: Crop Outlooks Still Good

CHICAGO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Wheat turned downward anew today after firmness at the start. Temperatures of the northwest and west were lower, but not enough to arouse concern as to the crop outlook. Opening unchanged to 1-2 cent higher, wheat soon underwent a decided general setback. Corn and oats followed wheat, corn starting at 1-8 cent off to 3-8 cent up and then sagging. Provisions averaged higher.

WOOLLENS WIN SENIOR TROPHY

Beat C.G.E. in Ladies' Basketball Final—Westclox Win Junior.

TWO CLOSE GAMES.

The ladies' basketball season was brought to a successful close last night at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium when the Woollens defeated the C.G.E. girls for the Gordon Cup in the Senior loop, and the Westclox won from the Brinton's for the Junior cup.

The final score of the Senior game was 15 points to 11. The game was very close throughout, with Loretta Bradley being the scorer for the winners. In the two periods she scored nine points, getting four baskets and one foul shot. No other baskets were scored by the winners, the remaining six points coming on five fouls and one free throw.

The C.G.E. team won the Harvey Cup, which is the prize for the runners up. Mabel McLaren, Hazel Plunkett, and Florence Grier each scored a basket with Violet Langton getting a point on a free throw. This team was rather handicapped with only one spare. The line-up:

Woollens.—Loretta Bradley, rf; Myrtle Bradley, lf; Lilly Slaughter, c; Jessie Gregory, rg; Ella Bradley, lg; Mary Ronco and Lilly Simons, spares.

C.G.E.—Mabel McLaren, rf; Annie Logan, lf; Violet Langton, c; Dorothy Mortimer, rg; Hazel Plunkett, lg; Florence Grier, spare.

The second game of the evening was between the Westclox and the Brinton, the Junior finalists in the City League. The Westclox took the game 12 to 3. This was a very clean game as only one point was scored on a foul which was taken at the expense of the winners. Gladys Thomas for the Westclox scored eight of the twelve points for her team with Isabel Thirnbeck and Blanche Scott getting the other two baskets.

Mildred Doucette scored the only basket for the Brintons, with Margaret Simpson getting the final point on a foul. The game was much closer than the score indicates for the losers put up a real fight for the cup and were outshot around the mouth of the basket. The line up:

Westclox.—Isabel Thirnbeck, rf; Gladys Thomas, lf; Blanche Scott, c; Cora Finley, rg; Jan McIllwain, lg; Kay Murphy, spare.

Brintons.—Mildred Doucette, rf; Frieda Pavey, lf; Annie Shaw, c; June Delorme, rg; Margaret Simpson, lg; Blanche Doucette, spare.

After the games the teams went down to the Y.W.C.A. where the cups were presented by Miss M. Hamilton, in the absence of Mayor Holloway.

PRESENTATION

he theory he has learned, by practical experience. The apprentice arrives without the theory but picks it up as he goes along. One of the methods by which the apprentice could increase his knowledge was by a regular and diligent attendance at night school; another was by watching the calculator clock on his desk. On other words, he declared, "the test course is his first introduction to juice in large quantities, or in military parlance, his baptism of fire."

A discussion of the advantages of the test course, he said, would not be complete without a few remarks on the social side. He is introduced into the gentle game of parlor rugby and numerous other sports such as "shoeball, sleeping, golf, African golf, and the more recent, more spectacular, of raising a moustache."

The third angle of the training received was that it brought men from all over Canada into contact with each other, having the decided advantage in teaching the engineer "what places to keep away from." In the test department the westerner can learn much from the easterner. "When you graduate from the course and assume positions of responsibility, of honor and dignity and princely remuneration, you find that a younger generation has taken your place. They have different ideas, they lack the science in hockey that was so evident in the older classes, they burn holes in the old steel floor, put oil on each other instead of the machines. However the day comes that they, too, will pass and become passably intelligent engineers. Truly it is a wonderful course." he said in conclusion.

W. M. Cruthers.

W. M. Cruthers, in responding to the toast, gave a comprehensive summary of the history of the test course since it was first inaugurated by the Canadian General Electric Company.

The first course, he said, commenced in 1900, when the company took in a number of men who each paid $500 to take the course. A number of these men have since attained positions of eminence in the Dominion of Canada. What is now known as the electrical training course had its adoption in 1903. The students' course started in 190" with four me., three of whom are still with the company. The figures to date show that since that time there have been 45 students from McG "; 47 from Toronto; 12 from Queen's; 18 from Nova Scotia Tec.; 15 from Unive.sity of New Brunswick; 11 from Manitoba; and 4 each from Alberta and British Columbia. Altogether a total of 161 students have passed through the course, of whom 68, or 42 per cent., still remain with the company.

Speaking of the apprentices' course, Mr. Cruthers stated that since its inception 113 men had passed through, of which 39 per cent. were still with the company. The provinces were represented as follows: Ontario, 75; Nova Scotia, 4; New Brunswick 1; Quebec 6; Manitoba 6; Saskatchewan 6; British Columbia 12; Miscellaneous 9.

"The company is interested in training men for service in its many departments outside the test. The test is not the whole story; there is the experience to be gained from getting into engineering life and from meeting older men. 'A man to be a success must have an all round training, and the test course gives you that," he declared.

Alf. Fielder came to the test on Dec. 7, 1909. His record shows that he left the company in 1913. He was away three weeks when he came back. "History may repeat itself and I'm sure if it does all of us here to-night will be more than glad."

Visiting Test Men

The toast to the "visiting test men" was proposed by K. C. Hendry, who in humorous vein, telling of his associations with the various men during his course, kept his listeners in a constant state of merriment. The toast was responded to by R. H. Switzer, B. W. Haines and H. S. McKean who dessiminated "good advice" to the men who are now passing through.

The Why and the Wherefor.

In proposing the toast, "The why and the wherefor," Mr. Rodgers declared: "I can't say much about Alf that has not already been said. His leaving has caused a general regret, and will leave a place that will be hard to fill. His kindly interest in every man that has come under his care will never be forgotten.

"We have here test men and extest men, some of whom have travelled far to wish Alf God speed. At a time such as this personal greeting is one method of letting a man know what you think of him, but it is not lasting. We feel that somethine more tangible is necessary in a case like this." At this juncture Mr. Fielder was presented with a club bag at the hands of Mr. Rodgers, and an address and a purse of gold from Mr. Cruthers, the address being signed by the engineering departments, the test men, the foremen and the ex-test men.

Mr. Fielder, visibly overcome by the whole hearted ovation, given spontaneously, declared simply "I thank you one and all from the bottom of my heart. Give my successor the support you have given me—no man could ask for more."

The singing of Auld Lang Syne brought the happy gathering to a close.

Among those present were R. H. Switzer, B. W. Haines F. R. Whatmough, A. H. Fielder, P. D. Munro, J. H. Convery, G. H. Burchill, W. M. Cruthers, C. D. Osterland, D. Norman, L. A. Rodgers, W. E. A unique programme, prepared in blue print form, showed the menu under the heading "Capacity tests," with such descriptions as "Base Load," "Over Load," and "Low potential Juice," for the various courses, and described the speeches as "Static Discharges.

OUTBREAK OF TYPHOID TRACED TO RAW MILK

Montreal Hospitals Are Overcrowded—Over Two Hundred Cases Reported to Date.

Special to The Star.

Montreal, March 15.—There does not seem to be any diminution of the typhoid epidemic that broke out on March 4 in Montreal, and which has claimed 242 cases to date, although the mortality has been practically nil.

Typhoid takes from ten days to three weeks to develop; and as it was only towards the end of last week that the supposed source of the outbreak, a milk dealer who was dispensing raw milk, was discovered, the figures may continue to grow for a few days. If the source of the typhoid has been effectually checked, as the health authorities say, the figures of new cases will rapidly decline.

There were forty-two new cases within 24 hours yesterday, and all the hospitals are full to overflowing with typhoid patients. In fact, it has been necessary to turn away people suffering from other diseases.

Verdun has had a slight attack of typhoid, there being one death and eight cases reported. The disease is supposed to have been caused by unclean milk and from impure ice cream obtained from a grocery store, that also handled the raw milk.

The city has a pasteurization law passed after great opposition, but the authorities have been somewhat lenient in enforcing it.

Here Is Hand in The Examiner's Fourth Bridge Contest

HERE ARE RULES OF BRIDGE CONTEST

1.—Each week until further notice a different deal of bridge hands will be printed. These hands have been conceived by bridge experts and the bidding and play has been worked out by Ellis O. Jones, author of "Scientific Bidding," and a recognized bridge authority. The object of the contest is to bid and play the hands as they should be played in a regular game, with only the dummy in sight, to secure the highest possible number of points from each deal. The bidding and play has been carefully worked out by Mr. Jones and his solution, now on file in The Examiner office, will be used to determine the winner. The prize will go to the contestant who works out the bidding and play of each card just as Mr. Jones has done.

2.—In addition, each contestant must write an article of not more than 100 words explaining some particular point in the bidding or play of the hand. If several contestants submit exactly the same solution Mr. Jones has worked out, the prize will go to the one submitting the best article and the neatest solution.

3.—Each contestant should tabulate the bidding and play in the blank form at the right or on a separate piece of paper drawn up in a similar form.

4.—All contestants must have their solution in The Examiner office by midnight, Thursday, March 24.

5.—The contest is open to every reader of The Examiner except employees of this paper and their immediate families.

6.—A contestant may submit as many solutions as desired, but all must be in accordance with the rules.

7.—No one is required to buy a copy of this paper to compete. Copies of the paper may be examined at The Examiner office.

8.—As a condition of entry all contestants must agree to abide by the decisions and awards of the Contest Editors.

HOW TO FILL OUT THE BLANKS

Fill in each play in every trick in the squares above, just as you think each card should be played. Name the cards in this manner, for example: S—4 for the four spot of spades; H—K for the king of hearts; D—J for the jack of diamonds, and C—Q for the queen of clubs, etc. Do not use the letter K (Knave) for J (Jack). Indicate which hand leads in every trick by placing an (L) in parenthesis after the play. Thus if you believe in the first hand in the play North would lead the six of diamonds. East would play the king, South the ace and West the three-spot, you would put D—A under South and opposite Trick No. 1 in the squares above, D—3 under West, D—6 (L) under North and D—K under East. Then in one of the last two columns mark an X under which two partners won the trick.

HERE IS THE PRIZE WINNER AND ANSWER TO BRIDGE CONTEST NO. 3

Here is the way Ellis O. Jones, author of "Scientific Bidding" and bridge expert of The Examiner, says the hand in Bridge Contest No. 3 of The Examiner should be bid and played.

In the play of Mr. Jones, North-South made four no trumps, scoring a grand total of 195 points—30 for tricks, 40 for aces, 125 for game.

Here is what Mr. Jones says was the correct way to bid the hands:

Mr. Jones gives the following explanation of the bidding and the play:

By ELLIS O. JONES
Author of "Scientific Bidding"

The bidding of this hand presents no difficulty. With four quick tricks in his hand, three suits commanded, no long major suit and ideal distribution, South does not hesitate to bid no-trump. Nor do the others think long about passing, especially East and West, for neither has the semblance of a bid. Although North has a doubleton, a distinct weakness in a no-trump declaration, his strength in the two majors makes him sure that South has the diamonds.

There are, however, intricacies about the play that will be baffling to many. When dummy goes down, South can count eight tricks in the two hands, but h edoes not see how he is going to get the ninth, which is necessary to go game.

By giving East two spade treiks, South retains control of that suit until East is exhausted. After he ducks East's diamond queen, South has lost three tricks and can afford to lose only one more if he is to go game, and as he is sure to lose at least one club trick, he takes East's diamond jack and decides to lose a club trick at once.

East takes this with the queen, hoping to establish his fourth spade and get in later with the king of clubs to make it, but even if he lets East have this trick, the result will be the same, as East will lead another diamond, which will force West to disastrous discarding just as South's play does later. At trick 9, South's play is entirely for the purpose of forcing a discard in West's hand.

After dummy takes West's spade king, South's play is entirely on the offensive and he applies the thumb screw pitilessly until at last West sees the hope of saving game with another club or spade trick go glimmering.

MRS. WISE WINS AGAIN!

The prize is won this week by Mrs. M. Wise, 742 George street, who had the exactly correct solution, the only one handed in. Many others were close. Try again—it's not as hard as it looks.

Here is what Mrs. Wise wrote last week:

Dear Sir,—Just a word of thanks for the lovely bridge prize, which I received O.K.

SHANGHAI TROOPS ARE GUARDING RICH PRIZE FROM ATTACKERS

Important Trade Centre Well Worthy of Defence by Foreigners.

HALF OF BUSINESS

Chinese Customs Gets Half Its Revenue From This One Port.

SHANGHAI, March 19 (Canadian Press Despatch).—Cantonese troops seeking to capture Shanghai menace a city built by British enterprise into one of the world's greatest trading centres. The city, rich headquarters of foreign interests in China, is well worth defence by the British regulars and troops of other nations now centred here, defenders who are concerned solely with the security of the city. Besides the threat of a Cantonese attack bringing the armies of the south into close contact, there is the menace of looting which might result if northern soldiers fled through the city after suffering a defeat at the hands of the Cantonese.

Shanghai does nearly half the foreign trade of China, yields China nearly half its Customs revenue, and is the chief centre from which the economic influences which are shaping modern China radiate. It is China's chief port, one of the largest ports in the world.

On approaching Shanghai from the sea the traveller first observes a wide stretch of yellow water and a green, flat coastline. Soon the water narrows and many junks, clumsy yet graceful, are to be seen. At Tungkow Creek the harbor limits in the Whangpoo River are reached. To the right a huge industrial area spreads out, mill upon mill, factory upon factory, engineering works, power stations, shipbuilding yards, timber yards, cold storage plants, water-works, and crowded wharves, and to the left oil tanks, more wharves, docks, and every variety of shipping.

Picturesque City.

On landing, the traveller views a line of buildings which, collectively, form at once the most imposing and the most European water-front east of Suez. Leaving the baggage examination shed he turns into the Nanking road, an epitome of modern China and its problems. Here, side by side, are East and West, old and new; traditions with centuries behind them, immaturities grotesque. There is an amazing variety of traffic, from the most ancient and creeking of wheelbarrows to the most up-to-date of motorcars, while shops range from stuffy examples of domestic industry to enormous department stores brilliantly lighted at night by electric advertisements.

Presently, the traveller finds himself passing an essentially Anglo-Saxon race-course and recreation ground, and entering a super-suburbia, where there are big villas and jolly gardens, riding roads, country and golf clubs. Beyond lies open country, flat as a pancake, and, at this time of year, very brown and bare.

There are three sections of Shanghai. The largest is the International Settlement, fronting on the Whangpoo River to the east. South of this, but back from the river, is the French Settlement, and east of the French Settlement, or between it and the Whangpoo, is the Old Chinese city. Open country bounds the narrow northern, broad western and fairly large southern limits of Shanghai. The Woosung—Shanghai—Hangchow railway line which above and below Shanghai is close to the Whampoo, turns out to the Northern Station to enclose Shanghai between it and the river. A loop of this railway turns backward between the southern part of the city and the river, reaching the Shanghai south station, and along its route and at its junction with the main line are arsenals.

The Soochow and Siccawei creeks run westward from the Whangpoo river, dividing the city into three portions, the northern creek, or Soochow, cutting through the International settlement.

Foreign Population.

The boundary of the International Settlement encloses an area of 8 2-3 square miles. The French Settlement is of four square miles in extent. Both have overflowed their boundaries, principally of course to the west. A considerable number of foreigners live outside them, and roads policed by the Settlement run out beyond Siccawei and Jessfield. The total foreign and Chinese population of the International and French-Chinese districts, is 1,136,300.

Including residents outside the Settlement, the British population is in the neighborhood of 7,000. The personnel of the municipal administration is largely, if not mainly, British, and British trade and enterprise have been, and still are, the backbone of the place, which was in origin about as unpromising a piece of land as Britons overseas have ever been given to develop. In the Settlement to-day there are over 13,000 Japanese, about 2,000 Americans, 300 French, close on 3,000 Russians, and some 5,200 subjects of other foreign nations, the Chinese total about 810,200 of whom the majority are natives of Kiangsu and Chekiang province, some 51,000 being Cantonese. All these have, of course, contributed very largely to the welfare and prosperity of Shanghai, the foundations of which, however, have been British administrative and commercial capacity. The preponderating foreign interests in the Settlement are British, the amount of British capital invested in land, buildings, plants, and manufactured stocks, municipal debentures and mortgages on Chinese property being not less than £63,250,000.

Concession and Settlement have separate municipalities. The Treaty of Nanking, 1842, gives Britishers the right to live and trade at Shanghai. Into the area set aside for them, about 180 acres as it was then, other foreigners were from the first admitted. Judicial power over Chinese is vested in a special court just inaugurated. In addition Chinese ratepayers have just been given representation on the Settlement Council.

JUBILEE PLANS MATURE RAPIDY

Beacon Fires, Gun Salutes, and Ceremonies To Mark Dominion Day.

GREAT EVENT.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 19.—(By Canadian Press).—Plans for the nation-wide celebration of the Dominion of Canada's 60th birthday are maturing rapidly. This month a committee of 60 representative citizens appointed by Parliament meets in Ottawa to give final approval to the programme now under consideration.

Friday, July 1, this year, should be the most spectacular Dominion Day in the history of Confederation. By day there will be historical pageants, field days, picnics and military reviews. By night there will be fire works, torchlight processions, and 10,000 beacon fires stretching from Cape Breton Island to Vancouver Island. At noon on Dominion Day a salute of guns will be fired from Parliament Hill, Ottawa that will echo across the country in salutes fired in the greater cities of the Dominion.

The governments of Great Britain and the other British Dominions will be represented in Canada and invitations have been sent to the United States and to the republics of South America to have senior members of their government present. There will be a Canadian-American feature of the day in the opening of the new Peace Bridge between Buffalo N. Y., and Fort Erie, Ont. The Canadian end of this span across the Niagara river is the scene of the last armed conflict between British and United States troops 113 years ago.

The Diamond Jubilee celebration this summer is the first great national event of the kind since the Tercentenary of 1911. It was held at Quebec City in commemoration of the founding of that city 300 years before. Canada's 50th birthday, which, in times of peace would have been a significant event, was passed with scarcely more than newspaper mention during the most trying days of the War. Now, nearly 10 years after the war Canada is endeavoring to make famous the 60th birthday of the British North America.

Premier Mackenzie King has personally taken the initiative in creating the national organization of the Dominion Day festivities. While in London attending the Imperial Conference he extended invitations to His Majesty King George and to the Prince of Wales. Neither however, were able to accept. The Prince will be in Canada this year but not until August. Premier King guided the bill to incorporate the National Committee through the House of Commons recently and at the suggestion of farmer members extended the committee membership in several labor and agricultural organizations. The bill which has now passed both the House of Commons and the Senate incorporates the committee and provided for $250,000 to meet its expenses. The Canadian Clubs, a national body of patriotic character, has been active in promoting interest in the celebration for several months past. Through the Canadian Clubs 30,000 school houses in Canada are being presented with copies of the famous painting of the Fathers of Confederation.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S. ANNUAL MEETING

Reports of Officers Show Satisfactory Progress During Year.

St. Andrew's W.M.S. held their annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the church parlours with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. J. John opened the meeting with prayer, after which the monthly reports were read. This was followed by the Scripture reading by Mrs. E. Shirley and a season of prayer by some of the members.

Mrs. L. Ingram favored the meeting with a beautiful vocal solo much to the p leasure of all present.

Each officer for the past year presented an annual report showing very satisfactory and encouraging results.

The following officers for the year 1927 were then elected by acclamation:

Hon. Pres., Mrs. M. Kerr; Pres., Mrs. J. W. Gordon; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. A. Porteous; 2nd Vice-Pres., J. Forbes Allan; Rec.- Sec., Mrs. F. Saltman; Cor. Sec., Miss M. Ferguson; Treas., Mrs. W. Zeihr; Sec. of Christian Stewardship and Finance, Miss Dickson; Strangers' Sec., Mrs. W. D. Henry; Supply Sec., Mrs. M. Brekenridge; Associate Helpers Sec., Mrs. J. B. Gillespie; Missionary Monthly Sec., Miss Best; Literature Sec., Mrs. W. P. Nelson; Press Sec., Mrs. H. Tremain; Pianist, Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy.

After the election Rev. J. W. Gordon offered up the dedication prayer, asking God's blessing on those taking upon theselves the duties of office.

At the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the retiring officers for their very faithful and efficient work.

The society is pleased to announce that their allocation for the year had been overmet, which is a source of great satisfaction.

The report of the secretary Mrs. E. Shirley for the past year's work, opened with a reference to the thirty seven years of service through which St. Andrew's W.M.S. has passed. The report, owing to a period of transition after the passing of Union, covered a period of fifteen months, during which there was an average attendance at the monthly meetings of forty-five members.

Appreciation was expressed of the helpful efforts of various members and others in giving addresses to the members, and also favoring them with musical numbers at their meetings, and mention was made of several teas held during the year under the auspices of the Society. A bale was packed for the west and a box of books and Bibles was sent to the lumber camps.

Mention was made of the removal from the city of one of the untiring workers of the organization in the person of Miss Crow, who reviewed the Messenger every monh for the members' meeting; also of the death of an honorary president, Mrs. William Fowler.

In closing, Mrs. Shirley expressed her appreciation of the pleasant associations held with the members during the past three years, and of the inspirational assistance of the president, Mrs. J. John.

When public opinion takes hold of a product like the Chrysler "70" and in three years' time lifts it from 27th to 4th place over the heads of long-established cars, it can only mean:—

That people found in the "70" from its beginning, and continue to find in the finer Chrysler "70" in ever-increasing numbers, qualities and values they did not and do not find elsewhere.

Finer, more exquisitely graceful bodies — finer, more distinctive silhouette with military front and cadet visor — finer design with smaller wheels—greater luxury of comfort — greater riding ease — rich upholstery—greater perfection of appointment — more attractive color harmonies, far in advance of current blendings.

MAKE CARE OF BABIES EASIER

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the peevishness of babies and young children. When the baby is cross or irritable the mother should not resort to so-called soothing mixtures to correct the trouble, for in the majority of cases these mixtures simply drug the child into an unnatural sleep. What is needed is a gentle laxative that will sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take and guaranteed to be entirely free from opiates and narcotics. Concerning them, Mrs. Jos. Tousaignant, Ste. Sophie, Que., writes:—"I would like all mothers to know that I feel there is no other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep a box in the house and their prompt use never fails to restore my little ones to health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams 'Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NURSING CLASS EXHIBITS SKILL

Demonstration Given by Warsaw Women and Girls at End of Course.

WELL TRAINED

WARSAW, March 19.—Perhaps the event of the season for Warsaw has been the classes in public health, nursing, and first aid, given under the auspices of the Women's Institute, by Miss F. M. Alexander, a graduate of Western Hospital, Toronto.

The class started with twenty-eight members, and was to last two weeks. By the second day it increased so that a larger room had to be obtained. The Dummer Council kindly gave the use of the Town Hall.

The class increased to seventy-four members. Medicine chests for the home were described, with the uses of the different articles. The class was drilled in the absolute necessity for certain things, among them a single bed in every home.

Ordinary bed-making, emergency bed-making, the giving of bed baths, hot packs, the upright position in bed, care of maternity cases, bathing and care of the baby, first aid dressing of wounds, hemorrhage control, and artificial respiration were taught, and members of the class had opportunity to do these things. Lessons were given on bandaging, making and uses of various bandages, the making of dressings, poultices, taking and recording temperature, respiration and pulse, and proper recording of patients' condition. Miss Alexander also spoke very strongly on the injury caused by the use of alcohol, cigarettes, cosmetics, late hours, rich or improper foods, as well as actual evils of improper dress, and all things that in any way lower the moral standard. She insisted on dresses being two inches below the knees, and the nurses who took part in the closing exercises all had dresses that length.

On Wednesday evening Miss Alexander gave an address on the mission work she did in India. The hospital where she worked was absolutely undenominational, simply Christian. She described the Zenannas as few had heard them described, the sorrow at the birth of a little girl, the necessity for child marriage, the hard life the girl wife has, and the awful life of a widow, old or young. The missionaries can generally get these poor outcasts. She told of the work in the hospital, of little girls teaching the Bible to other women, and of the beautiful hymns they sing. Miss Alexander feels every word she says and loves her work, consequently she holds her audiences. The hall was full. No collection was asked, but the speaker put in a plea for missionary giving to help those who are so infinitely worse off than the poorest here.

Rev. H. B. Herrington was chairman. "Onward Christian Soldiers" was the opening hymn. The male quartette sang 'The Wayside Cross.' Mrs. George Taylor sang "Tell Me His Name Again," and the class joined in the refrain. At the close the girls sang "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations."

On Thursday evening the nursing class held its closing exercises, "A Day in Warsaw Hospital." When the curtain was drawn for 7 a.m. a stage with two beds and a number of nurses in white dresses and veils were ranged between and in front of the beds. They sang "O Canada." Mrs. Anderson, as head nurse, sent some nurses to the surgical room to make supplies, while two nurses, Mrs. Theodore Douglas and Helen Douglas, made a bed as it is made in the morning. Then Velma Payne brought in a patient, Annabel Carlaw, with a (supposedly) burned arm. The head nurse inspected it, and ordered the dressing, which the nurse applied. Then May Stevens and Lulu Bell brought in a stretcher case (Olive Little). After she was properly placed in the bed, the doctor (Mrs. Weller) examined her and ordered the upright position, into which she was put by the same two girls.

During the nurses' rest hour Dr. Munro, chairman, spoke in appreciation of Miss Alexander's work, not only the lessons in public health but in actual life. Her teachings were felt; she gave of herself.

The president of the Institute said that she had long wished for nursing classes, but what was given was more than she had dreamed of.

Reeve Hawthorne spoke of the work that would hold a class together for a month. He thought, after the previous evening's address, Canadian women should be more contented, when they compared their lives with those of the Hindu women.

Mrs. Clarence Watts was escorted to the stage, and Mrs. Anderson told her how the class appreciated the great honor she had bestowed by loaning her baby for a bathing demonstration, so that the class could see how to properly bathe and clothe a baby, and just to show that appreciation, in the name of the class, she presented the baby with a nice new Scotch wool shawl. Mrs. Watts, who was completely surprised, thanked the class, and, for a laugh, added that she wished she had a whole lot more babies to get a lot more shawls.

The nurses, in their rest gossip, criticized the doctor and told some jokes, especially one on the instructress, who taught that cake unwholesome, and ate a piece afternoon tea that day, also on the others at the same tea, whereshoe was missing, having supplied dragged off by dogs, of

By request Wallace Anderson cited.

Dainty refreshments were served by the nurses, and a pleasant social half-hour spent.

A never-to-be-forgotten meeting of sixty-four of the class was held in the Town Hall on Friday morning. Several pictures were taken. The financial statement of the class was made, and after all expenses were paid there was fifteen dollars and eighty-two cents left. This amount would not have paid for the hall, had there been rent to pay, but Miss Alexander said it was for the class to say what should be done with that money and with the bandages. It was decided to give the money towards the support of an Indian girl in the mission where Miss Alexander's interest is.

She gave a few parting words of advice, and said she had enjoyed her class in Warsaw very much.

A demonstration of a pneumonia jacket was left to the president at the next Institute meeting.

Before she had a chance to dismiss the class, Miss Annabel Carlaw read an address to Miss Alexander, in which the class thanked her for her unselfish giving of herself, and intimated that they knew she would wish for nothing for herself, but would appreciate something for her Mission girls, and asked her to accept some money, sixteen dollars, from the class, for her Indian girls. Miss Alexander simply said, "Thank you, that is all." She told a little more of her work and why she was in Institute work, rather than any other, and when she said good-by to her class, there was hardly a dry eye. Not one but felt that some one beloved was going from them, and the sixty-four dispersed quietly.

One very pleasant feature of the class is that there are now a great many who can give a certain amount of efficient help in care of sickness, and Dr. Munro asked two of the girls, Lulu Bell and May Stevens, to bathe a patient who lives not far from them.

Those who took part in the play, "The Last Loaf," in aid of the Warsaw United Church Ladies' Aid, last Friday evening, have been requested to repeat the play for Knox United Church, Lakefield, in the Town Hall next Thursday, and in the George Street United Church, Peterboro, about the first of April.

MAKE CARE OF BABIES EASIER

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the peevishness of babies and young children. When the baby is cross or irritable the mother should not resort to so-called soothing mixtures to correct the trouble, for in the majority of cases these mixtures simply drug the child into an unnatural sleep. What is needed is a gentle laxative that will sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take and guaranteed to be entirely free from opiates and narcotics. Concerning them, Mrs. Jos. Tousaignant, Ste. Sophie, Que., writes:—"I would like all mothers to know that I feel there is no other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep a box in the house and their prompt use never fails to restore my little ones to health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams 'Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NURSING CLASS EXHIBITS SKILL

Demonstration Given by Warsaw Women and Girls at End of Course.

WELL TRAINED

WARSAW, March 19.—Perhaps the event of the season for Warsaw has been the classes in public health, nursing, and first aid, given under the auspices of the Women's Institute, by Miss F. M. Alexander, a graduate of Western Hospital, Toronto.

The class started with twenty-eight members, and was to last two weeks. By the second day it increased so that a larger room had to be obtained. The Dummer Council kindly gave the use of the Town Hall.

The class increased to seventy-four members. Medicine chests for the home were described, with the uses of the different articles. The class was drilled in the absolute necessity for certain things, among them a single bed in every home.

Ordinary bed-making, emergency bed-making, the giving of bed baths, hot packs, the upright position in bed, care of maternity cases, bathing and care of the baby, first aid dressing of wounds, hemorrhage control, and artificial respiration were taught, and members of the class had opportunity to do these things. Lessons were given on bandaging, making and uses of various bandages, the making of dressings, poultices, taking and recording temperature, respiration and pulse, and proper recording of patients' condition. Miss Alexander also spoke very strongly on the injury caused by the use of alcohol, cigarettes, cosmetics, late hours, rich or improper foods, as well as actual evils of improper dress, and all things that in any way lower the moral standard. She insisted on dresses being two inches below the knees, and the nurses who took part in the closing exercises all had dresses that length.

On Wednesday evening Miss Alexander gave an address on the mission work she did in India. The hospital where she worked was absolutely undenominational, simply Christian. She described the Zenannas as few had heard them described, the sorrow at the birth of a little girl, the necessity for child marriage, the hard life the girl wife has, and the awful life of a widow, old or young. The missionaries can generally get these poor outcasts. She told of the work in the hospital, of little girls teaching the Bible to other women, and of the beautiful hymns they sing. Miss Alexander feels every word she says and loves her work, consequently she holds her audiences. The hall was full. No collection was asked, but the speaker put in a plea for missionary giving to help those who are so infinitely worse off than the poorest here.

Rev. H. B. Herrington was chairman. "Onward Christian Soldiers" was the opening hymn. The male quartette sang 'The Wayside Cross.' Mrs. George Taylor sang "Tell Me His Name Again," and the class joined in the refrain. At the close the girls sang "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations."

On Thursday evening the nursing class held its closing exercises, "A Day in Warsaw Hospital." When the curtain was drawn for 7 a.m. a stage with two beds and a number of nurses in white dresses and veils were ranged between and in front of the beds. They sang "O Canada." Mrs. Anderson, as head nurse, sent some nurses to the surgical room to make supplies, while two nurses, Mrs. Theodore Douglas and Helen Douglas, made a bed as it is made in the morning. Then Velma Payne brought in a patient, Annabel Carlaw, with a (supposedly) burned arm. The head nurse inspected it, and ordered the dressing, which the nurse applied. Then May Stevens and Lulu Bell brought in a stretcher case (Olive Little). After she was properly placed in the bed, the doctor (Mrs. Weller) examined her and ordered the upright position, into which she was put by the same two girls.

Mrs. Clarence Watts was escorted to the stage, and Mrs. Anderson told her how the class appreciated the great honor she had bestowed by loaning her baby for a bathing demonstration, so that the class could see how to properly bathe and clothe a baby, and just to show that appreciation, in the name of the class, she presented the baby with a nice new Scotch wool shawl. Mrs. Watts, who was completely surprised, thanked the class, and, for a laugh, added that she wished she had a whole lot more babies to get a lot more shawls.

The nurses, in their rest gossip, criticized the doctor and told some jokes, especially one on the instructress, who taught that cake was unwholesome, and ate a piece at afternoon tea that day, also on one of the others at the same tea, whose overshoe was missing, having been dragged off by dogs, of which the village sems to have a supply. They sang several songs.

Back on duty, Lena Miller and Evelyn McMurray made up an emergency bed. Willa Darling and Elsie Cooper put a patient into a hot pack. The blankets were not wet for this. Gwendolyn McQuaig and Nellie Bullock brought in an unconscious patient, Jean Munro, who had been under water for some time. Gwendolyn McQuaig gave the artificial respiration, and when the child gasped, the doctor ordered her to bed and treated for shock. The curtains were closed, and when they were drawn the nurses were again on the stage and sang.

By request Wallace Anderson recited.

Dainty refreshments were served by the nurses, and a pleasant social half-hour spent.

A never-to-be-forgotten meeting of sixty-four of the class was held in the Town Hall on Friday morning. Several pictures were taken. The financial statement of the class was made, and after all expenses were paid there was fifteen dollars apd eighty-two cents left. Col. Ruppert Expected To Make Record Offer To Pennock

PENNOCK ONLY YANK HOLDOUT

Ruppert Says Left Hander Can Remain Outside For Good.

ARE UNREASONABLE.

NEW YORK, March 19 (Associated Press).—Holdouts in the New York Yankee ranks, rumored at 10 or more only a month ago, had dwindled yesterday to the lone figure of Herb Pennock, southpaw pitcher.

Babe Ruth hobbled to the plate with an injured leg and added another new ball to the collection drifting in the swamp outside the park; the team shaped up nicely in practice; and Lanky Bob Meusel deserted the holdout ranks for a two-year contract. Unofficial estimates set the terms at $17,500 a season.

"Pennock can hold out for the rest of his life," said Ruppert. "His demands are unreasonable."

Burleigh Grimes, former Brooklyn spit ball twirler, took his slippery elm into the Giants' box for the first time Thursday against the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg, but he failed to add to the impressive string of Giant victories. The Braves won 4 to 3. Hornsby got three hits.

Babe Herman was an inglorious ringleader in Brooklyn's 12-1 defeat by St. Louis Browns at Clearwater. The young first-sacker made two of the Robins six errors.

ST. LOUIS, Mar. 19 (Associated Press).—Branch Rickey, vice-president of the Cardinals, sees little possibility of any agreement with Flint Rhem, holdout pitcher who won 20 games for the club last season. Rickey said the club "could not in justice" give the pitcher what he wants. President Sam Breadon at Avon Park, Fla., said Rhem wants $15,000, which is an increase of $10,000 over the player's reported salary last season.

Record Contract.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19 (United Press). — Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, said yesterday he would soon offer Herb Pennock a contract that will make him the highest paid pitcher in baseball. It will be Ruppert's last offer, he said, and if the last of the Yankee holdouts doesn't accept he will no longer play with the New York club.

"I have a hunch, though," Ruppert said, "that Pennock will be here in a few days."

GAINS DEFEATS ROJAS EASILY

The Canadian Heavyweight Takes Lead in First and Piles Up Points.

GAINS DECISION.

TORONTO, March 19. — Larry Gains' left hand and his speedy footwork earned him a trip to New York and participation in Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination series, if the New York matchmaker adheres to his promise to the winner of the ten-round bout between the Canadian heavyweight champion and Romero Rojas, of Chile, which was staged at the Coliseum last night by the Shamrock Club and which was won by Gains on a decision after he took the lead in the first 15 seconds of the first round and never relinquished it, adding to his total of points in every round.

The card, which was topped by the heavyweight encounter, attracted one of the largest crowds that has witnessed a show in this city for some years, and all in all it was the best show that has been provided for a long time. There was action all the way. The first three bouts ended in knockouts, the semi-final resulted in a very close decision, and Gains had to be at his best to keep Romero from terminating the bout abruptly.

Gains was the favorite for the main bout, and he fully justified the confidence placed in him, but he found that Rojas, who won by a knockout in the tenth round in their meeting in Paris in 1924, was able to take everything in the way of heavy artillery thrown into action by the Canadian title-holder.

The Chilean was no set-up for the local colored lad, and while he was slow to get started, not landing a blow in the first round and not doing much for the first three, he gradually became more aggressive as the bout progressed, and at all times was willing to mix with Gains, but the latter trusted mainly to his left and his feet, although at times he shot across a right and mingled at close quarters. Rojas steadily improved from the fourth to the eighth, and the ninth was a torrid session, both electing to battle at close quarters, and they carried on in this manner in the tenth. Gains had a commanding lead at the fifth, and only had to box his way through the next five rounds to get the decision, but as the bout progressed he became more confident and more aggressive.

HOCKEY RESULTS.

Hockey games played last night resulted as follows:

Allan Cup Semi-Final.
Fort William 4, Trail 2.

Canadian League.
London 2, Stratford 0.

O.H.A. Memorial Cup.
Regina Pats 2, Port Arthur 1.

Canadian-American.
New Haven 5, Springfield 1.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 18.—(Canadian Press).—High hopes for a record-breaking season by the Newfoundland seal fleet were dashed yesterday when an Arctic blizzard broke up the ice floes on which the hardy hunters had made their kill. Reports reaching here to-day expressed the fear that many thousands of seals would be lost.

EUROPE CALLS BOXING STARS

Sammy Mandell and Tunney Offered Bouts Abroad For Summer.

HEAVY BACKING.

FRESNO, Calif., March 19 (Associated Press). — Negotiations are pending between Eddie Kane, manager of the lightweight champion, Sammy Mandell, and British boxing promoters for a bout between the title holder and Alf Mancini in London this summer, Kane announced here. Mandell and his manager were here for a four-round exhibition bout against Joe Chaney, a Fresno lightweight.

Mancini is recognized as one of the outstanding 135-pounders in Europe and the British syndicate with which Kane is dealing is confident that the gate for a Mandell-Mancini bout would approach a London record.

Kane also announced that he has closed for two bouts in Texas, the first at Fort Worth on March 25 when Mandell will meet Tommy White, who recently sprang into prominence by defeating Pinkey Mitchell, former claimant of the junior welterweight championship. Mandell's crown will not be at stake since the agreement calls for weights over the 135-pound limit.

NEW YORK, March 19 (Associated Press). — Gene Tunney is due home early in April to discuss the heavyweight outlook with Tex Rickard and to consider an offer to exhibit his fistic prowess in London.

The heavyweight champion will complete his vaudeville tour in the Far West next week. He then will hasten to New York to confer with Rickard and his manager, Billy Gibson, seeking the latter's advice on an offer to box overseas in May.

If he accepts the European trip, he will be gone about three weeks, Rickard said.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, our friends, the Varsity Grads, is in the finals for the All-in Cup, and by the time this is read Mister Connie Smythe's lads will be steaming across the continent, singing "British Columbia, here we come." They went through this New Edinburgh team easier'n than a woman decides that the dearer of 2 hats becomes her the most, and as the Varsity Intercollegiates stepped out of the serious in preference to getting knocked out, the Grads is boss of the East. And when it's all checked over, Mac, the closest call they have had all year was from the Petes, which held them to 3 goals in the serious and was just nosed out. If the local lads had known just when to put on the pressure in that round, the chances is a lotta local Janes'd be getting a bunch of souvenir postcards from the West these days. However, no championship was ever won by a post mortem, so the Grads is in the driver's seat, and only Ft. William is between them and a sea voyage next year. Whether the Forts can stop them or not you'll haifta write your own ticket. After the way them Owen Sound Greys upset the dope last Sat. night, Mac, I don't dare make no guesses.

Breaking from winter to summer, I see the Peterborough Ball Club is ready for the season's campaign. The outlook so far as the Central loop goes ain't exactly bright, Mac, but some kind of a league anyway will be doped out before it's time for the umps to call "Play ball!" The Petes has got their hopes pinned on getting into the O.B.A.A. play-off serious somehow, and with that idea in view they're going to take a lot more interest in the game than was shown last year. The result should be a good ball club for Peterborough, for they is plenty of material here, and in the matter of pitching strength, the homesters has a big edge over anything in the East with Mister Cairns outa Kingston and Mister Oulette departed from Belleville. Mister Heckman, Mister Hardill and a new heaver from Edmonton gives the Petes a flying start in the artillery dept.

They is a lotta kicking about the length of the All-in cup serious, Mac, and no wonder. The grind is so hard that even the officials get stale, as the mix-up over the Burghs-Varsity serious goes to show.

Well, Mister Sporting Editor, this is the off-season so far as sport here is concerned. The softballers get under way with a meeting next week, but they won't be operating for a while yet, and meanwhile the only excitement will be following the hockey games through the sporting pages and the big league training games the same way.

Oh, by the way, Mac, did you notice where our Mister Bailey stands in the N.H.L. scoring list? The Petes' old keeper is up with the real stars of the league, and Mister Mike Rodden knew what he was doing when he landed this boy for the Toronto crew. A lotta folks said Mister Bailey couldn't stand up under the cash and carry checking, but he's fooled them all. He can take it and he can give it, don't back up from nobody, and he's finishing the season stepping about as fast as anybody out there. Even the Montreal crickets admit he made Mister Nels. Stewart look like the star player of the Bird's Eye Centre team the other night. The boy is there, that's all.

They ain't nothing more to worry the customers with this week, so adoo.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SWIM OFFICIALS BAR SCHOEMMEL

Not Qualified For Part in Atlantic City Derby.

ATLANTIC CITY, March 19. — Mrs. Lottie Schoemmel, internationally famous swimmer, who through her manager, George Maines, sought to compete in the Atlantic City Sea Derby, will not be permitted to take part in the classic.

She is a professional, and the fifteen-mile ocean race here June 25 will be open only to those having registration cards of the Amateur Athletic Union. Despite the interest in the race displayed by several professionals, the Hygeia Club, which is staging the event, refused to wander from the straight and narrow path made by the A.A.U. for amateur-pure athletes.

Mrs. Schoemmel is at present on the Pacific Coast, where she is recovering from injuries sustained shortly before the start of the Catalina Island swim. She plans to return East soon, hopeful of adding more records to her string of twenty-six.

Dr. Francis B. Coll, coach of the Hygeia Club, stated:

"The Atlantic City ocean race would like to have Mrs. Schoemmel as one of the entries, but we want to keep it a strictly amateur affair. Therefore, I'm sorry to say that we cannot have her in the event."

Instead of monetary prizes, which have been given in the recent long distance races, here will be trophies. Dr. M. Francois D'Elliscu's bronze plaque, valued at $200, is the first prize.

DELANEY WANTS TO FIGHT TUNNEY

May Be Allowed By N. Y. Commission To Fight Heavyweight.

NEW YORK, March 19. — Blue skies are smiling for Jack Delaney these days. Mrs. Delaney is back home after several months of serious illness.

Delaney is not at all discouraged by his defeat at the hands of Jim Maloney. After the "tennis blow" is fixed up Jack intends to set sail for another crack at the big fellows for the right to fight Gene Tunney.

Jack may take part in one or two scraps with the heavies, and then again he may not. It is up to the august members of the New York Boxing Board. Jack has a few more months of grace before he will be compelled to fight in defence of his light-heavy diadem.

Tommy Loughran has been clamoring for a return fight with the Bridgeporter. Tommy stands out as a real contender for the crown.

Ben Feinberg, the Brooklyn sports man, has joined the ranks of promoters doing business in Philadelphia. He started his club using Loughran, and is now hot on the trail of Delaney for a match with the pride of the Quaker City.

Feinberg thinks so well of the match that he is willing to stage it in the big Sesqui stadium, the scene of the Tunney-Dempsey fuss last September.

LEADS HOCKEY BY TWO POINTS

Dick Irvin Has Close Margin in Five-Cornered Race.

SCORING HONORS.

MONTREAL, March 19 (Associated Press).—A five-cornered fight for individual scoring honors in the National Hockey League held the interest of puck fans yesterday as the international race neared the home stretch.

With only eight more playing dates on the schedule, Dick Irvin, of the Chicago Black Hawks, held a slim margin of two points at the top over Bill Cook, of the Rangers, 33 to 31.

Close behind were Frank Frederickson, of the Boston Bruins, 29, Babe Dye, of Chicago, and Billy Burch, of the New York Americans, each 27.

Irvin is credited with 18 goals and 15 assists.

PATS IN LEAD FOR TRIP EAST

Regina Team Beats Port Arthur in Memorial Cup Semi-Finals.

SCORE 2-1.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 19. — Regina Pats assumed a one-goal lead over Port Arthur West Ends here last night in the first of a two-game series to decide the Western Canada Junior hockey championship and the right to meet Owen Sound in the Dominion finals for the Memorial Cup. The score was 2 goals to 1, and though Regina on the play deserved to win, needed the breaks to score victory.

The game was hard fought throughout with Port Arthur meeting the flashy Regina rushes with a smooth systematic defensive system. The West Ends were the superior shots, but the speedy Regina forwards and powerful defensive combination of Dodge and Cranstoun prevented them from working in close enough to be doing anything.

How Goals Scored.

Regina had a marked advantage in the first period but failed to score through weak shooting. In the second period Cranstoun scored a fluke goal when Spooner pulled in his high shot. Cross evened the count when he picked up Manahan's shot which rounded off the post to score easily. The winning counter came from Metcalfe's stick on a fast shot from outside the defence.

Metcalfe was the outstanding player on the ice and only poor luck prevented him from scoring several goals. Cranstoun and Dodge played superbly on the defence with strong assistance from Langford. Barring Metcalfe, the Regina forwards showed little effectiveness. Port Arthur showed undisputed strength and are certain to be dangerous. Cross and Friday played a sound defensive game, while Spooner played brilliantly.

Barton, McKay and Manahan watched their checks very closely and all showed shooting ability which made them dangerous.

The average weight of the human brain is 49.5 ounces for men and 44 ounces for women.

This year the United States will allow 164,667 immigrants to enter the country.

BOSTON HEAVY IS SUSPENDED

Sharkey Fails To Go Through Match With Pat McCarthy.

INDEFINITE PERIOD.

CHICAGO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Jack Sharkey, the Boston heavyweight, yesterday was indefinitely suspended by the Illinois State Athletic Commission for failure to go through with his match with Pat McCarthy, also of Boston, here March 24.

After agreeing to fight McCarthy, Sharkey called off the match on the plea that he sustained a split lip in his match with Mike McTigue.

Subsequently, it developed, Tex Rickard had ordered Sharkey not to engage in another match pending his contest with Jim Maloney in New York in May.

Sharkey's suspension becomes effective in eighteen states affiliated with the Illinois commission.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

The preacher, who ignorantly or wilfully denounces the proclamation of the gospel of "the Kingdom of God" should take notice that Jesus not only preached it, but also taught his disciples to pray "Thy Kingdom Come." This class of preachers erroneously claim that all mankind are on probation for "eternal life," in this life only; and all who fail to make good, go into "endless torments." They put a false interpretation on the word "hell," calling it "endless torments." Some preach "endless torments," in a blatant, flippant, and heartless manner, causing men to doubt their sincerity. Lately I had to listen to one giving forth an offensive discourse. It was heart-sickening in the extreme, to listen to his loud unfeeling utterances, in regard to "endless torments." The preacher who lacks the Spirit of Christ, and defames the Holy Name of God, by imputing to God attributes that belong wholly to Satan, is in a pitiable state, together with those who sit under his ministry. It is refreshing and inspiring to listen to men who are imbued with the Holy Spirit, and are free from egotism and selfishness. It is a lamentable fact, that such preachers like Jonathan Goforth and others of like spirit are not plentiful.

DAY OF PRAYER AT ARMY TEMPLE

Twelve Hour Service Being Held By Salvation Army To-morrow.

Apropos of the Lenten season will be the twelve hours of devotion held in the Salvation Army Temple to-morrow.

This unusual service will commence at 10 o'clock in the morning and will conclude at 10 o'clock at night. Leaders have been appointed for every hour of the twelve, and the services will be conducted without a break throughout the day.

Intense interest has been awakened amongst Salvationists, many of whom intend to spend the day in prayer and fasting.

Adjutant Frank Ham especially desires that this unusual opportunity might be of help to those of the city whose usual employment on the Sunday does not allow them to attend services held at the regular hours. Street car men, hotel workers, railway men, caretakers, nurses and other hospital workers are especially invited.

POLAND REPORTED PLANNING ATTACK

To Celebrate Pilsudski's Birthday By Ultimatum To Lithuania.

BERLIN, March 19. — (United Press.)—Sensational reports that Poland would celebrate the birthday of President Pilsudski to-day by delivering an ultimatum to Lithuania or even invading that country, were published in Berlin newspapers.

The unconfirmed reports came from German and Russian sources.

Poland and Lithuania long have been at odds over the possession of Vilna.

A conspiracy to overthrow the Lithuanian government was reported to have been exposed at Kovno. The Fifth Infantry Regiment had planned to revolt, according to the report.

FORD'S OPINIONS WELL GUARDED

Lawyers Block Every Attempt To Learn Them During Trial.

LENIENT TO SOVIET.

DETROIT, Mar. 19 (Canadian Press)—Henry Ford's opinions are yet to be uncovered in the million dollar libel suit brought in the Federal Court here by Aaron Sapiro. A battery of lawyers, on their feet at every attempt to lift the lid for a peep into the brain of the automobile manufacturer, have blocked virtually all questions.

Two facts about Ford were learned, however, in the few minutes his editor, William Cameron, was on the stand yesterday. He regards Soviet Russia with a lenient eye, while his weekly, the Dearborn Independent, is opposed to Bolshevism.

WANT AD SALE UNIQUE EVENT

Big Rush To Take Advantage of Almost Half Rate on Classified.

AD COSTS ONE CENT.

The sale of Want Ads being put on by The Examiner to-night is unique. It is a real ONE CENT sale. It doesn't mean that the second advertisement is charged at one cent a word, as some persons thought. This one-cent sale means that the purchaser to-night pays the regular rate for the first advertisement, to appear on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and receives a second ad for Thursday, Friday and Saturday for a total of one cent more. For instance, if the first ad costs 25 cents, then the two will be given for 26 cents

It is a wonderful opportunity for those who have articles to sell or exchange. If a man has a house, for instance, he can advertise it in one manner for the first three days of the week and change the wording for the last three days, giving him two different advertisements for just one cent more than one will ordinarily cost him.

There is something in almost every house that is not needed, and will ultimately be thrown out. This is an opportunity to sell these articles at a very cheap rate.

Customers may write their own advertisements, or the want ad man will assist up to ten o'clock to-night. It costs nothing to enquire, and you may turn 25 cents into several dollars. If the rush continues as strong as it was late this afternoon, the space may be quickly used up.

SOVIET EXPECTS TO END RELATIONS

Officials Not Dismayed By Break With Great Britain.

MOSCOW, March 19 (United Press).—The Soviet Government apparently has made up its mind that the British Government intends to end diplomatic and commercial relations with it.

Soviet officials profess not to be disturbed by the prospect.

The Moscow newspaper Isvestia, which calls itself the official newspaper of the Central Executive Committee, and which is recognized as the Government's authorized mouthpiece, accompanied publication of the Soviet reply of February 27th to the British note with the following editorial comment:

"The British note is obviously intended to change the present unsatisfactory conditions between Great Britain and the Soviet Union in one way or another, otherwise there is no reason for the British note of protest. If the British statesmen wanted to improve conditions, they would have stated specific facts to support their accusations over Soviet violation of the terms of the 1921 trade agreement between the two countries. Therefore as they did not state specific facts it is evident they intend to make relations between the two nations worse.

"The British either wanted to frighten the Soviet with a threat of rupture or to bring a break. If they intended to frighten by threat, that card was defeated before it was played. Therefore the London Cabinet under pressure of a part of the Conservative party really wished to cause a breach of relations."

SHANGHAI FALLS TO INVADING CANTONESE

DEPUTATION TO ASK COMPLETION OF TRENT CANAL

Trent Waterways Association Will Urge Value of System on Cabinet.

TO GET TOURISTS

Many Motor Boat Owners From Detroit Turn Back Now, Officials Say.

It is the intention of the Trent Waterways Development Association shortly to arrange for a deputation from all the municipalities along the system to go to Ottawa for an interview with the Cabinet concerning the completion of the canal by the placing of locks in the Severn River where there are now marine railways. E. A. Peck, M.P. for Peterborough West, pressed this matter when the estimates were in the House of Commons, but received no hope that the canal would be completed, although the Minister, the Hon. Mr. Dunning, expressed willingness to hear a deputation on the matter.

The necessity of competing the canal is stressed by officials of the association, who find that a great many tourists from Detroit, the centre of motor boating on the Great Lakes, turn back rather than have their boats taken over the railways. Very few of those who enter the Severn pass both rapids and it is probable that if the work were completed a good number would not only go to Lake Simcoe, but would come right through, returning home by way of Lakes Ontario and Erie.

The record in Hansard shows that when an amount, $51,900, was reached during consideration of the estimates for the Department of Railways and Canals, which was designated "Trent Canal—Improvements—Additional amount required," the member for Muskoka-Ontario, Dr. Peter McGibbon, remarked that the canal had been under way for 125 years and that the Government could not hope to get revenue from it without completing the canal and that all the revenue possible (from power revenues) was being received.

Mr. McGibbon replied that the tourist triffic is the only practical use to which the canal could be put, but that incomplete it is practically of no use. Mr. Dunning said that the tourists are making a great deal of use of the canal and can continue to do so even if it is not completed.

Mr. Peck pointed out the existence of a strong feeling in Peterborough and the neighboring district that the canal should be completed. The actual canals in the distance of 240 miles, he said, total only 30 miles, and all that is needed to complete it is the dredging and elimination of two rapids in a short section of the Severn River. With that completed, he said, there will be passage from Lake Ontario to Georgian Bay for vessels of a draught of six or seven feet. There is a certain amount of power to be generated still on the canal and, according to Mr. Peck, it seems unfitting that after so much money has been spent the canal should lie uncompleted. In conclusion, he advised the Minister of the intention of the people of the district to send a deputation.

Answering Mr. Peck, Mr. Dunning said that he would be glad to London Shoppers To Lose Farthing Bargain Sales

LONDON, March 21.—(A.P.)—That humble little coin, the "farthing" (half a cent), is on its last legs and will soon be banished from quotations in dry goods stores, where it has held sway for so many years.

It was supposed to be an attraction for an article to be marked 9 pence 3 farthings because it looked to the average shopper like less money than 10 pence, although it is only a half cent less.

Miss Ellen Wilkinson, M.P. sounded the death knell on behalf of women shoppers.

"The farthing was always a stupid nuisance," she said. "I don't believe women ever were taken in by it, but the drapers thought they were. Certainly the modern woman is not led away by it; she is just impatient with its nonsense."

BALKAN UNREST STIRS BRITAIN

Danger To Peace of Europe Seen in Peninsula.

MOBILIZATION RUMOR.

LONDON, March 21 (Canadian Press).—Balkan war clouds and the chaos in China competed for space today in the British press, both situations being bewildering in their complexities.

The Adriatic unrest is at Europe's doorstep, therefore it is the more menacing and alarms are being sounded from every Continental capital.

"The situation in the contested region near the mouth of the Adfiatic," warns The Times, "needs careful handling."

The Daily Telegraph says "Almost without warning, danger to the peace of Europe has risen in the familiar seat of trouble, the Balkan Peninsula."

Jugo-Slavs Mobilize?

GENEVA, March 21 (Canadian Press).—As the League of Nations Preparatory Commission assembled to-day to discuss preliminary plans for the international disarmament conference, the atmosphere was charged with stories of tension in the Balkans.

Advices from Rome in the last few days have told of the mobilization of Jugo-Slav troops along the Albanian border, and while Italian newspapers have gone into details alleging war-like intentions on the part of Jugo-Slavia, nothing official has been announced by the Rome Government.

Albania Prepares Defence.

VIENNA, Austria, March 21.—Unconfirmed reports continue to arrive from Turana, the Albanian capital, alleging that Jugo Slavia is inciting irresponsible elements in Albania to revolt.

To cope with possible aggression Albanian military authorities are preparing the defense of the northern frontier, bringing up howitzer batteries and concentrating troops at strategic points.

COMMANDER OF NORTHERN ARMY TAKES REFUGE IN FRENCH CITY; DEFENDING FORCES ARE ROUTED

Indications Point Will Be No Fighting Close to Shanghai.

TRUCE RUMORED

Every Precautionary Taken to Keep Chinese Outside Concessions.

SHANGHAI, March 21 (Monday).—(Associated Press Cable.)—The Chinese Nationalists have entered the native city of Shanghai. General Pi Hsu-chen, Commander of the Northern forces in the city, is reported to have taken refuge in the French concession. The Cantonese have cut the Shanghai-Nanking Railway.

Meantime there is feverish activity in the foreign settlements. The barbed wire barriers in the French concession on the border have all been closed. The main barriers of the international settlement are still open but they may be closed at any moment.

Thousands of armed and unarmed soldiers are swarming through the country outside the foreign settlements, but every precaution has been taken to keep them out.

Indications last night were that there would be no fighting close to Shanghai. General Pi Hsu Chen the Shantung defender of Shanghai, it is rumored, has gone over to the Cantonese. There was no confirmation of this report, but it is stated that he sent a representative to General Ho Ying Ching, the southern commander, to discuss the conclusion of a truce in order to avoid fighting in the Shanghai area.

Little Resistance.

This in connection with the fact that the Shantung forces have made no attempt to hold the southern line descending on Shanghai, tends to confirm the belief in foreign military and well-informed Chinese circles here that some arrangement has been made regarding Shanghai between Gen. Chang Shai Shek, and General Tsung Chang, governor of Shanghai, whose whereabouts recently has been a mystery. Everything points to such an arrangement and there is even the possibility that there is an understanding between Gen. Chang Kai Shek and Marshal Chang Tso Lin, the Manchurian war lord.

Alarm Concession.

There has thus been no incident on the British line which is strongly held. Seven thousand retreating Shantung soldiers arrived outside the French concession yesterday, but made no attempt to enter. It was their presence that caused the French to close their wire barriers.

The experienced observers confess their inability to grapple with the manifold complexities the situation in China to-day presents. Saturday's sensational collapse of the Shantungese defence placed Shanghai at the disposal of the Nationalists and it is now only a question of hours before they claim their prize. The local Shantung commander apparently has arrived at an amicable arrangement with the other side and it might well appear that the future contains nothing but success for the Nationalist cause.

Strife Within Ranks.

However, from Hankow comes the news that the Nationalist structure, is on the verge of collapse, is at all events having its foundations very severely tested by bitter internal strife. The split, which recently developed in the Kuomintang party between Chang Kai Shek's supporters and the Communists elements, is now extending to the Nationalist military forces and despatches from Hankow, which the censor delayed, state that General Tang Shen Ching, commander of the Honan troops, who helped the Cantonese capture Wuchang, has definitely ranged himself on the side of the Communists and is replacing Chang Hai Shek's garrison at Hankow with his own troops.

In effect there has bene a complete communist coup d'etat at Hankow and the delicacy of the political situation there is illustrated by the report from a reliable source to the effect that Eugene Chen, the Cantonese foreign minister, who is generally regarded as belonging to Chang Kai Shek's party, has sent his family to Shanghai.

Falling Into Trap.

Meanwhile, in Honan, Marshal Chang Tso Lin is steadily pushing ahead with his drive down the railway toward Hankow but the latest Peking reports suggest he is merely walking into a well prepared trap, as Governor Yen Hsin Shan of Shensi, who is an expert fence rider, but usually has been with the north, is on the point of linking up with General Feng Yu Hsiang, formerly called the Christian general, with a view of bottling up this expedition beyond all hope of extrication.

Despite the prevailing uncertainty, Shanghai remains calm and unperturbed in view of the presence of strong foreign naval and military forces ready to deal with any sudden emergency.

The Nationalists are within ten miles of Shanghai and should be here

No Respecter of Feet Thief Steals Rubbers

A sneak thief operating on the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge in Ashburnham on Saturday night, stole seven pairs of rubbers, the property of residents of the Brick Yard road.

This road, especially at this time of the year, is in very poor condition for walking, and the people have been in the habit of leaving their rubbers underneath the steps of the house when they come up town to do their shopping.

The usual practice was carried out on Saturday night, but when the shoppers returned to their cache they found that all the rubbers with the exception of one pair, were missing. Swearing vengeance on the thief they were forced to slush through the mud for the remainder of the journey.

That the thief knew his business was evident as the pair of rubbers he left had seen better days and were almost ready for the junk man.

Piggot, Who Announced Himself as "Messiah," Dies at Spixton.

SOUL WIVES.

LONDON, March 21 (Canadian Press).—One of England's most remarkable sensations in the religious sphere is recalled by the death yesterday at Spixton, Somerset, of John Hugh Smyth Piggott.

Piggott, head of a sect known as the Agapemonites, announced in 1905 that he was the Messiah, retired shortly afterward to the famous Agapemonite "Abode of Love." He had a lawful wife, but this did not deter him from taking a "spiritual spouse," who bore him three children. Recruits, usually wealthy young women, often arrived at the "Abode of Love" to become disciples or "soul wives" of Piggott, after putting all their money into a common pool, controlled by the "Messiah."

There was a great outcry against Piggott and his "Abode of Love" throughout England, and he was expelled from the Church of England.

RESIGN CABINET.

Premier Averescu Titular Charge of Ministry at Bucharest.

BUCHAREST, March 21 (Canadian Press). — Finance Minister Lapedatus has resigned from the Cabinet and Premier Averescu will assume titular charge of the Ministry.

The resignation of the Finance Minister was a surprise blow to the Liberal opposition and is considered a further indication of the strength of Premier Averescu's followers.

Paris Cafe Serves Advice With Drinks To Customers

PARIS, March 21.—(A.P.)—The gentleman drinker has his code even in this land of light wines and beers, where, so some writers say, hard liquor is shunned and true temperance reigns.

"Come here freely," says a sign on a little cafe in the suburbs of Paris. "Drink moderately, pay honorably, leave amicably, and go home quietly.

It further enjoins its clients to recall that:

"Four glasses make a quart; two quarts a round; two rounds a discussion and a discussion one quarrel.

"One quarrel makes a battle; one battle calls for two policemen. A justice of the peace, a court clerk and a bailiff equal a fine, or a few days in jail, plus costs.

"Keep this in mind," the placard concludes.

FLYER CROSSES DANGEROUS LAP

Completes One of Most Difficult Stages of Four Continent Flight.

INTERIOR BRAZIL.

MANAOS Brazil, March 21. Canadian Press. — Commander Francesco de Pinedo Italian aviator, arrived here yesterday from Guajaramirim, a hop of 650 miles.

Commander de Pinedo's arrival yesterday at Manaos, completes one of the most difficult and dangerous stages of his four continent flight. Although still far in the interior of Brazil. The next lap will carry him down the Amazon to Guarapa and Para, which offers comparatively less peril.

From the time that the intrepid long distance aviator took off from Asuncion, Paraguay, on March 16th, until his arrival at Manaos, he travelled over one of the most picturesque but hazardous portions of Western Brazil. The route carried him from Asuncion to Cortumba, thence to San Luiz de Caceros and from there to Guajaramirim.

It was during his flight from San Luiz de Caceres to Guajaramirim, a distance of about 650 miles, that the aviator was supposed to have been "lost" in the tropical jungle. His arrival at Guajaramirim on Saturday, however, allayed these fears.

The portion of the flight which carried him from the latter town to Manaos, down the Madeira River to the Amazon, paralleled for many miles the famous "River of doubt."

INDIANS FRIGHTENED.

RIO JANEIRO, March 21.—Canadian Press. — Indians of the Amazon valley who saw an aeroplane for the first time yesterday fled to the forest panic stricken and hid from the man-driven "miraculous bird" of Commander Francesco de Pinedo.

Britishers Wounded When Breach Is Made In Defending Barrier

Chaos Reigns in Fallen City, With Rioting and Looting By Both Armies—Savage Guerilla Warfare Marks Night, While Fires Are Started in Native City.

AMERICAN MARINES LAND TO PROTECT LIVES AND PROPERTY "AT ANY COST"

Fifteen Thousand Foreigners in Array To Defend British, American, French and Japanese Subjects—Another British Battalion Leaves For Fighting Zone.

SHANGHAI, March 21 (Canadian Press).—Chaos reigned in Shanghai tonight after the fall of the City to the Cantonese this morning.

Rioters ran loose in the native quarter all day, and tonight a band of Chinese troops, presumably attached to the retreating Northern army, broke through the barrier to the north of the International settlement and began looting.

A British armored car rushed up in response to a police call for aid. The car was subjected to continuous machine gun fire, Lieut. Newman, Corporal Ainslee and two soldiers were wounded.

Another British car which accompanied the one in which the four men were wounded towed it away under heavy fire, which the British returned. The four men were not seriously hurt.

Savage guerilla fighting was going on in the native district of Chapei tonight between the Shantungese (Northerners) including White Russians and plainclothesmen of Kuomintang (Cantonese). Several of the latter were reported killed. The fighting was accompanied by the outbreak of serious fires at three points in the native city.

Approximately ten thousand Northern troops in the Shanghai area have gone over to the Cantonese.

One hundred White Russians were admitted to the foreign settlement after being disarmed, while thousands of Chinese from the native city sought refuge inside the foreign barricades.

Bullets continued to fall inside the settlements, endangering the lives of foreigners. Astor House Hotel was struck. Naval forces from the British cruiser Hawkins and Carlisle were landed at Pootung, across the Whangpoo River from Shanghai, to protect British-owned property.

Three Punjabis Shot.

SHANGHAI, March 21.—(Canadian Press.) — Shanghai was virtually in control of Chinese Nationalist forces to-day, the Southerners having entered the native city this morning. When disorders developed near the borders of the international settlement, soon after the Nationalists arrived, fifteen hundred United States' marines were landed, while the Japanese landed nine hundred marines. Three Punjabis were shot during the disturbances and one of them died later.

General Strike Starts.

Immediately a general strike was ordered to celebrate the coming of the Southerners. When it went into effect at noon, there was every indication there would be a widespread response by all classes of workers. Trams in the international settlement were the first to cease operations, the employees in the largest cotton mills left their work. The strike is entirely political as a show of sympathy with the Nationalist victory and to prove the solidarity of labor.

General Pi Shu Chen, commander of the Northern forces in Shanghai, is reported to have taken refuge in the French concession. The Cantonese have cut the Shanghai-Nanking railway.

Great crowds gathered after the Nationalists arrived and numerous police charges were necessary to clear some of the streets. The volunteer guards were immediately mobilized.

The Nationalist troops which entered the Chinese section of the city this morning were plain clothes forces, known as the "Nationalist army behind the enemy lines." The main Southern force was still a few miles from the city.

The Nationalist flag is flying over the post office and nearly all the Chinese shops. The French authorities were erecting barbed wire barriers across the streets not yet barricaded, bordering on the international settlement.

A Japanese naval landing party is patroling the Bund.

15,000 Men On Shore.

Foreign defenders ashore here total fifteen thousand men, part of whom are holding the twenty mile exterior defence line, while others strongly patrol the streets of foreign settlements. The Japanese landing party totals fifteen hundred, with French, Italian, Dutch, Portuguese and Spanish likewise debarking strong detachments. The British already have numerous forces on duty ashore.

BEGIN DEBATE ON MARITIMES NEXT THURSDAY

Promises To Be One of Most Interesting Features of Session.

INTEREST ACTIVE.

Cabinet Considered Some of Proposed Bills at Saturday's Meeting.

OTTAWA, March 21 (Canadian Press).—Parliament will likely begin its discussion on Maritime rights about Thursday or Friday of this week. The debate promises to be one of the most interesting features of the session.

In both Liberal and Conservative camps, political interest over the week-end has been focussed on the legislation promised in the House on Friday by Premier King to put into effect recommendations contained in the Duncan report.

The Cabinet Council, it is understood, considered some of the proposed bills at Saturday's meeting and these measures are now being drafted. It is improbable, though, that this work can be completed before the latter part of the week.

Maritime Conservative members and Senators had a caucus in the matter over the week-end, following which an official statement was issued in which they decried the intimation that the Government does not propose this session to implement legislation for the relief of the steel and coal industries. This will be the basis of attack upon the government by Maritime members, although the measures to be introduced on the major recommendations in the report will, on the whole, it is understood, be supported by Conservatives generally.

A general caucus of the Conservative party has also been called for Tuesday in the matter, at which

MOOSE MEET.

Many New Members Join Order at Meeting This Week.

A large meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose was held on Thursday evening. District Supervisor D. W. Eagle and Local Organizer S. Manning presented twenty-eight applications for membership and fourteen new members were initiated into the Order. The members are very enthusiastic and everything indicates that the Moose are going to be one of the big Orders in the city. Regular meetings are held the first and third Thursdays in each month.

THE WEATHER

According to the almanac, this is the day on which winter is supposed to take its departure, and the glorious spring to be ushered in. However, with a minor sleet storm, it is less spring like to-day than for several weeks past, and winter seems disinclined to take too hasty a departure. Highest temperature yesterday 39 degrees; lowest 25. Mild conditions prevail in the far west, and our little winter will be neither severe nor lengthy.—W. P.

Red Suits For Dark Men Is British Dictum, With Yellow and Purple To Suit Complexions

LONDON, March 21 (Associated Press)—Tomato red suits will be worn by brunette men on Piccadilly this Spring if the recommendations of the National Federation of Merchant Tailors are accepted by the public.

There also will be sunshine yellow for men with whose coloring it harmonizes. This is the newest shade which James Weddell, the President of the Federation, has espoused.

Raisin purple also is very generally offered by fashionable tailors, who are paying more attention than ever before to giving men suitings which do not clash with their complexions. Browns are shown in a great profusion of shades, many of them very bright.

In fact, suitings are much brighter than they were for Winter, and London tailors are trying to convert their customers away from the traditional dark greys, blues and browns which make London streets so drab.

Piccadilly strollers whose silk hats are not slightly belled at the top and do not measure exactly 5 3-4 inches in height cannot make any impression on London's fashion dictators. Also their hats must have a brim exactly 1 7-8 inches wide.

Bank clerks, music hall managers, undertakers and doctors have never abandoned the high hat in London. Bookmakers also have clung to them through thick and thin. And diplomats were faithful to their uniform even during the Zeppelin raids.

But the war put the average man into lounge clothing and he has refused to abandon soft hats and bowlers in favor of high hats and long coats.

The hatmakers, however, say the high hat is coming back. More have been sold in the last year in Great Britain than in any year since the beginning of the great war, and the fashion shops are plugging so hard on the latest shapes that it is pretty hard for men to "get by" with silk hats of ancient vintage.

IONIC CHAPTER, R.A.M., CELEBRATE 18TH ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDING

Gold Chain Presented to G. A. Kingston by Companions.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS

Trent Valley Creameries Make Improvements to Plants.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, March 21. — Improvements are being made to the plants of the Trent Valley Creameries both here and at Keene which will have the effect of increasing their efficiency and capacity. A new 25 h.p. boiler is being installed in the local creamery and a 15 h.p. boiler will be set up at the Keene plant, which is also being equipped with a 3000-pound pasteurizer.

These are evidences of a gradual expansion of business which is being accomplished by the Trent Valley creameries under the direction of Mr H. N. Carr. Their supplies of cream are drawn from a wide territory, which may be indicated by Brighton on the south to within half a mile of Peterboro, and from Lenella on the west to the Stirling road. Trent Valley butter is shipped to Peterboro, Toronto and Montreal; some is sold in town, but the most of it is exported. The trucks which carry the cream from the farms to the two factories have been running all winter, although part of the Keene district was closed since the last storm, and sleighs had to be used.

Mr. Carr remarked to the Examiner that the grading of cream has proved a decided advantage to dairy farmers because they are now paid on the basis of the quality of their cream. The result is that the farmers who produce the best cream, are receiving more money and incidentally there has been an improvement in the quality of the butter manufactured under the new regulations.

Masonic Anniversary.

The celebration of the anniversary of the institution of Ionic Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, last Thursday was featured by the first official visit of George W. P. Every of Whitby, district superintendent, accompanied by W. M. Van Volkenburg, also of Whitby, and past superintendent of this district.

The evening's work and concluding supper merged into one of the most pleasant and successful events in the lengthening history of the Chapter. And with significant touches of color and after dinner allusion, appropriate recognition was paid to the day of St. Patrick.

After the honors to the King, a toast to the Grand Chapter was proposed by Dr. E. J. Free, to which District Superintendent Every and Mr. Van Volkenburg replied.

Dr. O. C. Watson proposed the toast to St. Patrick, and George A. Kingston replied. The toast to the guests of the evening was given by N. Alex. MacColl and responded to by H. C. McElrath, of Belleville, and E. H. Greig of Campbellford.

A. J. Meyers proposed the toast to the candidates. The only disappointment in the programme was the absence of John Elliott of Belleville, who was to have spoken on "Quebec and the Maritimes." His automobile was turned back by a mud barrier on the road. The speeches were interspersed with songs by John Stories, G. W. Lucy, Albert Hazell and A. M. Rollo, and a recitation by R. J. Allan. E. C. Dolman was accompanist.

A happy incident of the anniversary was the presentation of a gold chain to Mayor George A. Kingston, the immediate past Z., as a token of the esteem of the companions of the Chapter.

J. D. Cumming, Z., presided as chairman, and shared largely in the felicites of the evening.

Property Transfers.

Gilbert G. Stephens has purchased Jas. Leonard's farm on the Havelock road and is preparing to occupy it this week.

Roy Sweet, whose home was burned about a month ago, has bought a house and lot on Wellington Street from Claude A. Winters.

Trappers Busy.

Trappers are busy up and down the Trent and its tributaries. The opening price for pelts is about $2.50, a considerable increase over last year's peak quotation. The season is much earlier than usual, and the promise that it will be a long one is putting trappers in a quandary as to the probable trend of prices. A long season usually means a big catch, with a weakening of the market. Trappers do not know what to make of the initial strength of the market. Some purchases have already been made but they have been small.

Rector Arrives.

Rev. Clark Wallace, the new rector of Christ Church, arrived in town on Saturday evening and was met at the station by Mr. A. J. Jenkins, Mr. S. Neale and Major Bygott. Rev. Mr. Wallace has been curate at Grace Church, St. Clair Avenue, Toronto.

The many friends of Mr. Fred Wood, druggist, will regret to learn that he has been confined to his home by illness for a week. His condition is reported much improved.

R. A. Dunk is assistant chief of the fire brigade and deputy to Chief C. H. Davidson.

RECTOR APPOINTED.

Rev. A. H. Creegan, Rural Dean of Hastings, Goes To Gananoque.

KINGSTON, March 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Rt. Rev. C. A. Seager, Bishop of Ontario, has announced that he has appointed Rev. A. H. Creegan, Rural Dean of Hastings, to the charge of Gananoque, and at the same time has made him a Canon of St. George's Cathedral in recognition of his missionary work among the Indians. Rev. F. Lewis Barber, present incumbent at Gananoque, has been transferred to Toronto. Canon Creegan was at Tyendinaga, in Hastings, for twenty years. He will assume his new charge in May.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE CAREFUL MAN

He's rather choice about
The car:
He never drives it out
So far,
Or ever lets it stand
So long,
But that he's right on hand
If wrong
The carburetor, air
Or clutch,
To give it tender care
And touch.

In fact he worries quite A lot
If this or that is right
Or not,
His rifle or his reel
Or pup,
Till midnight often he'll Sit up
To clean a gun, to mend
A wire,
To nurse a dog, attend
A tire.

I'm glad to see him take Such care
Adjust and mend and make Repair.
A careful man is good
To see,
But, oh, I wish he would with me—
Would take the time for love,
For life,
Would be as careful of
His wife!

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : Jesus Transfigured

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

A Gentile woman besought Jesus to heal her daughter. To test her faith, Jesus said he was "sent unto the Jews" and that it was not "meet to take the children's bread and cast it to dogs." But the woman said, "Truth, Lord, yet the dogs eat of the crumbs that fall from their masters' table." (Matthew XV : 22-27)

Jesus commended her faith and her daughter was made whole from that very hour. (Matthew XV : 28)

Jesus foretells to the disciples his sufferings, death and his resurrection at Jerusalem. (Matthew XVI : 21)

The Saviour, taking Peter, James and John into a mountain with him, is transfigured in glory before them, and their faith was strengthened by the vision. (Matthew XVII : 1-9)

WASHINGTON IS SILENT OVER TRADE TREATY

Meet Coolidge in Reducing Certain Duties Without Congressional Sanction.

MUTUAL PRODUCTS.

Official Comment Held That Government Not Approached on Subject.

WASHINGTON, March 21 (Canadian Press).—The cloak of official silence, which is wrapped about anything official Washington is unprepared to discuss, was thrown yesterday over the shoulders of Premier Mackenzie King's suggestions for a reciprocity arrangement with the United States.

Canada is ready to arrange a reciprocal trade treaty to cover tariff duties charged on mutual cost products and fish, the Premier told the Canadian Parliament, and is also willing to meet President Coolidge half way in reducing certain duties without awaiting congressional sanction.

But official Washington, the scene of a historic battle over reciprocity during the Taft regime, yesterday knew only what it had seen in the newspapers about the Canadian Premier's latest announcement.

There were a few closely associated with tariff matters who said that under the law, Mr. Coolidge could not change the tariff merely for reciprocal purposes; that he had the power only to use the flexible provisions of the tariff act to meet competitive trade problems. In the main, however, official comment was held to the brief statements that the Government had not been approached on the subject.

FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE ON FARM

Residence of Harry Gillis, Near Bethany, Burned To Ground.

CONTENTS SAVED.

BETHANY, March 21. — Fire destroyed the large frame residence of Harry Gillis, on the old Jemison estate, three miles north east of here, yesterday evening.

The blaze started in the attic over the kitchen, supposedly from a defective chimney or overheated stovepipes.

Mr. Gillis and other adult members of the family were seated in the front part of the house, when one of the children came in and reported the kitchen was on fire. On going out Mr. Gillis found the ceiling a mass of flames.

Neighbors gathered speedily and managed to save most of the contents of the house. The house itself, of frame construction, and very old, burned very fast.

The loss is about $1500, partly covered by insurance.

C. N. T. NOTIFIED REVISION SOUGHT

Employees Want 15 Per Cent. Increase and Adjustments of Rules.

MONTREAL, March 21.— (Canadian Press.)—The Canadian National Telegraphs was to-day served with thirty days' notice of revision of the schedule covering Morse and automatic telegraphers, telephone operators, clerks, installers and gang men.

A fifteen per cent. increase in wages and adjustments of the working rules are proposed by the general committee of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

Fifteen hundred workers are involved.

doubtlessly the stand taken by the Maritime members of the Opposition will be given approval. It is further stated that the New Brunswick Conservatives will urge that the St. John Valley Railway be taken over immediately by the Canadian National Railways.

U.F.A. and Progressive members will, it is expected, hold an informal conference in the course of the week in the matter.

The Georgian Bay Canal Bill is slated to come before the House today for the ninth time this session. E. R. E. Chevrier (Liberal, Ottawa), who is sponsoring the measure, will open the discussion. A number of other members have intimated their intention to address the House respecting the renewal of this charter, and the present likelihood is that a division on the question of sending the bill to committee for consideration will not be reached this week. Estimates of the Department of Public Works are scheduled to be proceeded with on Tuesday; while several Government measures will also be under discussion.

OLD MASTERS

I open my scuttle at night and see the far-sprinkled systems,
And all I see, multiplied as high as I can cipher, edge but the rim of the farther systems.
Wider and wider they spread, expanding, always expanding.
Outward, outward, and forever outward.
My sun has his sun, and round him
obediently wheels,
He joins with his partners a group of superior circuit,
And greater sets follow, making specks
of the greatest inside them.

There is no stoppage, and never can be stoppage,—
If I, you, and the worlds, and all beneath or upon their surfaces, were this moment reduced back to a pallid float, it would not avail in the long run,
We should surely bring up again where we now stand,
And as surely go much farther—and then farther and farther.

See ever so far, there is limitless space outside of that,
Count ever so much, there is limitless time around that.

My rendezvous is appointed, it is certain;
The Lord will be there, and wait till
I come on perfect terms;
The great Camerado, the lover true for whom I pine, will be there.

PLAINTIFF DID NOT PRESS SUIT

Judgment by Default to A. H. Atkinson at Hastings.

BY JUDGE HUYCKE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, March 21.—Judgment by default was given A. H. Atkinson, R. R. No. 1, Roseneath, in a suit by L. G. Bannard & Co., Hamilton, for payment of a note for $385.81 with interest, which was brought before Judge Huycke, of Peterborough, here on Friday. The action was first entered at Hamilton, but Mr. N. Alex. MacColl, of Campbellford, solicitor for the defendant, A. H. Atkinson, disputed jurisdiction and succeeded in getting the case transferred here. The plaintiffs, however, did not appear on Friday when Judge Huycke was ready to hear it.

It was stated that Mr. Atkinson gave the note to the Sterling Bond Company in a deal for stock in Canadian Radiators Limited and that the Bond Company disposed of the note to Bannard & Co. The note was for the balance of payment of $1,600, and Mr. Atkinson had anticipated covering the $385.81 with dividends which he had been led to expect from the Radiators stock. However, the dividends were not forthcoming, but demand for meeting the note came through.

In disputing the suit of Bannard & Co. Mr. Atkinson claimed that the Canadian Radiators Limited should indemnify him in the event of judgment being awarded Bannard & Co.

The Radiator Company disputed this claim for relief on the ground that the Sterling Bond Company had sold the stock and that they (Radiators Ltd.) had simply filled the order.

Adequate Force.

The foreign forces available for the protection of the international settlement in Shanghai, now number about 20,000 trained men, the greater portion of which are British.

The American forces consist of 1,500 marines and 2,000 bluejackets, but these men so far have been kept aboard United States' warships and transports in the harbor.

The Japanese have 3,000 fighting men in Shanghai and the French a some what smaller force.

Twenty-one warships of five foreign countries are lying off Shanghai ready to protect foreign lives and property.

Shanghai, China's biggest port, has a foreign population of nearly 40,000 persons. There are heavy foreign investments. Chinese in the city number about 1,500,000.

PROBE OPENS AT TORONTO

Deal With Approximately Fifty Per Cent of Dominion's Border Trade.

TWO WEEK SESSION.

TORONTO, Ont., March 21. Canadian Press. — After a rest of two weeks, the Royal Commission investigating the administration of the Department of Customs and Excise, opened Ontario sitting here this morning.

The Toronto sittings of the Commission are regarded as being of great importance in view of the fact that this province accounts for approximately 50 per cent. of the total exports and imports of the Dominion. During the sittings here, which will probably continue for two weeks, the customs administration at other important cities in Ontario, such as Hamilton and London, will be gone into. According to present plans the commission will visit Windsor and Niagara Falls at the conclusion of the Toronto sittings. No dates have been set for these sittings yet. Extensive smuggling on a commercial basis is said to have taken place at these two places. As far as eastern Ontario is concerned it will probably be looked into when the commission holds its final meetings at Ottawa.

Chief Justice J. T. Brown, chairman of the commission, is now in the city. Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C. and R. L. Calder, K.C., are joint counsel. The sittings will take place in the city hall, and it is expected that the organization of the customs ports of Toronto, will be gone into first. As in the past, the early witnesses will probably be customs officials and collectors, who will be examined as to the operations of the various ports which are to be investigated.

Scope Wide.

The scope of the commission is wide. It is empowered to investigate the administration of the Department of Customs and Excise and the alleged serious losses through the inefficiency or corruption of customs officers; the prevention of smuggling, and the prosecution of offenders; the appraisal of goods for revenue purposes; the collection of customs and excise revenues; the knowledge of ministers or officials of irregularities affecting the public service; the efficiency of customs administration; the necessity for safeguarding the public revenues. On of its provinces is to inquire into and report on the anti-smuggling treaty between Canada and the United States "as to whether it is being carried out according to its declared intent," and if amendments to it are necessary.

Also the commission is to consider and report on what legislation or changes of administration are required to insure the suppression of smuggling and the proper and efficient functioning of the Customs Department.

In the report of the Parliamentary Committee on Customs which sat during the last session of parliament it was recommended that all distilleries of Canada be investigated. Subsequently the commission was requested to look into the breweries also. This is being done.

DEPUTATION TO, ETC.

meet any deputation. Answering a question from Mr. Coote, of Macleod, the Minister said that the money would probably not be spent as the work had not been done and the year will expire on March 31. The money will be put in the estimate for next year for repairs to works connected with the power rights, which have to be kept up in order to keep up the revenue.

A MINING SYNDICATE OPPORTUNITY

A PRE-ORGANIZATION syndicate is being formed, by a well-known Toronto investment banker, of a company in process of formation. This company will amalgamate two of the most promising silver properties in the Gowganda district, equipped with a 100-ton mill and power lines. 30,000 tons of 35-ounce ore on the dumps at present, ready to start milling ore at once. This offers, to the man with $50 or more to invest, a speculation of unusual profit possibilities.

Three mining stocks listed on the Toronto Exchange have been questioned by the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange. They are: Vickers, Bourlamaque, and South Keora. The Board demands that cause be shown why these stocks should not be stricken from the board on account of artificial and manipulative market operation.

It is understood that F. G. Oke is the broker connected with Vickers, M. U. Kemerer with Bourlamaque, and P. Kieley with South Keora.

Vickers owns 80 acres adjacent to the Coniaurum in Porcupine, and a block of acreage in Quebec. Recently F. G. Oke took an option on a block of Abana stock at a low price with a view, it is said, to using this to bolster up the Vickers property. The stock is said to be virtually all tied up or so placed that manipulation is easy.

Investigation of Vickers began some little time ago and caused an uproar, F. G. Oke appeared on the floor of the exchange about a week ago and rang the bell violently five times yellong, "Where is the president and secretary of this —— exchange?" Fred Crawford, the president, answered, acking Oke if he had rung the bell. The latter answered in the affirmative, adding he had rung it five times, whereupon President Crawford fined him $5 a ring, or $25 all told for causing the uproar.

Bourlamaque Syndicate owns interests in various groups of Quebec and in companies operating in that field, all of which appear to be closely interlocked. Like Vickers the stock has risen from a very low price in a manner which has the earmarks of manipulation, though M. U. Kemerer, in a letter dated December 6th last, wrote: "Since the listing of the stock there has been an absolutely free market.

South Keora, sponsored by P. P. Kieley, is an offshoot of the old Porcupine Keora and the latter company holds some 2,000,000 of the 2,300,000 odd shares issued. South Keora has a prospect in the Lorrain district, some acreage in Duprat and 80 acres in Whitney Township. Development of the Lorrain claims is said to be proceeding. The free supply of 300,000 odd shares is said to be more or less controlled and the market has been raised to around 65 cents. It is said that options have been given at a very low figure in comparison with the market price.

In all three cases, it is believed that the board of the Standard Stock Exchange has received information regarding what are alleged to be "high-pressure" operations in these issues in the country. This is in violation of the ruling made by the exchange some time ago. Unless satisfactory explanations are forthcoming the board may suspend, and a statement issued by the board, it is likely that the stocks will be suspended.

Price Movements Steady On Toronto Stock Exchange

TORONTO, March 21 (Canadian Press).—Trading was quiet and price movements steady on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. British American Oil was easily the outstanding issue to figure in the transactions. Over 4,000 shares changed hands in British American Oil and the close at 25 establishes a new high and indicates a gain of 1-4 over Saturday's close. Cosmos Imperial Milling came second in activity and strengthened 7-8 to 21 1-2. City Dairy was active and firm, selling at 104 1-2, a gain of 1-2. Dominion Stores weakened 1-4 to 75 3-4, while International sold off 3-8 to 40 1-8. The traction stocks were dull. Brazilian sold off 1 1-4 to 125 1-2 and Twin City was down 1-2. Brazilian Preferred sold up one to 116. The distillery issues were active and stronger. Seagram sold up 1-2 to 23, G. and W. strengthened 1 1-2 to 55 3-8, while Walker gained 1-2 to 36.

Losses Outnumber Gains On Standard Exchange

TORONTO, March 21 (Canadian Press).—A generally weaker feeling was in evidence on the Standard Mining Exchange today. The market was fairly broad and active with losses outnumbering gains by considerable margin. A gain of 17 cents a share by Vickers, following on the drastic decline of 90 cents a share in Saturday's trading featured the market today. Laval-Quebec was one stock to score gains, and Atlas gained one to 54. The dividend-paying gold stocks all sold on a lower level. Wright-Hargraves declined 30 cents to 10.60; McIntyre was down 25 cents to 25.25, Lake Shore and Hollinger each sold off five cents to 17.95 and 20.95 respectively. Teck Hughes was unchanged. Nipissing dropped 75 cents to 7.65, and Noranda sold off 50 cents to 23.40.

Speculative Interest Results In Firmer Tone

NEW YORK, March 21. — Canadian Press. — Switching of speculative interest from the Industrials to the Rails gave to-day's stock market a firmer undertone.

The upturn in the carrier section, was led by Atchison, Norfolk and Western, Lackawanna and Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, early gains in which ran from 3 to 6 points.

Despite the success of bear traders in unsettling a number of the industrials and specialties in the early trading pool activities were continued in a number of specialties. Pressed Steel Car, in which the Whelan interests recently acquired a large interest, International Match Preferred and Radio all were in brisk demand.

Oils tended to heaviness as the result of another cut in export gasoline prices. Motors sold down at the start on the announcement that Henry Ford had cut prices on the Lincoln car, and of rumors that he would shortly bring out two cylinder Ford models but they rallied later under the leadership of General Motors and Hudson's.

Prices Average Lower Despite Steady Buying

CHICAGO, March 21 (Canadian Press)—Although fair buying support developed today in the wheat market, prices early averaged lower. Relative firmness of quotations at Liverpool was offset by a big increase in the amount of wheat on ocean passage. Opening at 1-8 cent off to 3-8 cent up, Chicago wheat later underwent a material drop. Corn was weak, oats steady and provisions firm with corn starting at 1-4 to 3-8 cents decline to one advance and subsequently showing moderate general setback.

. . . PROMOTER OF CIVIC WELFARE AND CIVIC PRIDE . . . BOND OF CIVIC UNITY . . . PROTECTOR OF CIVIC RIGHTS.

A GOOD CITIZEN PASSES.

The death, after a short illness, of Paul Trebilcock has left the community in a condition of shock at the sudden passing of a well-known and popular citizen, cut down in the prime of life.

Mr. Trebilcock, one of the city's younger business men, had endeared himself to many citizens during his seventeen years' residence in Peterborough, by his unfailing courtesy in his business relations and his genial and likeable attitude toward all with whom he came into contact.

He was in every sense of the phrase a good citizen, taking a quiet but helpful interest in many movements that had as their aim the betterment of Peterborough, and animated by a sincere desire that the city he had adopted as his home should advance on sound and sane lines.

In his passing many Peterborough people have lost a warm friend, whose place in their circle of more intimate acquaintances will be indeed difficult to fill.

Frank Mann Harris, the slangy philosopher, who, under the nom de plume of "Six-Bit," writes briefly of sporting events, watched Premier Ferguson "pull the cork," as he expresses it, in the Legislature the other day, and after describing the introduction of the liquor bill in his usual interesting fashion, concludes his article, in The Star Weekly, with the following home truths that are deserving of a passing thought at least:

"To those of the temperance party who are thinking that this act is nothing short of a calamity we would like to say just 1 word of cheer. We have examined the new bill very close and we can't find a single word or clause in it that forbids a man to leave the stuff alone.

"And when all is said and did, there never was a act, bill, law or any other form of legislation that could compare, for the purpose of successfully making a man lay off liquor, with the time-honored method of convincing the man hisself that he's a cuckoo to drink it, and showing him some better way of putting in his time. There are plenty of matters that are beyond our strictly-limited mentality; but that is 1 thing what we do know."

A NEW DAY FOR THE MARITIMES.

There is joy in the Maritime Provinces, and there should be satisfaction throughout the rest of Canada, that the Federal Government has decided to carry out practically all the recommendations embodied in the report of the Duncan Commission.

The question of Maritime rights has been an open sore for many years.

The people of the Provinces down by the sea have long felt that they have not received the consideration that their early connection with the Dominion should have given them.

They have had many lean years in the Maritimes, have seen the best of their young citizenship drift over the border, have suffered from a variety of causes without much help from the Dominion, while at the same time they have seen the newer Provinces in the west demand and receive concessions far more generous than they themselves at one time, at least, would ever have dreamed of asking.

The Duncan Commission's report, which, for the most part, has been adopted by the Government, is the beginning of a new day for the Maritimes.

Increased subsidies to the Provinces, a twenty per cent. decrease in freight rates, harbour commissions for St. John and Halifax, the appointment of a Deputy Minister to deal solely with fishery questions, and facilities for the coking of Canadian coal, are the most important concessions made by the Government.

THE SITUATION IN OSHAWA.

In the Legislature last week Mr. W. E. N. Sinclair, the Liberal leader, discussing the Liquor Control Act, took a stand that has been accepted by most people as entirely reasonable when he pointed out that the policy now coming into force had been favoured by the people, and that it was right that they should be allowed to test what they had asked for by their votes.

Personally, Mr. Sinclair said, he awaited the results of the experiment with some misgivings, but the will of the people should prevail.

Judging from reports from Oshawa, the home city of the Liberal leader, some of Mr. Sinclair's constituents do not see eye to eye with him in his opinion that the Control Act should be given a fair trial.

Temperance forces in Oshawa are circulating a petition urging that because a dry majority was recorded there at the last election no Government store should be established in the Motor City.

It is not likely that the petition will receive much consideration, and in view of what Mr. Sinclair said the other day, he will not be anxious to associate himself with such an effort.

If the new plan is to have a fair chance to succeed, it is not to be expected that centres as large as Oshawa could be left without a legal channel for the purchase of liquor.

It is perhaps the case that the vote in Oshawa was a personal triumph for Mr. Sinclair, inspired by the hope that he might be the next Premier of the Province, rather than a condemnation of the Government control policy.

However that may be, it seems self-evident that a city of that size, left without a legal source of supply, would be a happy hunting ground for bootleggers, and however distasteful the presence of a Government store may be to some of the inhabitants of Oshawa, it is surely to be preferred to illegal sale on a wholesale basis.

REMEMBER THESE DATES.

Citizens of Peterborough are to have an opportunity again this year, under the auspices of the Thursday Club, to purchase some of the splendid work done by Canada's disabled soldiers.

A sale of this work, along the same lines as in last year's successful sale, is to be held in the Canadian Legion Hall on March 31 and April 1, and The Examiner, realizing the desirability of an encouraging patronage, is glad to call the attention of the public to this event.

The monetary returns from sales of this nature are of secondary importance; what makes them worth while is the fact that a ready response from the public is a friendly pat on the shoulder, a gesture of kindly interest, for badly disabled heroes of the Great War, men who are still fighting despite the fact that the Armistice was signed over eight years ago.

Yet they are still confronted by enemies, these gallant fellows, and one of the most formidable of their foes is depression; the feeling that their usefulness to society is gone, that out of the great adventure into which they flung themselves readily, even gaily, they have emerged broken-down and impotent.

The work they are doing is the best possible bulwark against that enemy, especially when a public demand for the articles they make shows them that there is still a field of useful service for them.

That is why The Examiner hopes that citizens generally will remember the local sale of work, and will see to it that Peterborough tells these men that this community is grateful.

LIBERAL EDUCATION FOR ALL.

In accepting an honorary degree of LL.D. from the University of Montreal, Lord Willingdon made a brief speech on modern culture. He declared himself a believer in liberal education, "the education based upon the equilibrium of all the parts of mind, heart and body; education which undertakes to search the rules and principles of general culture from the sources of Greek and Roman civilizations." He congratulated his hearers on not sacrificing for material reasons the precious patrimony of "general ideas."

The Governor was addressing a university audience and the reference to Latin and Greek would indicate that he had in mind those who have the privilege of studying those civilizations, which is usually associated with that of studying the languages. But his remarks, if true for university students, are true for all, because all require the all-round education to which he refers, influencing mind, heart and body. Thus we are confronted with the problem of cultural training for the vast majority of young people, who cannot expect to acquire familiarity with Greek and Latin, or to enjoy the advantage of university training. It would be inconsistent with any true conception of democracy to limit liberal education to a few, while leaving the many with just enough instruction to enable them to earn their bread. The problem, therefore, is to give to the masses of the people as good a substitute as possible for the liberal education of a university. In commenting on the Governor's speech The Montreal Gazette says:

"We are reminded that true culture is liberal in its outlook and aims. Its special function is to imbue the youthful mind with general ideas. By general ideas is meant those views of life which belong to the whole of humanity, which strike on the common chord, which are ample in their appeal as poetry and music and architecture and language. Education can only become genuine culture in proportion as it broadens our vision and begets in us a deeper understanding of and keener sympathy with others who live under different conditions; yet, withal, share in the common struggle and the common heritage. Barbarism ever clings to local and narrow concepts of life. It is this littleness and isolation of the crude mind that education is designed to offset."

Obviously this universal human sympathy is needed by all, and fortunately there is abundance of evidence that it may be acquired outside the walls of a university. It is a matter of the heart as well as of the head. Culture is not to be used in the sense of mere superficial knowledge. It involves breadth of mind and warmth of heart. E

So far as school education is concerned, the thing to be kept in mind is to stress not merely the bread-winning occupation but the right spending of leisure. The best substitute for a university is a collection of books. In the larger centres of population in this Province, such collections are available to all, free of charge, and library officials are usually not only willing but eager to assist those who wish to use them. The schools can do their part by giving young people a taste for good books, and information as to where the best is to be found. There should be co-operation between the school and the public library.

While the debt owed by humanity to Greek and Latin culture may be acknowledged, it does not follow that the fruits of that culture need be denied to those who are not familiar with these languages. The spirit of the older civilizations—in which the Hebrew civilization ought, of course, to have a high place—may be found in English literature. There, too, may be found a love and reverence for humanity as a whole in which some of the older civilizations were lacking. A university education, while it fosters breadth of view, is not an infallible cure for narrowness. Oliver Wendell Holmes says that the mind of a bigot is like the pupil of the eye. The more light you pour upon it, the more it contracts. But this, of course, is not an argument against liberal education, whether in or outside of the walls of a university.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

More than one individual has felt much like Mr. Raney about the racetracks after he has guessed wrong six times in succession.

The Port Hope Guide comments upon the prominence of Mr. Church at Ottawa. If long speeches count for anything the famous Toronto member would get the Conservative leadership without the formality of a convention.

"Who is going to cool the beer?" is the somewhat pathetic query of a hotel man. Well, let us see. Who has been cooling it ever since the O.T.A. came into existence?

Having heard that beer in Ontario is to be sold at cost under the liquor control policy, a local pessimist hopes that the Hydro staff won't be entrusted with the responsibility of ascertaining the cost.

The good city fathers of Peterborough, Ont., have passed a regulation forbidding the firemen to use strong language while performing their duties. But how is the fireman to speak adequately of conditions when the mercury is below zero, the streets piled with drifts, the hydrants frozen, and a three-alarm fire raging?—Evening Times Globe (Saint John, N. B.).

NORTHERN WAR LORD

Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, variously described as an ex-bandit leader and as the Mukden or Manchurian war lord, is the opponent of General Chiang Kai-Shek, generalismo of the southern (Cantonese-Nationalist) armies in the struggle for control of the whole of China and the destiny of the 400,000,000 people.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 21 (Canadian Press)—Owners of all kinds of grain took to the selling side Saturday, and and all-around break ensued to lowest prices yet this season. Unusually favorable crop conditions for wheat together with extreme bearish predictions from a leading speculator accompanied the rush to sell.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 1-2c to 1 7-8 net lower; and corn was 3-4 and 7-8 to 1 1-4c off; oats 1-8 and 1-4c to 3-8c down, and provisions unchanged to 7c up.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Reports from Washington suggested that corn acreage will increase 12.8 per cent in South Central States and 1.4 per cent in Western States as compared with last year.

Provisions were responsive to scattered buying based on steadiness of the hog market.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, March 21 (Canadian Press)—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling demand $4.85 1-4.
Sterling cables $4.85 13-16.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 21 (Canadian Press).—The foreign demand for grain in Montreal on Saturday was of a limited character and little new business of importance was done. There was some enquiry from New York exporters for Continental ocean freight room for May loading at 16 cents per hundred pounds, with agents asking one cent per hundred pounds more.

Owing to the further weakness in the future market for corn at Chicago on Saturday, local prices for cash corn were reduced another cent per bushel. Car lots of No. 3 Yellow were quoted at 87c, No. 4 Yellow at 85c, and sample Yellow corn at 83c per bushel, ex-store. There was no change in prices for Canadian Western oats, but the demand was limited.

The trade in Spring wheat grades of flour continued quiet and the undertone was easy, but there was no change in prices. Business in Winter wheat flour was also slow, but prices were steady.

An active trade was done in all lines of millfeed, and the undertone was firm. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was again limited, but values were firm.

The egg market continued active, but the undertone was softer. The receipts were 1,522 cases.

Prices for all grades of butter were well maintained, under a quiet demand. The receipts were 197 packages.

Extreme dullness again marked the cheese trade, but values were unchanged. The receipts were 87 boxes.

For Biliousness

MY DEAREST WISH

By W. D. Packwood.

I'd love to live in the country,
In a little home of my own,
Far from the noise of the city,
And the traffics' ceaseless drone;
For my heart lies in the country
'Midst hills and woods, and dales,
And whenever I seek its solace,
True peace in my soul prevails.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

With male students becoming more and more feminine, the day may come when college football teams will be made up of women players, according to a Wisconsin coach. We always did think the Follies girls would make excellent additions to any school's punting staff. . . . If football were played in the water, of course there'd be no doubt about it. . . . Occasionally you do see a girl with a long run in her stocking. . . . Just look at the football experience the ladies are getting now on the street cars. . . . But who'll play the backfield? The modern girl refuse to stand back for anybody. . . . If the ladies did play, however, then one thing you could expect to see on the gridiron: some very pretty formation.

PROTEINS NOT SO GOOD

In the last article, I discussed ten different kinds of proteins which I consider are the best ones to use for all purposes, if they can be secured. However, in many cases it will be necessary to substitute some of those which I consider "not so good." I will explain as simply as possible why the good proteins are to be preferred.

Dried beef is prepared by smoking and drying, and although it is a delicious tasting meat, it is not as desirable as fresh beef because the smoking has a toughening effect upon the beef and also because a large amount of salt is used in preserving the meat. Nevertheless, this meat can be used, if it is thoroughly soaked for several hours and then parboiled. It should then be removed from that water and cooked in fresh water and served without cream dressing of any kind.

Pork is not an unwholesome protein and there is nothing poisonous about this meat, as is believed by many people. The main difficulty is that it is hard to digest because of the large amount of fat which is present, even in the lean part of the meat. Those who have strong digestions can handle this meat almost as well as beef or mutton. The best way to prepare pork is by roasting. Fresh pork is always to be preferred to ham and bacon, but a small piece of well-broiled ham or bacon may be used with eggs at breakfast time without any harmful results, provided only a small quantity is used.

Fresh tongue, if prepared only by boiling, is a good protein but this meat should never be used in a pickled or smoked form.

Veal and lamb are immature meats and not so easily digested as beef and mutton. However, those with strong digestive power will be able to use these meats in limited quantities.

Salted codfish is not a good fish as ordinarily prepared, but may be rendered so if parboiled in at least two waters and then boiled for a long time.

Salmon requires too long a time for digestion and should never be used by those who have only a limited amount of digestive strength.

Fowl and game may be used in season, but these meats are not as wholesome as those raised for eating purposes.

Lobster, clam, shrimp, oysters and crayfish, if used in season, are good protein foods, provided they are used only with the right combinations, and not a meal containing other proteins such as meat, cheese, etc.

Nuts are a form of protein recommended mostly by vegetarians as a substitute for meat. They contain a high percentage of fat and as this interferes with their digestibility, nuts should never be considered any better protein food than pork or fat meat. However, they may be used occasionally as a substitute for meat, in order to add variety to the diet.

In the next article, I will discuss various proteins which I consider not good under any circumstances.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

Speaking at the morning Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, His Lordship Bishop O'Brien commented to some extent on the prevalence of beliefs in spiritism and in superstitious practices of various types. Engaging in spiritualistic seances and tampering with the ouija board were characterized as making treaties with Satan, who, in return for such allegiance, was supposed to endow his servants with preternatural faculties. "But Satan has always been a liar and anyone entering into partnership with him is sure to get the worst of it."

Belief in charms and spells and incantations and idle observation of the significance of dreams, were all stamped as being foolish and superstitious in the extreme. "Dreams depend to a great extent upon the thoughts that are in the mind upon going to sleep, also on the sort of supper one has eaten," said His Lordship, who asserted that there was such a thing as telepathy, but it was far removed from a belief in dreams. Cup and hand reading, fear of the curses of a wicked person, and belief in the efficacy of certain charms, spells and incantations, were all included in the same category.

The belief in the virtue attached to a rosary or crucifix or other blessed object was an entirely different matter, also the belief in the good influence surrounding the relics of a saint. There was no earthly or temporary reward attached to such objects. Christ never promised an earthly reward to His servants on earth. On the contrary, He warned them that they would be despised by men, because they were ready to follow Him. "You will be hated by all men for My name's sake." And yet His apostles and the saints who came after them were ready and willing to follow in His footsteps. "There is no secondary reward attached to the practice of virtue." The primary reward is in the promise of eternal life.

His Lordship spoke against attendance at theatrical representations of any type which ridiculed faith or morals or the sacred rites of the Church. "I am not speaking of Peterborough theatres in particular," he said, "but the stage and the moving pictures in general. The theatre, which might have done so much good, has descended to a very low level in the character of many of its attractions. A Catholic commits a grievous sin in attending any performance for which the advertisements have been contrary to faith or morals, and, if the advertisements have not given him an inkling of its true type, and he attends and discovers something wrong in the performance, he should at once leave the theatre.

"It is true of Peterborough, as of other places, that our Catholic people, beyond all proportion to their numbers, attend theatrical performances, and if they would take a stand of this sort, we would soon have plays and pictures of the better type. There are so many evil pictures that appeal to the very lowest and worst type of passion, sin and lust, where infidelity of husband or wife is the feature of the story, and where some dirty divorcee is the chief actor."

JAPANESE PRINTS STUDIED BY LADIES

Miss G. A. Reinhardt Gives Interesting Description of Methods.

A meeting of the Art Study Club was held last week at the home of Mrs. W. Sangster, when an interesting paper on "Japanese Prints" was given by Miss Grace A. Reinhardt. The response to the roll call was a note with regard to a custom or costume of Japan, and several of the members brought Japanese prints for inspection. Mrs. B. B. Gillespie also attended, with a beautiful collection of very fine Chinese embroideries, which were much admired.

Miss Reinhardt, in describing the method of making Japanese prints, quoted as follows:

"The artist drew his design in black ink on very thin paper. A smoother slab or block of cherry wood of requisite width and breadth, about one-half or three-quarters of an inch in thickness, was then prepared. On this the drawing was pasted by means of thin rice paste, face downward on the wood block. When dry, the wood-engraver, able to see the drawing through the transparent paper, followed all its lines with a sharp-pointed knife, cutting each side of each line to leave it standing clear and gouging out the wood between the lines. This was a very difficult step requiring a sure hand, steady nerves and infinite patience. No wood-engravers the world over have, by this method, ever equalled the Japanese woodcut craftsmen. When the cutting of the design was finished, the block was cleaned and freed from the clinging pieces of paper. The next step was the inking with a water-color pigment, mixed with rice flour paste to make it stick properly to the sheet of paper on which the design was to be impressed. Next a piece of properly dampened paper was laid upon the block with a circular pad called a "barin." The paper was then pegled off and the artist's design was thus printed on it just as it appeared when it left his hand. Black pigment was used at first, or single colors, no multi-color printing having been attempted until later."

The technique of the multi-colored Japanese print was then explained, and on this subject Mr. Basil Stewart, in his book, "Japanese Color Prints," was quoted: "Japanese color prints seem to us all the more wonderful when we remember that, at the time these prints were being produced in Japan, Europe had only the coarsest of picture books and the roughest of woodcuts to show as an equivalent, while they were sold in the streets of Yedo (now Tokyo) for a few pence, though doubtless the finest cost more than the inferior ones." The best pictures of these Ukiyo-ye ("pictures of the floating world") as these color prints were called, lay between the years 1760 and 1825, and after this declined almost to extinction in 1858, when a famous exponent of the art, Hiroshige, died. "While the technical skill has no doubt survived, it has been nullified by the use of imported aniline colors, while the soft fibrous and silky nature of the paper has also gone."

Miss Reinhardt went on to describe certain aspects of Japanese art, in the absence of realism and the predominance of impressionism: the absence of shadows in the drawings and also the poise of the head, dictated by a traditional formula.

"The beauties of the human form never appealed to the Japanese artist. Associating the nude solely with the performance of menial tasks, he deemed it worse than a solecism to transfer such subjects to his canvas, and thus a wide field of motive was closed to him. On the other hand, the draped figure received admirable treatment from his hand."

Miss Reinhardt went on to give some facts with regard to famous makers of Japanese prints, some hints to collectors, and various attributes of the art itself, in which the three outstanding characteristics are described as being: Mildness and pure simplicity, exquisite lightness and delicacy and idealism in representation.

AT THE REGENT.

VETERAN ACTOR OF STAGE IS PECULIARLY EQUIPPED FOR "AUCTIONEER" ROLE.

George Sidney veteran actor of the spoken stage, who appears in the title role of "The Auctioneer," Fox Films' version of the David Belasco-David Warfield stage success, coming to the Regent Theatre to-day, is peculiarly equipped for this delineation.

Despite the fact that this is his first actual appearance in the role of the kind hearted, good natured Jewish immigrant, whose devotion and success are inspired by the little Irish waif left in his charge, Sidney has known and lived the part since his friend, David Warfield, appeared in it. These two actors were great friends. They would exchange frequent visits and discuss characters. Both were interested in portraying Jewish roles, and consequently had much in common. In these discussions the matter of technique and treatment of characterization by means of the little gesture, or slight inflection of voice, engaged their rapt attention for hours.

Warfield loved the role of this quaint, sterling character. In it he attained his first fame and he never forgot his obligations to it. Many long evenings were devoted to a discussion of the title role and story of "The Auctioneer."

Marion Nixon, as Ruth, the little Irish girl metamorphosed by the passing years into a beautiful lassie of 16 has the feminine lead, and Gareth Hughes, in the role of the handsome Dick Eagen plays opposite. Others in the cast are Doris Lloyd, Ward Crane and Sammy Cohen.

A Modern Canadian Bungalow

(By G. Fordyce, Architect.)

Originating in the south, the popularity of the bungalow has spread over the whole continent, and a very high standard of beauty and convenience has been attained in their erection. Here is a Canadian adaptation which is thoroughly practical, and embodies practically every convenient feature of modern planning.

The width, 38 feet, is a very good one, as when built on a standard suburban lot of 50 feet, sufficient space remains at the sides for side drive, landscaping, and lighting.

The interior throughout has plain tinted walls, painted pine trim, and oak floors, which with wrought iron electrical fixtures creates a background which lends itself to a modern style of furnishing in harmony with the exterior treatment of the building.

Passing through the vestibule into the hall, the first door encountered opens into the living-room, a good size bright room having south and west lighting, a flush fireplace, and French doors into the dining-room which open into a recess formed by the back of the fireplace, thus detracting but slightly from the useable area of the dining-room.

Plenty of space if available in the kitchen for such built-in fixtures as the housewife may desire in addition to the essential sink, cabinet, and range, shown on the plans. From the kitchen, doorways are provided to the rear entrance and basement, dining-room, and hall.

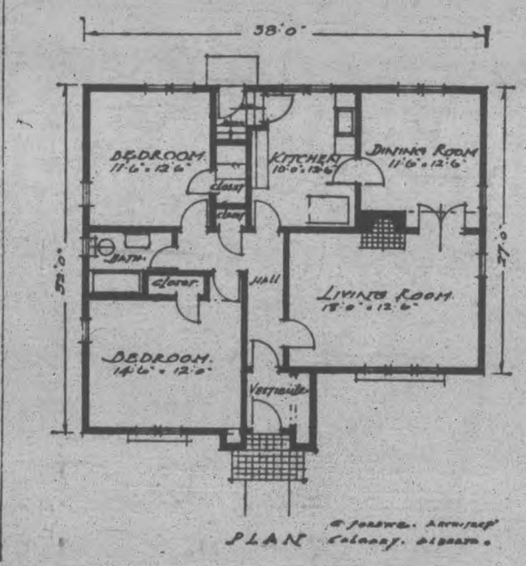
A commendable feature of the plan is the manner in which the bedrooms, bathroom, and linen-closet have been kept on one arm of an L-shaped hall in such a way that they would not be seen from the living-room or vestibule doors. A recess bath is provided in the bathroom. Both bedrooms are bright, commodious rooms with windows on two sides, and have large clothes closets.

The front entrance, which is approached by a tile walk, is very distinctive with its recessed arched door, and lanterns which at night would form delightful welcoming beacons.

An attractive color scheme has been used with vari-colored shingle roof, natural stucco, and light cream woodwork, which is aided by the green of a low hedge in front and clumps of trees at the corners.

With hot air heating this home would cost approximately six thousand dollars.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architect direct. Address Mr. G. Fordyce, 226—8th Avenue W., Calgary, Alberta. Copyright 1927, MacLean Building Reports Limited.



Question: What is the cause and is there any remedy for squeaking floors?

A squeaking floor is usually caused by sub-flooring not laid diagonally, sub-flooring omitted, poor nailing of both subfloor and finish floor, floors not perfectly dry when laid. The remedy lies in supplying the necessary nailing to remove the squeak. Call in an expert "floor layer."

In a new way, women now are freed of the disadvantages of old-time "sanitary pads." Protection is greater. The old embarrassment of disposal and laundry is avoided.

It deodorizes, too. And thus ends all danger of offending.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

CIGARETTE NOT PASSING STAGE

Paper Says Smoking For Women Has Come To Stay.

MONTREAL, March 21 (Canadian Press).—The Gazette in an editorial on "Women and Tobacco" considers that the recent report of the Department at Ottawa on the consumption of tobacco in Canada, holds an unkind reference, an increase being set down as "due, probably, to women smokers." It was reported from Winnipeg the other day that a number of local women had come out in defence of their sex; they ridiculed charges made by a clergyman that women, through smoking, were contributing to the moral delinquency of the homes, and asserted: "Our grandmothers and great-grandmothers smoked and they did not upset the well-known good old times." There is, however, a difference between those times and to-day as regards the smoking habits of women. If the story books are to be relied on, women years ago smoked pipes, and their use was more or less concealed from the public gaze. To-day, women smoke cigarettes openly, in the home and publicly almost everywhere, and hostesses who fail, as it were, to scatter cigarettes from top to, bottom of their homes, feel themselves or profess to feel themselves, guilty of a social error. The Winnipeg women, referred to above, declare that the average woman is not an addict to tobacco; they insist that she smokes merely to be sociable or keep her husband company, and maintain that "smoking is only a passing phase of 'social life.' It is hardly a passing phase. Cigarettes have come to stay, and as regards the effect they are having it is to be noted that whilst some pessimists profess they are harmful, the physicians, in their diversity of opinion, make the question one of 'glorious uncertainty.' Therein, perhaps, lies the cigarette's irresistible attraction." Thus comments a Winnipeg newspaper.

The older members of the family can be more up to date and in touch with modern life than their children. Many of them are. That is because they read the advertisements.

FREE AND EASY WAY OF CASTING BALLOT

Dr. Stowe-Gullen Tells of First Time She Voted.

TORONTO, Ont., March 21 (Canadian Press).—Dr. Augusta Stowe-Gullen brought a note of breeziness into a Social Council meeting when she told of first experiences in voting "not a 1,000 years ago." Going into the polling booth to vote, the doctor was rather taken aback by the absence of anything that looked like a poll clerk or returning officer or any of the adjuncts of a fully furnished booth, but after looking about for a moment or so she heard a cheerful announcement from behind the screen, "The gang's all here!" Going to investigate she found a pleasant young man and two nice girls discussing the weather and the crops. All were quite willing that she should cast her vote, and when she asked just how she should fold her ballot the young man was very agreeable. He said, "Oh, it doesn't matter. I'll attend to it." And he opened the ballot, looked at it, refolded it and placed it in the ballot box!

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FROZEN APPLE

Copyright 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis.)

One day, just as Uncle Wiggily was about to hop away from his hollow stump bungalow to go adventuring, as he often did, he saw, near the back cellar door, a red apple lying on the ground.

"Oh ho!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman, tilting his tall silk hat over one eye so he could see better. "One of my forty 'leven little bunny boys or girls must have dropped that apple on their way to school. They will miss it at recess, so I'll take it to the Lady Mouse Teacher. It will be a good excuse to go to the Hollow Stump School and see if everything is all right."

Uncle Wiggily was very fond of the Lady Mouse School Teacher. And Miss Mouse liked to have Uncle Wiggily visit her school. It made the animal boys and girls a little happier, she thought.

So, with the red apple in his pocket,

Uncle Wiggily hopped on and on, and soon he was at the Hollow Stump School. From within he could hear the animal boys and girls reciting:

"Two times two are four. Two times five are eleven!"

"That doesn't sound exactly right," thought the bunny gentleman, counting up on his paw nails. "When I went to school two times five were nine or ten, I've forgotten which. I had better go in and see about this. At the same time I will give the red apple to whoever dropped it. They'll want to eat it at recess."

The Lady Mouse Teacher smiled when Uncle Wiggily hopped in.

"You may stop your number work now, my dears," she said to the children. "We have a visitor who will speak to us."

"Ahem!" coughed Uncle Wiggily solemn like, as he stepped to the edge of the teacher's platform. "As I was coming along—" Now he intended to speak about how much were two times five, but as he put his paw in his pocket he felt of the red apple and that reminded him about it so he pulled the fruit out and put it on the desk.

"Oh, there's the apple I lost!" suddenly exclaimed Buster, one of the little boy bunnies. He spoke aloud in school before he thought, so he suddenly clapped his paw over his lips but then it was too late—the words had been spilled. However the Lady Mouse Teacher only smiled and said:

"You may have your apple afterward, Buster. Now every one sit up straight for Uncle Wiggily is going to tell us a story."

"First of all," said the rabbit gentleman, who was still thinking about how many were two times five, or five times two, whichever way you look at it, "first of all, my dear children—"

And then, all of a sudden, in through the door which Uncle Wiggily had forgotten to close tightly after him, in through the door came the Bob Cat. This Bad Chap, with his ridiculously inadequate appendage, which means his silly little tail, this Bob Cat snarled, saying:

"First of all I'm going to nibble some ears!" and he looked straight at Uncle Wiggily's. The animal children didn't know what to do. The rabbit gentleman himself could think of nothing but twinkling his pink nose, but what good did that do I ask you. And I'll answer—nothing!

But the Lady Mouse Teacher was brave. She stepped forward and said:

"Mr. Bob Cat this is the hour when we do arithmetic, or number work, in our school. You can't have any ears unless you can do an example. Now if I have one apple and give you one apple how many apples are left. Quick. Answer me!"

Now the Bob Cat was a stupid chap. He hardly knew enough to read, much less how to do number work. So he stammered and stuttered and said:

"If you have one apple and you give me one apple—er—ah—um—Why that is two apples!" he snarled.

"Wrong!" cried the Lady Mouse Teacher. "Go home and study some more! Out you go!" She picked up the apple Uncle Wiggily had brought in and threw it at the Bob Cat. Now the apple was frozen as hard as a lump of ice from having been out in the cold. And when the frozen apple hit that Bob Cat on the nose it brought tears to his eyes.

"Oh yow! Oh yow!" he yelled. "Don't bang me again! I'll be good; I'll go home! I'll study my lessons! One apple! Two apples! Oh, I feel as if I'd been hit by a bushel of apples! Oh, yow!" And out of the school he ran. The apple wasn't good to eat, being frozen, so Custer gave his brother Buster half of the apple he had brought and everybody was happy but the Bob Cat.

ST. JOHN'S W.M.S. AT CAMPBELLFORD

Hold Enjoyable Social Evening—Featured By Good Musical Programme.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 21.—The ladies of the W.M.S. of St. John's Church, residing in Wards Three and Four held a most enjoyable and successful social evening in the Sunday School rooms on Friday evening. The proceeds of the evening's entertainment amounted to $83 and everyone voiced the pleasure of the evening. Mr. Elliott, in his usual happy manner, acted as chairman for the evening. He told several jokey sayings of the Irishman, but in his thought, the Scotchman and the Englishman also came in for a good share of wit. The rooms were tastefully decorated with the many symbols of St. Patrick and looked very gay. The orchestra supplied many selections of choice music throughout the evening. The orchestra consists of Stanley Taylor, Ronald Hazell, Ronald Richardson, Billie Richardson, and A. Hazell, pianist.

The programme was as follows: Overture by the Orchestra. Quartette, "Kathleen Mavoureen," by Misses Cherrie Turner and Irene Stephens, and Messrs. G. W. Lucy and Walter Henson. Reading, "The High Cost of Living," by Miss Enid Richardson. Vocal Solo, "Mavourneen," by A. Rollo; accompanist, A. Hazell. Violin Solo, Ronald Hazell; accompanist, A. Hazell. Dialogue by nine girls—the title of the dialogue was "Aqua Marine Panacea." The cast for the play was as follows: Mrs. Truman, Miss Irene Stephens; Mrs. Allan, Miss Doris Mason; Mrs. Grant, Miss Raxie Wilson; Mrs. Green, Miss Velma Reynolds; Mrs. Johnston, Miss Catherine Clarke; Mrs. Wilson, Miss Essie Carman; Mrs. Appleton, Miss Cherrie Turner; Mrs. Van Raessler Harrington, Miss Muriel Kingston; Mrs. Speer, Miss Reta Palliser.

Mesdames Allan, Grant, Green, Johnston, Wilson and Appleton had gathered at the home of Mrs. Truman one afternoon and according to true form, discussed their many ailments and troubles when lo! a stranger appears in their midst. She introduces herself as Mrs. V. R. Harrington and claims she is a sister to the famous Dr. Oldsbury of Boston, who invented the wonderful medicine guaranteeing it to cure any ailment. Naturally all the "ailing" ladies spent their hard-earned cash and purchased a supply from Mrs. Harrington. After she had gone they all decided to have a dose of their medicine, all voicing the opinion it was certainly tasteless. Just then, a strange nurse in uniform burst in the door, asking them if they had seen a straneg woman in the neighborhood. She introduced herself as Mrs. Speer, the Matron of the Institution for Hapless Females. Mrs. Speer assured them that Mrs. Harrington was a poor demented creature who had escaped from the home that afternoon. The ladies were frantic until the Matron sampled the "medicine" and found it to be merely water. Mrs. Allan made the remark: "I believe we have all made fools of /ourselves"; to which Mrs. Green, voicing the consent of the others, replied: "I believe you're right."

The play was especially well given by the young ladies, and their funny old-fashioned gowns, and bonnets, caused much mirth in the audience.

The next item was a selection by the orchestra. Duet, "Long, Long Ago," by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Donald, accompanied by Mr. Hazell at the piano.

Mrs. G. A. Kingston is ever a welcome asset to an entertainment, and delighted her audience with a recitation, "Tit for Tat." She gave as her encore, a recitation for the boys and girls: "Eugene Field's "The Night Wind."

Selection by the Quartette: Misses Turner and Stephens; Messrs. Lucy and Henson.

The end to a perfect day and an excellent programme came in the form of a bountiful lunch served by the ladies, during which everyone enjoyed a social time.

The commander, the report said, expressed the belief that no man has ever seen a view comparable in beauty to that in flying across the great jungle land of Brazil.

The only risky part of yesterday's flight from Guajaramirim to Manaos was along the Madeira-Marmore railway which runs along the Madeira river for some distance where there are dangerous falls making it impossible to effect a safe landing.

SAINT and SINNER

Tears spilled over Faith's flushed cheeks as she flung her clothes helter skelter into the smallest of the three suitcases she had brought so hopefully from home. Still unpacked was the heavy case, containing Cherry's "going away" costume and other delicate treasures of her trousseau. She would never see that terrible Frankel again, with his "swell scheme." She had a sudden insane impulse to tear his check to bits and disdainfully fling it into the waste basket. But even in her humiliation and blind anger she realized that a thousand dollars would be literally a life-saver for the Lanes. "starving kin!" Oh!

Three times before she finished packing the telephone rang. She answered curtly, resentfully, too angry to be courteous to the cajoling reporters who advanced lengthy arguments as to why she should consent to an interview. A time table told her that a train which stopped at her home town was scheduled to leave Chicago at twelve forty-five. She telephoned the night clerk to have her bill sent up, but refused his solicitous offer to make a Pullman reservation for her. Reporters at the train! If she could only escape them—

She found two eager, insistent young men waiting in the hall at her door. She almost ran after the bellboy carrying her suitcases, but in the lobby of the hotel she threw up a protective arm just a moment too late to escape being photographed again. Her taxicab was trailed by two cars filled with reporters and photographers. But she managed to gain the sanctuary of the women's dressing room of a Pullman car just before the train pulled out, almost too hysterically triumphant to have escaped without having to talk.

The Pullman porter accepted her shakily written telegram, promising to get it off at the next station, and he went to sleep at last, immensely comforted by the thought that Bob Hathaway would be waiting for her when she arrived. But the porter must have gossiped a bit with travelers who boarded the train late that night, for as Faith scrubbed her wan cheeks and brushed her long, gleaming dark hair the next morning, the other women in the dressing room eyed her curiously, furtively, as if she were a freak—or a criminal. One middle-aged, tight-lipped woman scrubbed the basin which Faith had used, wiping it with hard, vicious swipes of a blue-striped towel, as if Faith had contaminated it.

"That's Faith Lane—you know, the sister of that girl, Cherry, who murdered—"

Faith, returning to the dressing room for a forgotten toothbrush, shrank back between the folds of the heavy green curtains, her cheeks scarlet, blood pounding in her ears. Oh, she couldn't bear it, she told herself passionately, as she huddled in her seat, waiting for nine o'clock and Bob.

When Bob came forward to meet her, she caught a glimpse of the morning paper he held in his hand: "CHERRY'S SISTER SELLS—" The sheet was folded on the rest of it, but she had no need to see the actual words in which her shame had been blazoned.

"Oh, Bob!" she cried, involuntarily holding out her arms to him.

"But what is Churchill doing, Bob?" Faith's voice was a despairing wail. "Two weeks have passed since Cherry's indictment, and he has only a little more than two weeks before the trial. So far as I can see, he hasn't done a single, solitary thing!"

They were alone in the living room of the Lane home, Bob and Faith, staring at each other with tired eyes which they had stopped trying to make beam cheerfully. But beneath this despair and weariness love glowed steadily, unfalteringly, deeply. Sometimes, during these hard days, Faith felt as if Bob were as much a part of her as her always busy hands, or her very heart.

No matter if their marriage might be delayed, Faith told herself, they had fused into a truer marriage than any man of God could sanctify. They had become one in service and tenderness, fear and hope. Strangely enough, it had been Cherry, who had once tried to get Bob for her own, who had brought them together.

"Oh, I guess he's doing the best he can," Bob answered her dispiritedly. "Justice—or the legal interpretation of justice—seems to me immensely unfair. The law says that a defendant is presumed innocent until proven guilty, but it turns right around and offers all the machinery of the courts to the prosecution. The defense has no help whatever from the law. In preparing a case, the district attorney has everything and everyone at his disposal. The defense can't even get hold of the grand jury minutes, can't examine the dead man's papers, can't force witnesses to testify, while the prosecution could subpoena the population of the whole county."

"But hasn't Churchill made any headway at all?" Faith cried. Her hands trembled over the little pile of soft black crepe de chine in her lap which she was fashioning into a dress for Cherry to wear at the trial.

"He's found an old man who will testify that he saw a taxicab parked in the alley behind Uncle Ralph's house at eight-thirty the night of the murder. And a couple of police detectives who were sent to the house right after I reported Uncle Ralph's death, will take the stand to say that they saw automobile tracks in the snow. The only trouble is, they don't agree exactly as to the kind of tire treads."

"Oh, these policemen!" Faith exploded. "They make me sick! Morehouse wouldn't pay any attention to your story of the footprints under the window and these dim-wit detectives don't even mention tracks of an automobile until Churchill pumps it out of them. All of that should have gotten before the coroner at the inquest, then maybe they wouldn't have indicted Cherry as the only person who had both motive and opportunity. Opportunity! I'm sick of the word! A dozen people could have snooped around that house, in that quiet street, with all the neighbors gone off to the wedding, and no one would have been any the wiser—"

"You forget the snow," Bob reminded her, with a slight, fond smile at her vehemence.

"If someone had planned to murder Mr. Cluny—as someone did!—he could have hidden long before the snow started to fall, and even afterward, for fresh snow would have covered his footprints pretty quick. Oh, I know I'm expecting an awful lot of Churchill, but what are you paying him for? Certainly not to sit up in his office behind a screen of cigar smoke and twiddle his thumbs! Have you had any luck looking for cripples yet, dear?" she added, in a gentler voice. "I've gotten so myself that I don't do anything but look at legs and feet when I'm on the streets."

Bob shook his head.

"No, but I've not given up hope. And by the way, Churchill has been pretty busy on one thing—trying to trace the sender of that threatening letter which I found in Uncle Ralph's files."

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Bows of the material impart a new note to this frock of blue crepe de chine. The bodice and sleeves are tucked and the skirt is laid in narrow box pleats.

In the making of the new clothes for spring there has been apparently no effort on the part of the dressmakers to be original. This may be because they realize that there is nothing new under the sun and that the best of new fashions are really only the new applications of old devices. And usually the older and simpler the device the better.

The use of bows has been spoken of as one of the new things this spring, but of course men—or women—first began to tie bows at some inconceivably remote prehistoric time, and they have been tying them ever since. Undoubtedly one of the first devices for keeping garments fastened was by means of knotted ends and a bow not only adds a note of decoration but makes a knot that will hold together without being difficult to untie. There are ever so many frocks with bow fastenings this season. Two or three pairs of ribbon-like ends of material are arranged which can be tied into bows at the front or somewhat to one side.

Most of the "new" devices in the spring frocks are as new and as old as bows. There are flounces and ruffles, fringes and scallops, tucks, pleats, gathers, shirrings, inerustations. It is not difficult to see that any of these devices might have been hit upon—as a matter of convenience—at a very early stage of garment making. And these simple, elemental devices are especially favored by the good dressmakers this season. Over-intricate, complicated elaboration seems to be held in disfavor.

Those who looked forward to some really drastic changes in fashion for spring have probably by this time felt some disappointment. Fortunately—or unfortunately—fashions seem to come and go more slowly than they did in pre-war days when each season brought forth some new wonder—the hobble skirt, the slit skirt, the minaret tunic. Still, a change in tendency is discernable. Though simplicity seems to be the watchword of the dressmakers who work to please the best-dressed women—still there is a decided leaning toward fashions that are more feminine. Soft Water for Washday

Whether you use a washing machine or do the rubbing by hand, the work is easier and results more satisfactory if you have really soft water. Use Gillex. It makes the hardest water soft as rain. It also exerts a wonderful effect on the soiled clothes—dissolving greasy dirt stains and helping the soap (of which much less than usual is required) to do its cleansing work. A package of Gillex should be in your laundry to save soap and labor and ensure a whiter wash.

Representatives from local organizations who have been notified by mail will be sure and attend the meeting this (Monday) evening, 21st inst., in the City Council Chamber, at eight o'clock.

From those present the executive committee and assisting committees will be selected, and the work, as outlined, placed in hand.

It is important that a full attendance be registered. The Mayor will preside. Propositions put forward, tentatively, will be laid before the meeting.

COL. SHAW VERY ENTHUSIASTIC AS TO BOYS' WEEK

Chairman of Toronto Committee Tells of Successes There.

VISITS ROTARY.

Local Club Hears How Event Was Staged in Queen City.

That Toronto had found a boys' week 1,000 times worth while was the emphatic statement made by Rotarian Colonel Jack Shaw, chairman of Toronto's Boys' Week Committee, at the weekly luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club today in the course of an address on the manner in which the big event was handled in the Queen City.

Peterborough is to have a boys' week from May 9th to 15th, the movement having been started by the local Rotary Club, and to be carried out with the assistance of other local organizations, and Colonel Shaw visited Peterborough today to give the Rotary Club the benefit of his experiences.

The speaker, who was introduced by Rotarian Tom Dutton, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, was very enthusiastic over the possibilities of boys' week. It had been found in Toronto to give splendid results along the lines planned of showing the people of Toronto what a fine lot of boys there were in that city, and of impressing upon the boys the fact that the men of the community were interested in their welfare. The boys of to-day, Colonel Shaw remarked, would be the men his hearers would be voting for tomorrow.

The speaker reviewed some of the set-backs that had been overcome in making the Toronto week such a success. The parade, which was a feature of the event, included some 18,000 boys, and when the head of the procession entered the Exhibition Grounds the tail-end had not left Queen's Park. The streets through which the parade passed were lined with many thousands of people, and the sight of so many boys made a lasting impression.

Details of the Toronto week were discussed by Colonel Shaw for the benefit of Rotarians, and after the meeting the speaker met the chairmen of the various committees and talked over the different features of the programme at greater length.

With the assistance of other organizations and the enthusiasm with which the project is being taken up generally, it is hoped that Peterborough boys' week will be a wonderful success.

ONTARIO SITTINGS ON CUSTOMS OPEN

Collector States 31,143 Permits For Home Brew in District.

TORONTO, Mar. 21 (Canadian Press) — Ontario sittings of the Customs Royal Commission opened quietly here to-day. The organization and operation of the port of Toronto, one of the largest in the Dominion was explained to the commissioners by J. H. Bertram, collector of customs here. Mr. Bertram informed the commissioners that Toronto was handicapped through lack of a customs house. Since the old building was destroyed in 1919, various branches were housed under three separate roofs and people had sometimes to travel from building to building in order to conduct business which should be transacted at one place.

He aroused some interest when he stated that there were at present 31,143 permits for the manufacture of home brew in force in the district coming under the jurisdiction of the port of Toronto. In order that customs appraisal work be done properly, he suggested that four travelling appraisers be appointed with expert knowledge of work.

The provisions of the anti-smuggling treaty in regard to notifying United States when liquor was shipped there from Toronto were observed, Mr. Bertram said. Some of these shipments were to various ports all over the world, but a number of them went "across lake."

INSPIRING EVENT MOUNT ST. JOSEPH

Twelve Ladies Receive Habit and Four Sisters Pronounce Final Vows.

A most inspiring ceremony took place in the Chapel of Mount St. Joseph on Saturday when twelve young ladies received the Habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph, and five Sisters pronounced their final vows. At an earlier hour the same morning six Novices made their first Vows, and a number renewed their yearly Vows.

His Lordship, the Right Reverend Bishop O'Brien presided at the ceremony and celebrated Mass. He was assisted by Rev. E. Bunyan and Rev. J. Finn. In the sanctuary were: Very Reverend Mgr. McColl, V.G., Very Reverend Canon Cavanagh, Almonte; Rev. J. McRae, D.D., of China Mission College, Toronto; and Reverend Fathers J. J. O"Brien, P. Costello, J. Ferguson, J. V. McAuley, J. Guiry, J. J. McCarthy, J. Garvey, W. P. Meagher, V. Gillogly, C. Moloney.

A masterly sermon on the Religious Life was delivered by Rev. J. J. Sholly, C.S.S.R., London, who had conducted the retreat at Mount St. Joseph. The happiness and peace of the conventual life was well portrayed by the eloquent preacher, who also congratulated the parents and relatives of the privileged young ladies. Right Reverend M. J. O'Brien in a few well-chosen words also congratulated those taking part in the impressive ceremony.

The young ladies who received the Habit were: Miss Veronica O'Reilly, Madawaska, (Sr. M. Evelyn); Miss Nellie Gifford, Ennismore, (Sr. M. Alfreda); Miss Flore Pelland, Callander, (Sr. M. WANTED HUBBY PUT OUT OF WAY

Mrs. Snyder Implicates Man In Statement To Police.

FREE TO MARRY.

NEW YORK, March 21 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Ruth Snyder to-day asserted in a statement to the police that Henry Gray, now under arrest in Syracuse, had murdered her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of a magazine, in order that he might be free to marry her. Grey, according to the confession, beat Snyder to death and then wound picture wire around his throat. After the murder Gray bound Mrs. Snyder in order to throw an aspect of burglary over the crime. The police said Mrs. Snyder had told them she had known Gray for two and a half years and that she wanted her husband out of the way in order that she might marry him.

LEGION NOTES

(Contributed.)

To-night at the Canadian Legion headquarters a meeting is to be held in which the resport of the National Council of the Legion which met in Winnipeg recently, will be submitted by Rev. Father Costello, who represented the local branch at that conference.

In view of the importance of what the British Empire Service League stands for, what it has accomplished on behalf of ex-service men, their dependents, its unswerving loyalty to the King, Canada and the British Commonwealth of Nations it would I think, be not amiss for the benefit of the public at large, to re-state what must never be forgotten—the principles of the Legion, its aims and objects, as recited in the constitution.

The Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League believes in two great principles, Loyalty and Comradeship among all those who have served in the forces of the Empire.

The Canadian Legion believes in that loyalty to its fullest extent, loyalty to its King, loyalty to Canada, and its British institutions, loyalty to the Empire. This means that the members of the Legion have duties to perform as well as rights to maintain. They must stand up for honor and right, patriotism and public service. Its members must work for a national united spirit and stable government in Canada, they must advocate the maintenance of a sufficient force to protect her shores, and perform her duties to the Empire; and they believe the principles of patriotism and public service should be inculcated in our schools so that our children may be handed the ideals for which their fathers fought.

Membership in the Canadian Legion means comradeship to its fullest extent. It extends a helping hand to less fortunate comrades. It is endeavoring to see that the sick and disabled are well treated and that the dependents of those who died are properly cared for.

The Canadian Legion stands to work for suitable pensions and treatment, for preference in employment for those who fought for their country and too often handicapped themselves thereby. There are many wrongs to be righted, many hard cases to be relieved, many old comrades are in distress and are dissatisfied with the way they are being treated, and more often than not these deserving men are being left out in the cold.

The Canadian Legion feels that the public in general fails to realize that while the memories of the war grow dimmer as the time goes on, yet the disabilities caused by it still continue and tend to increase. Partly disabled men find themselves less able to compete for employment in the open labor market, more men have to go to hospital for treatment, and as each year passes so does the number become greater. This is a serious and difficult subject, and one that requires sympathy and consideration by the Government, and it is only by unity among all ex-service men that the Legion can hope to ensure that proper provisions will be made for these unfortunate comrades.

At to-night's meeting the many proposals adopted at the National Council, held in Winnipeg recently to bring about an amelioriation of the present suffering of the comreferred to above will be outlined by Comrade Father Costello, and all ex-service men are cordially welcomed to the meeting. Canadian ex-service men of all ranks not already members are welcomed to join at once; ex-service men of all the Allied forces are welcomed, together with any comrade who has served in any of the Empire's wars at any time. The formation of the Canadian Legion has been a big achievement, and with wise counsel and complete unity, the cause for which the Legion stands must prosper, and the future of the disabled will become brighter by the knowledge of the fact that the entire unity of ex-service men has been consummated, and that the greatest organization throughout the British Commonwealth of Nations is a solid rock upon which they can cling.

To this end the Canadian Legion must strive. All barriers to unity must be broken and swept aside, and it must advance to the greatest of its ideals, that the services of its members shall not be forgotten by the nation, that due attention shall be paid to their welfare and that of their dependents.

To-night's meeting is open to all veterans. Let's hope that the welcome extended will be accepted and that the Legion hall will be crowded to capacity. "If not a member, join to-night, and help to make Branch No. 52 the most influential in the Province.

BRITISHERS WOUNDED

Capel were scenes of trouble all day long. There was incessant rifle and machine gun fire and the occasional boom of artillery throughout the afternoon.

Several bullets and some shrapnel fell in the international settlements and one Russian civilian and several Chinese were wounded by stray shots.

No Danger To Foreigners.

LONDON, March 21.— (Canadian Press.)—The fall of Shanghai to the Southern armies, which a month ago was viewed as an approaching calamity, is now taken as a matter of course by the newspapers and their correspondents. Most of them agree that there does not appear to be much real danger to foreign life and property in the international settlement, due to the presence of foreign troops.

British officials in London have felt for weeks that the Cantonese could take over the administration of Shanghai at any time they cared to make a concerted effort to do so. If anything, it is pointed out, the fall of Shanghai clarifies the Chinese situation, but whether it will solve any of its problems any more than did the numerous previous military campaigns in the past decade remains problematical.

Foreign Papers Closed.

HANKOW, March 21. — (United Press.) — The 'Herald,' American owned newspaper, and the British owned 'Post' were closed to-day on orders of the General Labor Union here, and censorship on all incoming and outgoing foreign mail was imposed. The United States consul protested the closing of the 'Herald' to Cantonese Foreign Minister Eugene Chen and an investigation was promised. The consul also protested to Chen against the firing on the United States' gunboat 'Preble' several days ago. An investigation showed that Southern troops fired on the boat. Northern troops have fired on the U. S. S. 'Meifu,' it was reported.

Refugees Reach Manila.

MANILA, March 21.— (United Press.)—American wives and children and large numbers of women from Shanghai's underworld arrived here to-day from Shanghai. The demi mondaines rapidly were becoming a serious problem here. Eight United States destroyers were in this harbor but local officers doubted if they would be ordered to Shanghai as the harbor there already was crowded, they said.

American Marines Land.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(United Press.)—The United States has intervened in the Chinese civil war situation to protect 500 American citizens endangered at Shanghai. After weeks of watchful waiting, 1,500 United States' marines were landed in the international settlement of that city to-day, with orders to protect their compatriots and Americean property at any cost.

Officers here, commenting on the report of the landing sent by Admiral C. S. Williams, explained that the emergency action was taken upon the request of the American Consul General at Shanghai after the declaration of a "state of emergency" by the Shanghai Municipal Council. An American is chairman of the Council.

The American force will be supplemented from the reserve force now in the harbor if necessary. It will cooperate fully with British and other foreign troops, officials said.

NAVAL FORCES LAND.

SHANGHAI, March 21. Canadian Press. — Naval forces were landed in Shanghai to-day from all the warships in the Wangpoo River. The municipality declared a state of emergency after the Nationalists entered. A few shells fell into the French concession this afternoon.

There were no casualties. The authorities do not know where the shells came from.

The French outposts on the furthermost borders of the French concession here had a brush with a small detachment of the Chinese troops this afternoon. Shots were exchanged and the Chinese were driven off.

DEVONSHIRES TO COME.

HONG KONG, March 21. Canadian Press. — First Battalion of the Devonshire Regiment is making arrangements to leave for Shanghai immediately.

Two Killed.

SHANGHAI, March 21 (Canadian Press).—Up to this hour forces defending foreign settlements from rioting Chinese had suffered twelve casualties, including two killed and ten wounded.

Two Punjabi soldiers of the British force were killed by snipers. The wounded comprised five Punjabis, a Russian policeman and four British soldiers.

G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of the Province of Ontario, Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, and our Legislative representative.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Richardson and Harrison, That the council of the municipality of Lakefield respectfully urges the Parliament of Canada not to renew the charter of the Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Canal Co. known as Bill No. 78, as in our opinion this bill is not in the interest of the Province of Ontario as it is an attempt to deprive the people of this province of their right of the powers to be developed from the water of the Ottawa river; and further, that this charter has been in existence for 33 years and no actual construction has taken place, and we believe the renewal of this charter would be contrary and prejudicial to the public interest.—Carried.

Montreal Maroons Are Handed Shutout 5-0 By Canadiens

LES CANADIENS SCORE NINTH STRAIGHT WIN

Montreal Maroons No Match for Canucks in 5-0 Victory.

USE SECOND STRING

Shutout Makes Twelfth Scored by Canadiens for This Season.

Montreal, Que., March 21 (Canadian Press)—Canadiens concluded their quota of home games in the National Hockey League campaign by scoring their ninth straight victory and their fifth consecutive triumph in six games over the Montreal Maroons, when they blanked the present titleholders, 5-0, at the Forum Saturday night.

With second string players thrown into the breach to replace injured and ailing regulars, the Maroons were no match for the Canucks who breezed through the contest, continuing their scoring obligato, while the Maroons were scratching dirt in a futile effort to score at least one goal. The defeat was equal to the worst ever inflicted on the titleholders in their three years of pro hockey and the shutout marked the twelfth scored by Canadiens in the N.H.L. this season.

The contest was but another family battle between the two local teams, both of whom had previously qualified for the playoffs. As such it drew 12,000 ardent hockey fans, who turned the affair into a hockey carnival, with the "Millionaires" presenting a cup and a flowered horseshoe to the Canadiens prior to the start of the game.

Long shots in the first period started Montreal on the downward slide. The game started with penalties to Morenz and Stewart, followed by one to Siebert, leaving the Maroons four players to five. The referees were apparently going to stand for nothing. Canadiens were the more dangerous with Benedict having to save smartly when Gardiner, Joliat and Gagne got close. Joliat was injured when he was tripped attempting to hurdle the Maroon defence. After Siebert's injury, Stewart went back to the defence with Noble. Stewart saw a chance and went in fast, but was upset by Mantha. Lepine dazzled a wide open Maroon defence with his stickhandling and was virtually robbed of a goal by Benedict. Stewart attempted two fast, tricky rushes, but ran into Gardiners poke check. Joliat tore down left wing with puck and, with Frank Carson fairly hanging on to him, drove a bullet shot which Benedict did not see. A few minutes later Gagne stole the puck from Phillips and gave it to Morenz who dashed to the Maroon blue line and blazed a vicious shot on which Benedict fanned.

The second session was scoreless, though Gagne twice beat Benedict only to have the tallies disallowed for offsides. It was a period in which both goals were tested frequently and penalties were frequent as the players started to pick on one another in an effort apparently to ruffle tempers.

Morenz made it three for Canadiens early in the third period, again on a pass from Gagne and a long shot which fairly bit into the net. Benedict was besieged by Gardiner, Gagne and Mantha. Stewart stickhandled his way through, but Gardiner got back in time to poke the puck to safety. With Stewart off for dumping Morenz, Donnelly attempted a lone Maroon thrust. He got through the defence, but Joliat came up in time to avert the shot. Leduc cleared to the other end. He shot and the rebound off Benedict ran up Donnelly's stick and back into the Montreal net for Canadiens' fourth goal. Benedict hung to the corner of his goal post in disgust. Dinsmore got by the Canadien defence, but Hainsworth covered the corner of the net. Frank Carson circled the Canadien net and Hainsworth picked up the puck to end the attack. The Maroon defence was again bad when Mantha was allowed to squirm his way through a solid group and drive home Canadiens' fifth and last—providing the third 5-0 shutout for the Canucks over the Maroons in three seasons.

ON GOAL LEAD.

Calgary Tigers Defeat Winnipeg Maroons in Featureless Game.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 21 — Canadian Press. — The Calgary Tigers, champions of the Prairie Hockey League carry a one goal advantage into Tuesday night's game with the Winnipeg Maroons of the American Hockey Associations.

In a game that was featureless, except for the final session, the Tigers defeated the Maroons 2 to 1 here on Saturday.

Working a no-hit ball game in the majors is considered just about the last word in pitching.

There have been a number of seasons in which no such a performance was turned in by either of the major leagues, proof it is a rare feat.

Yet, to Howard Ehmke, now a member of the Philadelphia Athletics, came the great thrill of almost working two such games on successive appearances.

A pitcher must get the breaks to put over a no-hit performance aside from pitching efficiently. Ehmke had a most unsual experience in this respect. In the first game Dame Fortune smiled on him, in the second frowned.

Pitching against Philadelphia Sept. 7, 1923, Ehmke blanked the Athletics 4 to 0, without a hit. There was a bit of a taint attached to this performance.

"Slim" Harris was pitching for the Athletics. When he makes a base hit it is the occasion for a celebration on the part of his teammates. Late in the game he hit deep to the outfield and pulled up at second base as the crowd cheered.

Not being very familiar with first base, "Slim" neglected to touch it on the way to second. The ball was thrown to first and the umpire called him out, erasing the near-hit.

Pitching in his turn, Ehmke four days later faced the New York Yankees. "Whitey" Witt, the first man up, tapped sharply to Howard Shanks, playing third base for Boston. Shanks juggled the ball several times and then threw wide to first.

It was scored as a base hit. Witt was the only man to reach first in that ball game. It was a tough break, for had not the scorers been very lenient with Witt, Ehmke would now boast the unique and extraordinary record of having worked two no-hit games in successive appearances on the rubber.

WASHINGTON IS SILENT

Revives Memories.

The remarks of Mr. Mackenzie King revived memories of a long Parliamentary uproar which continued for many months in 1911 and which drew into conflict some of the leading statesmen of America and of the world.

President Taft threw the reciprocity question into the lap of Congress on January 26, 1911, after having labored late into the night with his Cabinet in preparing his message, which transmitted the Canadian-American trade agreement. From that time onward the issue overshadowed all others for months, bringing state legislatures, foreign parliaments, statesmen the world over, and the people of Canada and the United States into a continuous round of debate.

Opposed Clause.

Feeling on the question reached such a pitch that at one time Gloucester fishermen half-masted their flags in opposition to a clause in the treaty putting Canadian fish on the free list. In Canada there was talk of modifying the use of the United States flag because of the annexation issue which was injected. Congress finally approved the pact, but it was rejected in Canada, where the Liberal Government was overthrown for espousing it.

But before ratification of the agreement, views as far apart as the poles were volunteered, not only from the countries most directly involved, but from all over the world. English newspapers were filled with the news of the discussions, which also got into the British Parliament and into other organizations abroad. Memorials for and against the plan came from state legislatures all over the United States.

During the heat of the battle, Champ Clark, of Missouri, then among the leading Presidential possibilities, made a speech in which he said reciprocity was the first step toward annexation of Canada. President Taft countered with the joking reply that "if we are going to embark in the annexation business, we must at the earliest opportunity annex the aurora borealis."

Overthrew Government.

Nevertheless, the Clark speech brought reverberations in Canada which continued throughout the campaign that overthrew the Liberal Government, and the reciprocity issue, except for brief and unproductive periods of activity, has slumbered since.

The United States ratification of the 1911 reciprocity agreement is still on the statute books, but Premier Mackenzie King's suggestions are for a much more limited agreement. Canadian Minister Massey has not yet broached the subject here, but, if he should do so departments interested are prepared to furnish the State Department with necessary data for negotiations.

Inasmuch as it is generally conceded that congressional action would be necessary, observers here believe that the making of any arrangement will involve a long and tedious process, because the questions at issue touch one of the tenderest spots of the American political body—the tariff.

PLAY-OFF DATES OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

Somewhat Complicated By Poor Weather Conditions at Quebec.

BOSTON, Mass., March 21 (Canadian Press)—Playoff dates for the Canadian-American Hockey League complicated by poor weather conditions at Quebec, were announced by President Clapp at the close of a league meeting here yesterday.

Springfield and Quebec, second and third respectively in the final league standing, will open the playoff with a one-game home and home series. Because of poor ice at Quebec both games will be played at Springfield, the first on March 24, constituting Spingfield's.

The winner will meet New Haven, league leader, in a two-game home and home series for the championship. If Springfield is the opponent the games will be played as follows:

Mach 26 at New Haven; 29 at Springfield; 31 at New Haven; and April 2 at Springfield. If Quebec is the winner the first two games will be played in New Haven on March 26 and 29 and the other two in Quebec on April 1 and 3, if, as expected, a cold snap hardens the nine inches of soft ice now covering the Canadian rink. If conditions at Quebec are still poor, however, the final games will be played at either New Haven or Springfield on March 31 and April 2.

Total goals scored in each series will determine the winner and negotiations are under way for a post playoff series between the Canadian Professional League race. Further details as to such a match are expected after a conference between the league presidents in Springfield later this week.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

TORONTO, March 18.—Observers at Paso Robles, Calif., agree that the Pittsburgh Pirates, world's champions in 1925, are ready for a comeback. After a season of disappointments and internal difficulties, the Pirates seem to have regained the dash and zip which marked their 1925 efforts.

Manager Bucky Harris, of the Senators, yesterday turned his attention to the annual "weeding" of the rookie crop.

Elwood English, the Chicago Cubs' expensive new shortstop, will get his first chance to show his goods away from training camp when the major leaguers meet Los Angeles today.

George Rediern, shortstop with Detroit and regarded by Manager Moriarity as one of the best infielders turned out by the minors in years, may play with the Toronto Leafs in the International League this season. Moriarity has another shortstop, Tavener, who the manager claims is the class of the American League.

George Gerken, formerly of the Three-I League, may be assigned Tris Speaker's old centre field berth with Cleveland.

If the Cincinnati Reds decide to let go Adolph Luque, Cuban twirler, they will receive bids from both the Giants and the Braves.

Connie Mack's Athletics yesterday started a short tour of other major league training camps which will be featured by a three-game series with the Giants.

Manager Carrigan has ordered a let-up in the camp of the Boston Red Sox for a few days. The Hub athletes look to be in fine condition.

The virtue of reading the advertisements every day is that you get into the habit of trading with men whose word must be equal to their bond. Advertising lowers the cost of selling.

COLLINS COMES BACK TO FIRST LOVE

Off with the new love, on with the old, the saying might be reversed for Eddie Collins. Collins, manager of the Chicago White Sox last year, is again back with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, the team for which Collins starred years ago as a member of that famous "million dollar infield." The picture was taken in the A's training camp at Fort Meyers, Fla.

DEMPSEY GOES INTO TRAINING

See if Physically Fit for Attempt Against Title.

MOUNTAIN CAMP

LOS ANGELES, March 21. Canadian Press. — Jack Dempsey will go into a mountain training camp on Monday morning to see if he is in physical shape to attempt to reg in the world's premier pugilistic title.

And if so he is ready to fight any man that may be selected as his opponent—if the purse is right.

The big fellow, whose defeat at the hands of Gene Tunney last year, upset the sports' dope wherever circles are squared, will leave for Wheeler Springs, 57 miles north of here with Gus Wilson, his trainer, and rough it in the hills for several weeks. After that he will gather sparring partners about him and whip his somewhat overweighted frame into condition for a comeback.

SENATORS SURE OF FIRST PLACE

Beat Maple Leafs in Toronto on Saturday Night.

SCORE 2-0.

TORONTO, March 21.—The Ottawa Senators, pacemakers in the Canadian group of the National Hockey League since the start of the season four months ago, made mathematically certain of not being dislodged from first place in the group standing by defeating the Maple Leafs at the Arena Gardens on Saturday night by 2 goals to 0. It was the Senators' twenty-eighth win of the season, and gave them a total of 60 points with two league games still to play. Canadiens, their nearest rivals, have three games to play, but are six points behind, and the Habitants can tie the leaders for the top place on the ladder by winning their remaining three games while the Senators drop both their fixtures. It is not likely that the Senators will finish in a tie for first place.

HARD TIMES SOCIAL AND CONCERT HELD

Good Musical Programme Given—Prizes For Costumes.

The Gleaners' Young Ladies' Class of Park Street Baptist Church Sunday School held a very enjoyable social and concert on Friday evening, March 18th. A splendid programme, consisting of both vocal and instrumental music, was provided.

An instrumental quartette, composed of Bandmaster F. W. Robinson, A. Austin, M. Shadgett and S. Richardson, all of the Salvation Army Band, rendered three delightful selections.

Mrs. Rue and Miss Cotton contributed two fine vocal duets, while Mrs. M. Shadgett gave two splendid numbers. Mr. R. Henry and Mr. J. Smith were heard to advantage together and also in separate solos, and Mr. J. John rendered a very stirring reading in his usual able manner. Miss Ena Batley, Mr. J. Smith and Mr. Austin proved very able accompanists for the evening.

During the evening the "hard-time" costumes of those attending were judged and the winners were Mrs. B. Smith and Master Fred. Thompson.

Two other contests were also held and provided further enjoyment to the very pleasant evening.

At the close of the programme refreshments were served by the members of the class.

Mr. James I. Maybee, the teacher of the class, proved himself a very able chairman, and expressed the thanks of the class to all who had assisted them in the programme.

INJUNCTION REFUSED.

British Judge Dismisses Application Against George Bernard Shaw.

LONDON, March 21.— (Canadian Press.) — Justice Eve, in Chancery Division to-day dismissed the action brought against George Bernard Shaw by Jesse Aronld Levinson of Los Angeles in connection with the film rights of the operatta, "Chocolate Soldier."

Mr. Levinson had asked for an injunction to restrain the famous Irish dramatist from telling firm producers and others than any motion picture entitled "Chococlate Soldiers" or based on that operatta would infringe his copyright, as the plot was taken from Shaw's "Arms and Man."

BASKETBALL

Coach Bert Granik of the Peterboro junior basketball team has arranged a home and home series of games with the smart Toronto Broadview Y.M.C.A. junior team. The first game will be played this coming Saturday in Toronto. The following players, if intending to take in the trip, are asked to turn out tomorrow night at the Y.M.C.A. for practice: Grayston, Goheen, Dormer, McLeish, Sturgeon, Johnston, Hardill, Redfern, Ecobichon.

THIRD PETERBOROUGH "VIMY" TROOP.

Whew! the competition sure is close! Every scout has to be on his toes every minute. The Hounds still hold the lead by a narrow margin with 263 1-4 points; Hawks are in second place w ith 260 1-4 points; Chickadees are only a few points behind with 253 1-2 points. The Wolves have a fighting chance to pull up to first place, but they will have to work. They have 213 1-4 points.

The competition Friday night was very keen. Chickadees had good attendance, but fell down in the knot tying competition. The Wolves had only one scout present, but he went through the knots correctly. Hounds had two absentees, without reasons, but managed to win out in the knot tying. The Hawks had one away and finished second in knotting. Other points were awarded for fees paid and for general inspection.

Immediately after flag raising, several announcements were made. The troop will hold a paper collection next Saturday, and every scout is asked to visit all his friends and ask them to save paper for us, and to have it ready for Saturday. If any one has old paper which they would like to get rid of, and they will notify any scout in the Third, we will call for it next Saturday. We want to make this a real collection, so that we can raise enough money to take care of the troop room rent for several months.

It was announced that points would be given in troop competition for any birds identified by scouts. One point will be given each scout for each bird correctly named.

The A.S.M. then told a story of a fire, and asked the scouts to imagine that they had to take the place of the firemen, because the fire was out in the country, and it would be a long time before the firemen could arrive. Several people were trapped in an upstairs room. The scout made his way up through the flames and got safely into the room. Two ladies were unconscious and had to be lowered from the window on rope made from sheets torn into strips. The race was for each patrol to start with four ropes, one scout tie two together, pass them on to the next, who tied the next two together and passed them on until the four were tied. The last scout then tied the fireman's knot in the end. Of course, one incorrectly tied knot disqualified the patrol. The Hounds won this by fast work, with the Hawks second and Wolves third.

The man harness, by which an unconscious person may be dragged from a burning building was then demonstrated.

Council circle was then formed and the Third again tried to sing some of their scout songs. This time it was a much better attempt, and some real singing was done, especially on "Do a good turn daily." Keep it up, Third, we'll get some real harmony yet.

The Hawks had two recruits at the meeting, Arnold Noftall and George (Toots) Lowe. We hope to see them invested within the next few weeks.

BRITISH DEFENDERS ATTACKED BY DEFEATED NORTHERN RABBLE

Cantonese Behead Russians Within Sight of the British Guards—Red Intimidation Strikes at British Sailors—Native City is Den of Horror.

SHANGHAI, March 22 (Canadian Press).—Firing their rifles in the air and yelling widly a mob of two thousand Chinese troops from the rabble of the defeated Northern army rushed the thin British cordon guarding the northern area of the International Settlement here at 4.30 this morning.

A few score succeeded in breaking through in the weakly-held alleyways, but they were quickly rounded up, disarmed, and turned back into Chinese territory. The main body of the invaders were stopped by the British troops without firing. No British casualties were reported.

The attempt to invade the Settlement followed a day of intermittent firing between the Northerners and the Cantonese guerillas in the native Chapei district.

Japanese Shoot Snipers

There was continuous sniping, mostly by Nationalist riflemen on the north-eastern border of the Settlement, and many shots penetrated the foreign quarter. Japanese Marines who are holding the easterly area of this position are replying to the snipers, shot for shot. They are posted on several high roofs, from which they watch for snipers.

British Silence Sniper

A small detachment of the Durham Regiment holding the barrier near the northern railway station was fired on by a Shantungese soldier lying on the ground. After the third shot, the commanding officer ordered his men to fire once. They did so, and there were no more shots from the sniper. Then a number of other Nationalist marksmen opened up, and bullets whizzed past the barrier. The defenders, who had a narrow escape, did not reply for fear of hitting non-combatants. This incident was typical of constant happenings along the northern and north-eastern boundary of the Settlement.

Scandinavian Settlers Welcomed To Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Man., March 22.—Not since Icelandic pioneers came to the shores of Lake Winnipeg half a century ago has there been a single party of Scandinavian immigrants as large as that which arrived Sunday. Four hundred Norwegians, Danes and Swedes, accompanied by Knud Schioler, Danish vice-consul for Western Canada, who is returning from a trip to Europe, were in the party. They were met at Halifax by J. C. Bertelson, general passenger agent in Winnipeg for the American Scandinavian lines, on whose steamer United States, they crossed the Atlantic. Nearly 5,000 immigrants are arriving in Winnipeg this week.

NOTED AUTHOR GIVES ADDRESS AT COLLEGIATE

Charles D. Roberts Lectures Under Auspices of Peterborough Teachers' Institute.

SOLOS RENDERED

One of Most Versatile Speakers Ever Heard in City.

Charles D. Roberts, the distinguished Canadian author and poet who lectured in the assembly hall of the Collegiate Institute last night under the auspices of the Peterborough Teachers' Institute, proved to be one of the most versatile and interesting speakers that have ever been heard in this city. At the conclusion of his lecture, he was greeted with an outburst of applause that continued until he graciously responded with another of his inimitable stories.

With a strong vein of humor always prominent in his remarks he held his audience in rapt attention, drawing laugh after laugh with his droll sayings.

The musical programme was of a high order; Mr. M. H. Park, tenor, contributing several splendid solos in his usual brilliant fashion. Miss Agnes Logan was the accompanist.

A. Mowat, the presiding chairman, introducing the distinguished guest, declared that "He was the Dean of Canadian men of letters—one who had brought distinction to this country in the various fields of literature."

Charles D. Roberts

"Your chairman referred to me as the Dean of Canadian letters. My only title to the leadership is that which my colleagues have granted me. I always had the idea that work done in Canada to be worthy of Canada must be able to face competition throughout the world," declared the speaker. Dwelling some time on the early days when he kept bombarding English and American editors and kept receiving numerous rejection slips until he finally worked his way and gained a footing after much tribulation.

Canadian literature, he said, when one considered Canada's population, was as great as that of any other country and when considered in the light that Canada was only a generation old—there was no other country that had anything like as much to show.

"We must not grumble because Canada does not support its men of letters of if Canadian writers seek the English and the American markets," he declared. Neither would benefit him much, they want the markets of the world. If they depended upon the English-speaking market they would not have bread and butter enough to live on. "I have no grievance against our own people—some grumble—but we verse writers get almost as much as we deserve. We have a right to respect the fundamental qualities in our literature because our own people have shown a strength and vision that is unequalled anywhere." No other people, he said, could have made Canada, or thrown a railroad across what in the early days was nothing but a barren waste.

Swinburne had told him personally that he detected in the Canadian group sincerity, strength and vision, singularly free from freakishness so common in the search for originality. Speaking of the future, the speaker said that Canada has every reason to be proud of the next lot that are coming on. "We have no reason whatever as a nation to suffer from an inferiority complex. Giving advice to young writers, he advised them not to attempt free verse until they had mastered verse that was free and clear. "In good free verse the rhythm may not be obvious but it is there. Train yourselves to master the technique before you attempt free verse. Don't strive too hard to be original if it comes from within. First perfect your technique and if there is anything within you it will come out. Don't mistake violence for strength, or ugliness as originality.

"I am entitled to write about wild creatures as the first fourteen years of my life was spent among them," he declared. He had studied woodcraft in order to get close enough to them that he might shoot them, but in the studying he had lost the desire to shoot. He was no crank on the matter, but he would just as soon the other fellow would do the shooting. To prove the inconsistencies of man, he said, he had to admit to still being an enthusiastic fisherman. In order to study wild creatures the first thing to be learned was the art of "freezing."

Due to his having acquired the art, he has been enabled to observe wild creatures in their natural environment. He had seen rabbits perform almost as if at a formal dance. He told of several interesting experiences, one of which concerned a bear

Professor Acquitted Of Charge Of Heresy

BELFAST, March 22. — Rev. J. Ernest Davey professor of ecclesiastical history at Assembly college, has been found not guilty by the Belfast Presbytery of a charge of heresy. Rev. Mr. Davey, who is considered one of the most brilliant theological students in Ireland, was tried after publication of his latest book, The Changing Vesture of the Faith.

He was alleged to have fostered teachings contrary to the standards of his church and the Scriptures. That which was most emphasized at the trial had to do with the doctrine of the atonement.

RAILROADS HAD MORE FREIGHT IN LAST YEAR

Canadian Railways Made New Record in Bulk and Revenue.

HIGH GROSS.

Passenger Revenue Highest Since 1923—Traffic Was Heavy in 1926.

OTTAWA, March 22.— (Canadian Press.)— Canadian railways carried more freight last year than in any other year, and their revenues from freight service also were the largest earned according to a statement just issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The figures are for the calendar year.

Passenger traffic was heavier than in 1925 and passenger revenues were larger by $2,663,010, or 3.4 per cent, but they were below those of 1923. Gross revenues were above those of 1925 by $37,642,382 and were exceeded only by those of 1930. Net operating revenues were by far the largest yet earned by the railways, exceeding those of 1925 by $20,203,139. Operating expenses increased during the year by $17,439,242, nearly three-quarters of the increase being in maintenance expenses.

More than 4,000,000 butterflies are included in the collections in the Natural History Museum, South Kensington.

Wider Vision Of Trent Canal Sees It Commercial Waterway

One Horse Can Draw Over Twenty Times More Weight Laden on Water Craft Than on Wheeled Vehicle on Level Road.

FUNDAMENTAL ECONOMIC PRINCIPLE IS INVOKED TO SHOW POSSIBILITIES

It is very pleasing to note that a deputation will shortly wait on the Dominion Cabinet to urge on the Government the just claims of the Midland district to have the Trent Canal completed.

The writer well remembers an address that was delivered by the late Hon. H. R. Emerson in Fenelon Falls on the question of the completion of the Trent Canal. The exact words he uttered were not taken down, but the impression he left on my mind is clear and the truth of his statements is a reflection on every municipality from Midland to Trenton.

He in effect said: Samuel de Champlain discovered this waterway three hundred years ago. He journeyed over it. He saw its possibilities. He took advantage of it as being the easiest and the cheapest way to go from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario. The British Government over one hundred years ago appreciated its value and its possibilities. It would have been completed long ago if the people in this very district were only in earnest and appreciated its value and its worth.

PEOPLE ASLEEP

Remember that Mr. Emerson was then Minister of Railways and Canals and had full knowledge of the whole system from Midland to Trenton. Also remember this important fact that he saw that the vast majority of the people in this district were asleep, that the young men saw no visions and the old men dreamt no dreams. They did not see the simple fact that in carrying freight that one horse will draw three tons one mile on a level clay road in one hour; that the same horse will draw fifteen tons one mile in one hour on level steel rails, and that the same horse will draw seventy tons one mile in one hour if the vessel is floating in water. These are facts that are not appreciated.

LATE ROBERT STUART HAD VISION

But the late Robert Stuart, who was then head of the Quaker Oats Company, did, when he decided to locate his works in Peterborough. He said to me time and again: We can store grain in barges as cheaply as we can in elevators with this advantage, that our barges will slowly move to the place we want the grain to be ground and made fit for use: we will put on a fleet of barges to carry grain from Midland to Peterborough and still another fleet to carry the finished product from Peterborough to Montreal, and please remember that our barges are not going to return empty, but they will carry back slow moving freight to the advantage of Peterborough and other places.

If a deputation goes to Ottawa on the tourist traffic alone, it will hear "the great Dominion billion debtor jibe and curse when he meets a claim with an empty purse." If the deputation goes to Ottawa with the real probabilities he will find a receptive Minister. A local view must not be taken. A national viewpoint is necessary to get the canal completed, and what better viewpoint can be attained than using the water-powers of the progressive places on the line of the Trent Canal to develop industry rather than waste a large percentage of it in transmitting it to the lake. But you know mankind are divided into two classes: wise and otherwise, and mostly otherwise. The wise man learns from the experiences of others; the simple from his own, and Solomon's fool learns from neither. There is something more than tourist traffic.

GOVERNOR GENERAL TO VISIT PETERBOROUGH IN MID-JUNE

Announcement Made at Dominion Day Committee Meeting Last Night.

FOR ST. JOHN'S.

Tentative Committees Drafted For First of July Celebration Here.

The Governor-General of Canada, Lord Willingdon, will visit Peterborough on June 20th next. This announcement was made last night at the meeting of the Dominion Day celebration central committee. His Excellency is coming on invitation of His Worship the Mayor and Rev. Dr. Blagrave in connection with the centenary celebration of St. John's Anglican Church, and the opportunity will be taken to make a civic demonstration.

Many organizations were represented at the meeting last night, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. A letter was read from the Rotary Club containing a proposal to handle the afternoon programme, but after discussion it was decided that the scheme is not practical. Hope was expressed that the Rotary Club would assist in whatever plan was adopted.

Tentative committees were named, and convenors were selected. Meetings are to be called for organization, and all the chairmen of committees will form a central executive committee for general organization.

A proposal to stage a pageant under direction of the ladies of the city was left over for future discussion.

THE WEATHER

The highest temperature yesterday was 33 degrees, the lowest 28. It will be noticed that there is a variation of but 5 degrees. It is a characterization of storms from the east that the temperature range is but small—sometimes exceedingly small. The freezing rain and sleet clung to everything and this morning when the sun rose at 6 o'clock, the scene was like unto Fairyland, and as one gentleman expressed himself to me later, it was the most beautiful sight he ever saw. Every twig on every limb of every tree apparently supported its quota of sparkling diamonds. The temperature last night was 21, which was its lowest point.—W. P.

PRIESTS VICTIMS OF $100,000 FRAUD

Couple Canvass Chicago Soliciting Funds For Starving Syrian Children.

CHICAGO, March 22 — A $100,000 fraud in which some credulous Roman Catholic priests and hundreds of Syrians said to have been victims, has been revealed in the arrest of Khamos Amersha and his wife who are held for deportation. Several Catholic sisterhoods also were victimized, it is charged, when the Amershas solicited funds ostensibly for starving Syrian children.

Amersha was said by S. D. Smith, director of immigration to have confessed that the funds he collected were obtained from thousands of persons throughout Canada, the United States and Mexico.

A large batch of forged documents purporting to come from prominent ecclesiastics in Chicago and several score letters from priests and nuns who had emitted money for starving Syrians were found.

In the opinion of many accomplished linguists the hardest language to learn is Welsh.

Foreign Newspapers At Hankow Shut Down

HANKOW, March 22. United Press. — The Herald, an American owned newspaper, and the British-owned Post were closed yesterday on orders of the general labor union here.

The United States consul protested the closing of the Herald to Cantonese Foreign Minister Eugene Chen, and an investigation was promised. The consul also protested to Chen again firing on the United States gunboat Preble several days ago. Investigation showed southern troops fired on the boat.

Northern troops have fired on the United States ship Meifu, it was reported.

BRITISH BANKS ARE INTERESTED IN DEVELOPMENT

Syndicate Of a Dozen Men Will Invest $500,000,000 in Quebec.

PUBLIC ISSUE.

Baron Gainford, British Financial Figure, Named as One Interested.

LONDON, March 22 (Canadian Press).—Some of the largest of the British banks are actively concerned in the proposition of a syndicate to develop the resources of the Lake St. John region of Quebec Province. Hon. T. A. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec, yesterday announced that the syndicate would spend $500,000,000 in industrial development in that district.

The Canadian Press learned today that ten or a dozen men comprise the syndicate, commanding between them many millions sterling. They are prepared to expend many millions within the next five years, in this project.

A public issue of stock is contemplated. Seemingly, the name of Baron Gainford, president of the Federation of British Industries and one of Britain's leading commercial figures, has been openly associated with the enterprise. He is understood to be a member of the syndicate, but is not necessarily the largest or most influential member of it, and the Federation itself is not officially connected with the syndicate.

With sound authority, it is asserted that the formation of the syndicate was considerably expedited by the satisfactory settlement of the controversy over the Grand Trunk Pacific debentures, for which British holders for many years received no interest.

EUROPE UNEASY OVER BALKANS

Continent Engaged in Task of Averting Trouble in Peninsula.

LEAGUE MATTER.

LONDON, March 22 (Canadian Press).—European diplomacy yesterday was nervously engaged in the task of averting trouble, perhaps war, in the Balkans which it has been feared might arise ever since the conclusion of the treaty of Tirana between Italy and Albania.

The Italian protests to Belgrade against alleged military preparations aimed at Albania have drawn denials from the Jugo-Slav Government by denials both in Belgrade and Geneva. The Jugo-Slav Government also has invited the military attaches of the powers to ascertain the truth of the Italian charge for themselves.

It was authoritatively stated that the British Minister in Belgrade called at the Jugo-Slav Foreign Office yesterday and took the opportunity to advise Jugo-Slavia to act with the greatest moderation in connection with the tension over Albania.

In some quarters the suspicion has been advanced that Italy is seeking a pretext to "satisfy her Adriatic ambitions."

Although the controversy is regarded as a proper matter for mediation by the League of Nations, it is feared that such a solution would not be acceptable to Italy. Consequently Great Britain and France are said to be actively exchanging confidence how to avert the threatened trouble, Germany apparently is carefully keeping aloof.

Jerome Keene Shot By Person Unknown Is Finding Of Jury

Evidence Given by Various Witnesses Proves Conflicting —Deceased Man Was Suspicious of Neighbor, Relatives Say.

BELL DENIES GIVING KEENE DRINK; OFFERED TO PAY BORROWED MONEY

Many Witnesses Give Varying Dates as to When Keene Was Last Seen—Letter Written by Daughter Attracts Much Attention.

(By a Staff Reporter)

MARMORA, March 22—Ten minutes' consideration was enough for the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Jerome Keene to decide on a verdict that he died between Dec. 20 and Feb. 15 from shot gun wounds inflicted by a person or persons unknown.

This verdict was in accordance with the instructions of Crown Attorney Donnan, who told the jurors that while in places in the evidence there was suspicion, the Crown had not shown enough evidence to name any person. It was certain, he said, that an attempt had been made previously to poison the old man and he thought it fair to assume that the person who left the poisoned liquid was the person who shot him. It was certain that he was killed while asleep.

Apparently, continued Mr. Donnan, Keene was suspicious of a neighbor, but no cause was shown on which to base it. He denies giving him the liquor and it would not be fair to assume that he was paving the way for the poisonous drink.

The hearing was presided over by Coroner Dr. W. S. Harper of Madoc, while B. C. Donnan, Crown Attorney, conducted the case for the Crown. The jury consisted of A. H. Connor, foreman; H. Gillen, W. Smith, S. Moffatt, A. T. Neal, T. Warren, W. R. Linn, F. Johnston, G. Forestell.

At one o'clock over 300 interested people were waiting outside the hall. The hearing had to be transferred from the small council chamber downstairs to the large hall, in order to accommodate the crowd, which at that jammed every inch of space.

The principal evidence was that of Charles Gordanier, who found the body of his uncle, in his shack near Marmora, on February 17. Agnes Keene, daughter of the murdered man, and John Bell, who lived on the same lot. The evidence of Gordanier was given in such a manner that the Crown Attorney urged him not to beat about the bush, and went over the last conversation he had with his uncle several times in an effort to find out just what Keene had said about suspecting any person. Other members of the Gordanier family who gave evidence agreed with Charles that their relative had expressed suspicion of Bell, who he said had been acting funny, in that he called on him and offered him a drink, the first time he had ever done such a thing. He had also said that he had lent Bell money and he kept putting him off.

Bell denied that he had given Keene a drink at any time, and said that Keene had never shown any signs of suspecting him. He had offered to pay the money he had borrowed and Keene had urged him to secure another borrower, which he had done.

A letter written by Agnes Keene to her father was read in court, after the Crown Attorney had said he didn't like to read it. She accused him of sending her a cheap Christmas present. She blames him for her ill health and lack of education, which prevented her from getting a job to support herself properly.

William Nugent, Provincial officer of Madoc, who assisted in the investigation, identified a photograph of a shack which he had visited with the Coroner, County Constable James Gordanier, and Charles Gordanier. The door was locked when he arrived and Gordanier said he had been in before. Another photograph showed the interior of the shack. Both were taken by Sergeant Clark of Belleville. Nothing was disturbed except a pair of trousers. The second photograph showed the body lying on the bed and blood on the wall. A third photograph showed the head of the deceased, with holes in the upper part of the head and in the chin. The blanket was torn. Pellets were found in the bed and wall. Shot had glanced off the head of the bed and led to the conclusion that the shot had been fired from the door. Small particles of bone were found on the wall. The wounds indicated that two charges from a shotgun had been fired at the deceased.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 22. (United Press).—Francesco de Pinedo, Italian trans-Atlantic aviator, left Manaos yesterday for Para, Brazil. Communication was so uncertain in the unexplored area over which the Italian plane travelled that it was impossible to keep accurate account of its movements.

LEGION CONVENTION STORY IS RELATED

Rev. Captain Costello Tells Veterans of Plans of Dominion Command.

At a special meeting of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, Peterborough Branch, in the Legion Hall last night, Rev. Captain Paul Costello reported on the first annual Dominion convention at which he was a delegate of the local branch. "I never saw so live a body of delegates as gathered at this convention," said Captain Costello, who was honored by being chosen chairman of the Ontario caucus.

The meeting was opened by Col. C. H. Ackerman, president of the Peterborough branch.

Captain Costello declared the convention was highly inspirational, and he came back enthused, more determined to do what he could to further the Canadian Legion. The invitation extended to the Dominion Command to hold the next convention in Peterborough was not accepted, but the city received some very favorable publicity through the Mayor's telegram and the address which Captain Costello made to the more than 300 delegates.

The report in detail will appear elsewhere in The Examiner.

SOVIET REJOICES FALL OF SHANGHAI

Demonstrations Organized By Factory Workers To Celebrate Event.

MOSCOW, March 22 (Canadian Press)—Soviet Russia rejoiced yesterday over the fall of Shanghai.

Government wireless stations flashed to every corner of the Soviet Union the news that the "world's citadel of imperialism" had capitulated to the Nationalists. Demonstrations were organized by factory workers and government employes to celebrate the event.

Moscow newspapers published extra editions telling of the capture of China's greatest port. Groups of people gathered on the street corners to discuss the momentous news, which the Bolsheviks regard as meaning the definite triumph of the Chinese revolution and the complete deliverance of the people of China from foreign domination.

Hundreds of enthusiastic Communists gathered before Sun Yat Sen University and gave the Chinese students an ovation. They even caught some of them up and carried them through the streets

EXAMINE ONE IN TEN CASES IF GOODS SAME

Send Up Case Having Highest Rate, Probers Are Told.

TORONTO SESSION.

Witness Says About Forty Per Cent. of Cases Not Invoiced.

TORONTO, March 22.—Testifying at the resumed hearing before the Royal Commission enquiring into the Department of Customs and Excise, yesterday afternoon, M. W. Chivrell, computing clerk for the port of Toronto, corroborated previous evidence that the Department examined one in ten cases of importations where the goods were the same.

Under questioning by N. W. Rowell, K.C., witness said that where invoices—say from United States ports—specified various articles, all ten boxes would be sent on for inspection.

The routine procedure was detailed by F. S. Belton, a computing clerk since 1914. He said he always saw that one case in ten was inspected and that under certain conditions he might inspect as many as seven in ten. The Department used discretion, he said. The values stated on the invoice would indicate which case should be sent on for examination.

"Supposing," asked Mr. Rowell, "that you had three classes of dry goods?"

Chief Commissioner Brown: "Is that your own practice or the practice of the office?"

M.. Belton: "I think it is the general practice of the office."

Commissioner Wright: "Do you get many cases that are not invoiced?"

Witness: "Yes, about forty per cent."

"Do you know where they are from?"—"From the United States principally."

Mr. Rowell: "Is there any reason why the United States exporters should not have distinguishing marks the same as other exports?"

Witness: "No, none."

Take Chance.

Charles Ross, a son of the former postmaster, and an old Customs official, said that where the cases were not marked according to the invoices, there was no way of determining exactly the contents. The officers had just to take chances and select the boxes for transference for inspection.

Harley Manderson, declaration clerk, said that it was generally supposed that the persons who signed affidavits in regard to Customs, took the oath before him or his colleague, but that in certain instances clerks had the power of attorney to act for brokers. Witness said he signed without registering the oath.

Finally, under questioning by Commissioners Wright and Roy, Manderson said the brokers were supposed to take the oath in the morning to cover the day's clearances, but that in reality they merely filled out the affidavits.

Chief Commissioner: "Did you ever administer an oath in your life?"

Witness: "I don't think I ever did."

Mr. Rowell: "Did you ever administer an oath to a broker?"—"On settlers' effects."

"But did you ever administer an oath on commercial goods?"—"I don't think I ever did."

That he would administer the oath required when a stranger entered, but not in the case of an acquaintance, was the evidence of J. H. Williams, a distribution clerk. He said no instructions were given the officials in reference to oaths before commencing upon new duties.

Auditor Verifies Figures.

Major A. E. Nash, auditor for the commission, verified the figures appertaining to the total revenue derived in the port of Toronto in 1926, some $67,956,886.65, made up as follows: Customs duties $31,697,623. Excise taxes on importations, $4,152,672.74; excise taxes, domestic, $17,146,412.16; excise duties, $1,870,708.33; income taxes, $13,092,391.73; sundry collections, $57,073.33.

There are some 56 ports in Ontario, 107 outports and 34 preventive stations.

Qualifications of officers in charge of the various branches were asked for by Mr. Rowell when M. F. Mogan, chief appraiser, took the witness stand. The latter defined the branches, which dealt separately with the many varieties of goods and commodities, and averred that for the greater part the men had previous knowledge of the goods handled and valued by them. A former grocer dealt with groceries, a druggist with drugs, and so on.

There was presently no examina- (Turn to Page 3, Please)

G. B. Shaw Wins Case In Copyright Action

LONDON, March 22 (Canadian Press). — Justice Eve in the Chancery Division yesterday dismissed the action brought against George Bernard Shaw by Jesse Arnrold Levinson, of Los Angeles, in connection with the film rights of the operetta, "The Chocolate Soldier."

Mr. Levinson had asked for an injunction to restrain the famous Irish dramatist from telling film producers or others that any motion picture entitled "The Chocolate Soldier," or based on that operetta, would infringe his copyright, as the plot was taken from Shaw's "Arms and the Man."

GEORGIAN BAY DEBATE BREAKS NEW GROUND

Chevrier Asserts Guthrie Amendment Designed To Prevent Close Enquiry.

SMOKE SCREEN.

Says International Power Have Contract With Hydro Electric.

OTTAWA, March 2.— (Special.)—Some new ground was broken in the House yesterday afternoon when the Georgian Bay Canal charter debate was resumed by E .R. E. Chevrier, M.P. for Ottawa, promotor of the Bill. At the outset he got into an altercation with Hon. R. B. Bennett. After stating that the amendment of Mr. Guthrie was only a smoke screen from the Board of Strategy, Mr. Chevrier spoke of the persistent opposition of 'the Ottawa Citizen." "The Ottawa Citizen," he said, "did not oppose the charter in 1924 because certain things had not happened then. At that time the president of this chain of newspapers was not a director of the International Paper Company."

Mr. Chevrier proceeded to read a list of new directors of the International Paper Company which included Hon. R. B. Bennett, F. N. Southam and Hon. Smeaton White.

Read the Whole List.

"Read the whole list and you will find your own colleague from Ottawa, (Mr. Edwards)" suggested Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Chevrier commented the directorate included Gordon Edwards, Senator Dandurand, Victor Drury, Sir Lomer Gouin, G. H. Montgomery, J. W. McConnell, Senator Raymond, J. B. White, J. H. Fortier, A. Graustein, H. C. Phipps and E. R. Wood.

"Now," said the member for Ottawa, enumerating a list of Southam papers. "We know why they oppose this bill. It is because the owners are either partners or hirelings of Mr. Graustein, of the International Paper Company."

Create a Monopoly

"Where does the International Paper come into it?" querier Sir George Perley, "What interest have they in opposing the carter?"

"Their interest is this," replied Mr. Chevrier. "Just as they already have a contract with the Ontario Hydro Electric for their present powers so their interest is to stop anyone else getting powers and thus create a monopoly."

The member for Ottawa proceeded with a lengthy argument that the scheme fundamentally is a charter for a canal, and is a power concern only so far as relates to the ultimation of the surplus water powers from the canal.

A Smoke Screen.

Mr. Chevrier claimed the whole of the argument in opposition to the bill, specious as it was, in a smoke screen to prevent the construction of the canal.

He claimed that the year before the original charter was granted the power rights were recognized by the Senate as of tremendous importance. The letter and spirit of the charter must be observed. He contended that the charter only gave the company authority to dispose of surplus power after the building the canal.

CHINESE CRISIS CAUSING ANXIETY IN OLD COUNTRY

London Fears Cantonese Will Make Attempt on Foreign Quarter.

SINISTER ASPECT.

Hopes That Chen's Influence Will Predominate and Avert Violence.

LONDON, March 22.—The next 24 hours will show whether the victorious Cantonese intend to leave the international settlement at Shanghai alone or attempt its capture, according to opinions in well-informed quarters here yesterday.

Undoubtedly there is a sinister aspect in the Cantonese method of sending soldiers and students in plain clothes into the native section as an advance guard, because this procedure was tried at Hankow and it is emphasized that should the Cantonese employ the same trick in an attempt to stir up the international settlement and paralyze its defence, a most perilous situation will be created, on account of the fact that the British and other defenders will be compelled to take decisive action.

Look to Chen.

It is hoped here that Eugene Chen's influence will predominate and prevent a clash between the British and the Cantonese, but at the same time it is reiterated in official circles that any attempts on the part of Nationalist soldiers to enter the foreign section of Shanghai will be fully resisted by the British who are prepared to open fire should such attempts warrant it.

Naturally there is much anxiety in London as to what the next few days will bring forth, but it is felt that the British forces are adequate for the protection of the international settlement and all it contains.

BROWNING WINS SEPARATION SUIT

Decree Granted To Realty Millionaire on Ground of Abandonment.

NO CRUELTY SHOWN.

CARMEL, N.Y., March 2.—Edward West Browning, wealthy New York real estate man, yesterday won his separation suit against his wife, the former Frances "Peaches" Heenan, in a decision handed down here yesterday by Supreme Court Justice A. H. P. Seegar.

Justice Seegar granted the separation on the ground of abandonment, dismissing Browning's first cause of action of alleged cruelty. Justice Seegar completed the nine pages of his decision with the words: "The defendant has failed to justify her conduct in leaving and abandoning the plaintiff. Her counter-claim must be dismissed and the plaintiff is entitled to a judgment of separation from bed and board forever."

Justice Seegar held that there was no evidence to sustain Mrs. Browning's charges against her husband.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

WHEELBARROWS.

It must be years and years ago
Wheelbarrows were invented,
And for a century or so
The world has been contented
To put the load of stone or steel
Upon the man and not the wheel.

Though Newton lay beneath a tree
On which an apple hovered,
And, when it hit him presently,
A simple law discovered,
Still men have done the usual stunt
And put the barrow's wheel in front.

Yes, centuries have called him friend,
The thoughtless old inventor
Who put the wheel upon the end
Instead of near the center,
Who put the load upon the man
Instead of by a better plan.

And men have likewise had a God,
A faith the world to brighten,
Yet all alone the path have trod,
Nor sought their load to lighten,
Have put their load of stone or steel
Upon the man and not the wheel.

JEROME KEENE SHOT BY PERSON UNKNOWN, ETC.

The shack was 11 feet 3 inches square inside, and the bed was about 6 feet from the door, which was fitted with an ordinary house lock. The shack is 87 feet from the Cordova road, and 155 feet from the Shanick road. The house of John Bell is 165 feet from the shack.

Letters addressed to Keene were produced by Nugent. They were found in a tin box, also produced, which was taken from a trunk. Another was found in a pocket. A jack-knife and a bag containing two ten dollar bills were found in Keene'e trousers. A bankbook showing a balance of $66.33 in the Dominion Bank, Marmora, and a bundle of papers were found in the trunk. His watch was found in the bed.

There was no difficulty in ascertaining the cause of the death, which was by wounds from a shotgun. Possibly both barrels were fired at once. There was no sign that the accused had been startled; he was apparently sleeping.

Except for some unwashed dishes, the shack was in an orderly condition.

Constable Nugent said he took some liquid which he had received from James Gordanier to Toronto. There was about 3 ounces of amber liquid in a 6-ounce bottle, which Prof. Rogers analysed. The certificate showed that the liquid contained two grains of strychnine per fluid ounce.

Charles Cordanier.

Charles Gordanier, a nephew of the late Jerome Keene, said he last saw his uncle alive about November 15. They talked about his getting this bottle of "dope." He had found it on the table when he got home at night. He took a drink out of the bottle. He said he was subject to spells, and that night he nearly died. He didn't know whether it was the liquid or a spell. He had remarked that his neighbor, Bell, was acting funny, as a short time before he had offered him a drink, which he had never done before.

Did he appear to make any connection between the liquid Bell gave him and the bottle left?—No.

Did he tell you of his troubles?—No.

You knew he was separated from his wife?—Yes.

How long?—Four or five years.

Did you know the cause?—No. I heard talk.

Did he give any sign of being afraid of anybody? — He said he wasn't afraid of anybody.

You were suspicious then?—No.

His uncle was a frequent visitor at his home at irregular intervals. He was in the habit of going away at times. His uncle came down to the house and told them about the liquor.

"He said he had a treat left for him the other night," said the witness. "A bottle was left and he took some. During the night he had severe pains. He expressed no suspicions. I asked him if he thought anybody had anything against him. He said, "The liquor was doped or else I took a spell in the night, as I nearly stiffened out." He then said he wasn't afraid, and then went home.

They went up to look for him because they missed him, and the witness' mother asked him about his uncle. He and his brother went for a drive in a new car he had just bought, and decided to call on their uncle. There were no footprints as far as they saw. The outside door was unlocked; the inside door was locked, and he used a key which fitted his own door. He found his uncle lying dead in bed.

He said the photographs shown were correct views of the interior of the shack.

When you were there with your uncle did he tell you someone had given him liquor?

No, sir.

Have you a shot gun? No.

Have you had one? I borrowed one from Percy Grey and went fox hunting with my brother on my father's farm.

Witness said he had the shot gun for about two weeks, and let nobody else have it. His wife lived with him, and three children roomed upstairs while they went to school. The gun was not loaded. On his hunting trip in Rawdon he had not fired at any foxes but had fired twice at a stump. He bought no shells at the time as he had several in his possession.

He had never had any strychnine in his possession nor had he ever used poison while trapping, or at any other time in his life. His wife had had no occasion to use strychnine.

Returning to the final conversation Mr. Donnan asked if his uncle had any suspicions. The witness said No; but admitted that his uncle said John Bell was acting funny, as he came to the shack, and had never done so before.

He said John Bell brought him a drink.

What else did he say?

He said John Bell came to his shack one day after he had lost some money—$35.00.

Is that all? He said he had lost some money, and the day after Johnny Bell came to his shack. He said he was going to see a fortune teller about it.

Did he say he suspected John Bell? No.

What connection was there between John Bell and the $35? He said they talked about it the day after.

Did he say he ever lent any money to John Bell? Yes; he had lent him fifty or sixty dollars.

George Gordanier.

George Godanier, a brother of the previous witness, was with his brother when the body was found. There were a lot of stories going around that his uncle was in Detroit, in Timmins and down at the Widow Weese's (a cousin living near Corbyville.) His mother had asked if she could go to her brother's shack to look around. He had last seen his uncle on the street in Marmora. He seemed in good health.

"He told me he came near dying the other night," he said. "He said he had a bottle of dope left on his table. He took maybe a spoonful, and went to bed a little sooner than usual. He tried to get out of bed but did not have strength. He took the bottle to Jim Gordanier."

Did he seem suspicious?

Not that time. He said about Stirling fair time John Bell and William Jones came up to the horse and gave him a drink. He said he wondered at John Bell coming with such a little drink, when he and Jones were such old whiskey topers. He told me he had lost some money and thought that John Bell had taken it. He didn't know whether he had dreamed it or not, that he heard my father say "Jerome! are you awake?" In the morning his money was gone.

Witness had never owned a shot gun or used strychnine.

"He (Keene) said he was suspicious how his wife left him. He said when his daughter was in hospital a priest told his wife that she wouldn't go to heaven when she died if she lived her life out with a Protestant."

He did not know much about the relations between his uncle and his family except that Keene's daughter refused to speak to her father on the street. His son James by a former wife was on friendly terms with his father.

His uncle had mentioned to him that Bell had borrowed money from him. He had said nothing about Bell putting him off. His uncle was in the habit, at times of leaving his shack unlocked.

Dr. D. Thomson.

Dr. D. Thomson, of Marmora, said he had attended Keene at times. He was in pretty fair health, although he complained of trouble with his kidneys.

Dr. Thomson produced the report of the post mortem made by himself and Dr. Crawford. There was no indication of how long he had been dead. He found a lacerated wound over the eye and a piece of his jaw shot off. He produced shot pellets found in the brain. The stomach was empty.

A fatal dose of strychnine was about quarter of a grain, and the doctor would expect a person taking such a dose to die.

Dr. H. Crawford, of Marmora, thought he had last seen Keene about Christmas time. He had not attended him for some time. The examination showed that the body had been frozen shortly after death. He would expect it to take a grain of strychnine to kill a man of Keene's size.

Mrs. Charles Gordonier.

Mrs. Lottie Gordonier, wife of Charles Gordonier, said Bill had brought him a drink, which he thought strange. He mentioned losing some money and said it seemed funny. She had seen the bottle of liquid about a week before Keene had last visited her home. He told of finding it the night before and said it was the first time he knew of anybody leaving anything there in his absence. He said it looked funny and he thought it was somebody who knew he was away.

Keene had said he had lent John Bell some money and he had kept putting him off. Her husband had had the shotgun for about two weeks and it had never left his possession during that time. During that time he had gone out occasionally to meet trains, as he was doing taxi work.

Mrs. Nancy Gordonier.

Mrs. Nancy Gordonier, sister of Jerome Keene, gave her evidence in a clear voice. She had last seen her brother on the fifth and sixth of November. Her brother told her that Bell and Jones brought him a bottle of liquor which he had got for him in Peterborough. He thought this strange, as it was the first time Bell had been in the house. He had missed some money and Bell had tried to dissaude him from getting his fortune told. He had said he was suspicious of Bell, saying he didn't like the way he acted. He told her once "I'll tell you something some day that will surprise you." He had told her not to say anything about Mr. Bell as if he had taken the money he might bring it back.

James Gordonier.

James Gordonier, county constable, a son of the last witness, said his uncle told him about a bottle of stuff which was "no welcome drink." He had said "it didn't come far." Gordonier hid the bottle while he went hunting and later gave it to Inspector Nugent.

Not much had been used from his uncle's wood pile, indicating that his uncle had been killed early in the winter.

Gordonier said he had made tests with a 12-guage shotgun. Pieces of cardboard were produced with holes where he had fired at them.

William McCoy.

William McCoy, of Marmora, said he last saw Jerome Keene on the 6th or 10th of January. On one of those mornings Mr. Potts had told him that Keene wanted a job.

John Neill.

John Neill, who lived about four miles north of Marmora, last saw Jerome Keene, after the 11th of December, which date he fixed, because that was the day he bought a new overcoat.

William Burns.

William Burns said he passed by Keene's shack on Christmas day. He saw smoke coming from the shack.

Fred Ferguson.

Fred Ferguson last saw Jerome Keene about Nov. 18. 'Keene told me he came near getting trapped,' he said. "He said there was a bottle left left on his table and he drank something of it and was almost paralyzed." The witness was "raised" among the Sheridan family. (Mrs. Keene was a Sheridan) and knew of no ill-feeling between Mr. and Mrs. Keene.

Daniel Campion.

Daniel Campion said he last saw Jerome Keene on Dec. 22. He walked up the street with him; Keene had two parcels, one looking like bread. A few days before Keene had told him about the drink and the pains.

John Reid.

John Reid, a nephew of Jerome Keene, could not say when he last saw his uncle. He had gone to the shack on Feb.11 at the request of Mrs. Gordonier. He couldn't get in nor could he see anything suspicious through the window. There was fresh snow over the beaten track from the road.

He said he borrowed $200 from his uncle in 1924 on two notes, payable in one and two years. He had no trouble with his uncle over the money, and had paid interest on the notes.

Dan Neill.

Dan Neill last saw Jerome Keene on November 21. He had ridden down on a wagon with Keene on November 18. On the 20th he met him at the St. James' Hotel and had conversation with him.

A new element was introduced when the Crown Attorney asked the witness if he knew a man named Lynch, a son-in-law of Ben Demas. He said he saw Lynch digging around the home of his father-in-law's at about that time.

Mrs. Ben Demas.

Mrs. Ben Demas, a sister of Mrs. Jerome Keene, said her son-in-law, Joel D. Lynch, of Peterborough, visited her in November.

There had been no trouble recently between her sister and her husband. They just couldn't get along together. There was no religious difference.

Ben Demas.

Ben Demas knew of no person having a quarrel with Jerome Keene. He had seen him some time in November.

Mrs. Annie Moffatt.

Mrs. Annie Moffatt, a widow, of Marmora Township, formerly lived on a lot owned by John Bell. Her son, William, lived with her. In July or August, 1924, she borrowed money on a note from John Bell at 8 per cent. The interest was paid when due. The principal was not paid and John Bell asked for his money. They told him they would change the note if they could get the money. Bell got the money from Keene on a note which she signed. The note is due but has not been paid. Bell knew of her financial position when he got Keene to take over the note.

J. P. Marrin.

J. P. Marrin, druggist, of Marmora, said Keene had brought him a six-ounce bottle, asking if he knew what was in it. He said it might have a number of things in it. "I asked him where he got it. He said he found it on his table the night before. He took a sip of it and nearly died with cramps." The contents smelled like alcohol, probably moonshine. He advised Keene to take it to his nephew.

Mrs. Jerome Keene.

Mrs. Catherine Keene, wife of the deceased, married him about 31 years ago. They separated about 5 years ago, because they couldn't get along together.

Did religion have anything to do with it?—Nothing at all.

At that time they lived where Bell lives now. Her husband rented the house and built the shack. He sold it later to Bell for $875, of which Mrs. Keene received one-third. She refused to sign the conveyance until she got her share.

Keene could not read or write. She attended to his correspondence when they lived together. She had not spoken to him since the day they sold the house. She knew of no person having a grudge against him.

Agnes Keene.

Agnes Keene, daughter of the previous witness, works at Lonsdale. She was home for two weeks about Christmas time. She liked her father and never had a quarrel with him. She had written him once, and identified a letter she wrote to him.

The Crown Attorney said it was not a very nice letter to write, and that he didn't like to read it, but thought he should.

It referred to a "cheap pair of boots" sent as a Christmas present and which she could not wear, and said he had taken her from her grandparents when she had a good home. She blamed him for her poor health, due to his threats. She said she was experiencing poverty because he had not given her an education. She advised him to get his nephew to look over it and see if he could arrest her. She told him not to pay any bills on dunning letters. She said she forgave him and that she prayed that he might be spared from a terrible death.

She said her father must have had somebody write the letter to which she had replied. She had never had cause to complain to her mother about his treatment of her. Her father was always writing lawyer's letters to say that he was going to take her from her mother.

A letter written to The Examiner stating that religion was not the cause of the separation was read, and Miss Keene reiterated that only inability to agree had caused the separation.

Wellington Billings.

Wellington Billings said he wrote three letters for Jerome Keene at his request. He didn't know who looked after it before. The three letters were written to James Keene, and a reply to one of them was produced. It referred to a wrist watch sent Mrs. Keene, Junior, which had never been received.

Mrs. John Bell.

Mrs. Catherine Bell, wife of John Bell, could not recall seeing Keene after November 15 or 17. He had told her of the shooting of Charles St. Charles. She never heard any shots. There was no shotgun at the house, nor had her husband ever owned or borrowed a shotgun to her knowledge.

Her husband borrowed $200 from Keene, but Keene had been anxious to get the money out on interest. She did not know that her husband had difficulty in collecting the money from the Moffats.

She said that her husband had not gone with Jones to the shack, as he was helping her get the supper.

John Bell

John Bell, tax collector for the Townships of Marmora and Lake. He bought the property about two years ago. He, too, last saw Keene about the same time as his wife.

You heard the evidence about you giving him a drink. What have you to say to that? No, sir. Johnes was there one evening after they had been in Campbellford, coming with him, he said. I don't know anything about the liquor except what I hear. I never gave him a drink in my life. I had no liquor for myself.

Did you know that Jerome Keene had lost any money? I did.

Did you tell him to wait? No. I took him to Mrs. Booth and she told him to wait.

Did you owe him any money I did. I borrowed $200 for a month.

Did you pay it? No, I offered him the money, and he asked me if I knew anybody that would borrow it. I told him three parties, two in the village, and Mrs. Moffatt. He asked me to see Mrs. Moffatt. I got the note arranged. He didn't have to take the note. I offered him the money.

Did you tell Keene the Moffatts owed you the money? Yes, sir, I told him the money was going into my wife's hands.

You knew the Moffatts weren't much good. You tried to get money out of them? Yes, sir.

You then haven't paid Keene the money. No. I offered it him. So help me, God.

Did you miss him? Yes; I went up and tried the door and it was locked. I used to do that whenever we missed him.

Bell said he bought strychnine about ten years ago and used it all on foxes. He had never owned a shotgun nor had he fired one in years.

Apparently Mr. Keene was suspicious of you? He never talked that way, he used to come into the house.

Did you borrow $50 from him? No, sir.

John Richardson

John Richardson of Marmora last saw Jerome Keene about Dec. 16 or 17.

William H. Stringer

William H. Stringer, inspector of the C.I.D. of the provincial police, who conducted the investigation, produced statements of Keene's accounts with the Dominion Bank, Marmora.

MOST OF NEW 'PHONES IN HOMES.

To gain 40,840 telephones last year, according to the annual report of the Bell Telephone Company, it was necessary to instal 123,706 instruments. In spite of the 82,866 telephones taken out, this net gain of 40,840 is regarded as a very satisfactory increase. Over 75 per cent. of the new telephones were residence services. 1d-69-499

LEAGUE MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Irish Programme Consisting of Songs and Readings is Given.

ROADS ARE BAD

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, March 22.—In spite of bad roads, fifty-two attended league service at Zion on Thursday evening. The meeting was in charge of the Citizenship Committee, with the Convener, Lindsay Anderson, as leader. After devotional exercises and business, the programme took on a decidedly Irish flavor in honor of St. Patrick's Day. A ta n St. Patrick was given by Miss Nellie Bennett, while Earl Fairman and Rev. C. D. Daniel led a short discussion on the same subject. An Irish reading by Mrs. Fred. Barnum and an Irish song by Mr. Daniel were much enjoyed. The topic, "What Can Humanity Substitute for War," was given by Lindsay Anderson. Several ways were suggested in which mankind could take part in worthy endeavor; in the war against disease, in the war against drink, in the fight against social impurity, in the fight against social injustice, in the fight for political purity. An Irish contest conducted by Mrs. Fred. Barnum and Miss Gladys Simpson brought the meeting to a close.

Bad Roads.

The roads around Petherick's Corners are in the usually bad spring condition, and motorists are having their troubles. It is not expected, however, that conditions will be quite as bad as in 1926.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

A FARMER OBJECTS

North Monaghan,
March 18, 1927.

Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir: I have been scanning your paper every night for some time expecting to see some objection to the new market by-laws?

I would like to know what the regular farmer attendant and gardeners think of it?

Is the city going to find us a place to park our horses?

We will take for instance in the height of the season when there is a large market, and a farmer comes in a little late, it is ten chances to one that all the yard and stable room within a reasonable distance is occupied; has a man to go trailing all over town with a team to find standing room and then tie them in a crowded yard and run the chance of getting them kicked and lamed, or your own kicking someone else's, and waste half the morning doing it when possibly you only have on two or three bags of potatoes or a few surplus apples and could have sold them, and been on your way home in the time it takes to find yard room.

As a regular attendant, I will give you an idea of what we have to put up with, and it will possibly give the public an idea that we don't like it.

If you have luck, it will often take half an hour to find stable room and put your team up; in the meantime you have left the rig on the market covered; when you get back, the cover is likely on the ground. Everyone that comes along examines your produce and throws it back. I don't think they take any, but you will find a few quarts of peas shelled; every passerby has to see the size of them. The top of your bean box will be in chips, as every housewife has to see if they stringy or tough; you may find half the tomatoes on top of the baskets pretty soft, every Tom, Dick and Harry has tried them with a pinch; if your apples happen to be at the front of the rig, they lean over and grab a few, but forget to lean over to put them back, throwing them is easier, if helps to bruise a few more, or if they miss the crate they may land in a crate of berries.

And the berries are greatly improved by a shaking up with every passer-by to see if they are sound at the bottom, and the rest of your produce is greatly improved by a sprinkling of berries that are spilled in the shaking up process, it adds a variety of color to the load,—and all of this will happen while you are away hunting a place for the horses.

Then we have to remove the rig as soon as the load is sold, or the market is over. Say do we have to eat. If we leave home about 7 a.m. and stay on the market till 12 noon, are we not entitled to a dinner and don't the merchants want to get a little of our change We have shopping to do and it cannot be done now if one has a horse and rig, as all available parking space on the main streets is now occupied with cars; there is no room for a horse and rig to pull in to the sidewalk, or if you do a car will pull in so close behind you that if a horse moves the rig hits the car and then there is trouble.

I pulled up on George Street a few days ago and tied, while I was in a store. A car pulled in ahead, right at the horses' noses, and one of the horses nibbled at a tire on the back of the car, and the owner thought I should be responsible for the tire.

Now I don't believe in a man pulling on to that market early morning and leaving his horse or horses standing at the rig till afternoon. If he is going to stay many hours, he should find a place for his horses, but I think the Council should draw the line between the two.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor.

REPORT
—OF—
MEDICAL OFFICER OF HEALTH
—ON—
THE SAFEGUARDING OF TORONTO'S MILK SUPPLY
WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO PASTEURIZATION

(Presented to and approved by the Local Board of Health in April, 1915, and Revised in May, 1926.)

Probably no other phase of preventive medicine has engaged the attention of public health administrators during the past fifteen years, to the same extent, as has the efficient safeguarding of the public milk supply, and advisedly so. In a modified form cow's milk is the most efficient substitute we have for mother's milk as a food for the infant. There is no other food comparable in value for the developing boy and girl, and also for invalids, and it should enter largely into the diet of all.

Milk and its products, butter, cream, cheese, buttermilk, skim milk and ice cream, constitute the most important articles used for human food.

The Food Value of Milk.

The use of milk of domestic animals for human food dates back to pre-historic times. The ancient tribes of Asia used their flocks and herds not only as sources of meat and clothing, but also for their milk, which then constituted the most important part of their diet. As they migrated from one place to another, they took their herds with them, owing to the fact that domestic animals were capable of using the various kinds of vegetation as food.

TUESDAY, MARCH 22, 1927.

. . . CHRONICLER OF FACTS . . . SIFTER OF RUMORS AND OPINIONS . . . MINISTER OF THE TRUTH THAT MAKES MEN FREE.

HERE IS A CHANCE.

From Port Huron, Mich., comes the announcement of an innovation adopted by a movie theatre in that city in the shape of a "crying room," an apartment with a glass front where mothers can take their crying infants and enjoy the show without annoyance to other patrons.

There are wonderful possibilities in that idea.

Why not a similar room for the people who will persist in reading aloud all the sub-titles thrown on the screen.

Put them behind a screen of glass and let them read as much as they wish, while the rest of the customers enjoy the programme in peace.

Interned in such an apartment, too, could be the folks who at the theatre eat peanuts and oranges and audibly chew the stuff that made the Catalina swim a possibility.

And along with them the others who persist in whistling the popular airs played by the orchestra and in beating time with their feet.

By all means this "crying room" idea should be developed.

DESERVE LITTLE SYMPATHY.

Complaints are numerous from Western Ontario points that farmers who go to the rescue of motorists whose cars are stalled in the soft roads have been charging too much for their services.

However, there are many people who are inclined to think that the man who attempts to drive over Ontario's roads at this time of the year should be taxed all the traffic will bear.

The local Suburban Road Commission used a large part of its appropriation last year in repairing roads that had been broken down by motor trucks and cars in the early spring.

If traffic is not kept off these and other roads at this season there is no doubt that the experience of other years will be repeated, and heavy repair bills will be the result, eating up appropriations that could be used to better advantage later in the year on improving road conditions generally.

There will not be much sympathy for motorists who get into difficulties just now; they, in fact, in addition to having to pay farmers for hauling their cars out of the mud, should also be called upon to pay a fine for damaging the road surface.

THE TRENT CANAL.

The Trent Waterway Development Association is proceeding with arrangements for a deputation from the district bordering on the Trent Canal to urge upon the Government the desirability of an early completion of the waterway.

While references to the canal made in the House by Hon. Chas. Dunning indicate that not much can be expected so far as this year's appropriations are concerned, the association is justified in bringing to the attention of the Government concrete reasons why the small amount of work left to be done to finish the waterway should be undertaken.

In comparison with what has been expended on this scheme, the amount needed to complete the work is not large, and the opening of the canal throughout by finishing the Severn River section would undoubtedly largely increase the volume of tourist traffic, with material benefit to the whole district.

But the tourist argument is not the main reason why the canal should be completed.

The Government should be impressed with the value of the waterway as a commerce carrier and with the power possibilities of the route.

The experience of the Maritime Provinces shows that persistent urging will secure results, and it is apparently up to the people of this section of Ontario to keep pressing for the completion of the Trent Canal until the Government is forced to pay some attention to their claims.

This year's deputation should be a large and representative one.

BOYS' WEEK.

The week of May 9-15 is to be given over in Peterborough to Boys' Week, and this event, launched by the Rotary Club but receiving the active assistance of the Kiwanis Club, Y.M.C.A. and many other local organizations, is expected to be an unique and highly successful movement on behalf of the boy life of Peterborough.

The dates should be taken under notice, and so far as possible, it is hoped, that no other public events of major importance will be set for that week in order to give the boy the whole stage.

While the details of the programme are not yet complete, enough has already been arranged to guarantee a week full of interest, commencing with a public father-and-son gathering in the Grand Opera House at which Taylor Statten, foremost boys' work leader in Canada, will be the speaker.

The second day will see a mammoth parade—in the evening—in which it is planned to have as many boys of the city as possible participate, and a huge circus in Brock Street Rink, in charge of the Y.M.C.A. Other features of the week will include a hobby show, a boys' civic day, a boys' industrial day, a field day on Saturday and boys' day in the churches on Sunday.

Nothing of this nature has been attempted on such a scale before, and The Examiner is sure that the community will recognize the possibilities behind the effort and give Boys' Week the benefit of enthusiastic support from all quarters.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

St. Patrick's Day dawned over the glens and hills of a happier Ireland than many generations have known. In the historic halls of College Green, which once rang with the cadences of a Grattan, a Curran and a Flood, there sits once more an Irish Parliament, as free to legislate for Southern Ireland as the Parliament of Canada is free to legislate for this Dominion. In old Trinity, across the way, Trinity that once stood as the bridgehead of Saxon domination, honor is paid to Cosgrave, the erstwhile rebel, and its students sing the "Wearing of the Green," while over in the Vice-Regal lodge sits "Tim" Healy, "Tiger" Tim of the old memorable, passionate days of the '80's. In all that is vital or essential, Ireland is "a Nation Once Again."

But not alone in a Parliament, a flag and an army does Ireland know self-government. Cradled in stress and storm, the Free State has been able in a few short years to show some splendid achievements. The finances of the country have been improved, agriculture aided, taxation equalized and decreased, transportation improved, a great power scheme on the Shannon carried forward vigorously, the liquor traffic curtailed and the national budgets balanced. The old legend of the "incapable Irishmen," surviving the great Wellington, the rapier-tongued Swift, the profound Burke and the mighty O'Connell, bows before the march of the Free State.

And what a change between England and Ireland! Eight years ago Cosgrave, Blythe, O'Higgins and many another were "on the run;" torch and sword and gunman reigned throughout the land. The other day Blythe stood in the Irish Parliament and said that if he could now secure an Irish republic by crooking his little finger he would not make the effort; while in the same debate O'Higgins declared that if trouble came in Europe the troops of the Free State would co-operate with the troops of England "to protect these islands." Thus the fruits of freedom. And thus again the prophetic voice of Grattan: "The Irish Sea prohibits union; the Atlantic thunders against separation."—Ottawa Journal.

WHAT THE RATEPAYE RECEIVES.

The tax rate for the year having been struck, the ratepayer in due course will hand over to the town his share of the funds required to carry on its business. He will pay 41 mills, less than half a cent, upon every dollar of the assessed value of his land and the improvements made thereto, the assessment being usually about 60 per cent. of the actual value of the property. In other words, if his property is valued at $100, he will pay $4.10; if $1,000, $41.00; if $10,000, $410.00, and so on. Does he realize what he receives in return?

First of all, in return for the contribution which he makes to the town's finances, the ratepayer is assured the very best attention that an experienced and competent staff can give to his interests. Through the municipal institutions which have been set up and which have remained in satisfactory operation over a long period of years, he is saved the annoyance and the expense of looking after a good many things that concern his welfare.

If fire occurs upon his property he does not have to fight it himself or to solicit the aid of his neighbors. By communicating the fact to an efficient fire department through an electric telegraph system which he owns, motorized equipment of which he is the part owner, manned by capable fire-fighters to whose support he contributes, will respond instantly at any hour of the day or night. By becoming attached to hydrants and water mains that he owns, this equipment will speedily put out the fire and save him loss.

If surplus water accumulates in the street adjoining his property, the ratepayer does not have to dig a ditch to carry it off. It is not necessary for him to construct a cess-pool to treat his sewage. A sewerage system for which he has paid or is paying attends to that.

The ratepayer does not have to perform road work. That is done for him by the corporation. He has an increasing mileage of paved roadways upon which to drive, granolithic walks almost everywhere upon which to walk, and he is assisted on his way by a street lighting system that is the envy of many towns and cities of much larger size.

When garbage or other refuse accumulates upon his premises, he is not required to dispose of it. The corporation performs that service. Twice a week his garbage is collected under a system towards the maintenance of which he contributes, and once a month his rubbish is removed similarly. It costs him nothing besides what he pays in taxes.

It is not necessary for the ratepayer who is a father or a mother to engage a teacher or teachers to instruct the children, or to furnish accommodation for that instruction. Education for the children is provided free of charge by the corporation in association with the Provincial Government.

A ratepayer does not have to sit up at night watching his belongings. The police department does that for him. If they are molested, he does not have to give chase to the molester or to bring him to justice. The police do that, too, and charge for the service nothing more than the ratepayer contributes in taxes.

No longer is it necessary for the ratepayer to purchase the reading-matter that he requires. By going to a public library, that is daily increasing in efficiency, he may obtain the best and most recent literature without further charge than his taxes.

It costs the ratepayer nothing more than his proportion of the taxes to gain fresh air and recreation in a number of attractive parks that are maintained for his benefit. Weekly during the summer months he and his family may listen to a band concert which costs him only his share (and a very small sum it amounts to) of the $1,500 that the band receives.

The ratepayer does not need to worry about the water that he drinks, the milk that his family consumes or the meat that forms his meals. The quality of each and the maintenance of public health generally are assured by authorities whom his representatives have appointed, and it costs him nothing besides his share of the taxes. There is also a public market at which he may purchase fresh and reliable produce.

If he falls in want, or fellow-citizens fall in want, relief is furnished from the public treasury, free care in hospitals is guaranteed and an allowance is granted needy mothers.

All of these services and many more services which it is not possible to enumerate, the ratepayer receives in return for the 41 mills (less than half a cent) upon the dollar of his assessment that he contributes to the municipal exchequer. Is it not true that he receives full value for his outlay? What would it cost him if he had to undertake all of these services himself?—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is to be imagined that were Miss Agnes MacPhail in Shanghai today she would have a rather different view of the situation.

The present session of the Ontario Legislature is expected to be finished before April 1st. Will that give Mr. Raney enough time to discuss the Liquor Control Act?

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition has a warm welcome ready for new members. Now is the proper time to line up behind this fast-growing organization.

Better leave that snow-shovel where you can easily locate it. Old King Winter may have a kick or two left.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., March 22 (Canadian Press)—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday was again very quiet, there being practically no demand from any source.

The domestic trade in cash grain was also slow, but the tone of the market was steady and prices were unchanged.

The local and export demand for spring wheat flour was of a limited character, but prices ruled steady. The winter wheat situation was also quiet, but the feeling was firm.

The millfeed market was again active and firm. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and prices were unchanged.

A fairly active business was done in eggs and pprices ruled steady. The receipts were 1,374 cases.

The market for potatoes was without any new feature to note, prices being about steady under fair demand. Sales of odd cars of Quebec stock were made at $1.10 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track.

Prices for all grades of butter were well maintained under a continued good demand for small lots to meet immediate requirements. The receipts were 380 packages.

The trade in cheese continued quiet in all directions and prices were unchanged. The receipts were 106 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 22 (Canadian Press)—Grain markets rallied at the last yesterday after wheat and corn had touched new low price records for the season. Reports were current that United States winter wheat was underselling wheat from Argentina and that for at least the time being the Canadian growers pool had ceased to offer wheat abroad.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to 1-4c higher, corn unchanged to 3-8c up, oats unchanged to 3-4c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

A slightly better shipping demand helped to rally the corn market. Besides, the corn visible supply increased only 16,000 bushels and a further falling off in the movement is expected. No pressure to sell was apparent in the oats trade.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

GRAVEL ON THE ROAD.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

There has been an absence in your columns during the past few days of attacks on City Officials re the condition of streets. Mother Nature has nearly completed her work and city conditions have improved wonderfully, but having taken a drive into the country with a friend, I was observant of conditions there. I found not ten miles from Peterborough where gravel had evidently been drawn by somebody onto the road with sleighs and left unspread. How are we to encourage American tourists of whom Premier Ferguson hopes to collect 5c gasoline tax? By another year if such conditions are permitted, a caterpillar tractor would be the only animal fit to travel such roads and they would have to be handled by a careful driver. The Chamber of Commerce would do well to call a meeting to decide the color of lights to be erected at night. Municipalities would be well advised to carry plenty of insurance to cover accidents as American tourists have valuable cars and once they saw these roads, they would everafter try Haliburton County. Thanking you,

A TRAVELLER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear sir:

Is their a by-law in the township compelling people to tie up their dogs?

It is utterly impossible for a nervous person to sleep at night, in fact they can't until the dogs themselves get tired of barking and then it is around 3 o'clock a.m.

Thanking you, I am,

Yours truly,

A NERVOUS WRECK.

"WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN THE LEGION."

A Plea For Membership.

I hope this will meet the eye of every man who is eligible to become a member of the above, more especially those who served in the Great War, not forgetting the Nursing Sisters and ex-members of the W.A.A.C., and make a band of comrades as during the war.

One does not want to join the Legion for what he can get out of it, as, remember, it is a non-selfish organization; instead of mistrust and jealousy, let us have genuine trust and confidence in one another.

Thousands of our comrades and their dependents are in need in various ways throughout Canada, and need backing up to get their rights that they have just earned, and the Legion is out to do that work, and to ensure each case being treated justly and generously, so be one of us and help those who perhaps stood shoulder to shoulder with you in these dark and evil days, which at times seemed like a nightmare. Join for the help you can give your comrade and hope that it will never be your turn to have to appeal to the Legion. For that reason you should be willing to join and be proud to wear the badge because it marks you as one who is out to do what you can for your less fortunate comrade.

A Genuine Comradeship.

"Thank goodness the atmosphere of our meetings is such that every man cannot help feeling he is sharing a genuine comradeship. We forget creed and denomination and get on common ground and that is the spirit. We should be out to drive home on a natural broad-minded principle." But this does not mean to be broad-minded only for the sake of popularity. Difference of opinion should not separate us, and it should not separate anyone, for the man who is broad-minded can be of mighty service to his fellow-men, and usually can see far ahead, and as a rule he is out to make things cheerful by introducing sunshine into other lives. Give me an optimist, a man of enthusiasm and energy and a grip of vision. Therefore let us put some pep into the work and make this No. 52 a banner branch of the Legion, and do not be backward in coming forward and once again be 'Comrades' all';

Yours truly,

James Abraham.

IS THERE DANGER IN REDUCING?

So many medical "experts" have been getting their names into print recently by criticizing women who reduce their weight through dieting.

Many women will be frightened by the statements which have been printed over the signatures of these "authorities," most of whom have never put a patient on a diet in their lives.

Here is a sample of such advice: "Any system which calls for the repeated reduction of weight is a mistake for it so weakens the individual, so impairs her vitality and lowers her resistance that she renders herself susceptible to consumption and other diseases. They cut down in the amount of food they are in the habit of eating to one-half or one-third of the original amount. This is a grave mistake."

Let me assure this learned Doctor that it is a grave mistake if over-fed women do not cut their food down to one-half of what they have been using and if they do this, they will stay away from the grave that much longer than the ordinary person who eats the full amount of what is desired.

Many women have been injured by taking thyroid extract with or without the advice of a physician, but I, personally, do not know of any fat women who have been injured by any form of diet, even though many of them reduce on diets which I do not think are the best for that purpose.

The layman is, daily, learning more and more about food values and there is very little danger that anyone will hurt themselves by following the advice given by doctors or health authorities who have made a study of the science of dietetics.

The theories about diet are as varied as those about religion, but still there is not much chance of anyone being any more injured by following a certain diet than there is from their following any particular kind of religion. As soon as they show a willingness to diet, it shows they have an inquiring mind which can learn the effects of scientific dietetics in a profitable way.

I want to invite my readers to send me their experiences with diet to reduce weight. You will surprise me if you send me any bad experiences, but I honestly want you to write me the truth about your experiences with weight-reducing dieting, whether it has been good or bad.

My millions of readers are entitled to know these facts which I will report back to you through the columns of this paper.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

THE BIGGEST CITIES

By Dr. Frank Crane.

Once more we have to revise our list as to the greatest cities of the United States. New York is still ahead, but the subsequent list has been somewhat changed. The press gives the eight largest cities of the United States as stated below with their gain in per cent of population. They are as follows:

	1927 Population	Gain
New York	6,322,554	1.25
Chicago	3,151,989	16.7
Philadelphia	2,051,751	12.5
Detroit	1,430,896	44.0
Los Angeles	1,268,680	120.0
Cleveland	996,051	25.0
Boston	860,269	15.0
St. Louis	834,729	8.0

It will be seen from this that the star of the empire is still taking its course westward. The most remarkable rise given in population has been that of Los Angeles. Detroit has also come to the front.

Some of us can remember when there was a lively competition between St. Louis and Chicago, but Chicago has now far outstripped its Southern rival in growth.

The growth of large cities seems to be like a snow ball, the larger they get the faster they grow.

It is not to be wondered at that Los Angeles has so increased in population as the weather there is favorable to work all the year round and the city seems to be up to the present time comparatively free from earthquakes.

Southern California is growing very rapidly, not only due to its equable climate, but to the fact that it is favorable to all kinds of work.

The handicap of being far removed from the main portion of the United States is offset by the favorable conditions of the weather.

It will be noted from the above list that Los Angeles has passed Boston, Cleveland, St. Louis and Pittsburg in the last six years. At this rate of growth it will pass Detroit in the next five years and be the fourth city in the nation.

Los Angeles is not made up of European immigrants, but mostly of mid-west stock, and is probably the most typical American city in the Union. Its growth is sturdy and promising.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S BENT PIN

It was the day after the other day just before the morning that comes ahead of noon, when Uncle Wiggily was once more hopping along with Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman, that something else happened.

No, the bunny didn't hear a rustling in the bushes and none of the Bad Chaps jumped out at him. It isn't time for that yet. Please wait and I'll tell you just what happened.

"Well, have you found any more bunches of tangled string?" bleated Uncle Butter with a laugh as he went over to a billboard on which was a picture advertisement of a new radio and began to nibble some of the loose paper.

"No, I haven't found any string. But what in the world are you nibbling that billposter paper for, Uncle Butter?" asked the rabbit.

"Oh, I'm sort of listening in!" chuckled Uncle Butter. "You know they stick this paper on with paste. Paste is made of flour and water just like a pudding. I eat the paper and I get the paste."

"I often wondered why your goats ate paper off billboards," said Mr. Longears, "but now I know."

"Have a bit," offered Uncle Butter, nibbling daintily at a corner of a loose sheet.

"No, thank you," said Uncle Wiggily. "I prefer carrots." And then he went on: "Speaking of string, here's a pin," and he stooped and picked one up off the ground.

"Why it's a bent pin!" objected Uncle Butter coming away from the advertising billboard. "It's bent crooked."

"It can easily be straightened," said Mr. Longears.

The rabbit stuck the bent pin on the edge of his coat, and then hopped on to catch up to Uncle Butter who, feeling quite frisky after his lunch of pasted paper, was some distance ahead.

"Where are you going, Wig?" bleated the goat as the rabbit was once more walking beside him.

"Well, I thought we might stop at the Hollow Stump School and ask the Lady Mouse Teacher to let us hear the children sing," said the bunny. "You spoke of listening in and you ate part of a radio set, so how about a bit of broadcasting?"

"Fine!" bleated the goat, and soon they were at the Hollow Stump School, being welcomed by the Lady Mouse Teacher who invited them in.

"Of course I'll have the children sing for you," she said.

Uncle Butter and Uncle Wiggily sat on the platform, and while the children were taking their places in the front seats Baby Bunty slipped slyly up to Uncle Wiggily and whispered:

"Have you a pin?"

"Only a bent one," answered the rabbit gentleman taking it from his coat edge. "Will that do?"

"Just fine!" whispered Bunty! "I'd have to bend it anyhow, for what I want, but if it's bent already so much the better."

Uncle Wiggily gave the little orphan rabbit girl the bent pin he had picked up. He thought perhaps her stocking was coming down and needed fastening. But he did not pay much attention to Bunty after that, for the Lady Mouse teacher had arranged all the children in their seats, and now she said:

"Sing for Uncle Wiggily! Sing for Uncle Butter!"

But before a single sweet note could be sounded, all of a sudden Floppy Twistytail, the fat, piggie boy, leaped from his seat howling:

"Oh, I sat on a pin! I sat on a bent pin! Oh, yowzie wow!"

"Whose bent pin is this?" sternly squeaked the Lady Mouse teacher as she took it from Floppy's seat.

"It's Uncle Wiggily's!" quickly answered Baby Bunty. "He gave it to me!"

"Oh, Bunty!" shrieked the Lady Mouse. "What a little tyke you are! Did you give her this pin, Uncle Wiggily?" she asked.

"Yes," said the rabbit gentleman, sort of confused like, while Uncle Butter laughed. "I found a bent pin. My goat friend here said it was of no use. But I thought Bunty could use it, and—"

"I did!" said the cut-up little orphan rabbit. "I put it on the pig boy's seat but I didn't think it would hurt Floppy much when he sat on it—he's so fat!"

Well, of course it was a wrong thing to do, and Bunty had to be sent out of the room and punished. After that the singing went on. But Uncle Wiggily said after this he would be more careful to whom he gave bent pins.

"You'd better!" laughed Uncle Butter.

And if the lemon squeezer will put a strawberry in the gasolene that the auto drinks, to make it look like ice cream, I'll tell you soon about Uncle Wiggily's paper basket.

Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

MARION DAVIES IN "THE RED MILL" AND McNABB'S ANNUAL SPRING FASHION SHOW

There was a splendid attendance at the Capitol Theatre last evening for a very excellent programme, which included a presentation of Marion Davies in "The Red Mill" and the annual Spring Fashion Show of the J. A. McNabb company, Limited, which proved to be as interesting as usual. These annual presentations of the fashions of the moment appear to be exceptionally entertaining, to men and women alike, and a pretty setting for the exhibition was afforded by furniture from the Comstock establishment, while the furs worn were from Wm. Lech and Sons, the hats from Mrs. J. Wilson's millinery parlors and the coiffures were done by Madame Merriam, who superintended also the effective make-up of the models. The pretty bags and the swagger sticks used were from Warne's Diamond Hall. The mannequins, all members of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., were the Misses Mildred Morphet, Clara Sollitt, Maida Conner, Florence Adams, Daisy Davidson, Jennie Frederick, Violet Davidson and Edna Conner.

During the progress of the Fashion Show, Miss Mathilde Masson sang, in very sweet voice, three pretty songs: "The Only One," "Funicula, funiculi," and "Dear Heart."

The feature picture, "The Red Mill," is a light, entertaining affair, with an atmosphere of opera bouffe in its gay unfolding. Set in Holland, the heroine is a small lady who acts as maid of all work at the Inn of the ferocious Willem, enacted by George Siegman, and she is a notable example of the saying that "fine feathers make fine birds." As the little slavey, the lovely Marion Davie hides the light of her beauty under a bushel, to emerge radiantly later in the borrowed finery of the Burgomaster's daughter. Tina, the role enacted by Miss Davies, has for a lover Owen Moore, cast for the occasion as an Irishman, Dennis Wheat, travelling in Dutchland with his small valet, Caesar Rinkle, played by the impish looking Snitz Edwards.

Tina meets and adores Dennis when he is acting as a judge at a skating carnival, and later ensnares his fancy when masquerading in the clothes of the Burgomaster's daughter, Gretchen, who is immured by her stern father until the day of her marriage with the elderly Govenor. Gretchen, however, assisted by Tina, escapes to the garden to meet her ugly swain, Captain Jacop von Koop, and there is an exciting time had by all in the adventures of the lovers. The atmosphere of comic opera pervades the scenes in which Tina helps Gretchen to escape from an unwelcome marriage, and a great deal of comedy in the final adventures of Tina and Dennis in the haunted mill, with its ghostly occupants, its bats and its dark interior lit for the time by lightning flashes.

It is an entertaining and humorous picture, well staged and well enacted, with plenty of romance and fun in its unwinding.

McNabb's Fashion Show, about three-quarters of an hour in length, gave an interesting exhibition of the latest ideas in suits, coats and dresses for spring wear, the display of frocks ending with a gorgeous collection of exquisite evening gowns.

Short skirts for morning and afternoon wear, with slightly longer levels on the evening frocks, pastel-tinted fabrics for formal occasions and black and navy taffetas, alternating with cool shades of green and grey, for afternoon gowns, long, tight sleeves or loose "picture" sleeves with tiny wrist cuffs, uneven hem lines and a slightly higher waistline, are all points of the mode, as noted in this Fashion display. To appear slim and yet achieve a fullness in the draperies of the skirt seems to be the ideal of the moment, when basque-like bodices and tight sleeves have their culmination in soft, flowing skirts of short length.

Lovely fox scarfs in black and brown and brightly-colored small, close-fitting hats were worn with several afternoon gowns of dark taffetas, while flat crepes and charmeens and Poiret twills were in the two-piece costumes, the straight-line gowns worn with long coats showing fur edging of the collars, sometimes extending to the hem line in front, and made in plain back effect or with narrow belts. Composee frocks in two-tone effects were noticeable, one model with a jabot effect at the neckline being developed in two shades of the new Athenia rose beige, or rosy tan.

A Chinese red crepe frock had a long top of the bright color over a short skirt done in tiered effect. Black motifs appeared on the upper portion, while the tiers on the skirt were edged with the flaming red. Another lovely outfit was in the new cool shade of soft palmetto green, and still another striking affair was developed in black and white, with a frock whose top of white georgette was superimposed on a short skirt of black, worn with a long coat of soft gleaming black satin, with collar and cuffs of white fur. White stockings, black pumps and a small hat of black and white with black swagger stick, completed this stunning outfit.

The mannequins appeared finally in French evening frocks of beautiful design, in pale shades of rose, orchid, black and blue, with one particularly lovely thing in pure white, developed almost entirely in cut crystals that shaded from white to soft green. A petal-like effect was achieved in the skirt by the lavish use of the sequins. The majority of the evening gowns showed a great deal of glittering bead and sequin trimming.

Housework often causes over-strain

"PAIN WAS LIKE A KNIFE STAB"

Once helpless from lame back, now does all her own work

Made practically helpless by a strained back, an active young housewife tried everything she could think of, and at last found quick and complete relief from a simple, old-fashioned remedy.

"The pain in my back was like a knife stab," she writes, "and it left me helpless. Sloan's Liniment was given to me to ease the pain, and I am now able to do all my own work."

Sloan's gets results because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It stirs up the body's own forces to get rid of the cause.

Just pat it on lightly without rubbing, and at once you feel a warm, comforting glow, as the healing blood is sent coursing through the sick tissues—stiff, contracted muscles relax, the pain stops, and soon normal conditions are restored.

SIDNEY SAYS PAWN SHOPS WILL VANISH.

"How times have changed," remarked George Sidney with a reminiscent shake of the head at Alfred E. Green, director during an interim in production of "The Auctioneer," Fox Films' version of the celebrated stage success now playing at the Regent Theatre. Sidney appears in the title role. Marion Nixon and Gareth Hughes have the leading parts.

"It has been only two years since I first stepped before a battery of Kleigs and arc lights, but previous to that time I had spent 28 years on the spoken stage. Speaking, then, with the authority of an 'ole' timer I repeat that times have changed.

"A moment later, Al, you asked about a little detail in connection with the arrangement of the stock in the pawn shop set. What was the result Only this: You discovered that neither the assistants nor the property man nor the electricians nor the carpenters knew a thing about a pawn shop.

"They're fortunate, but in their prosperity I contend they are missing some great experiences. Now, in the old days, all first rate actors knew all about a pawn shop. It was not an infrequent thing for a good actor, temporarily out of a role, and lacking a roll, to visit one of these hock shops with his extra shirt and dancing slippers. Those times have passed, and good old times they were too. It seems the pawn shop will soon be passe."

Was Nearly Crazy With Boils All Over His Body

Mr. S. L. Burke, Barronsfield, N.S., writes:—"For some time I was nearly crazy with boils all over my body. I tried everything I could think of to get rid of them, but to no avail, for as soon as one was healed up another would appear to take its place. I was advised to take and after I had used two bottles the boils had all disappeared and I have not been troubled with them since."

BRITISH DRIVER IS OPTIMISTIC

Attained Speed of 100 Miles An Hour In Trial.

TO SET RECORD.

DAYTONA BEACH, Flo., March 22.—(Canadian Press.)— Major Seagrave, British racing driver, who hopes to pilot a twin twleve cylinder "Mystery S" at two hundred miles an hour speed over the ocean straightway, attained a speed of only a hundred miles an hour in his first test spin yesterday, but his hopes are high. Tiny ridges in the beach, caused by the waves broken by the westerly winds, proved troublesome in the first test.

"I am here to do the job, however long it takes," Major Seagrave said. "While I am at it I sha" set new records also for two and five mile distances, two and five kilometres."

LEGION SUBMITS PROPOSALS FOR RULE CHANGES

Amendments With Regard To Pensions and Insurance Asked By Veterans.

SENT TO CABINET.

Approval Expected To Bring Relief To Many Returned Soldiers.

The following are the proposals that were submitted to the government last week by the executive of the Canadian Legion. These proposals were passed at the National Convention of the Canadian Legion held in January. They propose amendments to the act in regards to treatment, pensions and insurance of the returned soldiers. The Government accepted these and will put them before the committee in the house. It is expected that they will be approved as they will bring great relief to many of the returned men.

The resolutions were reported to the local Branch on Monday night by Rev. Capt. Paul Costello, the Peterborough delegate.

Pensions.

1. That section 2, sub-section (a) of The Pension Act be amended to provide that "appearance of the injury or disease" shall include the reappearance or recurrence of an injury or disease which had been improved sufficiently to permit the member of the forces to serve in a theatre of actual war, or has been so improved as to have removed the resultant disability.

This reintroduces the original interpretation in the Act of the definition of the words "appearance of the disability," combining it with the amendment of 1920.

2. That section 2, sub-section (b) be extended to provide that any member of the forces who has made application for treatment, or on whose behalf application for treatment has been made, or any member of the forces whose military medical documentation bears the entry of an injury or disease, or who has been granted vocational training because of service disability, shall be deemed to be an "applicant."

This recommendation is to provide that any history of a medical nature either during service or during post discharge period, shall constitute an application for pension.

3. That clauses (b) and (c) of section 3, sub-section (8) be replaced by clauses providing for (1) The medical classification of the injury or disease causing the disability in respect of which the application has been made. (2) The medical classification of the injury or disease in respect of which the application is allowed or disallowed as the case may be. (3) If the application is allowed or disallowed, whether the injury or disease resulting in disability was or was not attributed to, or was or was not incurred during military service, or pre-existed enlistement and was or was not aggravated during service. (4) In event of the Commission not being unanimous, the grounds on which a Commissioner disagrees with the decision reached.

This proposal would supply more complete information to the applicant from the Board of Pension Commissioners as to the grounds upon which a decision was given and brings it in line with the information supplied following judgments of the Federal Appeal Board.

4. That section 11, sub-section (1) (a) be replaced by a new sub-section providing for the ward of pensions to or in respect of members of the forces who have suffered disability, in accordance with the rates set out in Schedule "A" of The Pension Act, when the injury or disease or aggravation thereof resulting in disability in respect of which the application for pension is made was attributed to or was incurred during such military service.

Providing also for the award of pension to or in respect of members of the forces who have died, in accordance with the rates set out in Schedule "B" of The Pension Act, when the injury or disease resulting in death in respect of which application for pension is made was attributable to or was incurred or aggravated during such military service.

This proposal is intended to reintroduce the provisions of the original act of 1919, so as to provide for payment of pension to dependents (if otherwise eligible) in all cases where death is the result of an injury or disease aggravated by or during service. This submission is based on the fact that, under the present practice, a man may be in receipt of pension for aggravation during his lifetime, together with the stipulated allowance for his wife and children; but, upon his death from the pensionable disability, pension to the widow and children is refused unless it can be shown that death was the result of service aggravation, as distinguished from the entire condition. It is submitted that any service aggravation must necessarily shorten expectancy of life.

5. That in event of acceptance of proposal No. 4, that section 11, subsection (1) (c) be amended to make it consistent therewith.

6. That a paragraph be added to section 11, subsection (1) to provide for a final payment not exceeding $25.00 when aggravation of an injury or disease is admitted to have occurred during service, but such aggravation is assessed as negligible.

It is submitted that it is medically impossible to determine the assessment of the aggravation of an injury or disease at less than one per cent.

7. That section 11 of Chapter 62 of the statutes of 1923, as amended by section 15 of Chapter 49 of the statutes of 1925 be further amended by an additional subsection to provide for a final payment not exceeding $25.00 when aggravation of an injury or disease is adjudged to have occurred during service, but such aggravation is subsequently assessed as negligible.

The explanation of proposal No. 6 also applies to this proposal.

8. That Headquarters Service Bureau of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League shall be notified and given a reasonable opportunity to report prior to suspension of pension for failure by the pensioner to submit the statutory declaration required by section 11, subsection (3) of The Pension Act.

The failure of a pensioner to furnish a statutory declaration is often matter beyond his control and the Legion offers an independent means of approach to the pensioner in the correction of the situation.

9. That section 12, subsection (c) be amended so as to provide that, where entitlement to pension has been admitted in the case of venereal disease contracted prior to enlistment and aggravated during service, pension shall be continued in accordance with the degree of disability present from time to time.

The present practice is to award pension for the entire degree of disability present upon date of discharge, which rate remains stationary. The present proposal will not reveal any new applicants but is intended to give compensation to a man whose health is admitted to have deteriorated by reason of active service conditions.

10. That the existing time limits respect to application for pension, as required by section 13 of the Pension Act, shall be abolished.

Pensions are a matter of right and should not be arbitrarily restricted as to the time in which application may be made. This proposal could be effected by the deletion of section 13 from The Pension Act.

11. That section 21, subsection (4) be deleted and a new subsection substituted to provide (1) That any unpaid balance of pension due to a deceased pensioner shall be deemed to form part of his estate, when the pensioner leaves a will. (2) In the event of the deceased leaving no will, the Commission shall pay such balance to his widow or dependents or to any other person who has been maintained by him, or who has maintained him, to the amount expended on maintenance, or may apply it, or a portion of it in payment of the expenses of his last sickness or burial; provided only that first application for a pension shall not be lodged after his death, except on behalf of a dependent relative.

Frequently it happens that the right to pension is not conceded until just prior to the death of the pensioner and, consequently, the man has been denied the use of the money to which he was rightfully entitled. It is proposed that, where he has indicated his wishes as to the disposal of the amounts due to him, the same should be fully recognized. In cases where he has left no indication as to what he desires done, then the discretionary powers of the Pension Board be extended so that his immediate dependents, as well as those who have been maintained by him or have maintained him, may receive the reasonable benefit which may be due to them.

12. That section 23, subsection (1) be amended to extend the benefit of exception when such child and those responsible for its maintenance are without adequate resources.

It is felt that the present statute does not allow sufficient scope for the application of the discretionary powers of the Commission, as was intended, and the proposal is designed to remedy this.

13. That section 23, subsection (1) (a) be amended by the deletion of the provision that no pension shall be awarded unless such infirmity occurred before the child attained the age of twenty-one years.

The purpose of this amendment is to remove the arbitrary restriction which curtails the discretionary powers of the Commissioners. For instance, it is but natural that a boy in his twenties would, if incapacitated, return to his home, thereby creating a drain on the pensioner's resources.

14. That section 23, subsection (1) (b) be amended so as to provide continuance of pension to or in respect of an unmarried child following any recognized course of instruction until the completion thereof or until the child has attained the age of twenty-one years, whichever is the earlier, upon production of:

(1) A certificate from the Department of Education of the Province concerned, that continuance of the education is considered to be in the interests of the child.

(2) A certificate from a duly qualified Minister of any recognized church as to the character of the child.

The maximum cost to the country (viz. the eldest pensionable child whose father is deceased or totally disabled) is limited to one hundred and eighty dollars per annum, and it is submitted that this outlay, to ensure that the child receives another year of education is well justified, is an excellent investment for the Dominion, and should be granted in every case where the child or those responsible for its maintenance show sufficient interest to make application.

15. That section 23, sub-section (5) be amended by the deletion of the time limitation.

Whereas this sub-section is intended to provide for the children of a deceased pensioner who was disabled to such a degree that he was himself unable to make provision for their maintenance after his death, this proposes to eliminate the stipulation that his death must occur within a specified period of time to give effect to the benefit.

16. That a new sub-section be added to section 23 to the effect that, on the death of a widow of a member of the forces, the pension for a widow may, in the discretion of the Commission, be continued for so long as there is a minor child of pensionable age, to a daughter or other person competent to assume, and who does assume, the household duties and care of the child.

This proposal would allow the upkeep of a widow's home after her death in a manner similar to that provided by the amendments of 1922 in the case of the death of the wife of a pensioner.

17. That section 25, sub-section (3) be amended to give legislative effect to the present existing regulations, with regard to the irreducible minimum pension for pensioners suffering with pulmonary tuberculosis and that this amendment allow for payment of minimum pension when the disease has been demonstrated as "moderately advanced" or as "clinically active."

That all cases coming within the scope of these recommendations shall be forthwith reviewed and adjusted by the Board of Pension Commissioners.

18. That section 26, sub-section (2) be amended to provided that refusal or neglect to report for examination by a pensioner suffering from a mental disability shall not necessarily be deemed to be unreasonable.

18. That section 26, sub-section (3) be amended to provide that all members of the forces who have accepted final payment in lieu of pension shall upon complaint, be re-examined and, if a disability remains, shall be restored to pension as from the date of commutation; and that there shall be deducted from the arrears of pension so created, and from future payments of pension, the amount of the said final payment; provided that the deduction from future payments of pension shall not exceed 50 per cent. of the pension payable.

The present statute does not permit further award to a pensioner who has commuted with a disability of less than 15 per cent., even though the disability persists in that degree for 50 years. In a number of instances, the pensioner received even less than the maximum amount of commutation payment, because it was estimated that the disability would disappear in one or two years. This proposal is designed to remedy the entire situation by nullifying the final award where the disability is still present.

20. That section 27, sub-section (1) be amended to provide that a pensioner, totally disabled, whether entitled to a pension of class one or a lower class and not in hospital, and shown to be in need of attendance, shall be entitled to an addition to his pension, subject to review from time to time, of an amount in the discretion of the Commission of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars per annum and not exceeding seven hundred and fifty dollars per annum.

21. That section 27 be amended by the addition of a new sub-section to provide that a pensioner requiring special diet shall be granted an allowance not exceeding one hundred and eighty dollars per annum.

This would apply to a pensioner medically advised to diet by reason of, say, the existence of a duodenal ulcer.

22. That section 28, sub-section (b) be elected and provision made for payment of pension in accordance with the extent of the disability shown to have existed during the post-discharge period.

The present statute restricts retroactive adjustment of pension unless it is proved that the examining board at the time of the soldier's discharge from the army, finding him medically fit, was in error. This proposal would enable the Pension Commissioners to award pension from a date upon which the presence of the disability is definitely shown by evidence. The proposal, if accepted, should, of course, be given retroactive effect.

23. That section 29, sub-sections (1) and (2) be amended to provide that refusal of treatment by a pensioner suffering with a mental or neurological condition shall not necessarily be deemed to be unreasonable.

24. That section 32 be amended by the deletion of the words "one hundred dollars," and the substitution of the words "one hundred and fifty dollars."

This would increase the maximum expenditure by the Commission in payment of the expenses of the last sickness and burial of a deceased pensioner, whose estate was insufficient for the purpose.

25. That section 33, sub-section (1) be amended as follows: After the words "resulted in his death" add "or before the first day of September, nineteen hundred and twenty one," (the official date of the Declaration of Peace.)

While the necessity of protecting the country from imposition by fraudulent or death bed marriages is fully recognized, the great majority of the widows affected appear to fail in the following classes.

(a) The case where subsequent developments show that the disease must have existed at the time of marriage although its presence was not recognized.

(b) The case where marriage took place after the first appearance of the injury or disease, but at a time when the disease had so subsided that there was no reasonable expectation of death; but the man subsequently died of a recurrence.

(c) The case case where there was a bona fide engagement to marry before the appearance of any injury or disease. It is obvious that social criticism would be levelled at a person defaulting in such engagement.

The prospect's of a widow's pension can hardly have been, in any case, an inducement to marry, as the act has never contained such a provision.

An amendment to cover certain post-discharge marriages has been successively passed by the House of Commons as follows:-

Bill 192, Clause 5, June 23rd, 1922.
Bill 205, Clause 15, June 13th, 1923.
Bill 255, Clause 9, (b), (i), July 16th, 1924.
Bill 70, Clause 8, (b), (i), May 5th, 1925.

But in each case was rejected by the Senate.

Further, that the recommendation of the Ralston Commission, as shown on page 31 of the second interim report on second part of investigation dated May, 1924, shall be given effect in regard to all marriages contracted on and after the first day of September, nineteen hundred and twenty-one; that pension shall not be paid if marriage was contracted at a time when symptoms existed from which a reasonably prudent man, making reasonable enquiries, would have known of the existence and the potential seriousness of the injury or disease which ultimately resulted in death, provided, however, that it shall be conclusively presumed that such symptoms did not exist if, at the time of the marriage, an injury or disease previously known was so improved as to have removed any resultant pensionable disability.

26. That section 33, sub-section (2) be amended by the deletion of the time limitation.

Whereas this subsection is intended to provide for the widow of a deceased pensioner who was disabled to such a degree that he was, himself, unable to make provision for her maintenance after his death, this proposes to eliminate the stipulation that his death must occur within a specified period of time to give effect to the benefit.

27. That section 33 be amended to provide entitlement to pension of a widow of a member of the forces who, previous to her marriage, was living with him under conditions which brought her within the purview of section 33, subsection (3); and to give her the pensionable status of a legal wife as at the date of the man's enlistment.

A woman who, although not married to the member of the forces, was living with him in Canada at the time of his enlistment and for a reasonable time previously thereto, and who was publicly represented by him as his wife, under the present Act can be paid pension in event of the man's death.

Should such a woman correct the social error by contracting marriage with the member of the forces, she is subject to the penalty, upon his death, of losing her right to pension.

28. That in the matter of an application under section 34, subsection (3) by a parent or person in the place of a parent, there shall be a conclusive presumption that the deceased member of the forces would have contributed wholly or to a substantial extent towards the maintenance of such parent or person had he not died.

29. That section 34, subsection (6) be amended to provide that no deduction shall be made from the pension of a parent in respect of contributions by an unmarried child in case of bona fide unemployment of the child, or where the child is continuing a course of instruction.

The present statute requires that certain unmarried children residing with a parent shall be deemed to be contributing not less than ten dollars per month towards the maintenance of the parent. This proposal is designed to exclude children in the circumstances mentioned therein. The inability of a pensioner by reason of circumstances beyond his control to continue his contribution towards the maintenance of his parents already has been somewhat similarly recognized. (See amendment of 1925 to section 31 (3)).

30. That section 34, subsection (7) be amended by the deletion of the words "in Canada" and the substitution of the words "within the British Empire."

Helping to make an even Greater Canada for Canadians

FOR sixty years General Motors of Canada, Limited, and its founders, have been important factors in Canadian prosperity. Particularly during the last three years they have contributed outstandingly to Canada's progress.

Over this span of years, to meet an always-increasing demand founded upon the sheer merit of its cars, General Motors has continued to develop its facilities. Its factories have grown from the original shop pictured above and valued at five hundred dollars, to the present mammoth plant upon which, in 1926 alone, $800,000 was expended for additions.

And this progress has brought with it constantly-expanding benefits for Canada and Canadians. . . .

Great increase in exports, helping to build up a more favorable balance of trade!

Greater volume purchases from Canadian producers, assisting the greater development of Canada's resources and Canada's diversified industries!

Greater employment of Canadian craftsmen, greater sums distributed in wages, greater prosperity and happiness among Canadian workers.

Beneficial alike to producer, consumer and the Dominion whose progress they mutually desire, this growth bears witness to the merit of General Motors Cars. It rewards a sincere desire and firm determination to give the Canadian public the finest automobile values in the world.

DEMBNER INQUEST CONCLUDES; DR. WITHROW PUT UNDER ARREST

Verdict Says Victim's Fiance Accessory Before and After Offence.

$20,000 BAIL.

Coroner's Jury Finds Girl Died as Result of Illegal Operation.

TORONTO, March 22. — A surprise was sprung at the conclusion of the Dembner inquest at the City Morgue last night, when Dr. Oswald Charles Joseph Withrow, Bloor St. West, was taken into custody charged with manslaughter. The arrest was made by Chief Inspector John Miller of the Provincial Police, as the result of the verdict brought in by the coroner's jury investigating the death of Ruth Dembner, who died at the National Sanitarium at Gravenhurst on Feb. 19.

The jury found that Miss Dembner died as the result of an operation or operations illegally performed by Dr. Withrow for the purpose of procuring an abortion. The verdict also said that B. J. Brooks was fully aware of her condition, and was an accessory before and after the operation.

Dr. Withrow was taken to No. 1 Police Station on Court Street. Crown Attorney Major Eric Armour set bail at $20,000. It was intimated that at least one other charge would be laid against Dr. Withrow.

'Mid a silence that could be felt in the crowded inquest room, the jury returned with their verdict after having been out for one hour and five minutes. A death like stillness pervaded the place as Chief Coroner Dr. M. M. Crawford recorded the findings of the jury on the form provided for that purpose. So quiet was it that the noise made by the coroner's pen on the paper as he wrote could be heard in all parts of the room.

This procedure over, he read the document.

The sitting of the inquest began at 2.30 yesterday afternoon, adjourned from 6.30 to 8.30, the jury retired at 9.20 and returned at 10.25. It was all over by 10.30.

The inquest was one of the longest ever held here. Prior to yesterday there were three sittings, and morning and evening sessions were held yesterday.

The principal witnesses yesterday were Bart Brooks, who was on the stand for almost three hours and Dr. O. C. J. Withrow. The former, who was given a gruelling examination by Crown Attorney Major Eric Armour, detailed his relations with the late Miss Ruth Dembner, since he first met her in the spring of 1925. At one point Coroner Crawford commanded the witness to cease giving vague answers and tell the whole truth. He further intimated that if definite facts were not forthcoming at once he would give the witness over to an officer for a few hours to see if such a procedure might not prove an aid to memory.

Dr. Withrow's Testimony.

Dr. Withrow described in detail the examinations he had made on Miss Dembner and also the operation he had performed on her at the Strathcona Hospital. He termed the whole procedure harmless and innocent. At the evening sitting Dr. Deadman, pathologist of Hamilton, made a report of an examination he had made on certain organs of the deceased.

Dr. Withrow stated that Miss Dembner was not pregnant when he examined her, but Dr. Deadman deposed that the uterus he had examined indicated pregnancy of five weeks' duration.

The proceedings yesterday were not without their dramatic incidents. The first came just as Brooks concluded his evidence near the time for adjournment in the afternoon, and the second just before the jury retired at night. Both times it was Mrs. Dembner, mother of the unfortunate girl whose death was being investigated, who interrupted.

A Dramatic Incident.

"Gentlemen, may I say something?" she pleaded in the afternoon, rising from her seat near the front of the section provided for spectators. Her request was refused by the coroner. As she sat down, Brooks, on the stand, said:

"I believe firmly she thought that we were married morally."

At the evening session Mrs. Dembner arose and again pleaded:

"Mr. Coroner, could I say one word——?"

Again Coroner Crawford refused.

"No; you just sit down," he said. "I have had enough of your nonsense. You asked to be let in, now keep quiet."

That a great deal of interest had been created due to the nature of the case and the wide publicity given it was manifest yesterday. The section of the room where the inquest took place reserved for the public was filled to overflowing with spectators eager to hear all the details in connection with the story of the late Ruth Dembner as related by the witnesses. Those who could not find seats stood around the walls.

It was downstairs on the ground floor, however, that the big crowd was. An officer stood on duty there at the foot of the stairs to keep all who were not on business from going up to the inquest. Of course enough spectators to fill the seats were allowed to pass. Shortly after 12 o'clock noon the crowd, principally composed of women, began to arrive, and when the afternoon sitting was over and many of the spectators left, their seats were taken by those who had waited all afternoon seeking admission.

SALVATION ARMY

The service held at the Temple Sunday was somewhat unique in character in that from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. a continuous service of devotion was held. Every hour of the twelve saw a new leader take charge and thus without cessation the service continued, while it was also possible to carry on the usual open air services and the Sunday School as well. The first hour was led by the Sunday School Superintendent R. C. Draund, the young people's morning session being held with an adult attendance. This was followed by the Holiness meeting, led by Adj. Ham, whose helpful talk based on Elijah's call on God to send the fire, was beneficial to all who were present. From noon till 2 p.m. when Secretary Leggatt and Treasurer Cunningham were responsible, were real hours of prayer, and at that hour, the Bible Class was held when "Searching the Scriptures" was the subject based on Paul's appeal to reasoning and common sense, Act 17, verse 2. It was emphasized that there was an apparent lack of Scriptural study in these days in home life, in our schools, and that it could have no other result than disaster. That there were three ways of study in the selfish way, studying but only for personal gain; the professional way, studying to pass a blessing on by preaching and missing the blessing one's self; and the personal way, deriving full benefit oneself and passing it on to those around us. There again was a danger of the modern cults who bring the name of Jesus Christ to the level of Buddha, Mohammed, Confucius and Socrates in their theological arguments, but our lesson shows that following Paul's appeals to their reasonings many believed. Act 17, verse 7.

Under Deputy Bandmaster Austin the family hour, from 3 to 4, was of high praise character, punctuated by personal testimony and song. Three sisters, comrades, were responsible for the next hour and their helpful talks on Jesus Christ, our Redeemer, our Light, our Guide, were fraught with blessing. The Boys' Band under the Young Peoples' Local followed, and prelude to the final three hours was provided by the Sonester Brigade under Sonester Leader B. Smith.

Adjutant Ham, reading Matthew 3, called attention to some "Plain speaking by a plain man." The words of John the Baptist were doubtless the most successful in winning men and women to Christianity of any preacher of all time. That he feared not the favor of man was evidenced by his plain words, was at all times bold and courageous in his deunciation of wrong.

As with all prominent men they have a background and the home influence of John was without doubt of considerable asset to his success. In passing is there not a lack of home life in these days—lack of the family altar, tracing the history of man the head of the family, head of the tribe was looked up to—held in reverence.

In Japan the worship of ancestors still prevails, and is not this the fulfillment of the First Commandment with promise? There is an urgent necessity today of a revival of the family altar. The Rev. G. Campbell Morgan tells of how he with pride asked his father to view his new home to which he was to take his bride, and often asked what he thought of it. Following a long silence, he said: "I see nothing, my boy, that would show me that you are a Christian." Heads of homes, take heed that there shall be something that will stand the test of "times" in your home that will be looked on with pleasure in the future days.

Why was it that thousands came from Judea and Jerusalem and listened by the shores of Jordan to John? What did he preach? What was the burden of his message. It seems to me that he spoke very plainly of sin—what sin was—the effect of sin—the result of sin. It was no farce with him the existence of sin had caused broken hearts in his days just as it has and does in these days. But he spoke of repentance: "Bring forth fruit meat for repentance." What is demanded by repentance? Deep regret for sinning, deep sorrow at having grieved God. True repentance means restitution to God and man, renunciation of evil ways. We must confess our sins, submit to the Will of God; no longer live as the young man of old who said: "I will pull down my barns and build greater," and do the Will of God.

Eternal things will not gain us entrance into Heaven. John said: "You say you are the children of Abraham," but God can raise children to Abraham from these stones." Our religion must be real.

John spoke plainly of the Divinity of Jesus Christ, of the Holy Ghost and its refining power and convicting power. Also did John stress the definiteness of a reward for sin. The preaching of John is as true today as it was on the banks of Jordan.

If we could this evening communicate with those martyrs who are singing around the throne, they would preach the same Gospel. Methinks John Knox would say: Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved. John Wesley would say: Preach the Atonement. Wm. Booth would urge that we preach the blood of Jesus Christ, as symbolised in the flag of the Salvation Army, and that it can save from sin, and all gathered there would preach plainly that same message of Salvation.

WAR-TORN SHANGHAI

Yesterday the Cantonese beheaded two white Russians within sight of the British guards at one of the barriers and stuck the head on their bayonets, holding them aloft amid the smiles of Chinese spectators.

Intimidation Growing.

The general strike is still spreading and Red intimidation is growing bolder. A party of men visited a railway foreman's home and ordered him, at the pistol point, to proceed to a spot on the railway in the north-west district and superintend the removal of the rails.

The boatswain of a British ship received a note directing him to report at labor headquarters tonight to be flogged, because he permitted wharf hands to scrub the deck of the vessel yesterday at the hour fixed for the strike. Should he fail to comply, he was warned, he and all his family would be shot.

Streets Strewn With Dead.

Sniping, fires and looting continue in the Chapei quarter, just outside the international settlement, where mobs, composed partly of Shantungese soldiers, partly of ordinary criminals, and partly of Nationalist gunmen, held sway.

The streets are strewn with dead. In numerous cases, robbers have cut off women's fingers in order to obtain their rings.

Every place holding promise of loot has been cleaned out, but the problem of the criminals is how to get away with their booty. As they leave the city they are met by swarms of entering ghouls and bloody fighting occurs.

Numerous innocent people are reported to have been killed in these affairs. Scenes in Chapie are indescribable. Blocked thoroughfares prevent the escape of victims from the robbers.

Nothing is to be heard but shots and the screams of women and children, running hysterically to and fro. Many of the women, afraid to remain in the houses, are roaming the streets unclad, having been stripped of their clothing by soldiers in their wild hunt for loot.

Sometimes loot-laden soldiers are protected by comrades with machine guns, who think nothing of clearing a way down a crowded street by opening fire and killing scores of people.

A prominent missionary authority says tens of thousands of villagers in the Provinces of Shenshi, Yunnan, Kweichow, Honan and other parts of the country have been murdered in the last year.

CANTONESE ARE UNPREPOSSESSING.

The Cantonese troop: are unprepossessing. A large number of them are boys in their teens. They are ragged and dirty, but all wear the red and blue Kuomintang necktie. A group of officers seen by the correspondent, however, were comparatively dapper, in the Russian military style.

The correspondent witnessed the passage of a train bearing a thousand or more of these troops this afternoon through the Jessfield station, where there are British pickets on both sides of the railway. There were no signs of hostility, the Tommies and the Cantonese eyeing each other curiously at range of a few feet and commenting jocosely.

CLASH EXPECTED TO-NIGHT.

The Nationalist troops are advancing along the railway around Shanghai in the direction of Shanghai North Station, the centre of the remaining northern resistance. The two forces are expected to collide to-night or to-morrow.

It is believed the attempts of the northerners to enter the International Settlement are due to the approach of the Nationalists, of whom several thousand moved along the railway on foot this morning.

NORTHERNERS SURRENDER.

It is officially announced that Gen Pi Shu Chen, commander of the Northern defense forces at Shanghai has agreed to surrender. His capitulation was arranged yesterday in negotiations with Chang Kai Shek, the Nationalist generalissimo.

The Nationalist flag has been hoist ed over Gen. Pi Chen's headquarters. But many thousands of the Shangtungese soldiers in certain sections this evening were still unaware of the surrender.

ATTACKED BY PIRATES.

HONG KONG, March 22. — The Indo-China Steam Navigation Company vessel Hopcang, bound from Shanghai for Hong Kong, has been attacked by pirates, near Bias Bay, about 40 miles from Hong Kong. No details have been learned. A European passenger was wounded. The vessel was freed when the pirates completed their looting, and is now on the way to Hong Kong.

BANK EMPLOYEES STRIKE.

HANKOW, March 22. Canadian Press. — The Chinese employees of the foreign banks went on strike today. The banks were imediately picketed by strikers, who threatened to cut off the food supplies of the remaining members of the staffs to compel them to leave their posts.

"SITUATION IN HAND."

LONDON, March 22. Canadian Press. — Prime Minister Baldwin informed the House of Commons this afternoon that the Municipal Council and naval and military security forces at Shanghai, have the situation in the International Settlement well in hand.

HOLLINGER

The main point of interest at the Hollinger property at the present time is the comparatively rapid increase in tonnage which is taking place. Present tonnage is now around 6,500 per day, and equipment is installed which will enable the Company to shortly reach their objective of 8,000 tons. The recent annual financial statement issued by Hollinger shows a decrease during 1926 in tonnage milled as compared to the same figure in 1925 of 22 tons per day. It also shows a decrease in production of approximately $1,000,000 and a decrease in operating profit of approximately $275,000. Costs per ton show reduction over 1925 of 12 cents per ton. Current assets are practically doubled. Working capital has been increased from 3,476,696 to $10,976,437. Investments are shown at $10,312,385 as against $4,521,826; the whole showing an extremely strong cash position, with a rapid improvement in sight for the immediate future due the increased tonnage. The grade of ore milled during 1926 is shown as $7.99 as against $8.51 in 1925. This reduction in grade cannot be taken as being a serious item in the affairs of Hollinger, as it simply means that with the increased tonnage for which preparations have been made during the past year, the management will be able to mine and mill huge tonnage of comparatively low grade ore which could not be otherwise touched, and which will prolong the life of the mine to a very material extent. Costs will undoubtedly again be lowered during the present year, owing chiefly to the increase in mill tonnage.

Liverpool Reports Demand For United States' Wheat

CHICAGO, March 22.— (Canadian Press.)—Wheat developed a firmness to-day after an irregular start. Favorable weather conditions for domestic winter wheat led to considerable selling but Liverpool reported a better demand for United States' wheat and said the condition of the offerings were scarce. Opening at 1-2 cent decline to 1-4c. advance Chicago wheat sagged somewhat, but later showed slight gains all around. Corn and Oats swayed with Wheat, Corn starting unchanged to 3-8 to 1-2 cent off and then scoring general upturn. Provisions held steady.

British American Oil Again Holds Spotlight

TORONTO, March 22. — British American Oil held the spotlight for the second successive day on the Toronto Stock Exchange, when with a total turnover of over 6,000 shares during morning session it touched a new high at 26 1-4—a gain of 3-4 over the previous close. Outside of British American Oil the market was dull with price movements steady Dominion Stores was fairly active and stronger, selling up 1-4 to 76. Davies A declined 1 to 30. Arnold sold off 3-4 to 19 3-4. Massey-Harris was quiet and sold off 1-4 to 116. Cosmos Imperial Milling was an active issue and it declined 1-2 to 21. The preferred also weakened 1-2 to 97. The traction isues were stronger. Brazilian gained 3-4 to 126. Twin City gained 1-4 to 55 1-2, and Winnipeg Railway remained firm at 64 1-2. The Distillery stocks were active and firmer. Seagram gained 1-8 to 23 1-8; G. and W. sold up 1 1-2 to 57, and Walker was unchanged at 37.

Firmer Feeling Displayed On Standard Exchange

TORONTO, March 22. Canadian Press. — A firmer feeling was in evidence in the trading on the Standard mining exchange to-day. The gains outnumbered the losses by a good margin, though the market was rather quiet. The dividend paying gold stocks all scored advances with Hollinger and Wright Hargreaves leading the way with 15c gains—the former moving up to 21.10 and the latter selling up to 10.70. Dome Mines at 8.60 and Teck Hughes at 6.35 each moved up 5c. Argonaut Consolidated was an active and strong feature, selling up to 40, a gain of 3 1-2c.

The Quebec issues were active and steady. Laval Quebec was prominent with a 2 1-2c gain to 32. Nipissing gained 19c to 8.10. Noranda featured trading in the unlisted section with a 65c rise to 23.75. Central Manitoba was unchanged at 115 while Vickers Porcupine, relegated to this section by order of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Directors, sold off 3c to 65.

Reactionary Prices Feature New York Market

NEW YORK, March 22 (Canadian Press). — Pronounced reactionary price tendencies again developed in to-day's stock market.

Selling pressure was directed chiefly against the issues which had proved vulnerable to the bear attacks in the past few days. Houston Oil broke nearly 10 points and Dupont, Baldwin, Consolidated Backing A, Sloss Sheffield, General Motors, Manhattan Electrical Supply and United Cigar Stores scored extreme declines of four to nearly seven points.

Rails, as a group, displayed a firmer undertone than the industrials, although sharp set-backs took place in such recent favorites as Lakawanna and Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh. Fears that the recent wage increases, unless followed by higher freight rates, would cut sharply into the earnings had a restraining effect on this group.

NAVIGATION OPEN.

Captain Marigold Brings Dalhousie City Into Toronto Harbor.

TORONTO, March 22.— (Canadian Press.)— Creating two new records, Captain Marigold of the Steamship Dalhousie City brought his ship into port this morning from Port Dalhousie. In opening navigation Captain Marigold clipped two days off his previous record, never having made the trip previously before March 24.

Facing a cold wind, the Dalhousie City left Port Dalhousie at 9.18 a.m., arriving at 11.36, a new record by exactly four minutes.

Harbor Master Allan officiated at the time-honoured ceremony of the presentation of the silk hat to the captain of the first boat to arrive in port.

LIQUOR CARGOES CAN BE SEIZED

U. S. Judge Hands Down New Ruling on Three Mile Limit.

DESPITE PROOF.

NEW YORK, March 22 (Canadian Press).—The United States Government may seize and libel foreign vessels laden with liquor cargoes, if found within three miles of the shore, even though no proof exists that a part of the cargo has been sold for United States consumption, Judge Hand held yesterday in the United States District Court.

The decision was given in a case of the British vessel "Mistignette." The counsel for the owners, who were not named, claimed the ship and the cargo should be freed, as they had been bound from "one foreign port to another" and were not legally subject to seizure.

UNIVERSITY CLUB.

Canvass Will Be Made Of Students To Get Opinions.

A meeting of graduates in Arts of all Universities, called for Saturday evening at the Y.M.C.A. was fairly well attended, representatives of various professions in the city being present, to discuss the advisability of forming a University Club in the city.

Discussion of the idea took place, and it was decided to make a canvass of University students in the city and discover their opinion as to whether such a club could function successfully here. A committee to make arrangements for such a canvass was appointed, composed of Miss Margaret Hamilton, G .S. Parlour and Adrian Macdonald.

Dragged To Sea Bottom When Caught In Machine

DIGBY, N. S., March 22 — (Canadian Press). — To be dragged down through forty fathoms of water to the bottom of the sea, entangled in a network of steel scallop drags, was the harrowing experience of Roland Haines, seventeen, a member of the crew of a local scallop boat yesterday. Haines is resting comfortably with a fair chance for recovery. When the apparatus with which the scallop fishermen scoop up shell fish from the bottom of the bay was being trimmed for lowering overboard, young Haines became entangled in the gear and went over with it. His companions immediately set the lifting machinery in operation and he was brought to the surface within three or four minutes, unconscious from the heavy pressure of the water at the depth to which he was drawn.

31. That section 35, subsection (3) be modified by the deletion of the age limit as at present defined; and, further, that provision be made for the award of pension, in the discretion of the Commission, to a dependent brother or sister of a member of the forces who has died without proof that the brother or sister was wholly or to a substantial extent maintained by him at the time of his death.

This submission proposes to extend prospective dependency, now provided for parents, to a brother or sister. Very few cases are known but these are of a particularly distressing nature. For example, there lives in Ottawa a deceased soldier's sister, who has suffered spinal deformity since infancy. On July 15, 1918, she secured, through influence, employment as assistant to bookkeeper in "The Grain Growers' Guide," Winnipeg. Her brother was killed in action on July 31st, 1918. She was only able to continue her work for a few months and has again become an invalid. The present statute requires that a sister, to be eligible for pension, must be dependent upon her brother at the time of his death. This young woman, although her physical condition made it practically imperative that she refrain from work, was through a mere accident self-supporting on July 31st, 1918, and is debarred from pension benefits. The submission is to remedy such a situation.

32. That section 38, subsection (a) be amended as follows: After the words "to a parent" insert "or a brother or a sister."

This proposal is consequent upon acceptance of proposal No. 31.

33. That the table of disabilities be made available to the representatives of applicants.

34. That a member of the forces pensioned for tuberculosis shall not suffer reduction in assessment without first being examined by a chest specialist.

The question of assessment of disability in cases of tuberculosis is one of vital importance to the pensioner. The disease, from its very nature, in any phase demands the attention of a specialist of wide experience.

35. That consolidation of The Pension Act be undertaken, upon the conclusion of the present Parliamentary session.

Federal Appeal Board.

36. That the Federal Appeal Board be empowered to adjudicate upon any decision of the Board of Pension Commissioners or Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, and that facilities be specially granted to provide an appeal on the grounds that any decision of the Board of Pension Commissioners under section 12, section 33, section 34, section 35 or section 40 of the statute is improper.

At present, the jurisdiction of the Federal Appeal Board is limited to the question of service relationship of disability or death.

Bill 205, Clause 11 (1) as passed by the House of Commons on June 13th, 1923, provided that an appeal shall lie from any decision as to pension, but the provisions were amended by the Senate.

Bill 255, Clause 15 (1) as passed by the House of Commons on July 16th, 1924, also provided that an appeal shall lie from any decision of the Board of Pension Commissioners. This also was negated by the Senate.

Bill 70, Clause 16, as passed by the House of Commons on May 5th, 1925, provided appeals where disability or death was the result of misconduct, but this was deleted by the Senate.

37. That where an appeal has been disallowed by the Federal Appeal Board, and material evidence subsequently becomes available, the application shall receive the reconsideration of the Board of Pension Commissioners or the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, from whose further decision a further appeal shall lie.

This provision was embodied in Clause 11 (6), Bill 205, as passed by the House of Commons, June 13, 1923, but amended by the Senate: "The applicant shall be entitled to only one appeal on the question of the connection of his disability with service, but if he subsequently submits evidence sufficiently convincing in the opinion of the District Review Board, the latter may, on special application, grant the right to another appeal."

The amended clause was enacted June 30, 1923, as clause 11 (4), 13-14 George V., chapter 62: "An applicant shall be entitled to only one appeal upon the grounds or any of them set forth in subsection (1) of this section of this Act. The decision of the Federal Appeal Board thereon shall be final, and shall be binding upon the applicant and upon the Board of Pension Commissioners for Canada."

38. That subsection (3) of section 11 of chapter sixty-two of the statutes of 1923, as superseded by section 9 of chapter sixty of the statutes of 1924, be further amended by providing exception where, in special circumstances, a delayed application is deemed acceptable by the Federal Appeal Board.

Cases have arisen where notice of appeal has been given to official soldiers' advisers, or other persons, but under circumstances beyond the control of the appellant has not been transmitted to the Federal Appeal Board within the statutory limitation.

Department Of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment.

39. That a conference of Tuberculosis consultants be convened for the purpose of securing an expression on questions affecting the tuberculous ex-soldier, and the non-pulmonary chest disabled ex-soldier, and that the representative of the tuberculous section of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L. be given the opportunity to appear and present certain matters for consideration.

40. That adequate provision be made for dental treatment of pensioners; and the extension of such treatment wherever the medical examiner finds reasonable hope that such will aid in the improvement of the disabling condition.

41. That a recommendation of a medical superintendent of a sanatorium for supply of glasses to a member of the forces under treatment or on pension for tuberculosis be given effect.

42. That any unpaid balance of treatment pay and allowance due to a deceased member of the forces shall be deemed to form part of his estate, when he leaves a will; further, that, in the event of the deceased leaving no will such balance shall be paid to his widow or dependents or to any other person who has been maintained by him, or who has maintained him, to the amount expended on maintenance, or it shall be applied in payment of the expenses of his last sickness or burial, provided only that the first application for entitlement to pay and allowance shall not be lodged, after his death, except on behalf of a dependent relative.

43. That, where the hospital superintendent is of the opinion that a patient could be treated at home, concurrence by the Department therein shall entitle the patient to out-patient pay and allowances; further, that long treatment cases be given, under discharge from hospital, a period of classification as out-patient No. 1 for convalescence, during which employment may be obtained and the man given an opportunity to accommodate himself to changed conditions.

44. That the provisions of order-in-council P.C. 1653 shall be extended to apply to all pensioners.

45. That a member of the forces classified as out-patient No. 1 and requiring a special diet shall be entitled to an additional allowance for that purpose not exceeding $180.00 per annum.

46. That free medical treatment be provided for all pensioners in classes 1 to 6.

47. That provision be made whereby members of the forces who contracted venereal infection during service may be afforded Departmental Institutional care in the event of a sequel or recurrence of the condition.

Care and Maintenance of Indigent Veterans.

48. That provision be made by the federal government for the care and maintenance of all ex-service men who by reason of chronic illness, or injury, or old age, through no fault of their own become incapable of maintaining themselves.

Returned Soldiers' Insurance.

49. That the provisions of the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act be reopened for a period of one year;

Further, that the maximum amount of insurance obtainable be increased from $5,000 to $10,000; and that present policy holders be permitted to increase their insurance to the next maximum.

The Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act became effective September 1st, 1920, and originally permitted applications over a period of two years, being subsequently extended one year. The final date of application was September 1st, 1923.

The original purpose of the Act was to provide a source of insurance for men, who by reason of their service for the country on the field of battle, found it difficult to secure insurance from private companies. A total of 34,500 policies were issued, the number in effect as at March 31, 1926, being 26,898. The total death claims paid as at that date were 1,279. The number of death claims adjusted on behalf of insured pensioners who have died from service disabilities total 290.

It is submitted that the group of war veterans for which this insurance primarily was intended found it more difficult to effect re-establishment than the general body of war veterans, and consequently during the period in which applications were received many of these men found it impossible to apply. In many instances, they have now found a permanent place in civilian life and desire to secure this means of protection for their families.

In view of the splendid financial showing under the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act (the credit balance at March 31st, 1926, was $4,231,207.22) it is quite apparent that the risks assumed were considerably better than anticipated at the inception of the Act, and the Canadian Legion believes the re-opening of the Act for applications would bring a corresponding benefit to a larger group of war veterans.

"EVERY BONE ACHED" SAYS WM. LEE

Mr. Lee lives at 565 St. Patrick St., Ottawa, Ont. "If I live to be 100," he said recently, "I'll praise Tanlac for the great boon of health it brought me. It stopped nine years of awful suffering for me.

"Every bone in my body ached and often for 3 or 4 nights at a time I could not close my eyes in sleep. Indigestion upset my nervous system and kept me in constant pain. Bloating and cramps were chronic.

I spent hundreds of dollars for treatments and remedies during those nine years, but none of them gave me any real help. But Tanlac helped me from the very first and soon put me back in excellent condition. I gained 17 lbs. weight and have enjoyed the finest health since then."

Tanlac is nature's own tonic and body builder made from roots, barks and herbs. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

Rub It On At Bed-Time

For Deep Chest Colds

All colds should be treated with vapors, for vapors alone can carry the medication DIRECTLY to the air passages and lungs.

Vicks is a "vapor" treatment in salve form. For deep chest colds you first apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores, then massage briskly with Vicks for 5 minutes, spread on thickly and cover with a flannel cloth.

Vicks not only penetrates like a poultice or plaster, but the ingredients, vaporized by the body heat, are inhaled all night long.

This double action usually checks the most stubborn cold overnight.

THE HALL STORE

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE ST: PATRICKS SOCIAL

Concert, Refreshments and Dancing Comprise Programme at Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, March 22. — The Women's Institute held an enjoyable "Saint Patrick's day social" in the Town Hall on Thursday, March 17, beginning at 8 p.m., about two hundred being in attendance.

Mr. L. C. Russell was chairman, and welcomed the guests, on behalf of the hostesses of the evening, after which a short programme was enjoyed, the items including:

Opening Ode sung by all present.

Solo, "My Heart is in Kilkenny," by Mr. Chas. Thorndyke. Encore, "Where did you get that hat?"

Reading, "The Old Squire's E Pluribus Unum Tree," by Miss M. Moise.

Song, "Mowing in the Barley Field," by pupils from the Continuation School, Misses Jean Stinson and Beryl Wood taking the solo parts.

Song, "Patrick J. O'Hare," by Joe Thorndyke.

Monologue, "I Hate to Wash Dishes," by Martha Earle. Encore, "A-Wearin' of the Green."

Solo, "Just a Sailor's Sweetheart," by Mr. Thorndyke.

Reading, "A Little Gift from Ireland," by Mrs. F. H. Smith.

At this point the chairman requested Mrs. Wilbert Thorne to come to the platform, when Mrs. H. J. Armstrong read the following address, and Mrs. T. H. Harkness, on behalf of the Institute, of which Mrs. Thorne has been for some time secretary, and in which she has always been an active worker, presented her with a handsome china cake plate:

Mrs. Wilbert Thorne, Millbrook.

Dear Mrs. Thorne,—At this time we would like to express our regrets at losing you as a member of our Institute, and as a valued friend among us. You have not only shown yourself a friend to all, but have been a most willing and faithful worker in our organization.

Your absence will be much felt by all our members, but what is a most unwelcome, and untimely, loss to us will be a most valuable and timely gain to those in whose midst you make your future home, and give of your talents.

We ask you to accept this small gift as a slight token of our appreciation of your work and help among us. A small remembrance from your many friends in the Millbrook Women's Institute who wish you much happiness in your new home, and trust that you will enjoy the company and faith of the many friends you shall make in the future.

Signed on behalf of the Women's Institute,

Mrs. C. Thorndyke, President.
Mrs. T. H. Harkness.
Mrs. H. J. Armstrong.
Mrs. T. H. Aiken.

Taken completely by surprise, Mrs. Thorne replied briefly, expressing sincere gratitude and appreciation for the gift, and also for the kindly words of genuine friendship which were its accompaniment.

A promenade in which practically everyone took part was an enjoyable diversion at this point, music being furnished by the Bristow family orchestra. Afterwards contests suitable for Saint Patrick's day provided further entertainment, Misses M. Moise and Gladys Gray and Mr. Lawrence Ingram being the prize-winners. In the "Passing the Potato" contest, Mrs. I. M. Nattrass, Mrs. Thomas Harkness and Mr. W. Larmer won first place with their respective lines of competitors.

In order to find partners for the supper hour small green shamrocks were distributed, the four classes of animals, "Cats, Pigs, Dogs, and Roosters," one of which was written on each, indicating which group to join, and match numbers.

Dancing was indulged in for a time, the committee, Mrs. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. T. H. Aiken, Mrs. Will Armstrong, Mrs. S. Fallis, Mrs. C. C. Garside and Mrs. Wilbert Thorne assisted by other members, serving supper about 11.30 p.m., after which both round and square dances again brought many couples on the floor for an hour or more of further enjoyment before the gathering finally broke up.

The new piano which the Institute recently placed in the hall was in use for the first time, and proved satisfactory. Had it not been for the initiative of the Institute, the Town Hall might have been minus any instrument, as Mr. N. Lamb removed the piano belonging to him when he left the village. The Institute will have the rent of this instrument when entertainments or other gatherings are held in the hall as it has been purchased with their funds.

Misses Myrtle Russell, Bertha Lang and Ruth Thorndyke were the accompanists of the evening.

Quite a number responded to the request to come in costume, and green hats, with aprons, and shamrocks, large and small, were much in evidence as accessories to white dresses, dark suits, or old-fashioned full skirts, and panniered bodices.

Church Night.

The tenth, and final, "Church Night" was held on Wednesday evening, a record attendance taking the capacity of the basement, many having to stand when seating was exhausted.

The convenors of the eight groups were responsible for the programme, and Mr. Hal Argue acted as chairman. The junior orchestra, a recent organization in the village, furnished music while the people were gathering.

Opening numbers included a selection by the Lunn family, a recitation, "Wanted, a Minister's Wife," by Mrs. Kennedy, and a duet, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston.

The community singing of hymns, including the original verses and chorus of the church hymn to the tune of "The Church in the Wildwood," preceded the talk by the pastor, whose subject was, "Ministering to Others' Needs." Rev. Mr. Howard gave a forecast of future activities, the groups continuing to function with picnics once a month all summer, and urged the very real need of a building large enough for sports such as bowling alleys, basketball, indoor baseball, etc., so the church could provide suitably for the play life of its own people.

A chorus, "Bridget McClew," by the Seventh Line Irishmen, was appropriate because of the proximity of St. Patrick's Day; Miss Bertha Lang, dressed as a Irish colleen, presided at the piano, and the men, Messrs. Lawrence Rowland, W. G. Rowland, Thomas Douglas, Willis and Hilliard Lang, Fred Lewers, Chester Fee, Wesley Williamson, H. Argue, Donald Morrow, W. Lane, and E. Fallis, were suitably attired with dark suits, bright green vests, green bands on their silk hats, and a shamrock on each coat lapel. The encore was, "Has Anyone Here Seen Kelly?"

The "Mock Trial" followed, presented by twenty-two men, and keeping the audience laughing throughout.

The policeman (W. E. Ball) announced "His Honor, the Justice of the Supreme Court" (P. I. Bentley), and insisted upon everyone rising to show due respect until the dignitary was seated. G. W. Sayles acted as District Attorney, and R. I. Fallis as Counsel for the Defence.

The clerk of the court (G. E. Burnham) administered the extraordinary oath, the witness taking a large dictionary in the left hand: "You solemnly promise to tell the truth, a part of the truth, or anything but the truth, so help you Webster," and a resounding smack on the leather cover of the book closed the bargain.

Empanelling the jury was quite a task, the selection including: A. G. Reid (C. B. Sutton), who wanted to be excused because he "had formed an opinion"; G. A. Rutney (W. Williamson); W. S. Kendal (C. Sanderson); F. W. Friend (called but absent); M. Tuttle (M. Thexton); Rev. H. W. Pearce (A. J. Henderson) appointed foreman; Wesley Brown, ordered into the box in spite of vigorous protests; W. M. Taylor, (G. Elson); Fred Rich (F. McMahon) a coal dealer excused because the judge remarked, "No coal merchant will ever convict any person of theft"; Ebony White, a darkey (Maurice Williamson); Cecil Sisson, who stuttered badly (M. Challice); Izzy Blue Menthol, a Hebrew (J. Guthrie); Mr. Croaker (Weston Fallis); Charlie Ross (J. McKnight).

The prisoner (H. W. Johnston) was arrested, handcuffed, and hauled to court after the trial was announced, and evidently had the surprise of his life as until the policeman picked him out of the audience he had no idea he was to fill this role. The charge was "stealing a mince pie, on March First, 1927, from the supper committee of the Ladies' Aid, and consuming the same." The offence was aggravated by the fact that the said pie was being reserved for serving to the dignitaries of the Aid when seated at the head table at a special function on the date mentioned.

Witnesses for the prosecution were Mrs. Susie Slanders (J. Larmer) who declared she had made the pie "with the aroma of by gone days" and identified the empty plate; Mr. Henery Hawkes (E. Morden) whose testimony led to suspicion of the prisoner because he had "taken a package to send by parcel post" the night the pie disappeared from the church; Dr. A. M. Large (H. A. Fallis), who was called to see the prisoner "the morning after, on account of his having eaten something which went to his stomach"; two quarts of bromide was the dose prescribed; and Mr. Knocks (L. M. Smith) who declared the prisoner couldn't tell the truth if he tried.

Witnesses for the defence were: I. M. Mumm (C. G. Garside); Mr. Samuel Smart (Will Lunn); and Professor Bumpus, P.M., A.R.F., T.S., B.D.Q., (Dr. A. Jemison), a phrenologist, who exhibited a chart of the prisoner's head from which he deduced that "he simply could not steal anything."

A diversion was created by the judge falling asleep while the District Attorney was addressing the jury and having to be awakened by the policeman. A verdict was brought in, "Six for guilty, and six for acquittal", and the judge commended their decision declaring the "prisoner guilty in the first degree, the second degree, and the third degree." The prisoner, asked if he had anything to say before sentence be pronounced, replied fervently, "May the Lord deliver me from my friends", and His Honor asserted, "He sure will for six months anyway."

The hurried entrance of the prohibition officer (G. G. Hetherington) with a large zinc bucket, labelled "Still" in big letters, prevented sentence being pronounced, and the judge, attracted by the "aroma of by gone days", opened the can and lifted out the identical pie the prisoner was accused of stealing and eating. The prisoner was thereupon honorably discharged, and was presented with the pie, but a lighted match 'happening' to fall into the bucket, the excess of alcohol in the mincemeat caused the whose thing to go up in a sudden burst of flame and blue smoke.

An amusing incident was purposely interjected while the jury was arriving at a verdict, when the policeman ejected Rev. F. H. Howard (who was sitting quietly looking on) the Judge declaring "if Mr. Howard can't behave himself put him out of the court." Later he was allowed to return "if he would promise not to be so noisy."

Presentation Made.

A fitting close to the "Church Night" series was the presentation to the pastor of a portable communion service for use when administering the Sacrament to sick, and shut-in, members of his congregation. Miss S. Dean read a short address, expressing appreciation of Mr. Howard's faithful ministry from week to week, and Mrs. Hamilton Kennedy presented the gift.

Rev. Mr. Howard replied briefly, explaining that he had frequent use for just a service as the one given him, and thanking those who had made it possible for him to have this help with his ministerial duties.

Next Wednesday night, March 23, Rev. F. J. Horwood, Musical Doctor, will deliver a lecture on music, illustrated by selections on the piano. The admission is being fixed on a new scale, following the "Church Nights", which have been free of any charge, a small fee per family making it possible for everyone to attend, and bring all the children as has been done during the last ten weeks.

Mr. F. W. Burton is visiting his sister, Mrs. A. Smith, at Windsor.

Mr. J. L. Hutchison returned home on Thursday after visiting friends in Orillia, Beaverton, Cannington, and other points north. Mr. Hutchison and Mr. J. Cathcart were called to Orillia on account of the death of a relative, the former remaining for a week or more in order to visit friends at the points named.

Miss M. B. Turner, B.A., is supplying as principal of the public school this week owing to the illness of Mr. B. B. Dawson, who is now making progress toward recovery after a severe attack of the 'flu.

Mr. R. Wyatt, of Winnipeg, formerly of Cedar Valley, whose father was some years in charge of the "Low Mill" when the late Mr. George Needler was its owner, visited friends in town this week.

The many friends of Miss Lillie Burton will regret to hear that she had the misfortune to fall on Friday morning, while carrying a pail of water across her own yard, fracturing her right leg below the knee. Miss Waterman is the nurse in charge.

Miss Jennie Brock returned home this week after a six weeks' visit with her sister in Uxbridge.

MARMORA NEWS.

MARMORA, March 22.—A special picture, "The Vanishing American" shown at Marmora Town Hall under auspices of Marmora Hockey Club and a dance for the young folk of Deloro at their village hall were the chief St. Patrick's Day attractions in this vicinity.

Further evidence of the return of spring may be seen in the fact that Mr. T. E. Potts on Thursday found a good sized mushroom growing in one of the pots of geranium adorning the front windows of the Royal Hotel.

TRAPPERS TRESPASS IN MARSHES CLAIMED BY FARMERS ON TRENT

Deputation Reported Having Visited Toronto Last Week.

OLD CONTROVERSY

Muskrat Pelts Open at $2.50 in the District.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, March 22. — The opening of the season for trapping muskrats has rekindled the controversy between free-lance trappers and farmers who claim exclusive possession to the marshes fronting their land. It is understood that a small deputation from the Birdsall district on the Trent River went to Toronto last Friday to inquire into their right as owners of farm lands on the river to prevent Indians and other trappers from so-called trespass in neighboring marshes. The outcome of their visit to Queen's Park was not learned here, but it was generally considered locally that this is a Federal rather than Provincial question, and should be referred to Ottawa.

"No trespass" signs are so numerous along the marshes of the Trent and Otonabee Rivers and Rice Lake that they become monotonous to the neutral paddling by. They are upgrowths from the Riddell decision, so it is understood, which awarded possession of marsh to the riparian owners. In other words, it was construed that a farmer owned the marsh fringing his property which bordered on river or lake.

As a result of this decision, not only do farmers lay claim to marshes that used to be public trapping grounds, but companies of men, syndicates have acquired possession of expansive marshes by right of lease or purchase.

The resentment of the Indians, especially, can be readily imagined and understood. They were suddenly expelled from trapping grounds through which their forefathers had roamed at will long before the white men came, and more recently, before the possibility of transforming the Rice Lake rat into Hundson Bay seal was visualized as a profitable development in the pelt ry of Kawarthadom.

This applies especially with more local pointedness because the Rice Lake rat is usually given a high rating in the market.

A traditional right is not suddenly cut off and a traditional custom just as suddenly uprooted without bitter opposition, and Indians and many white trappers, too, are said not to have entirely adjusted their attitudes to the new ownerships which have been established during the last few years in what used to be regarded as worthless marshes. Cheap pelts did not interest farmers, although some of them have always put out traps and also used to claim the marshes fronting their property.

But war profiteering set up new standards of living and values, and $2.50 pelts arouse a spirit of covetousness that is human, if unedifying. A farmer who can catch 600 rats in his marsh pockets, at the present price, $1.500 for a few weeks' work, and many of them will likely get from $1,000 to $2,000 this Spring.

No wonder the marshes are plainly and numerously posted with "No trespass" warnings.

RECTOR BEGINS NEW PASTORATE

Rev. N. C. Wallace Preaches Inspiring Sermons in Christ Church.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 22.—Rev. N. Clarke Wallace, the newly appointed rector of Christ Church preached two very inspiring sermons on Sunday. The regular form of service was followed. In the morning the rector read the lessons from the 40th chapter of Genesis and the 18th chapter of Matthew, after which he read his declaration of Rectorship of Christ Church, Campbellford, signed the fourteenth day of March, 1927, by the Bishop of Toronto. Rev. Mr. Clarke made special mention of the flowers on the altar placed there in memory of Mrs. Rendle and Mr. A. Desmark.

The text of the morning service was taken from the 6th chapter of 2nd Corinthians, 1st verse: "We, then, as co-workers, together, with Him." Mr. Clarke said, "I think that in the first ten verses of this chapter that the words Paul stressed in his talk to the Corinthians can largely apply to the clergy of to-day. I am sure you will all agree that the requirements stated are tremendous and are all needed in the work of the church. A young man would not take to the ministry if he thought he must first reach this pinnacle, and it rests with the Bishop and those in authority to see that those who are appointed to serve do in all things prove themselves ministers of God, in sickness, in afflictions and all the other characters mentioned in this chapter.

I have been chosen by the Bishop of the diocese and your vestry, as rector of Christ Church, and although in the many problems that may confront us, we may have differences of opinion true to our different types of character, this should in no way prove detrimental to the interests of our church, and if we remember this text our church will flourish. Many would say 'we do not expect our minister to be all these things,' but don't deceive yourselves, you do, if not in theory, in practice. This text as it appears to me, is meant for clergy and laity alike, co-workers not only among ourselves but in church as a corporate body, and with God. After all, that is a great part for all to remember, not to work for own glory or praise of man but for the glory of God. This is a work in which we must all co-operate, thus approving ourselves true ministers of God."

In the evening Mr. Clarke took his text from 51st Psalm, verse 17: "The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit, a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt despise." "This psalm," said the speaker, "is touched with spiritual feelings and shows the two sides to nature, the good and the bad. There is, no matter how bad a person may be, some good quality, and no matter how good one may live, there often creeps in those bad feelings. In times like these we should turn to the Book of Psalms, for they are records of individual experience which should appeal to us.

"We find in this experience of David's one like our own, a personal responsibility which makes it hard to believe the fault is ours and gives us the tendency to lay the blame on our nature, circumstances, Adam, Satan, or our tempters. Our fathers have eaten sour grapes, so that the child's teeth are set on edge. In this Psalm, David blames his own guilty will. There are two views of sin; first, it is evil because it brings pain as a consequence; second, it is evil because we cannot reconcile it with our own nature and God's will. This Psalm portrays the agony of a brave man being evil and not afraid of consequences or punishment, but truly penitent. Man's best is himself, and God wants not pay but goodness. This should be the message of our church during the Lenten season: 'God will not despise a penitent heart'."

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donatville, Alta., writes:—"Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use and after using a couple of boxes I was not the same woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

Following this an autograph quilt which had been quilted by the ladies of the congregation on the previous Tuesday was sold to Joseph N. Bertrand for $6.00. The names on the quilt had brought $34.00, making a total for the quilt of $40.00.

A delicate lunch was served at the close. The collection amounted to $15.00.

Scientists predict that soon it will be possible to distil coal at the mine, recover the valuable primary oils and gases, and then transmit them by long-distance pipe lines to where they are wanted.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

THE DUKE OF RICHMOND.

Q.—Who was the Duke of Richmond?

A.—On August 17, 1926, a cairn, bearing a tablet in memory of the services, self-devotion and tragic death of Charles Lennox, Fourth Duke of Richmond, was unveiled on a spot near the village of Richmond, several miles from the City of Ottawa. The Duke of Richmond was appointed Governor-in-Chief of the Canadas, Lower and Upper, in 1818, and took up his residence in lower Canada in July of that year. It was during the following year, 1819, while on an official tour of inspection of the Upper Province and while visiting the newly surveyed lands alloted to soldier settlers, among which was the settlement of Richmond named in his honor, that his death took place from a bite of a pet fox.

ARRIVAL OF SPRING

A distinguished Old Country visitor to Canada, who had been something of a globe trotter, on being asked to give her impressions of the Dominion, replied that one of the things which struck her in Eastern Canada at least, was the general resemblance between the vegetation and scenery of the British Isle and the Eastern portion of the Dominion. This remark is very true as regards the surroundings of Peterborough. "Typical Old Country scenery," is a frequent remark of the immigrant on first travelling through the rural districts of the country. The outstanding differences, such as in the external appearances of houses and barns are the work of man, adapting his places of shelter to the more rigorous winter climate of North America.

Nature around Peterborough today presents a spectacle best described by Canada's own poet, William Wilfred Campbell, in his lines:

After long months of waiting,
months of woe,
Months of withered age and sleep and death,
Months of bleak ceremints of iced snow.
After dim shrunken days and long drawn nights
Of fallen storm and haunted
Northern Lights;
Wakens the song, the bud, the brook, the thrill,
The glory of being and the petalled breath—
The newer wakening of a magic will,
Of life re-stirring to its infinite deep
By wave and shore and hooded mere and hill.

Canadian Spring woods have at this time a fashion of flowers, dainty spirit-fine things akin to the soul of the wilderness. The open spaces in the woods, washed in a bath of tingling sunshine, visited of all the winds of heaven, with glimpses of faraway hills and home meadows already are dotted by the green shoots bursting their way through the long-frozen earth, while in the more shady portions, beds of snow still maintain a losing battle against such rays of the sun as reach them.

While there are no striking differences between the ornithology of the two lands, it is not uncommon to find here, birds with familiar Old Country names, but differing from the types known there. The robin seen around Peterborough for example, is a much larger bird than his British namesake; the jay, the partridge, and the hawk are not quite the same birds as are seen on the countryside of England and Scotland, but the impudent, ubitquitous sparrow is not a whit different from his cousins, on the other side.

In the Spring, Canada's wealth of bird life is easily seen. The robin carols from the topmost branch of the beech, while the song sparrow answers with the one splendid tune which composes his entire repertoire. The bluebirds examine their last year's home, and sing their low sweet songs, to which one must give uninterrupted attention in order to catch the grace and beauty of its notes. The meadow larks have returned to give an added touch of life to the creeping greenness of the fields. The killdeer is first among the waders, and calls loudly, showing his striking contrast of white and orange along the banks of river and creek. The noisy, vigorous, showy and mischievous jays remain throughout the winter, gathering food from many sources and sometimes appealing to the kindness of suburban residents. The woodpeckers also are always with us and the shrikes always find their diminutive prey throughout the harshest of seasons. The hasty and fluttering snowbirds gather on the weedy open spaces searching for scattered seeds along the black ridges of naked earth. The horned lark is once again seen and heard; the grackle, the flicker, the redwing, the blackbird and the Canada goose have all made a welcome re-appearance. Destructive and thieving rascal as he is, the crow is lways hailed, at his first re-appearance, as the harbinger of Spring, and it is possible that many of his depredations are forgiven him on that account.

In the Old Land, Spring is a no less glad season.

The green fields and lonely dingles, the woodlands and burn-sides, resound with the unrivalled music of Nature. Soon will come thrilling to the ear, the echoing music of the prophet of the Spring, that wandering voice which, like all voices that have made themselves heard in the world, has received so mixed a meed of praise and blame—the cuckoo. Who can hear the name—in itself a song — without having his fancy tortnwith charmed by a mental picture of fresh green fields, hedges rich with fragrant honeysuckle and silver blossoms; tender bursting leaves; gold and silver crocuses; winds which have toned down from blustering currents to soft whisperings breezes; the hum of bees and the buzz of insects, the rustling of leaves; the bleating of lambs and the soft trickling rivulets—all forming a combination appealing to the eye and ear and haunting the imagination for all time.

Over the sogged waste lands the green flowers—the "pee-wits" utter their wild call to the wind as they whirl around their scantily-lined nest in the hollow. In the marshes, and moors, the curlews sound their melancholy note. In the enclosed fields the ploughman driving a huge team of Clydesdale or Shire, upturns the brown earth and, like lifted and dancing feathers of whiteness, a dozen gulls follow in his wake, as the air is filled by the noisy caws of the rooks—smaller representatives of the Corvus family than our crow—as they circle round their colony in the high trees.

In the stone hedge, the celandines shine like spilled meteor fragments against their jade leaves. Primroses grow with them, and the white blossom of the wild strawberry, and in place, the pink campion unfurls its colors. The apple trees begin to bud; and the hedgerows become alive with the chirping and music of hedge-sparrow, blackbird, thrush, and in the thickets, the linnet, the chaffinch, the bullfinch cheerily pour forth their message of song.

All the seasons have been the ... of the praises of the British poets, but Spring has always had the greatest attraction for them, especially when its memories were revived in a distant country. It is the season of romance and hope, and while men retain their innate response to the poetic will continue to exert its perennial charm.

MISSIONARY TELLS OF AFRICAN WOMEN

Mrs. James Hunter Finds Kenja Colony Girls Attractive.

TORONTO, Ont., March 22 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. James Hunter, who has been engaged in missionary work for 11 years in the heart of Africa in the Portuguese Colony, where she has become versed in the tongue of the native tribe among whom she ministers, and is now attending a course at the Canadian School of Mission in this city expects on the completion of her furlough to return to Africa under the Mission Board of the United Church of Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter went to Africa under the American Mission Board from Massachussetts and Mr. Hunter was drowned in the foreign field.

Mrs. Hunter says she enjoys very much working among the girls, who were extremely attractive. Practically all the girls married, and at an early age. Only those who were mentally deficient did not marry as a fear existed of those who did not have their full measure of intelligence. Mrs. Hunter said that she was looking forward to her return to the mission field.

MAN MASQUERADES AS WOMAN TENANT

Goes Through a Number of Houses With 'To Rent' Signs.

MONTREAL, Que., March 22 (Canadian Press).—Masquerading as a woman, an unidentified man entered a number of houses in Outremont recently, and, on the pretext that he was a prospective tenant, was shown through them. One woman recognized the visitor as a man, despite his attempt at disguise, but before she could take any action he had left the house. The man evidently confined his activities to houses which bore a "to let" sign. Politely asking if "she might see the house," the visitor wandered about in the company of the occupant, putting a question now and then as a prospective tenant might. In one house "she" asked to use the telephone, and when permission was granted, 'phoned to someone, allegedly a sister, asking her to come over later in the day and look through the same house. While using the telephone, the voice aroused the suspicions of the tenant, who warned neighbors.

FIRST FLIGHT OVER BRAZILIAN JUNGLE

Italian Flyers Flew Over Region Inhabited By Savage Tribes.

PARA, Brazil, March 22 (Canadian Press).—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, who is on a four-continent flight, landed here last night from Manaos, completing the first flight over the Brazilian jungle. On their trip from Manaos to Para, the Italian flyers flew over a region that was entirely uninhabited except for some savage Indian tribes. For miles they saw nothing but virgin forest, innumerable rivers, streams and lakes.

PROMPT STEPS RELIEVE TENSION

Controversy Brought To Fore By Italy's Allegations of Mobilization.

ALBANIA.

PARIS, Mar. 22 (Canadian Press)—Tension arising out of the Italo-Jugo-Slav - Albanian controversy brought to the fore by Italy's allegations that Jugo-Slavia was mobilizing military forces on the Albania frontier had relaxed to-day. It appeared as though the war alarm was subsiding as rapidly as it arose. This was attributed to the prompt steps taken by London, Paris and Berlin Governments.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE RETURN EX-KAISER

Opposition To Former Emperor Expressed in Reichstag

BERLIN, March 22 (Canadian Press).—Opposition to any possible return of former Emperor Wilhelm to Germany was expressed in the Reichstag yesterday in statements by the Centrists, Democrats and Social Democrats. The statements were made during a discussion on the prolongation of the law exiling the former Kaiser, which expires on July 1.

"Let the ex-Kaiser stay outside. There isn't room for him in Germany," was the brief expression of the Social Democrats.

GRAY COPPING NEW PRESIDENT OF CURLING CLUB

Very Successful Year Is Finally Brought To a Close.

CUPS PRESENTED

Prizes Are Given To Winners and Runners-Up in Various Series.

Last night the most successful year in the history of the Peterborough Curling Club was brought to a successful close when the annual meeting and election of officers was held.

In February the largest bonspiel in Ontario this year was held under the auspices of the local club and during the season many other curling events were run off. At the Oshawa bonspiel the Peterborough rinks brought home two of the trophies but at the local bonspiel the home rinks were not so fortunate and only won one of the four trophies. During the season they held for two weeks the Carew Challenge trophy but lost the Neill-Shepherd cup to Orillia.

Last night prizes were presented to the winners and the runners-up in the Waddell Cup, Neill Trophy, Inter-Rink matches and Vice-skips bonspiel.

Gray Copping was elected the new president of the club, Ira D. Moore, honorary president; G. H. Duncan, vice-president; J. W. Mayneord, secretary-treasurer. The committee of management will be J. N. Bacon, J. H. Sedgewick, J. J. Howden and W. M. Cruthers.

Representative to the Ontario Curling Association, Ira D. Moore; alternative, W. G. Morrow.

Auditor, T. F. McArthur; and umpire, Angus McIntosh.

The treasurer submitted his annual statement which showed a balance of $260 after all expenses had been met.

Ira Moore was appointed the Curling Club's representative on the local Dominion Day Jubilee committee.

The following prizes were presented:

A club bag was given to the winners of the Waddell cup, who were J. Jopling, T. F. McArthur, J. Skinner, and J. W. Anderson, skip; the members of R. P. Bests' rink who were the runners up in the play for this trophy were each given a silver cake dish.

The Neill trophy went to the rink of Ira D. Moore which was won in a draw from J. N. Bacon. The winners in this event received auto rugs and the runners up stainless knives.

The inter-rink matches were won by J. N. Bacon's rink with Ira D. Moore second and J. N. Bacon third.

E. R. Shirley won the vice-skips bonspiel and each of the players on this rink received trays. The runners-up rink who were skipped by Dr. Sutton received knives.

Pipes were presented to H. Foote and J. W. Mayneord for the splendid way in which they handled the bonspiel.

Two important amendments to the rules of the club were passed First; All skips will be appointed in April instead of in December. Second: That any regularly elected skip of the club may on or before January 3 enter a rink for the Tankard or District Cup. And that an elimination competition of eighteen end games be arranged by the scedule committee, winners of which shall represent the Peterborough Club in the Tankard and District Club matches. The committee to secure from the skips of the rinks entering a guarantee that they are prepared to represent the club if successful in the elimination series.

An amendment to allow the skips to choose their own rinks was lost.

Surprised Or Astonished.

Fine Distinctions Can Be Drawn in Words For Clearer Expression.

There are many words in the English language that have almost the same meanings, and yet a fine line of distinction should be drawn where the aim is to use the most expressive word for the particular purpose.

In the New Universities Dictionary a little story is told—yet, a little story, for this is much more than a dry book of words—which illustrates the difference between the two words "surprise" and "astonish", which are so often used synonymously. The story runs as follows:

When Mrs. Blank discovered her son taking a glass of milk from the cupboard late at night, she told him she was surprised. He replied: "No, you are astonished; I'm surprised."

The boy was taken unawares, so he was "surprised"; but his mother was "astonished," or she might have been "amazed."

This new dictionary, which is being offered through announcements appearing in these columns from day to day, is the most useful volume of the kind ever published. It is new throughout, and every reader may have one by taking advantage of the offer explained in the coupon printed elsewhere in this issue.

WORLD REVOLUTION TO SPRING FROM DEFEAT OF IMPERIALISM SAYS CANTONESE GENERAL

Commander Warns Troops That They Must Not Attack Foreigners Or Their Property—Hopes To Overthrow China's State Of Vassalage.

ARMED MOB MAKES DEMONSTRATION BRITISH POSTS HOLD THEIR FIRE

All Foreign Residents Are Now in Refuge Behind Barricades of International Settlement—Situation in Shanghai Is More Peaceful To-day.

SHANGHAI, March 23 (Canadian Press).—Shanghai is to become the "base for a world revolution," says a manifesto issued by General Pai Taung Hsi, Cantonese Commander, to the Chinese people today, but foreigners must not be attacked or insulted or their property destroyed.

"For eighty years," the manifesto reads, "the Imperialists, under the protection of unequal treaties, have reduced China to a state of vassalage.

"After the Revolution of 1911 the foreign Imperialists continually supplied Chinese Imperialists with rifles and guns, with which they have waged war for the last fifteen years.

"On the one hand, the foreign Imperialists have checked the development of Chinese education and industries, and on the other hand have secured for themselves special privileges.

"But the Chinese now have awakened, and Shanghai, the greatest commercial centre in the Far East, will become not only a strong base for Chinese Nationalism, but for a world revolution.

"The people must distinguish, however, between attacking Imperialism and foreigners. They must not insult the foreigners and destroy their property."

General Pai urges arbitration in order to avoid strikes and deprecates the exorbitant demands which would result in closing the factories altogether.

Fire In the Air.

An armed mob numbering five hundred made a demonstration this morning before the British posts guarding the north-east boundary of the international settlement. The demonstrators fired their rifles in the air. The troops did not fire and the mob finally withdrew.

The defeated Shantung troops who have been disarmed by the British and Japanese troops are to be shipped out of the city immediately. More than three thousand are leaving at once for Tsingtao.

Foreigners Flee.

Continued firing in the districts north of the international settlements — Dixwell Road and Hong Kow—caused the last of the foreign residents of those sections to withdraw to-day to the international settlement. Among those withdrawing were eleven missionaries who previously had returned here from inland points on account of disorders.

Under direction of the municipal authorities 456 foreigners were brought in to-day from those outly-

COMMISSION TO PROBE RAISING OF SIVLER FOXES

Amendments To Fur-Bearing Act Concern Registry Changes.

QUESTION PEDIGREE.

First Reading Given To Bill Amending Public Works Act.

TORONTO, March 23.—An investigation into the fox breeding industry in Ontario, to be conducted by an independent commission of three during the recess after the present legislature session adjourns, was announced by Hon. Chas. McCrea in the House yesterday.

The enquiry will concern the pedigreeing and alleged duplicate registration of foxes. The commission, said Mr. McCrea, wil be made up of a representative of the fox breeders who are members of the Canadian national association, a representative of breeders not in this organization and not under C.N.A. registry, and a member of the department.

Amendments to the act for the protection of fur-bearing animals, proposed by Mr. McCre, which concern changes in the fox registry, were defended in the House by Mr. McCrea, who denied that his plan would result in duplicate registering. He said, however, that before any change was made in the act he had decided that a full enquiry into conditions and problems of the fox-breeding industry from the standpoint of registry and pedigreeing of stock, was advisable.

This investigation will be by a commission independent of the House," he said. The amendments will be held up, therefore, until next session.

First readings were given to a bill to amend the public works act introduced by Hon. Mr. Henry, the object of which was to vary the division of cost of labor, now fifty-fifty, between the local authority and the operating company.

Mr. A. F. McWhinney (Liberal, North Bruce) introduced a bill to amend the provincial courts act. Hon. Mr. Price introduced the customary act preliminary to the revision of the Ontario statutes, similar to that of 1914; 304 or 305 bills, he said would be attached.

Premier Ferguson introduced a bill to amend the public services act and one giving authority to the medical authority to dispose of funds in connection with the Banting Foundation.

TRENT DEPUTATION TO OTTAWA THIS SESSION IS FOWLD'S HOPE

Explain Importance of Canal To New Minister.

ATTRACT TOURISTS.

Brighter Outlook Seen For Hastings Pavements.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, March 23. — Marshalling a deputation to Ottawa to urge the completion of the Trent Canal is likely to entail an expense that will bear rather heavily upon the comparatively light resources of the Trent Waterways Development Association.

The president, Walter M. Fowlds, told the Examiner yesterday, that he had received quite a number of letters approving of the proposed trip, but he realized that it would probably cost considerable money.

"However," he said, "it is all part of our work of developing the Trent by any means in our power, of reminding the Government that the canal is not complete, and of attracting tourists by a water route from which the expedient of a marine railway has been removed. Personally, I think we should go to Ottawa. We have a new Minister of Canals, who possibly is not fully acquainted with the importance of our waterway, and a deputation in a nice way could emphasize the need of finishing a scheme which needs only this last link. I believe we should go some time before the end of the session and I expect we shall have arrangements made before long."

Prospects of Pavement.

Hastings' petition for a paved strip of twenty feet on the streets connecting the county roads in Peterboro and Northumberland counties, will be submitted again to the county council in June. An engineer of the Highways Department recently told the local deputation that Hastings had first claim in the United Counties to this form of road assistance, the cost of which is equally borne by the county and the province. The town would pay for the construction of the macadam road on both sides of the pavement. Mr. Muir will represent the Department at the June session of the counties council and Hastings' claim will be vigorously pressed by Reeve Hess.

The town has received no relief toward county road work although the traffic of two counties converges on its main streets to cross the Trent River. Hastings has been paying for years towards the county road system and now asks that some of the counties' funds be diverted toward the improvement of the local streets, which have already been diverted. There is already considerable sentiment in the Counties' Council favorable to the request and the June sesion may endore it for the Government's co-operation.

'PEACHES' SURE TIDE WILL TURN

Has Many Offers To Enter Vaudeville—Won't Seek Annulment.

HAS DOWER RIGHTS.

NEW YORK, March 23.— (Canadian Press.) — Francis "Peaches" Browning was somewhat more optimistic to-day over the loss of the separation suit against her wealthy husband, Edward W. Browning.

"I've got $150 in the bank, my apartment rent is paid until the first of April—and who knows but the tide may change by then,' said Peaches. "March always was my hoodoo month, anyway. That's the month in which I met Mr. Browning, and now Judge Seeger's decision comes in March."

"Peaches," who attended a Broadway show last night with a young man escort, says she has numerous vaudeville and night club offers, but has not decided whether she will accept any of them.

Henry Epstein, her counsel, said Mrs. Browning will not seek an annulment, pointing out that under the laws of New York State she is entitled to dower rights amounting to nearly $500,000 in case of the death of Mr. Browning.

Mother Punishes Son With Bowl Of Hot Water

BUFFALO, March 23 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Murphy is charged with second degree assault because she is alleged to have dumped a bowl of boiling water on her son, Oliver, 16, when he did not give a satisfactory explanation of his late homecoming. The water, poured out of a window, badly scalded the boy, but he will probably recover.

MINISTER OF CANALS FAVORABLE TO PETERBORO' DEVELOPING DAMS

Hon. G. N. Gordon and J. J. Duffus at Ottawa.

REPAIR OLD DAMS.

Completion of Trent Valley Canal Is Also Discussed.

With regard to the development of Dams 4 and 5, the Honorable G. N. Gordon, K.C., and J. J. Duffus interviewed the Minister and the Deputy Minister of the Department of Railways and Canals yesterday in Ottawa.

Mr. Dunning informed them that they were getting reports on Dams 4 and 5 but they did not have the construction under contemplation this year. He said that they were getting ready to reconstruct the dam at lock 24, of which plans and specifications were now in the course of preparation with a view to calling for tenders.

This dam is situated below Lakefield and supplies power to the Canada Cement Company of that village.

They were informed that the government is following a course of repairing the older dams that are showing signs of trouble, thus getting them into first class shape.

Mr. Dunning informed them that the Government was very much disappointed that practically no merchandise was carried from Lake Ontario to Peterborough. That section of the canal, he said, was finished in the hope that coal and other products would be carried by barge, but apparently the saving of time makes it more profitable to ship by rail.

Mr. Gordon told The Examiner that some years ago he tried to get the assurance of the Quaker Oats Co. that they would put on a system of barges to bring their wheat from Georgian Bay if the canal was finished, because he understood that the Quaker Oats Company had power in their charter to establish a boat line. "I could not get that assurance, and the then Minister of Railways and Canals said that he did not feel like recommending the expense unless there was an assurance that the expense would be justified by the shipping from Georgian Bay to Peterborough coming down the canal. That is the difficulty to-day," he declared.

Mr. Dunning left the impression with both Mr. Gordon and Mr. Duffus that the Government feared that spending a large sum to finish the Severn division would not substantially increase the canal traffic. The marine railway connecting the two unfinished portions of the canal was enlarged and is not a very inconvenient means of carrying boats across the unfinished portion in order that they may go on to Georgian Bay, as it will carry a boat 55 feet long, and in some cases boats as long as 65 feet.

The impression gained from the interview was that if the City of Peterborough desires to develop dams 4 and 5 the Government would be willing to permit them to do it, and would also be willing and no doubt would share in the cost, as the dams would be useful to them as one of the links in the system of water control, Mr. Gordon said.

Relic Of Light Brigade Owned By Local Resident

A relic of the Charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava, in the form of a belt worn by Sergeant Pollock, at that time a trooper in one of the Hussar regiments that took part in the famous charge, is now in the possession of J. H. Edmison, Woodlawn Avenue, Peterborough.

The belt was given to Mr. Edmison by Sergeant Pollock, who afterwards worked on his father's farm. On the buckle is a mark caused by a Russian bullet which it deflected in such a manner that it passed through Pollock's thigh and killed the horse upon which he was riding.

BALKAN DISPUTE NOT FOR LEAGUE

Trouble With Jugo-Slavia Has Blown Over, Officials Believe.

BRITISH VIEWPOINT.

LONDON, March 23.— (Canadian Press.)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, Secretary of Foreign Affairs, informed the House of Commons to-day that according to his information it would not be necessary to refer the dispute between Italy and Jugo Slavia to the League of Nations.

British officials believe latest Balkan war cloud has about blown over. This view is based on a conference between Sir Austen Chamberlain, and the Marquis Della Torretta at Foreign Office yesterday, in which the Italian ambassador gave Sir Austen reasons for Italy's alarm over the Albanian situation.

The Marquis also expressed the view that it was largely due to the prompt action of the Italian government in informing the powers of its suspicion of Jugo Slavia's intentions towards Albania that dangerous developments were averted. Downing street considers the incident closed.

Centenarian Receives Two Marriage Proposals

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., March 23.—(United News.)—Girls who lack what Elinore Glynn knows all about— you can never quite get boy friends to pop the question—can learn a thing or two from Mrs. Ida Goldberg. Mrs. Goldberg has received her second proposal of marriage since she celebrated her 106th birthday at the United Home for Aged Hebrews on Sunday. The first came from a 34 year old Philadelphian. The second from John Oyesten, a Pottstown, Pa., swain.

"Let's keep them in suspense," said Mrs. Goldberg.

COOLIDGE DENIES RECIPROCITY PACT IS PLANNED

No Consideration Has Been Given Subject By Washington.

NEEDS MUCH STUDY.

President Has No Right To Entirely Remove Duties.

WASHINGTON, March 23. — There has been no consideration given to the subject of reciprocity with Canada by the United States Government, the White House officially announced yesterday.

The suggestion of Prime Minister King, of course, has been read with interest by American officials, but no action has yet been taken, nor is any contemplated, the President's spokesman said.

Require Much Study.

Mr. Coolidge is of the opinion that such a proposal would require the most earnest consideration by this Government before any agreement with Canada is engaged in. No quick judgment on the subject would be justified and therefore President Coolidge made it known yesterday that he could not make an affirmative statement on the subject without having all the details of the proposal before him.

The impression in Canada that there is a reciprocity act on the American statute books now affecting relations with Canada is erroneous. There are no reciprocal arrangements in effect between the Ottawa and Washington Governments at the present time by which imports to either country would be admitted free.

Equal Cost of Production.

On the contrary the American disposition is to assess all imports from Canada with a levy that would equal the cost of production at home. This feeling is said to have been of long standing, and to have been responsible for the levies now asked for many Canadian imports to the United States.

The President under the present tariff act has the power to reduce certain levies that now prevail, but the act is not considered as giving Mr. Coolidge the right to entirely remove duties on any imports from Canada. As a matter of fact the flexible tariff act was passed for the purpose of permitting the President to increase levies in order to protect American producers, rather

OFFICERS EXAMINING GOODS NOT QUALIFIED APPRAISERS COMMISSION TOLD AT PROBE

Often Not Trained To Judge Quality, Witness Says.

OFFICERS REINSTATED.

Strict Precautions Taken in Bonded Sales of Alcohol.

TORONTO, Ont., March 23 — (Canadian Press.) — Two customs officers suspended for misappropriation of funds and later found guilty of the offence, were subsequently reinstated in their positions by Ottawa.

This was revealed to the Customs Royal Commission yesterday, the names of the two officers in question being withheld.

Customs Inspector S. O. Clemlo, whose headquarters are at Hamilton, gave the information in regard to these officers under questioning by R. L. Calder, K.C., counsel for the commission. Mr. Calder drew his attention to certain files covering special investigations which Mr. Clemlo had made on instructions from Ottawa. In the first case Mr. Clemlo said, the employee had admitted his guilt and made restitution of the amount misappropriated. In the second case, which occurred at St. Catharines, the employee was found to have been holding out money for his own use, and then replacing it later.

"What effect would the reinstatement of these men have on the customs service" questioned counsel.

"I cannot think it would have a good effect," was the reply.

Mr. Calder intimated that there would be further investigation of these cases when the commission goes to Ottawa.

Customs officials again held the stage before the commission almost throughout the day's sitting. During the afternoon, Mr. Calder called inspector after inspector to tell the commissioners of conditions in the particular districts coming under their jurisdiction. Fred W. Wood, inspector, with headquarters at Oakville, Ont., he elicited the opinion that one of the weaknesses of the customs lies in the fact that officers examining importations are not qualified appraisers. While they can check off quantities against invoices they are often not trained to judge quality. At small places where there are no examining warehouses there was sometimes no examination.

"The good faith of the importer, and the invoice for the goods are accepted?" queried Mr. Calder.

"Yes," replied the witness.

Friendly Fencing Bout Ends In Tragic Death

PARIS, March 23. — (United News.)—A friendly fencing bout at the Cercle Roche last night ended tragically when one of the participants bled to death after his lung had been pierced.

M. Guilmaud and M. Gentil, two industrialists, were fencing, when suddenly Guilmaud's foil broke and as the point flew aside the rest of his instrument pierced Gentil's body, puncturing his lung. Gentil lived only a few minutes.

TAX INSPECTOR PRAISES STAFF OF POST OFFICE

Forms Are Now Available For This Year's Tax Returns.

$50 PENALTY.

Most Interested Persons, Those Returning Amounts Paid To Employees.

W. L. Doyle of Belleville, Inspector of Taxation, was in the city yesterday, organizing the distribution of taxation forms, and in conversation with The Examiner, complimented the Post Office staff upon the effective way in which the handling of income tax forms is carried out from year to year.

The Post Office is busy just now handing out the forms for these reports which are just about due. The most interested persons just now are the employers and corporations who have to return amounts paid to the employees during the calendar year 1926.

Form T-4 is due to be filed at the Inspector's office in Belleville not later than March 31. A penalty of $50 is provided for non-compliance with this requirement. Employers who have in their employ persons sufficiently lucky to receive $1,000 during 1926, and those who were paid at the rate of $1,500 should complete these forms. They are for the benefit of checking the returns of employees.

The T-5 forms of returns for corporations should show the amount of dividends paid to shareholders during 1926, and is an importane one.

While ordinary income tax returns are not required to be filed until April 30, most people are securing them now. The exemption in the case of single men is the same as last year, $1,500. The exemption for married men is $3,000. The recent amendment did not change in any way the return of taxation, but the payment is calculated in the same way as formerly and 10 per cent is then deducted from the total.

Some Need Not Report

Persons not liable to taxation are not required to file returns unless they are requested by the Department, but if on being requested, they are found liable to taxation, then they are subject to fine and then must pay interest from the date when they should have filed until the date of payment.

Form T-4 due on the 31st of March is that on which returns of executors of estates must be made. This should show the amounts received by the beneficiaries of all the estates and the Department particularly stresses the necessity of this form being completed by executors. It is found that through neglect, executors are liable for years of delinquency. This is one form of which the responsible parties seem unaware, and it is one, on the filing of which the Department lays particular stress.

THE WEATHER

There was another cold dip last night, the temperature going down to ten degrees above zero. While this may not be very cold, as our winters in this section go, it was probably an unpleasant surprise, and painful experience, to some of our spring birds which left more southern climes for northern latitudes. However, it only goes to show that as weather forecasters they are as prone to error and no more reliable than man with all his knowledge, science, and weather instruments.—W. P.

DISCUSS DATE FOR CONVENTION

Sir George Perley Heads Committee Named To Consider Place.

AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 23.—(Canadian Press.)— The committee appointed to consider the date and place of the National Conservative convention met here yesterday under the chairmanship of Sir George Perley.

It was decided that double constituencies, for example, Ottawa and Halifax, which are entitled to two representatives in the House of Commons, should have the right to select eight additional delegates and eight substitute delegates, in addition to the sitting members or defeated candidates. The committee also unanimously carried the resolution that where the Conservative members, or Conservative candidate, at the last general election, had since died, such constituencies should have the privilege of selecting an additional substitute delegate to attend and act in the place of such member or candidate since deceased.

At the meeting of the committee held in February it was decided that the Provincial Conservative organization or association in each province should have control of the work of organization in that province for the National convention. Yesterday's meeting passed a resolution recommending that those selected by each constituency as delegates, or substitute delegates, should either be resident in such constituency or closely identified with the organization and work for the Conservative party in that riding.

The committee were unanimously of the opinion that where a constituency sent a full quota of delegates to the convention, each delegate should have one vote on each ballot, and where owing to some insurmountable and unforseen difficulty the entire number are not present, then those selected delegates present—in addition to polling one vote each — should be entitled to decide by a majority vote of those who were present how or in what proportion the votes of those selected to represent such riding who were not present should be polled.

English Bridesmaids Scarce Talk Of Paying Them Fees

LONDON, March 23 (A.P.). —Bridesmaids are becoming scarce for society weddings and it is quite possible that those available in the future will demand a fee for their services.

This has come about not through any particular shortage of girls, but from the fact that the old superstition still prevails if a girl has been a bridesmaid more than twice she will never be a bride herself. Also it is an expensive luxury being a bridesmaid now that incomes are somewhat depleted and dress material so expensive.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

SONNY'S ROOM

If something's missing from the shelf,
Some book you're halfway through,
If Father cannot shave himself,
The strop has vanished, too,
Whatever may be missing still,
Lost by no matter whom,
Don't really give it up until
You look in Sonny's room.

Today his mother straightened up
His room a little bit.
She found the hammer, and a cup,
The automobile kit,
A box of crackers, and the saw,
A history by Hume,
A volume of commercial law,
All up in Sonny's room.

Yet, when we cannot find a trace
Of razor-strop or book,
I'm glad there's still another place
That one can always look.
In fact we find, we find a lot,
The scissors, or the broom,
We'd never find if it were not,
I guess for Sonny's room.

GENEVA, March 23.—The States Council of Geneva has just passed a law for the internment of habitual drunkards, without regard to their social status. They will be sent to a home in Duchal for treatment and medical care at the expense of the canton.

OPPOSITION TO CHINA POLICY DIES IN LONDON

"Thank Heaven, Troops Are There," is General Sentiment.

PRESENT INVASION.

Government Trusting Eugene Chen's Power To Avert Danger.

LONDON, March 23.—Despite reassuring statements from Government officials here who are pinning absolute faith in Eugene Chen's power for good will to ensure the inviolability of the international settlement at Shanghai, the news of British casualties in that city is causing the greatest anxiety throughout Great Britain.

"Thank heaven the troops are there," is the general sentiment in London, and Labor's opposition to the Government's policy has almost faded away, particularly as it has been demonstrated that only the prompt action of the Foreign Secretary and his colleagues in despatching British troops to the Far East prevented the foreign quarter in Shanghai being invaded by the Chinese.

Trust to Chen.

The Government still believes that Chen can avert the worst dangers at Shanghai and that he will do so, but the activities of the general labor union which is exploiting the situation for Communist purposes have created a perilous situation and one that makes the task of the British commanders difficult in the extreme.

Tientsin Problem.

Nevertheless it is fervently hoped that the sinister menace will have passed in a few days, and that the victorious Cantonese will devote their activities to the purely military object of conquering Northern China. A further problem, however, will then arise because Tientsin, where there is another foreign concession, is on the road to Pekin, and it will be necessary for the British to protect their interests there. In the latter city there is a large British colony, and while at present the Government's efforts are concentrated on the defence of British lives and property at Shanghai, the problem of Tientsin hovers in the distance.

BURNBRAE LADIES ARE ENTERTAINED

Guests of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid at Campbellford on Thursday.

CAMPBELLFORD March 23.—St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid Society entertained the ladies of the Burnbrae Ladies' Aid Society on Thursday afternoon in the Sunday school room. The rooms were gaily decorated with the emblems in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

The meeting opened with a few well-chosen remarks by the president Mrs. J. A. Anderson, "On behalf of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Andrew's church, it is a pleasure to me to extend a hearty welcome to our friends of Burnbrae Ladies' Aid Society in meeting with us today and I am also delighted to include in this expression of welcome to Rev. Mr. McKenzie and Rev. Mr. Grier and we trust that this occasion may be a real pleasure to all."

The programme was well received. "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung after which Mr. Grier led in prayer. Mrs. F. De Carroll sang a solo, "Garden of My Heart." A contest, "Game of Nations" was then held, those having the nearest answer correct receiving suitable souvenirs. Mrs. McKenzie received a flower vase for her answer. Miss Lillian Hay gave a reading, "The Difference", which was enjoyed by all. Mr. McKenzie then gave an excellent talk on St. Patrick's Day. A St. Patrick contest was then conducted, Mrs. Charles McKelvie receiving a pin tray as a souvenir for her answer, which was the nearest correct.

The Campbellford ladies then served an excellent lunch. Mrs Grier and Mrs. James Allan poured tea. The tea tables were decorated with St. Patrick emblems and green candles made a very pleasing picture.

Mrs. Oddie, president of the Burnbrae Society, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Campbellford Society for their pleasant entertainment. Mrs. Thomas Watson, as seconder for that motion, also echoed Burnbrae's thanks. Rev. Mr. McKenzie also spoke and thanked the ladies for their pleasant visit.

Mrs. Anderson made a fitting reply to these motions after which the meeting was dismissed.

We, your friends and neighbors, have assembled here tonight to bid you a kind adieu from our community, where you have been associated with us a number of years. During the years you have lived in our neighborhood we have learned to know you and to esteem you and appreciate you. You have ever been ready to help in times of need.

Thus it is with feeling of regret that we meet to spend an evening with you ere you go. We are glad that you are not going so far that we cannot have the pleasure of meeting with you occasionally and have a sociable time with you.

We ask you to accept this library table as a small appreciation, not for its value, but as a kindly offering from your neighbors and friends. We trust that you may have health and prosperity in your new home. With God's blessing.

Signed: William Tait, Thomas Harren.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell:

Dear friends:

We have learned that you will soon be leaving our community, so have assembled here to wish you Godspeed. As we look back on the years you have been connected with this church, we wonder who will fill the places which you have filled among the different organizations of the church, with which you have been connected. We feel that the choir will miss you most.

Your willingness at all times to do your bit and be of service has won for you a host of friends, and as you go to your new home, to form new friendships and assume new responsibilities, be assured that the best wishes of your many friends here will follow you.

Though you are leaving we are glad to know that you will not be far away, and we hope you will often come back to renew old acquaintances.

As a slight token of our friendship and esteem, will you accept these chairs, and may God spare you many years of good health to enjoy them. As you use them may they remind you of your friends at Morganston.

It has been mentioned before that we will miss Mrs. Campbell very much from our choir. The choir have appreciated her help and leadership. This little token is a special remembrance from the choir. Kindly accept it in the spirit in which it is given.

Signed on behalf of the Community Church and choir: Walter Carr, C. W. Massey, Myrtle Hardy.

FLU EPIDEMIC ON TROOP SHIP

Four Passengers Already Dead on U. S. Vessel "Chateau Thierry"

SPEEDING TO PORT.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. — (United Press.)— A severe influenza epidemic was raging yesterday aboard the army transport Chateau Thierry en route from the east coast to San Francisco, radio messages said.

The despatches to army headquarters here said four passengers have died and that 50 cases of the disease have appeared.

In an attempt to obtain medical aid for the stricken passengers, the ship is sailing at top speed. She is expected to arrive in San Francisco to-night, a day and a half ahead of schedule.

Aboard the Chateau Thierry are congressmen and their families and 578 enlisted men, most of whom are en route to duty in Hawaii.

Official information here showed that no congressmen or other first-class passengers are among the dead on the ship. The deaths were reported to be among the nearly 500 enlisted men en route to Hawaii.

The 59 cases of influenza, however, may include some members of congress or their wives, as six of those ill were said to be among the first-class passengers.

STEPHEN WATSON.

Mrs. Bell, assisted by Mrs. Henson, served a very dainty lunch and had a prize been given for the gentleman making the most of his opportunities in this direction, it is a matter of conjecture who would have won.

Repairing to the recreation room the guests of the evening engaged in a game of "ping-pong," C. S. Weston proving himself the most adept at the indoor net game.

to, caused Mr. Calder to comment on the optimism of the witness. Mr. McQuire had absolutely no complaints to make of insufficiency of staff. When asked as to the sufficiency of the appraisal staff at Toronto, he said he had been talking to the collector and "he said he had all kinds of men." This witness stated that there are out four thousand sales tax licenses in the district under his direction, and that they were audited by seven men six in Toronto, and one in London.

It was brought out that there are about 350 bonded factories enjoying licenses in Ontario. These licensed factories manufacture certain soaps, essences tooth pastes and other things in which alcohol is an ingredient. As the alcohol is released to them at a much lower duty than for beverage purposes they are bonded to make sure that it is properly used. John E. Gow, in charge of the inspection of bonded factories, said that he was able to devote from 30 minutes to half a day to the inspection of a single factory.

To-day the commission will make further inquiry into the disappearance of certain books of O'Keefe's Beverages, Ltd., which are required by the auditors.

During the course of yesterday's sittings, it was suggested that persons failing to make sales tax returns, be fined.

MAKE WINDSOR PORT OF CALL

Gives Great Lakes Corporation Participation In Trans-Atlantic Commerce.

1927 SEASON.

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 23 (Canadian Press).—Announcement was made yesterday at the general offices of the Great Lakes Transit Corporation that Windsor, Ontario, would be made a port of call by the freight ships of that fleet beginning with the opening of the 1927 season, through an arrangement with the Canadian Pacific Railway. This, the officers of the corporation say, will give its vessels participation in trans-Atlantic commerce through the ports of Montreal and Quebec.

It provides for the establishment, effective March 28, of joint through rail and rail-lake-and-rail differential freight rates from New England via Windsor, Ontario, to Chicago, Milwaukee, Mississippi River and related points via Lake Michigan.

Arrangements have also been concluded for the establishment of a rail-and-lake route for the handling of import traffic in connection with the lines named, from Quebec and Montreal to points on, or reached via Lake Michigan and Superior, but the date upon which this becomes effective has not yet been set.

The rates from New England and the Canadian points will be published to apply also as factors on traffic moving to Western and North-Western points, including the Pacific Coast.

An official of the G.L.T.C. said:

The establishment of the import service from Quebec and Montreal will result in opening up entirely new territory to routes of his corporation and will permit movement over its lines, of traffic originating at and beyond the trans-Atlantic ports of the old world, reaching the North American continent through Montreal and Quebec."

than to permit him to cut the tariff rate.

In any event officials in touch with the tariff law declare that the Mackenzie King suggestion would never be put into actual practice without the whole subject of tariff rates being considered by the American Congress. Of course, it is true that the Democratic party is committed to a policy of free trade and gestures have already been made that at the coming session of Congress an attempt will be made by the Democrats to pass some tariff reform which will have the effect of removing some of the high levies now provided under the Republican tariff bill.

LECTURE ON IRELAND GIVEN IN LAKEFIELD

Rev. Monsignor McCall Addresses Members of Holy Name Society.

LAKEFIELD, March 23.—Rev. Monsignor McColl of Peterborough gave a lecture on Ireland in the Queen Street Theatre on Thursday evening, March 17th, under the auspices of the Holy Name Society of St. Paul's Church.

In honor of the festival of St. Patrick a pot of shamrock ornamented the piano and the table on the platform. While the audience was gathering, Mr. G. G. Connell played the piano, the selections being Irish, some of the modern Irish songs mingling with the dear old airs beloved and sung by all the Anglo-Saxon race. Thomas Sullivan Jr. also gave several violin selections accompanied by Mr. Connell.

Dr. M. P. Kennedy occupied the chair and welcomed the audience on behalf of the Holy Name Society of St. Paul's Church. This is the second of a series of lectures given the Holy Name Society, and there will be others, some of a religious character and some secular, and the Society will welcome all those who are interested to these lectures whether they are members of the Society or of the parish or not. Several musical selections preceded the lecture including a solo by Mrs. Osborne, who sang "Where the River Shannon Flows," and responded to an encore, singing "Moira"; Mrs. M. P. Kennedy and Mr. G. G. Connell furnished the accompaniments. "The Kerry Dances" and "Killarney" were also expressively rendered during the evening.

Very Rev. Father McColl began by saying he liked to lecture on Ireland, as there was such a wealth of material to choose from. Listening to the Irish songs brought back to remembrance the scene at Killarney, which he visited in 1908; "It is one of the most beautiful places in the world, if not the finest," he declared. He spoke on the time in Ireland's history when St. Patrick visited [illegible] and the [illegible] There was [illegible] of civilization due to the teachings of Christ. The Irish race is very old, the Celtic race settled Ireland 1264 B.C., and were highly civilized for pagan people. Previous to that we are dependent on legendary history, but the Celts came from Spain to Ireland. Asia is of course the cradle of the whole human race, and from there Europe was settled.

It is written that a widowed woman named Scotia and her three sons left Spain and with a number of followers sailed to Ireland. Tradition says that Ir, the eldest son, died and was buried on the island which received his name "Ir's land," now Ireland. Queen Scotia and her followers settled the island to which St. Patrick came many years later.

St. Patrick landed in Ireland 432 A.D. In St. Patrick's day the Roman Empire was virtually master of the known world; it was the most important of all the ancient empires in a material sense, with good laws, and just and a well organized system of government. St. Paul, who was a Roman citizen, in his many conflicts with his enemies, always appealed to a Roman court. When the Roman Empire became Christian a splendid system of education was founded, and from that time we find many learned men known as the Fathers of the Church coming forward; these were St. Patrick, St. Ambrose of Milan, St. Jerome, St. Augustine the great, St. Basil and many others. Shortly after St. Patrick went to Ireland, the Roman Empire went to pieces because in its great prosperity the people became indolent and did not want to fight, and in consequence they allowed the migrations of hordes of barbarians who took possession of their countries, destroying schools and institutions which the civilization of the Roman Empire had built up. From the 5th to the 9th and 10th centuries are called the Dark Ages, when civilization had to fight for its very existence against the hordes which swarmed over the Roman Empire from north-eastern Europe, the Saxons and Danes each in turn overran England, the Northerners raided northern France and all destroyed churches and institutions of learning. These people had to be civilized, Christianized and assimulated, and the result is seen in the high European and American civilization of the present day.

St. Patrick who was consecrated Bishop, landed in Ireland with his followers and met with great success, and during his lifetime he saw the whole country become Christian. It is a tribute to the high type of the civilization of Ireland at that period that during its Christianizing there was not a single martyr, which is a unique record in a pagan country. The Roman Empire took 350 years to Christianize and thousand of martyrs gave their lives. St. Patrick was a remarkable missionary, who loved Ireland, where he had been a slave and prisoner as a boy and after his escape he resolved to return and give the blessing of Christianity to the people.

Various estimates are given as to the age of St. Patrick at the time of his death, but he can't have been more than forty years in Ireland, and he left the country Christian with churches and institutes of learning; there were large schools, one with 3,000 pupils. Education was introduced through the monasteries with the Monks and Sisters as teachers, and they can't be beaten in dealing with pagan people, for they concentrate on their work, giving all their time and energy to it, and concentration and organization brings success. An excellent system of education was built up in Ireland by the religious element and their converts. Ireland was not attacked by the barbarians until the 9th and 10th centuries, and from the 6th to the 9th centuries missionaries from Ireland visited Scotland and Christianized it and established the excellent system of education of Scotland. St. Columba [illegible] these missionaries 7th century Ireland had no [illegible] twelve religious houses in [illegible], besides many in France, Bavaria and Switzerland, the remains of many of these are still to be seen. An old Gaelic manuscript was found in an old religious house in Germany dating from the 6th century, the work of Irish and Scotch scholars who went to Europe to help educate the people during the barbarian migrations.

Charlemagne, the great Emperor of the West in 800 A.D., employed two Irishmen, Clement and Albenus, to establish the educational system. Irish scholars went to England and assisted in the same work there. We all hail from some part of Europe, and the re-establishing of civilization and education after the barbarian migration is due to the Irish.

Every missionary who wants to succeed starts schools as education is the handmaid of religion. Ireland has a magnificent history and enjoyed a great period of prosperity, when in the 9th and 10th century it was attacked by the Danes who, scouting a good rich prize, sailed up the rivers in light boats to rob, murder, burn and loot. The Danes were never driven out of Ireland nor were they driven out of England. King Alfred made peace and incorporated them into the country. The Northmen were never driven out of France for they have still many of the Northmen or Norman race.

Ireland, until 75 years ago, never received any government aid for her schools which were free to all, and the poor man was never excluded. Religious and wealthy people contributed service and money to the work and the poor were not taxed for them.

Ireland had a long period of tribulation and it now looks as if an era of prosperity was at hand, and Providence has something good in store for Ireland in the way of material prosperity.

Rev. J. J. Garvey thanked the participants in the programme and Monsignor McColl. "It was a happy choice when the reverend gentleman was selected for this occasion and his scholarly, well planned and developed discourse gives us a better appreciation of the origin of our race, which we often fail to value as we should. Hearing the lecture of tonight makes us proud of our ancestry," he declared.

Monsignor McColl is a busy man with a large parish and as Vicar-General of the diocese, he has many duties, but he is always ready to assist struggling parishes. We hope to have him with us again.

Dr. Kennedy spoke briefly a few words of appreciation of the great treat Monsignor McColl had given and felt assured that all in the audience who were Irish felt an added pride in their Mother Country and her magnificent contribution to the religious and educational history of Europe. In announcing the National Anthem, Dr. Kennedy said that Irishmen had been accused of not singing the National Anthem but that day, if it existed, is past, for Ireland enjoyed greater religious freedom and material prosperity under the present Sovereign than ever before. Catholics appreciate the freedom to exercise the rites of their religion. During the Great War the speaker spent four leave periods in Ireland and enjoyed the historic island with its wonderful beauty.

Signs of Spring

Sidewalks are now bare practically all over the village and while there is still an abundance of mud the roads are drying rapidly. During the past week several cellars have been pumped out after having been flooded temporarily by the thaw. In some cases drains were blocked by over zealous youngsters who in Spring love to emulate our national animal by building dams, the results were hard on the householders in the neighborhood of one of these barricades, as flooded cellars and sidewalks followed in quick succession.

Skipping ropes are out again, as the sure sign that Spring is here, and in the evening the welkin rings with the shrill cry of "Barbaree," a relic of the Dark Ages and a game the joy of children and the pet aversion of their seniors.

Scientists who have studied the effects of colors on the human mind and body say we ought to eat our meals in a red room, study in a green one, and sleep in a blue one. But the blue would have to be just the right blue, for some shades are depressing.

LADIES' GUILD PRESENTS PLAY

Concert Provided a Pleasant Evening for a Large Audience.

LAKEFIELD, March 23.— A dramatic entertainment was given in the Memorial Hall on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies Guild of Knox United church. The two act play, "The Last Loaf" was put on by the dramatic section of the Ladies' Aid of Warsaw United church and was a comedy drama with a strong temperance strain through it. The play was well acted and provided a pleasant evening for the large audience which was very appreciative of the humor and pathos of the play.

A male quartette of exceptionally good quality, sang during the interlude between the acts and Mr. Wallace Anderson contributed several recitations in his inimitable style.

C.G.I.T.

The regular meeting of the C.G.I.T. group was held on Wednesday evening last at 7 o'clock. The meeting was opened in the regular way with devotional exercises by Miss Thelma Carveth. The Bible lesson was read by Miss Marion Pearson.

After the business had been discussed Misses Elva Hendren and Mildred Purdy rendered a duet very acceptably after which a debate took place. The subject was: "Resolved that skating is a better and more healthful sport than swimming." Misses Mary Dever and Janet Charlton upheld the affirmative while Misses Eileen Brown and Madeline Junkin took the negative, both teams bringing out excellent point which rendered the task of the judges (Mrs. (Rev.) S. A. Kemp and Miss Helen Everett and Alma McCracken) the more difficult. After careful deliberation the decision was given to the affirmative.

After singing "Blest be the Tie That Binds" the meeting adjourned. The girls are putting on a play on March 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Simpson entertained the staff of the school, both High and Public schools, at their home on Queen street on Wednesday evening last. A delightful evening was spent.

On Thursday evening, March 31, Rev. Walter M. Loucks, M.A., of Toronto will give a lecture, "Success", in the Memorial Hall. There will be musical numbers and some moving pictures of local characters.

TRINITY WOMEN RAISE $1,752

Women's Missionary Society Close Very Successful Year.

ALLOCATION MET

At the closing meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of Trinity Church the reports showed that the year just ended was one of the best in the history of the society. The allocation of $1,752 for this society has been met, and they begin the new year with every encouragement that they will be able to sustain the very fine record of previous years. The reports revealed the system whereby the society is divided into groups has been most satisfactory, and it will continue in the present year to be the method employed. At the annual meeting the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. A. Bookhout.

1st Vice-President — Mrs. S. D. Carver.

2nd Vice-President—Mrs. N. D. Seaton.

3rd Vice-President—Mrs. A. B. Cunningham.

Recording Secretary — Miss N. Wood.

Corresponding Secretary — Mrs. H. Seabrook.

Treasurer—Mrs. S. Clegg.

On Sunday evening the pastor, Rev. D. Wren, conducted the annual service for the society. The music was given by a choir of female voices, who delighted the large congregation with several very splendid numbers.

The paster took for his theme, "Women's response to a world's need," from which a very close-fitting sermon was delivered appropriate for the occasion.

After pointing out the magnitude of the task of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, the preacher emphasized particularly the immediate need of bringing the Gospel to the home-makers of the non-Christian world. If the home can be made secure the nation will be secure, and civilization will be able to stand up under any and all pressure that may be brought against it. The verdict of history was that civilization began to perish when the home life showed signs of decay. The women of the Orient need the Gospel, and the women of the United Church have pledged themselves through the largest organization of its kind in the world to see that this need is met.

1867 · DIAMOND JUBILEE SERIES · 1927

The text in the book reproduced above is from "The Life and Work of Sir William Van Horne," by Walter Vaughan, in the "Makers of Canada," Vol. X. Published by the Oxford University Press, Toronto.

INCREDIBLE as it would have seemed to contemporaries, the Fenian Raids and the Riel Rebellion actually promoted rather than retarded the development of the Dominion towards its great destiny. Sir William Van Horne often declared that Canada ought to erect monuments to the leaders of these two movements. And why? Because the Fenian Raids galvanized public opinion into realizing the imperative need for a transcontinental railroad, and the Riel Rebellion justified the road in the mind of the Government.

The Fenians struck at various points in Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba. This emphasized the need of railway communication, if only as a means of defence. Followed the Riel Rebellion. News of it reached Van Horne who immediately offered the resources of the Canadian Pacific Railway to carry troops. Knowledge that the construction had progressed so far came as a surprise to the Government, and the offer was accepted gladly.

Although there were still several gaps in the line north of Lake Superior, these were bridged by sleighs. Troops, guns, and stores were rushed west over the Canadian Pacific route to help deal with the Rebellion. This practical demonstration removed the indifference which had prevented adequate financing, and funds were forthcoming to complete the line.

The Canadian Pacific Railway had demonstrated its strength and its value to Canada.

BLUE GLASSES FROM NOW ON.

There is something positively alarming in the announcement from male fashion arbiters that as many as seven colours are to be blended in men's suits for spring wear.

According to these forecasts, men will be called upon to go about in garments in which brilliant shades like red, royal blue, pink, green and yellow are blended.

Suits consisting of a brown worsted coat and vest with grey-striped trousers, the stripe harmonizing with the colour of the coat, are another possibility of the Easter fashion parade.

Of course, you don't have to wear this sort of raiment unless you want to, but from past experience it is impossible to escape the conviction that we have right here in Peterborough a lot of individuals who will attire themselves in these rainbow outfits without the least quiver of conscience.

The heroes who sauntered forth in those balloon trousers last year are not going to flinch from a mixture of seven colours—no such luck.

It looks as if blue glasses will be needed by the rest of the population.

CLEARING THE AIR.

Out of the conference which has been held by Canadian radio officials with the United States Radio Board it is hoped that beneficial results, not only for Canadian broadcasting stations, but for Canadian listeners-in, will follow.

Probably to a greater extent than the people of the United States, have set-owners on this side of the line been annoyed by the interference, and the pirating of wave lengths that have caused so much trouble in recent months.

Canadians feel that they are entitled to a fair proportion of the wave band in order that Canadian broadcasting may be carried on, and that, like listeners-in in the United States, they should be protected as much as possible against interference.

Conditions in the air for many months have been chaotic, but the new Radio Board is expected to bring about a greatly improved situation, by eliminating some of the less desirable stations and insisting that wave lengths and broadcasting hours be respected by the stations given a license to operate.

As a source of recreation and education, the radio is here to stay, and millions of people on the North American Continent are keenly interested in having the conditions made as satisfactory as possible.

THAT SEARCH CLAUSE.

The Liquor Control Act has passed its second reading, and will now be considered clause by clause in the committee stage.

The second reading was delayed to some extent by useless amendments introduced by Mr. Raney, who brought down upon himself as a result the ire of Premier Ferguson and a rebuke from Mr. Sinclair, the Liberal Leader, who could see no advantage at that stage in adopting the tactics favoured by Mr. Raney.

The various clauses of the bill are now under consideration by the House, and over some of them there is likely to be considerable debate.

While the bill as a whole is regarded as the best Government control measure yet introduced in a Canadian Province, there are some features that deserve consideration.

The clause authorizing search of private property without a warrant is viewed by many people with some alarm.

To give such power to enforcement officials is to run the risk of abuse of this authority; no matter how much care is taken in appointing officers, there are always to be found in such positions some men without sufficient discretion to be entrusted with such sweeping authority.

It is possible that this particular section of the Act may be amended before the bill receives its final reading.

DO NOT ENVY SAMSON.

Do not envy Samson or Hercules. The strong man is often the one who weakens first in the struggle for life. The man with moderate physical strength is the one who is likely to retain his health the longer and to get more enjoyment out of life.

A man who devotes much of his time in training his muscles to an exaggerated development, expecting at the same time to acquire a robust constitution, is making a double mistake. In the first place, he injures his health through over-exertion, and then his muscles assume a grotesque appearance which shocks the artistic eye.

If one observes the statues of athletes of ancient Greece, he will notice at first sight that there is no exaggeration in the size of muscles. Perfection and beauty demand moderation.

Athletics practiced in moderation may produce beneficial results, while if it is carried to excess it becomes disastrous. The man who is gone to waste through overtraining, will, sooner than he thinks, have to pay the penalty of his greatness.

Boys and young men seem to have a natural admiration for athletes. Nothing is more difficult than to discourage a boy who has made up his mind to become an athlete. For this, parents are largely to blame, as they often cite an athlete to their sons, as an ideal of manhood. It is rather remarkable that very often an athlete is a man of mediocre intellectual development.

If the following question is asked: What are the physical exercises recommended as likely to develop at the same time the body and the mind—mens sana in corpore sano?—the Bureau of Statistics of the Metropolitan Life will give the following answer: "For grown-up boys and young men, exercise in the open air in the form of games and plays, will contribute more than anything else towards obtaining a sound and healthy body, capable of prolonged endurance. For men of a more advanced age, especially those of sedentary habits, light gymnastics in the open air every morning, will suit the purpose."

MISS MacPHAIL'S WAY.

"Canada's only woman member of Parliament" has a fine, broad way of settling the most complex problems. The powers, she says, should dispose of the Chinese question by getting out of China "as quickly and as gracefully as they can." It is nothing to Miss MacPhail that this would involve the sacrifice of property worth billions of dollars—the investment of Britain in Shanghai alone was estimated recently at $1,500,000,000. She quotes with high approval a statement by one Earl Lautenslager, the "boy premier of Ontario," that he hoped in the event of another war Canadian boys would be "brave enough to be cowards." This, says Miss MacPhail, is a statement which should "ring through the years," and presumably the note would ring a little more clearly if the British and all other foreigners should permit themselves to be run out of China by the War Lords.

Miss MacPhail's plan is so beautifully simple that it might be adapted to many of the difficulties which vex statesmen. If there is a customs scandal, get rid of it by abolishing the customs so that no more men will be tempted! Should an officer be murdered by an Eskimo, meet the situation by withdrawing all Mounted Police from the North! Let the British navy be sunk and the British army disarmed and disbanded, that other nations shall not be led astray! If Chicago wants the water of the Great Lakes, and Washington wants our wood pulp supply, and somebody else wants our water-power—we should keep out of a great deal of trouble if, in the phrase Miss MacPhail finds so admirable, we were only "brave enough to be cowards."

Really, Miss MacPhail is not at her best when she enters the field of international politics.—Ottawa Journal.

A FRIVOLOUS PROPOSAL.

The proposal to convert Hamilton market into a Vanity Fair, as a part of the arrangements for celebrating the diamond jubilee of Confederation, is one which, it is to be hoped, the responsible authorities will not entertain. The market at that time of the year is a showplace in itself, and would be a far greater attraction to serious-minded visitors than any blaring midway could be. True, there should be provision for amusement, and there can be no objection to a little jollification; but everything in its place. If it is thought desirable to engage these carnival facilities, accommodation should be found for them elsewhere. The fair should not be made the central attraction. Officials who cast an envious eye on the extra revenue which might be brought into the city by the acceptance of the terms of this American amusement company should think also of the debit side of the account. The closing of the market would be a genuine loss to the community, buyers and sellers, while the money spent at the fair would be transferred from the pockets of Canadian citizens to those of foreign traders. Moreover, there would be the direct loss involved to Hamilton business interests.

Mr. Pratt's suggestion that the farmers should be encouraged to make increased efforts to impress visitors with the excellence of Hamilton's market is a good one. Under ordinary circumstances, the display of fruit and flowers never fails to inspire the enthusiastic admiration of tourists; by a special effort the market could be made one of the finest sights of the city as well as the best kind of advertisement of its amenities. It would be a blunder of the worst kind and a lasting humiliation to turn over this great municipal asset for the vulgar purposes of questionable side-shows. There is nothing novel about a noisy carnival. To abandon the market square to such a commonplace object would be to show a most deplorable lack of imagination and a disregard for the essential fitness of things. Hamilton is not so barren of ideas that it has to resort to such cheapjack methods of expressing its sentiments on this great historic occasion.—Hamilton Spectator.

"PUTTING THEIR BACKS INTO IT."

By declaring that Canada is "the land of opportunity for women as much as for men," Lady Byng of Vimy is giving this country some valuable advertising in Great Britain whither she has evidently returned in no uncertain mind concerning the advantages offered by Canada to the man or woman with a will to succeed. At the same time, Lady Byng has given some excellent advice to those British women who may be contemplating emigration. "It is the woman who is prepared to put her back into it and not care an atom what she does," she said, "who will make good and become a successful and prosperous settler."

The recent mistress of Rideau Hall might have added that whether a man is successful or unsuccessful in his new life and his new environment in Canada very often depends upon the qualities of the partner who accompanies him. The efforts of many a settler to make progress have been thwarted through the assistance denied him by an unambitious and complaining wife. In discouragement, many such men have abandoned what appears to be an unequal fight, have given up their holdings and returned in disappointment to the land whence they came. Conversely, many a shiftless and easily discouraged settler, filled with despair at ever wresting a livelihood from the soil, has been incited to renewed effort and has finally conquered his difficulties through the co-operation and aid of an untiring and optimistic help-mate, one who, to quote Lady Byng's words, has "put her back into it."

Establishing a homestead in Canada and endeavoring to gain a profit from the tilling of the soil is by no means an easy task. The most successful settlers have been those who have realized the truth of this from the outset of their labors, have prepared themselves for the disappointments and discouragements which have inevitably followed and have throughout "put their backs into it" to win the success and the prosperity which have finally come to them. If it can be impressed upon all of those, both men and women, who come to this country in search of position and wealth that "putting their backs into it" is a necessary corollary to success, there will be far fewer failures amongst settlers and far fewer men and women returning to Great Britain to spread bad news concerning Canada.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, March 23.—Cattle trade has developed a slow streak, in contrast to the activity of the past two weeks. Export requirements are much lighter than expected, and are likely to continue so for the next week or so. Liverpool buyers report no orders so far for next week. Local packers, however, seem to be taking care of the bulk of the heavy steers.

There was rather a heavy carry over from Monday on the market this morning, about 1,400 cattle. Run of fresh cattle was light, and prospects are that the market will clear for the week end, steady at Monday's 25c decline from last week.

Choice finished butcher steers, handy weights, 950 to 1,000 lbs., $7.25 to $7.75. Good medium butcher steers going at $6.75 to $7.25. Extra choice heavy beef steers, $7.50 to $8.25.

Fat cows, $5.50 to $6.25; medium, $4.25 to $4.50.

Calves, steady at $12 to $13.

Sheep and lambs steady, lambs, $18 to $18.50.

Hogs at $10.25 f.o.b. and $11.15 off cars. Bids 25c lower for yesterday's loading.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, March 23 (Canadian Press)—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling demand $4.85 3-16.

Sterling cables $4.85 3-4.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 23 (Canadian Press).—Grain prices rivalled Jack and Jill yesterday in regard to quick tumbling. A rush of liquidating sales overwhelmed the trading pits during the last hour, and all deliveries of wheat, corn and oats went headlong to lowest quotations yet this season. Lack of any adequate buying support was the chief apparent influence.

Wheat closed weak, 1 3-8 to 1 3-4c net lower; corn 1 to 1 7-8 to 2c down; oats 1 3-8 to 15-8c off, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of 10c.

Reports of delays to oats seeding had only a transient sustaining influence on the oats market.

Provisions were helped by an upturn in hog values.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, March 23 (Canadian Press).—Cattle 11,000; best heavy steers $12.75; long yearlings $12.25; bulk fed steers $9.50 to $11.50; most heavies $11.75 to $11.50; stockers and feeders very scarce $8.25 to $9.25; mostly; hogs 2,000; top $11.10; bulk desirable 150 to 200 pounds averages $11.70 to $11.20; 210 to 260 pound weights $11.00 to $11.75; butchers largely $10.70 to $11.00. Average 260 to 300 pounds; few big weights down to $10.60; most packing sows $10.00 to $10.25; kinds scaling 500 pounds upward 975; most slaughter pigs with finish $11.75 to $12.00.

Sheep 12,000; top $16.25; bulk wooled lambs $15.25 to $16.00; heavy lambs $15.00 to $15.50; top fat ewes $10.00; bulk $8.25 to $9.20.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 23 (Canadian Press).—There was some demand from foreign buyers for grain on the Montreal market yesterday and at the further decline in prices for wheat at Winnipeg, exporters were in a position to accept a few of the orders. Sales of No. 2 and No. 3 Northern, and tough No. 2 and No. 3 Northern were made.

Owing to the further weakness in corn futures at Chicago yesterday, local prices for cash corn were reduced 5 to 6 cents per bushel. American No. 3 Yellow was quoted at 82c, No. 4 Yellow at 80c, and Sample Corn at 78c per bushel ex-store. The market for Canadian Western oats was also weak and prices were reduced 2 to 2 1-2c per bushel.

The undertone to the Spring wheat flour market was easy, but there was no change in prices. The trade was quiet. The demand for Winter wheat flour was slow and prices were unchanged.

The millfeed market continued active and firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats showed no improvement, and the tone of the market was easy.

The market for eggs was without any special feature to note, prices being steady under a good demand. The receipts were 2,051 cases.

The trade in potatoes was quiet and prices ruled steady. Quebec White stock were quoted at $1.10 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

A feature of the local butter situation was the stronger feeling that developed in the market, and prices scored an advance of 1-4 to 1-2c per pound. This was attributed to the temporary scarcity of high grade supplies. Sales of New Zealand finest creamery were made at 44 1-2c per pound, and Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized regraded at 44c to 44 1-4c per pound. The receipts were 1,433 packages.

The demand for cheese continued of a very limited character, and the undertone was about steady. The receipts were 590 boxes.

FADS.

To the Editor of The Examiner:
Sir:

It seems a pity that we are so easily carried away by fads in Ontario. If the Government had all the power in Ontario in its hands what good would it do unless private enterprise made use of it? And what is it that keeps prices of goods and foods where they are? Competition. Government regulation is necessary at all times but Government monopoly will kill private enterprise of all sorts. All capital is private capital and comes from the people either as money earned or taxes. Unless its private owners are allowed to do what they like with their own they will desert us as they are doing. Hydro has killed this town and has killed the whole of Eastern Ontario. Regulation is the happy medium. But going from the extreme of private monopoly to the extreme of government monopoly is no good and Conservatives will wake up to it when they become a back number altogether. The Georgian Bay Canal as a public enterprise is nothing but a big steal and if anybody wants to build it they will have to have a bonus for doing it. Regulate prices but do not hamper private enterprise. If we do we will learn what fools we are, too late. It is a mistake for societies to discuss politics.

COMMON SENSE.

THEY CRITICIZE THE EXAMINER.

To the Editor:
Sir:

In reading over the account of the Havelock School Board meeting of March, published in the Peterboro Examiner of March 17th, we believe that in fairness to all a few corrections would be in order, as some of the statements are misleading.

The first paragraph gives the objections of two boys to take rifle practice, as the cause of the disturbance. This is not correct, as the matter of the boys refusing to take rifle practice did not come up until near the end of the meeting.

Then the second paragraph goes on to give the real reason for the disturbance, which was Mr. Roche's contention that there was an omission in the minutes of the February meeting, and the attempt of Chairman Thompson to have an addition made to the minutes in the form of a motion without a seconder. Mr. Thompson ordered the secretary to make an addition to the minutes as he dictated it, in spite of the fact that four Trustees and the Secretary were unanimous in their denial that the motion ever existed. This was the time when the only threatened breakup of the meeting occurred, when Mr. Fraser wanted to hold up proceedings until Reeve Curtis and Mr. Lancaster could be got to the meeting, and so have the proceedings of the meeting properly taken by the editor of our local paper.

Then further down the page, the exclamation of "No, no, you will not railroad me," supposed to be made by Mr. Fraser, is not correct. What he did say was, "Oh, no, you will not railroad anything like that into that minute book", and perhaps the exclamation was vehement, for when two men with average intelligence, as would be expected of Messrs. Roche and Thompson to have, would attempt to have additions made to the minutes of the February meeting, which if incorporated, would be an absolute lie, it is enough to excite the blood of any fair-minded citizen.

Then near the bottom of column six, page two, the statement quoting Mr. Fraser as referring to Messrs. Roche and Thompson as cadet boosters, is also absolutely wrong. What Mr. Fraser did tell Principal Hildred was, "To get out from under the thumbs of the clique that are ruling you, put more interest in your teaching and less in this cadet business, and you will have the support of the Board on maintaining discipline."

That the reporter from The Examiner got the impression that the cadet movement has a place in the hearts of the people of Havelock is easy to explain, as he was piloted around town by Mr. Thompson and was only taken to those who were of the same mind as Mr. Thompson, with the exception of one case, and as the statements of the favorable ones were published and the statements of the unfavorable was not, along with the fact that there are a number of business men in the village who are just as reliable as the ones interviewed, including the Reeve of the village, who one would naturally think would be the best authority to consult in getting an impartial view of a thing like that, and that these were not interviewed at all, leads one to the impression that the whole thing was a frame-up.

Then take the statement of Mr. Squire that 98 per cent. of the people of Havelock are in favor of cadet training. In answer the way to disqualify that statement, is to refer to the result of the School Board elections of 1926 and 1927. In 1926 there were three places to be filled on the Board. Two new men were elected, who were openly opposed to cadet training as it was being handled in our school, and as only those two new men were running, the only alternative was to fill the third place with a member of the old Board.

In 1927 there were three more seats to fill on the Board, contested by the three old members and three new men, all of whom were opposed to cadet training as handled in Havelock. As a result two of the new men were elected, but because of an extensive canvass for votes by Mr. Roche and his friends, he was also elected over the other new man, who did very little if any canvassing, and who was absent on election day.

In further proof of our contention that the sending of an Examiner reporter to the meeting was a frame-up, another reporter of The Examiner told a citizen of Havelock on the afternoon of March 16th, that there was going to be a big time at the school meeting that night, and that The Examiner had been requested to send a reporter down to write up the proceedings.

PAINFUL MENSTRUATION

The menstrual life of a woman is as varied as climate and racial development. Among all of the primitive races, the act of menstruation is performed without discomfort, and has as its object the ejection of an unfertile egg of microscopic size, which requires very little fluid or effort. Often only a thin, transparent serum is necessary for the purpose.

Scanty and irregular menstruation, however, is often the result of an anemic state of the blood, but is commonly caused by some form of gastro-intestinal derangement, which produces pressure upon the womb or ovaries, either by impacted feces or excessive gas pressure. The anemia must be cured by proper dietary changes, and the correction of all habits which produce the faulty metabolism.

Scanty and irregular menstruation can always be corrected when the causes are removed. To accomplish this, the first thing to do is to take a short fast, which will cleanse the blood of any accumulated poisons and at the same time temporarily relieve any pressure which may exist because of impacted feces or because of prolapsed organs. A suitable diet should then be taken, which will supply the blood with all of the necessary material required by the body. It is imperative that constipation be overcome, and for a considerable period of time it will be necessary to take one or two daily enemas, in order to be sure that no pressure exists from the accumulation of fecal matter in the intestines, which would press against the ovaries or womb.

If low blood pressure exists, it will often take several months before a normal menstrual flow is established, occurring at proper intervals. When such toxemias as tuberculosis or diabetes exist, these diseases must be cured and the patient well on the road to complete recovery before the body will have enough strength to re-establish the normal menses. While the valves of the heart are leaking, the circulation of the blood will be so weak that the menses will often cease until the heart is able to function properly.

A good stimulative treatment to use with the fast and diet regime is to take treatments once or twice daily by applying hot, moist towels to the lower abdomen, while lying relaxed on the bed. These treatments should continue for ten to fifteen minutes at a time. The effect which they will produce is a dilation of the capillaries in the lymphatic circulation in the lower abdominal region.

"Setting-up" exercises should be used each day in order to strengthen the abdominal muscles, so that the whole abdominal viscera will be raised to its proper position. Manipulative treatments will often assist in breaking down adhesions and freeing the circulation around the generative organs.

A long walk should be taken every day, beginning with one mile and gradually increasing the distance until you can walk four or five miles without fatigue. This will assist in toning up the muscles of the lower abdomen and will increase the heart action. Do not try to walk too far the first day, but increase the distance of your walk by only a few blocks daily. If you will do this, you will not overdo and will be eager for your walk the next day. If you will follow the suggestions above, I am sure that you will get very satisfactory results, and, in a large measure be relieved of your distressing symptoms

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TANGLED STRING

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

One day, soon after Uncle Wiggily had started out from his hollow stump bungalow to go adventuring, he heard behind him a voice calling:

"Wait and I'll go with you!"

"If that's one of the Bad Chaps he isn't going to get me!" said the rabbit gentleman to himself, quickly slipping inside a hollow log to hide amid the dried leaves. But peering out, Uncle Wiggily saw only his friend, Uncle Butter, the goat, so he knew he had nothing to fear and out of the log he came.

"Playing hide and go seek?" bleated Uncle Butter with a laugh.

"I thought you were the Fox or Wolf," Mr. Longears explained. "But I'm glad you aren't."

"I am, too," said the goat gentleman.

"What's the idea?" bleated the goat.

"May I come adventuring with you this morning?"

"Certainly," answered Uncle Wiggily politely, and the two walked on together, talking about how soon spring would come and all things like that. All of a sudden Uncle Wiggily stooped over and picked up a tangled string he saw on the path in front of him.

"What's the idea?" bleated the goat. "Are you going to play horse with that bit of cord."

"No, I am going to untangle it and save it," replied the rabbit. "You never can tell when you might want a bit of string, and this is a good, strong piece."

"But it's so tangled!" objected Uncle Butter. "It's all twisted and snarled and full of knots and loops. You'll never get it straightened out. Besides, if you do, what good will it be."

"I might break one of the laces in my rubber boots," answered Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "Or I might meet some little dog boy flying a kite and his string might not be long enough and I could give him this piece to tie to what he had."

"Yes, you might if you ever could get it untangled," chuckled the goat. For truly that bunch of string was in a terrible snarl. As Uncle Wiggily walked along he tried to find the loose end to pull out and straighten the tangle, but he couldn't seem to.

"Throw it away!" advised Uncle Butter. "You'll waste more time trying to untangle that string than you would if you went to the store and bought some new cord. Throw the tangled string away."

"Oh, no," said Uncle Wiggily. "I am sure I can find some use for it, even though I can't seem to untangle it." He was fussing away with the snarly bunch of string when, all of a sudden, out of the woods shuffled the Wuffie Bear, who was a cousin to the Bushy Bear.

"Wuff! Wuff!" growled the shaggy Bad Chap. "I am just in time, I see! Just in time!"

"Time for what?" gasped Uncle Butter, looking at his watch to see if he had time to catch a train and get away.

"Time to have some nibbles off Uncle Wiggily's ears!" growled the Bear, and he looked very hungry.

"Wait a minute, now!" said the rabbit gentleman, holding out the bunch of string. "If I let you nibble my ears will you untangle this cord for me, Mr. Bear?"

"Yes, I'll do that!" growled the Bear, thinking that, with his long claws, it wouldn't take him a second to untangle the string. "I'll do that and then I'll nibble your ears. Give me the cord!" he growled.

Uncle Wiggily tossed it to the Bad Chap. But no sooner had the Bear began to pull on the knots and snarls than his long claws began to tangle in the cord and before he knew it he was fairly caught, as if in a net.

"Wuff! Wuff!" whiffed the Bear. "I can't get my paws loose!"

"That's just what I thought would happen!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Now you can't hold me to nibble my ears! Come on, Uncle Butter!" So the bunny and goat ran away while the Bear pulled and tugged, trying to get his paws loose from the tangled string but he couldn't. So everything was all right, and this teaches us that we should always pick up a string when we see it.

And if the dusting brush doesn't put shoe blacking on the electric light to make the gold fish think it's time to go to bed, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's bent pin.

AT THE REGENT.

"THE AUCTIONEER" WAS PICTURED IN ODD WAY

New York Crowds "Shot" By Camera Concealed in the Subway.

Alfred E. Green, Fox Films director of the screen version of "The Auctioneer," at the Regent Theatre, wanted atmosphere, and he wanted the real thing, but he was up against a very difficult problem.

For Mr. Green wanted a background of New York crowds for his picture, and he didn't want any self-conscious people in the foreground. So being very versatile, he hit upon the plan of stationing his camera at the entrance of the subway under a tent usually used by men working on some improvement in the sidewalk.

Here, through a hole in the tent side, scenes of one of the busiest corners of New York were taken—without any of the actors being conscious that they were appearing before the camera.

"The Auctioneer" is a story of two kindly Russian emigrants who adopt a little Irish waif and bring her up as their own. They prosper in the new world—only to fall back into poverty again, but through it all they are natural, kind-hearted and philosophical.

George Sidney is cast in the title role, with Marion Nixon, Doris Lloyd, Gareth Hughes, Ward Crane, Sammy Cohen and William Austin in the supporting cast.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE FLAMING FRONTIER"

No other picture to compare with it—it is The Big Chief of All Super-Western Thrillers.

"Historically correct in every detail."

Such was the verdict of Colonel George L. Byram, retired army officer, on the great Custer massacre scene that Edward Sedgwick made for the big Universal all-star Western production, "The Flaming Frontier," which will be screened at the Capitol theatre commencing tomorrow. Ten years after the massacre Colonel Bryam was ordered by the War Department to survey the Custer battlefield and interview the surviving chiefs who took part in it. His judgment and approval of the picture may be accepted as final.

The ground over which Sedgwick refought the fight was an exact duplicate of the spot where Custer and his command died, says Colonel Byram, even down to a lone tree that stood near the site of the last stand. The scene is a most impressive one as shown on the screen. The unsuspecting Custer and his men come through the barren hills and into the trap that the crafty Sitting Bull had laid. Not an Indian is visible.

As the troops ride on from ridge, coulee and canyon, Indians, mounted and on foot, rush the outnumbered soldiers. Arrows fill the air, rifle shots ring out as squadrons wheel into action. The rush of the Indians was made more realistic by the fact that among them were scores of descendants of those who participated in the actual massacre.

Cavalry horses are seen scampering off in all directions. Red men fall from their saddles and Indian ponies take to flight. Squadron after squadron is wiped out. Hoot Gibson, as Gen. Custer's messenger to Major Reno, fights his way through the savages. Then the Indians concentrate for their final rush on the beleaguerd general and his little band. Gen. Custer, fighting desperately to the end, is the last to fall. Over the field lie Indians and troopers.

Then the Indians seemed to revert to type. Without orders from Sedgwick they proceed to strip the troopers of their clothing. Boots are wrenched from the feet of the "dead." Coats are torn from their backs, while about the fallen Custer and his men the Indians dance their dance to victory. The sun goes down. The Indians disappear. On the field are only the "dead" and the "dying." The scene shows all the solemnity of the aftermath of battle.

The cast of this great picture includes some of the best known screen stars. Hoot Gibson plays the role of an army scout befriended by Gen. Custer. Dustin Farnum came out of his retirement to impersonate this famous soldier. Ward Crane is the "heavy" and Anne Cornwall the heroine. Kathleen Key impersonates a "vamp", while Eddie Gribbon and Harry Todd take care of the comedy. The cast also includes George Fawcett, Harold Goodwin, Charles K. French, Noble Johnson, Walter Rodgers, Joe Bonomo and Ed Wilson.

Originally, March was the first month of the year.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

Q.—What is the record swim of a Canadian salmon?

A.—In proof of the homing instinct of salmon, the Dominion Government fisheries officials performed a remarkable experiment. In the spring of 1926, a salmon was caught in British Columbia waters after having made a miraculous journey from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Some years ago a number of salmon were caught off Vancouver Island, tagged with metal labels, and shipped across the continent by rail to Nova Scotia, where they were released in the Atlantic. One so far has found its way back to British Columbia. The route chosen is a mystery which will probably never be solved.

SPEAKER ADDRESSES POULTRY BREEDERS

Brooding and Rearing of Day-Old Chicks is Subject of Informal Talk.

The Peterborough Poultry Association held a meeting last night in the W.O.W. hall, the president, F. H. Dawson, in the chair. The special speaker of the evening was Mr. Gordon Davidson of Toronto, poultry specialist with the Maple Leaf Milling Company, who gave a short but very comprehensive talk on matters of interest to poultry fanciers and breeders. The evening concluded with a social hour, when community singing was held, led by F. Holmes, with Harry Northup at the piano. A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by G. Paxman and seconded by C. Carruthers, and refreshments were served.

Mr. Davidson, whose talk was informal and was listened to with keen interest by the audience, spoke on the broodings and rearing of day-old chicks, the feeding of breeding stock for production and the selection of hatching eggs. He impressed upon his hearers, while telling them to select eggs uniform in size and of good shell texture, the necessity of remembering that the contents of the shells had most to do with their hatchability and the livability of the chick when hatched and that this was determined largely by the feeding of the parents stock.

He spoke of artificial incubation and the absolute necessity of having an incubation room free of drafts and well ventilated. In regard to the best type of incubator to be used, he advised the following of the well-beaten path, and the search always for wood workmanship and good insulation. To follow the directions closely was a good rule.

With regard to brooders, he spoke of the necessity of having the brooder in proper working order before the chicks were put into the brooder house, and also the keeping of the temperature sufficiently high to prevent the chicks from crowding about the stove and to eliminate all danger of chill. Growth depends upon the proteins imbibed, and whenever these are lacking in the rations, the development of muscle is retarded. Nature does not provide enough proteins in the way of bugs, worms and green grasses to adequately meet the need of the chicks, so carbohydrates and fats, minerals and vitamins must be added to the rations in proper proportions. The use of milk and also of buttermilk was strongly recommended by the speaker.

The Peterborough Poultry Association, which has had a very successful year, held its annual meeting recently, when the following officers were elected:

Honorary president, Wm. Stuart; President, Frank H. Dawson; 1st vice president, S. E. Moncrief; 2nd vice president, R. M. Browne; secretary, W. J. Nesbitt; treasurer, George Paxman; directors: Messrs. H. T. Lush, Geo. Buller, Wm. Fisher, A. R. Robson, Bruce Law, Clayton Sanderson, B. F. Robson, Bert Trotter, E. H. White, K. Throop, Leo Murphy and R. D. Robson; auditors: Victor J. Tully and Fred Holmes.

GRANTS INCREASE.

Milk Producers To Receive $2.00 Per Hundred Pounds During April.

KINGSTON, March 23 (Special to The Examiner).—Mr. Joseph McGrath, president of the Kingston District Milk Producers' Association, announced yesterday that the dairies had agreed to pay $2 per hundred pounds for April milk. At a meeting of the association held a week ago, a deputation was appointed to wait on the dairies and see if they could get the same price for April milk as was paid during the winter months. The winter price was $2.20. The producers say that it costs just as much to produce milk in April, as the cows are unable to get out on the grass and have to be fed in the stables, with the same class of foods as used in the winter months.

SIGNS OF SPRING

AT ENNISMORE.

ENNISMORE, March 23.— Spring has come around again. On Sunday last a few wild geese and two wood chucks were seen in the neighborhood. A number orows and a few robins are also out and the rushing of the streams of water reminds us spring is coming. Owing to the accumulation of water in the woods a few of the farmers were unable to draw out all their wood. The sleighing is all gone and the wheels are out again. A number of trees have been tapped and the sap is running good. The farm stock are beginning to go through the fields looking for grass as the snow is nearly all melted.

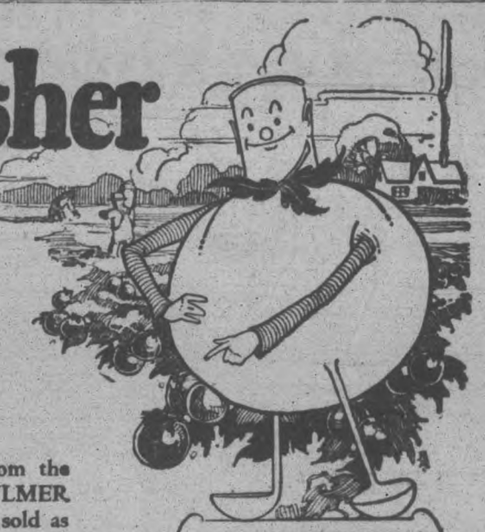
Actually Fresher Tomatoes Than You Buy on the Market!



THAT is true of properly canned tomatoes. From the standpoint of health qualities and food values, AYLMER Canned Tomatoes are superior to those customarily sold as "fresh". At all seasons of the year, you can have truly fresh tomatoes by asking for "AYLMER" Brand at your grocer's.

True freshness is only found in tomatoes at the moment of their perfect maturity, when the health acids are at their best and full flavor has been reached. It is then that AYLMER Tomatoes are carefully picked and immediately packed in a manner that retains every vestige of flavor and freshness. Unpacked tomatoes quickly lose their "freshness"—canned tomatoes bring this "freshness" right to your table! That is why medical science pronounces canned tomatoes more beneficial than those eaten uncanned.

Moreover, the AYLMER process of canning preserves the abundant supply of Vitamines which make tomatoes the most nutritious of vegetables. In this respect "AYLMER" Tomatoes are better than home-canned tomatoes, or those sold uncanned. Buy them by name—

AYLMER Peas and Corn Are Two Other National Favorites

AYLMER Canned Peas are graded into four sizes—all of one quality. Canned the same day as picked, AYLMER Peas are always fresh.

AYLMER Canned Corn in a variety of kinds—each plainly marked on the label. AYLMER "Golden Bantam" Corn-on-the-Cob is a real delicacy.

HER FEET AND ANKLES USED TO SWELL

Then Mrs. J. Wilkes Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

New Brunswick Lady Recommends Dodds Kidney Pills to All Who Suffer.

PUBLIC LANDING, N. B., March 22. (Special).—That relief can be obtained from all kinds of kidney disorders by using Dodd's Kidney Pills is again evidenced by the testimonial received from Mrs. J. Wilkes, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place. She writes:

"I had very bad pains in my back, also feet and ankles used to swell. This gave me great pain. After using three boxes of your Dodd's Kidney Pills I am all right again."

Kidney trouble is very common amongst all classes of people, and usually a lot of valuable time is lost by using unsuitable remedies. A good plan is to watch the kidneys and keep them healthy. Dodd's Kidney Pills stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys. They are used and recommended all over the civilized world.

BODY RECOVERED FROM GRAND RIVER

Remains of Harold Fisher, Drowned at Paris, Found at Brantford.

BRANTFORD, March 23. — After almost continuous search since the early hours of Wednesday morning, last, the body of Harold Fisher, son of Senator and Mrs. J. H. Fisher, of Paris, was recovered within the city limits of Brantford last night about 9 o'clock. The body had come down the Grand river in flood and was taken out at the foot of Scarfe Avenue here.

Fisher was backing out of a Paris garage in the early hours of Wednesday morning last and apparently stepped on the accelerator in place of the brake. The car backed though the steel railing of the approach to the River street bridge, over the Nith River in Paris, and dropped 20 feet over the stone parapet. The swollen waters of the Nith carried the car into the Grand river, it being recovered on Sunday morning last half a mile down the river, only the chassis remaining.

The body was found on the west bank of the Grand river here not far from Lorne bridge in the centre of the city by two youthful muskrat hunters, George and Charles Medgwick, 141 West Mill street, who notified the police and firemen. The body will be taken to Paris.

MALE VOICE CHOIR PROGRAMME GOOD

Numbers Vary Greatly in Type—Much Time and Trouble Taken

The biggest musical event of the season, when the excellence of the performance and the number of local people engaged in its presentation is considered, is scheduled to take place in the Grand Opera House on Friday, April 8th, in this year's concert of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir. The subscription list is now open, and tickets, at the usual popular prices, will be on sale from to-day, and may be purchased from any member of the choir.

There is no need to stress the importance of this event to the music-loving people of Peterborough, who look forward with keen anticipation to the annual concert of the Choir.

The visiting artistes will be Madame Ethel Holland, contralto soloist of the Metropolitan Church in Toronto, and a newcomer to the city in the person of Mr. Merlin Davies, baritone-tenor, of Montreal.

To be present at a practice of the Male Voice Choir is to get a little idea of the amount of time, work and attention that is required to bring the ninety men in its personnel up to the standard of vocal perfection that has marked the programmes of this organization in years past. They enter into the spirit of the practices with a whole-hearted spirit of enthusiasm and interest that makes their work appear to be a pleasure, but it must become difficult at times when measure after measure is gone over again and again to get just the right shading and pitch, the correct tempo, and the requisite amount of volume.

Their instructor, Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., is a director who has a high ideal for his singers, and coaches them in a way that is masterful, yet not unpleasant. They spend long minutes under his watchful eye and ear in trying to get the proper atmosphere for the sneeze, for instance, that enters largely into the comedy of one of their humorous numbers, and go over in painstaking fashion the low-voiced, murmuring measures of the "Yo, heave ho," of the "Volga Boat Song," which is also included in their programme. These practice nights are nights of intense and concentrated work, as the time for the concert comes nearer, but they are made enjoyable by the spirit of camaraderie and co-operation that pervades the gathering, and the little interludes for a smoke and a chat. One of the reasons for the success of this group, as noted in their practices, is the genial feeling between the different sections and the pervading atmosphere of trying to do the best in every possible item. Miss Muriel Bridge, the accompanist of the choir, is also imbued with the same spirit of interest. It is quite a pleasure to listen to these choristers, going over, with the utmost good nature, little weak points, changing, polishing and perfecting.

The programme will include selections of heavy and light type, with three numbers of a humorous character, and two heavy and massive renditions, in "Hebrew Captives," one of the European fest pieces which is aimed to demonstrate to the utmost the vocal abilities of choristers, also "Strike the Lyre." The "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah," a unique offering for male voices, will be given, also a delicate number in "Murmuring Zephyrs," emphasizing piano accompaniment. Pieces in the unaccompanied fashion will be rendered, as usual, and a popular selection will be the well-known "Volga Boat Song," also the famous "Sextette" from "Lucia di Lamermoor." One of the pretty English folk songs that are so attractive in type will be "Come to the Fair," and another lovely thing will be "The Beautiful Ships from Toyland," from Rudolf Friml's opera, "The Fire Fly."

The trio of humorous numbers includes "A Chilly Serenade," depicting the anguish of a suitor torn between the pangs of love and the terrors of a bad cold, "A Tragic Story," the semi-comic recital of the woes of an Oriental, whose pigtail and its placement were matters of worry to its possessor; also, a selection entitled 'But they Didn't," relating the adventures of the belated lovers, Harry and Katy.

The streets of London are long enough to stretch across Europe and Asia at their widest with 1,000 miles to spare.

The Children Will Catch Cold

Mothers should never neglect the first sign of a cold or cough where their children are concerned, for if they do some serious lung trouble is liable to follow.

which breaks up the cold within a day or so. I get great results out of it and would not be without it for anything. I can highly recommend it to any one."

RATIO INCREASES.

Statement Reflects Satisfactory Business Situation, Says Thornton.

OTTAWA, March 23. — (Canadian Press.) — Net earnings last year of $48,225,029, an increase of $14,781,731, or 44.2 p.c. as compared with the preceding year are shown in the annual report of the Canadian National Railway System, tabled in the House of Commons to-day by the Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals.

The gross earnings of the system, including the lines of Central Vermont, totalled $275,570,310, an increase of $21,861,536 over 1925, while the total operating expenses increased only $7,079,804. Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president, in his report, says:

"The figures reflect what may be regarded as a satisfactory position. The increase in the system's gross earnings of 8.6 p.c. indicates a generally satisfactory business situation throughout the Dominion and it is equally gratifying to note that with the increase of nearly twenty-two million dollars in gross earnings, there was an increase of but one million dollars in transportation expenses. The reduction in operating ratio from 86.82 to 82.5 shows further improvement in operating efficiency.

For the first time the net earnings for the year are more than sufficient to pay all the fixed charges due the public."

O'KEEFE LICENSE MAY BE REFUSED

Customs Commission May Recommend This Step If Books Not Produced

TORONTO, March 23 (Canadian Press).—The Royal Customs Commission is considering a recommendation that the renewal of the license of the O'Keefe Brewing Beverages, Limited, of Toronto, be refused. The license of this company expires at the end of the present month. "We have a great deal of suspicion that the books of this company were taken away for the purpose of having them removed from inspection by Government auditors," said Chief Commissioner Brown this morning. He believed that no serious effort had been made by the company to locate the books and that they could be found. Therefore the Commission would consider recommending that the renewal of the company's license be refused until the books were produced.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.

Mr. James Colville, of Adrian, Giving Addresses at Gospel Hall.

Mr. James Colville, of Adrian, Mich., is holding a week's meetings in Gospel Hall, dealing with the six days of Genesis I.

He said that every truth found in the whole of the Bible, Old and New Testaments, could be traced to the first chapter of Genesis. From Adam to Noah is the first day (or dispensation.) The days have three meanings: 1st, Physical; 2nd Spiritual; and 3rd, Dispensational.

Monday night, Mr. Colville took the first day; last night he spoke on the second and third days. To-night he will speak on the fourth day.

The order of exposition is very inspiring and instructive. Every Christian would enjoy this masterful unfolding of divine order—not only in creation but in sustaining the universe.

To-night Mr. Colville will sing one of his special solos.

WHAT A SIGHT SHE'LL BE--- THE GIRL OF TOMORROW!

BY ROY J. GIBBONS
NEA Service Writer

CHICAGO, March 23.—Don't get excited about the girl of to-day. Save your sputtering until you see the girl of to-morrow as Ernie Young pictures her.

Young is the Flo Ziegfeld of the middle west and points beyond. For 22 years he has forecast femility's trends with uncanny accuracy.

Picking pulchritude for shows is his business, and some 250,000 girls have passed in review before his critical eyes.

"The mid-summer edition of Miss 1927 will be a cold shock to her brothers, her father, her sweetheart," said Young, summing up for me the characteristics toward which the typical American maid is headed.

"She is going in for cigars, among other things. She already has started smoking them.

"The girl of tomorrow will be as independent as a coal dealer during a zero spell. Every day in every way she's going to realize more and more just how many cents make a dollar, and to plan ways and means of getting more of them.

"Her dress is going from gaudy to tailored. She's going to affect masculinity both in what she puts on and in her manner."

Ernie holds that the girl who comes into full bloom about next June will look something like this:

Her face and lips will be rouged with a mild color of blue around the vermillion shade.

Her hair will be cut even closer than the predominant bob of today.

Instead of bangs, female sideburns will be the vogue.

She will wear still fewer undies. Her skirt will be held in place by a belt with a large buckle.

Her shoes will be broad and low of heel.

Her coat will get away from frills. In summer she will have straight-backed garments. In winter she will go in for the ulster type coat.

She will wear no stockings, or else wear opera lengths, silk all the way up, and the color of these will be either flesh or tan.

She will snicker at corsets and only on state occasions will she put on a girdle to draw her figure in a bit.

She's going to stop dieting and grow plump.

Here he is in print—soon you will see her everywhere in person, says Ernie Young—a cigar; mannish clothes, hat, shoes; a still shorter bob; still shorter skirt; opera length stockings or ....e; given to swearing in public.

She will swear in public, and if married will have a job of some sort in every case where there are no children in the family. There will be fewer babies, moreover.

She will despise anyone who even mentions petticoats, and will insist that her male escort be a patron of beauty shops.

Dresses, insofar as they are worn, will not reach the knee cap, Young prophesied. Their material will be flimsier than ever. Buckles and belts will be popular for wraps, hats, shoes.

Black and white will be the dress motif. Small cloches will retain favor.

"When you take the girl of tomorrow out for dinner, in most cases she will look so much like a man that your friends won't know whether to slap her on the back or kiss her," said Young.

She will be more of a mystery than ever—the kind of mystery that will provoke the biggest crop of crazy admiration ever heard of."

SAINT and SINNER

In spite of the fact that she was hectically busy at least fourteen hours of the twenty-four, Faith Lane felt, those last few days before the trial, that she was living in one of those terrible nightmares in which the dreamer is straining every nerve and tendon to accomplish something which is never done. Housework kept her busy for several hours a day, for Aunt Hattie had been called home to attend Grandma Lane, who had been stricken with influenza and pleurisy. There were her father, Junior and Joy to cook and sew for.

To show them a smiling, serene face was, of course, hardest of all, for Jim Lane's weak backbone had buckled under the double tragedy of his wife's death and his daughter's arrest on the charge of murder. All ambition he had ever had had deserted him. He crept, pale, haggard-faced, dull-eyed, from the Myrtle street house at seven o'clock in the evening to go to his new job as night watchman for the Lincoln Pruitt Wholesale Grocery.

While her father slept uneasily, because he was not used to sleeping during the daytime, Faith whirled through dishwashing, bedmaking, getting Joy off to school, marketing for dinner, and the necessary mending and sewing. Afternoons she gave over to designing dresses, coats and lingerie for Madame Denise, the modiste who had made Cherry's trousseau. For Madame Denise had been as good as her word. Although she could not let it be known that she was employing the sister of an alleged murderess, Madame Denise established a profitable connection with Faith, meeting her surreptitiously to receive the designs which the harrassed girl found time to create for the modiste's fashionable clients.

Christmas came and went, marked by two important events only. The first was a family reunion in the reception room of the jail, Joy being allowed to see her sister, Cherry, for the first time since the day of her mother's funeral. Cherry was white and silent, and her childish mouth quivered whenever she spoke. When a small band of Salvation Army workers passed through the corridors singing Christmas anthems, Cherry broke down for the first time, flinging herself to the floor at Faith's feet and screaming out her fear and terror of the ordeal that was looming ahead of her. No, it was not a cheerful Christmas, and Faith was almost hysterically glad when Mrs. Webb, the jail matron, told the white-faced, huddling group of Lanes that the visiting hour was over.

The second event of that otherwise distressing day promised well, but proved to be a sickening disappointment. Faith and Bob were driving alone through the swirling gusts of a snowstorm that had blown up during the afternoon, when Bob stopped the car near the curb of a downtown street corner to buy a newspaper.

Beyond the whitening sidewalk lay a scrap of city park, dreary now with iron benches on which no one sat, littered with scraps of windblown newspapers and fruit peelings. The dry yellow stubble of the grass was rapidly being frosted over with great, soft, wet snowflakes. The few gaunt trees waved their leafless branches in angry defiance of the wintry blasts that assailed their dignity.

When the old man in charge of the little flimsy wooden structure that housed the newsstand did not answer the honk of his horn, Bob sprang from the car and started to run across the wide sidewalk, head bent to protect his eyes from the stinging assault of wind and snow. Faith, watching him idly, saw him stop short, then bend to stare at something on the pavement.

"What is it, Bob?" she called out, an unreasoning excitement thrilling along her overwrought nerves.

"Come here, dear!" he straightened and shouted to her. "Footprints! A crippie's footprints!"

"Look! Can't you see it?" Bob demanded, clutching Faith's arm and drawing her down with him to stare at the thin crusting of snow on the pavement. "Half a footprint! And made by the left foot! God! We've stumbled on something, darling."

"We must measure it," Faith whispered tremblingly. "Don't talk so loud, dear. The man at the newstand will think we're crazy. Have you anything to measure with?"

Bob Hathaway fumbled in a breast-pocked for an envelope, tore a strip from it with shaking hands, then kneeling down beside the precious half a footprint, he laid the unevenly torn bit of paper across it at its widest part and folded the end of the paper, then put it away carefully in his wallet.

"See any more? This one may be an accident," he gasped, as he sat back on his haunches, his blue eyes snapping with eagerness, color straining the pale bronze of his cheeks.

"So many people have walked here," Faith tried to console him, when they had failed to locate another of the tell-tale footprints.

"I'm going to question the newstand chap," Bob told her excitedly. "If a cripple has passed here, the old man may have noticed him. Won't do any harm to try and we may learn something tremendous."

The bleary-eyed old man glanced up at them sullenly from under his bushy white brows when Bob put his question after laying a dollar bill in the greedily out-thrust, calloused old palm.

"Thanky, sir. Merry Christmas to ye and the good wife. Reckon it's old Phil, the beggar, you're askin' after. Did ye want to give Phil a Christmas present, sir? I'll take it for him—"

"Yes, I wanted to remember him on Christmas day," Bob lied. "Where can I find Phil I hate to let the day go by without remembering him—"

"Don't guess nobody can tell ye where to find Phil," the old man remarked behind his gray walrus mustache. "Keeps purty close to hisself, Phil does. Ain't much of a hand to chit-chat, but I've knowed Phil for five years. Been beggin' on this corner for five years off and on—"

"Five years?" Bob queried politely, but his heart sank. "Getting pretty old, isn't he? How does he stand this cold weather?"

"Gittin' too old for a beggar's life I tell him," the news dealer shook his head. "Sick off and on, coughs something terrible. Had a real bad spell six months back and warn't around here for weeks, but he's a stubborn old cuss. Won't go on the county, like he's a right to."

"Thanks, old timer. Here's a little something for Phil," Bob interrupted hastily, laying another dollar bill in the extended palm.

When they were back in the car, Faith suddenly dropped her head to Bob's shoulder and burst into tears.

"Don't be too disappointed, darling," Bob consoled her pityingly. "I admit I had high hopes for a few minutes, but Churchill warned us not to be too optimistic about locating the cripple that killed Uncle Ralph. His men have found four cripples who almost fit the requirements, and every one of them is beyond suspicion. Hard luck, sweetheart."

"There's just a little more than a week left before the trial opens, and we've done nothing, nothing!" Faith moaned, beating her clenched hands against her breast.

HANNA TO GET $20,000 YEARLY

Other Members of Commission To Get Half That Sum, Says Premier.

BILL TAKEN UP.

TORONTO, March 23.—The Ontario Government is prepared to offer D. B. Hanna, "strong man" of its Liquor Commission, a salary of $20,000 per year, and it is prepared to pay Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion and S. McCleneghan, his co-commissioners, approximately half this amount. Announcement to this effect was made in the Legislature last night by Premier Ferguson, when the Government Control Bill came before the committee of the whole House and commenced to receive clause by clause consideration.

The House did not reach the control bill until close to ten o'clock, but before it had adjourned at night it had dealt with some eleven sections and had engaged in considerable discussion of importance. The term "residence" was particularly prominent in the deliberations, the Opposition arguing that it left the way open for abuses of the legislation, and the Government defending it on the ground that it represented an effort for liquor as a beverage.

The spirit in which the residence or "domicile" law would be interpreted, Hon. Mr. Ferguson said, was that of the place in which an individual was momentarily residing, and the only requirment of the law would be reasonable evidence of bona fide use of the place occupied for residence purposes. The Premier scoffed at Hon. Mr. Raney's suggestion that a person might erect a small bell tent for taking a drink, since a tent could qualify as a residence under the Act.

One feature of the bill which both Opposition and Government members were insistent upon having justified was the provision for perpetuating the 4.4 beer which ex-Attorney-General Nickle presented to the Province last year. The Premier explained that the reasons for continuing to license this beverage was in order that it might be controlled and not become the means of shielding traffic in stronger beers. The Government was considering, he said, a re-adjustment of the tax upon it, which would treat it in this regard more as a soft drink.

From all the discussion which the measure received, the Government accepted only one amendment, which came from George Hillmer of Halton on the Government side of the chamber. Mr. Hillamer succeeding in having cherries legalized as a fruit from which native wine can be made. Hitherto the definition of native wine has required it to be made from Ontario grapes.

RYRIE CHOSEN COMMISSIONER

Leader of Australian Light Cavalry To Represent Commonwealth in London.

A COUNTRYMAN.

LONDON, March 23.— (Canadian Press.)— The appointment of Major General Sir Granville Ryrie as the new Australian High Commissioner in London, announced yesterday at Sydney, has been received by Australians both in the Commonwealth and in England with some pleasurable surprise. The post is regarded as given to Major General Ryrie in part as a tribute to his services in the war. He was leader of the Light Horse in Gallipoli and Palestine.

While he holds a seat in the Commonwealth Parliament, it is regarded as so "safe" that it will not be lost to the Government party by Major General Ryrie's transference to England. The new High Commissioner comes of a family long identified with the pastoral life, and his own career has been associated throughout with that of Bushman, so that he cannot be accused of representing merely Australian commercial or general town life. There is nothing of the professional politician about him.

ST. JAMES' W.M.S. THANK OFFERING

Inspirational Address Given at Annual Service of Branch.

The Easter Thank offering service of the Women's Missionary Society of St. James' United church was held in Wesley Hall yesterday afternoon, with a large attendance of over one hundred and fifty ladies, including excellent representation from the other auxiliaries of the society in the city. Mrs. W. H. Buckler led in prayer, and Mrs. J. D. Richardson gave the Responsive Easter ritual. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. E. Kitney and Mrs. T. E. Curvin. In the absence through illness of Mrs. Daley, of Port Hope, who was the scheduled speaker of the afternoon, a very fine inspirational address was given by Mrs. Edwards, of Cannington, corresponding secretary of the Bay of Quinte branch.

At the conclusion of the meeting, afternoon tea was served, in charge of Mrs. F. B. Edwards and her assistants.

Seeking Traces Of Man Driving Stolen Speeder

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., March 23—The authorities are endeavoring to find out if there was a driver on the forestry branch speeder, which was stolen from the camp at Mekatina, and was struck and wrecked by an A.C.R. train on the Montreal River bridge, 30 miles further up the line.

The speeder went over the bridge and crashed 200 feet below in the gorge, parts of it falling into the cataract. There is no evidence yet to show that that was a driver on the speeder.

SEEK GASOLINE BELOW OTTAWA

Workmen Investigate Complaint Made By Resident About Odor.

MAY BE GUSHER.

OTTAWA, March 23 (Canadian Press).—Municipal workmen are today investigating the theory that there may be a gasoline gusher in the heart of the capital's uptown section. The engineering department decided to probe the matter when a barrister appeared before the Board of Control with the complaint that the cellar of his client's home on Albert Street is becoming saturated with gasoline, thus creating an offensive odor. It was believed the "curious phenomenon" comes from one of the city's six-inch mains which runs in front of the property.

Last Christmas Day, when an Albert Street main broke the strong smell of gasoline invaded the cellar in question for the first time and the "curious phenomenon" has now occurred for the second time.

CHURCH BUILDING BEGINS IN RUSSIA

Society of the Godless Criticized For Allowing Revival of Religion.

MOSCOW, March 23 (United Press).—Church building has begun again in Soviet Russia, and local branches of the "Society of the Godless," the official organization which propagates the Government's official atheism, are under sharp criticism for permitting organized religion to show signs of renewed vitality.

In a village of the Saratov Province, workmen have just joined in a new church of the old orthodox faith and have constructed a church building. At the village of Sabinkae also a group of workers has formed a new church with a building recently completed. Communist newspapers have loudly criticized the local chapters of the "Society of the Godless," charging them with laxity and indifference and demanding that they use energetic measures to stop the revival of religion.

SOLDIERS' WORK TO BE ON DISPLAY

Thursday Club Arranging For Sale of Produce of Disabled Men.

On the 31st of March, and the 1st of April, an exhibition of the work of disabled soldier inmates of the Christie street Hospital, Toronto, will be held in the G.W.V.A. hall, under the auspices of the Thursday Club of this city. This club is keenly interested in the welfare of the ex-soldiers, and sent a total of thirtysix parcels to the men during the past Christmas season.

The work done by the disabled patients is of a vocational type and is directed by Government supervisors. Those who patronized the sale last year will remember how delicate was the workmanship of some of the pretty and useful things offered for sale. The exhibit included articles of many types; bags and hats and bridge scores, and telephone pads, novelties of all sorts, fine needlework and pieces of brass and wood carving. The idea behind the work of these disabled craftsmen, the thought of the men who became disabled in the service of their country, and then turned to occupations like these to keep their hands and minds occupied, should be enough to arouse a lasting interest in the products of their ingenuity.

KINGSTON COUNCIL PUTS UP LICENSES

Milk Vendors and Billiard Table Owners To Pay Higher Fees

KINGSTON, March 23—The city council will derive some extra revenue as a result of amending by-laws last night having to do with milk vendors, bill posters, billiard tables and bowling alleys. On the recommendation of the finance committee the council amended by-laws as follows:

By-law regarding fees paid by persons supplying milk to the city creased from $2 to $5; license for cense fees for milk waggons increased from $2 to $5; license for shops to remain the same as at present, $2; license for bill posters increased from $5 to $50; license for bowling alleys increased from $30 for first alleys and 15 for additional, to $40 and $20; license for billiard tables from $30 and $10 to $40 and $20.

The Provincial government recently struck off the tax on bowling alleys and billiard tables, and Premier Ferguson intimated that it was now up to the various municipalities to impose a tax.

PRESIDENT UNABLE TO STUDY PROPOSAL

Coolidge Believes Reciprocity Should Be Studied With Great Care.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(United Press.)—President Coolidge has as yet been unable to study the proposed Canadian reciprocity agreement, it was stated at the White House yesterday. The president believes that the proposal to furnish reciprocal commercial advantages should be studied with extreme care before any decision can be reached.

SAPIRO REDUCING CHARGES OF LIBEL

Will Eliminate About One-Third of Clauses in His Suit.

DETROIT, March 23 (Canadian Press).—The elision of approximately one-third of the 141 specific allegations of libel in Aaron Sapiro's million dollar suit against Henry Ford was determined upon overnight.

They will be cut out in compliance with Judge Raymond's suggestion that Sapiro's declaration in the suit was insufficient in many respects and too involved to be comprehended readily by the average juror.

William Gallagher and Sapiro worked far into the night determining upon upward of two score of the minor allegations which could be eliminated without hurting their case against the automobile manufacturer, Mr. Gallagher said.

They could not get the arduous task completed in time to file the amended declaration to-day, but said they would file it before the end of the week.

Seven Teams Already Signed Up For Softball League

OFFICERS ELECTED AT MEETING OF LOCAL SOFT BALL ASSOCIATION

Likely League Will Have Twelve or Sixteen Teams Entered.

DISCUSS PLANS.

Amendment Submitted To Ontario Rules Regarding Gate Receipts.

Joe Batten was elected president of the Peterborough Softball Association at the annual meeting held last night in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce.

The retiring president, J. E. Sullivan, in his opening remarks, thanked everyone who had helped to make the season of 1926 such a great success. Men's softball was reorganized last year and sport was provided for more than 200 players, and large crowds of spectators drew great pleasure every night in watching the game. Mr. Sullivan referred to the impression that the Softball Association was running in opposition to hard ball, a thing which is entirely misunderstood, for it is the purpose of the association to provide a good clean sport for men who would not play any other kind of ball. He was also of the opinion that senior hard ball players should not play softball, for it might interfere with their success on the senior baseball team.

The season of 1927 will in all probability be another record-breaker, for last night seven teams signed up, and there will likely be a league of 12 or 16 teams.

J. E. Sullivan and Walter Fitzgerald, the acting secretary, were appointed delegates to the annual softball convention to be held in Guelph on Good Friday. They were instructed to invite the convention to meet in Peterborough in 1928.

An amendment was submitted to the Ontario softball rules by Chief Gimblett and seconded by William Bennett, whereby the Ontario Association would only collect a part of the gate receipts in the semi-final and final games. Last year the local association lost money in the Kingston and Toronto trips, but on account of the fine collections which were taken up at the scheduled games, they were able to meet all expenses and have a balance of $40 in the treasury.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Alderman R. S. Cotton.

Patrons — Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.; E. A. Peck, M.P.; W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.; Robert Dobie, George MacDonald, Gordon Matthews, R. M. Glover, E. Rigby, and Alderman Ackerman.

President—Joe Batten.

Vice-President—Walter Perks.

The executive is to be chosen by the president and vice-president, and the office of secretary-treasurer was left open in the hope that Walter Fitzgerald would reconsider his decision to retire. J. E. Sullivan, the retiring president, has been head of the club for three years, and he thought that it was time that some one else was given a chance to run things. The members present were quite determined that he should remain for another year, but he wished to withdraw.

The teams already entered are: C.G.E., Examiner, 4th Field Battery, Peterborough Rangers, Lock Works, C.G.E. (Draftsmen), and Firemen.

In all probability it will not be possible to run a league with any more than 16 teams, so the first making application will be those accepted.

PORT ARTHUR WILL MEET OWEN SOUND

Thunder Bay Winners Qualify For Finals By Defeating Regina.

WINNIPEG, March 23. — Port Arthur, junior champions of the Thunder Bay League, staged a whirlwind finish here Monday night to defeat Regina Pats, the prairie champions, in the second game of the C.A.H.A. junior semi-finals by the score of 4 to 1, and as a result they won the round by 5 to 3, overcoming the one goal lead the Ports secured in the first game. The Ports will now meet Owen Sound Juniors, the eastern champions, at Toronto, for the Canadian junior honors. Monday night's game was one of the hardest fought junior finals ever staged here. Port Arthur staged a great finish and on the play fully deserved the verdict.

Regina Increase Lead.

Regina appeared to have a good hold on the round when they secured the only goal of the first period. Williamson got the tally. In this session the Ports looked like the better team. Then the West Ends evened the score on the game when Cross secured a fluky goal, the only one of the second period. The West Ends had just as much of the play in the period as the Ports had in the first.

The Hectic Third.

The last period was by far the most exciting of the night. The Ports, driven to desperation, launched a whirlwind attack, and finally Barton tied the round with a beautiful goal. Manahan made himself the hero of the piece when he scored the last two counters to give the Ports the western honors.

TWO HOLD-OUTS MUST LINE UP

Will Be Heavily Fined, Suspended or Placed on Ineligible List.

BEFORE OPENING.

NEW YORK, March 23 — Baseball's two champion holdouts, Eddie Roush and Herbert Pennock will be fined heavily, suspended and placed on the ineligible list if they do not report to the New York Clubs before the season opens, it was divulged yesterday from a source close to the two club owners.

Herb Pennock, mainstay of the Yankee pitching staff and recognized as the best left-hander in baseball, is feeding and skinning silver foxes at his farm in Pennsylvania and refuses even to talk to his employers.

Pennock, who thinks that twenty games which he believes he can turn in for the Yankees are worth $1,000 each, has turned back an offer of $18,000 a season.

Owners of the Giants, who gave George Kelly to the Reds for Roush, say they don't know what Roush wants in the way of compensation. They made him an offer which he stuck in his fishing jacket and wandered down to the creek to think it over.

SENIOR BASEBALL IS IN DIFFICULTY

Prospects Are Poor for Kingston Having a Ball Team in C. O. B. L.

KINGSTON, March 23 (Special to The Examiner).—Kingston is as yet "up in the air" over the baseball prospects for this season, and quick action is needed if Kingston is to have senior baseball this summer. The powers that be will have to hustle or this city may be minus a senior team. Although a number of the star ball players have left the city, it is stated that there is still plenty of good material and that Kingston could make a good bid for the honors in the Central Ontario League.

Bruce Cairns, star twirler on last year's team, is out of the city, also Herbert Teeple, right fielder. Others available include Harry (Red) Batstone, "Bubs" Britton and practically all the members of last year's team, with the exception of Teeple and Cairns, so it is reported. Of last year's junior team several are over age and will be ready to step into faster company. They are "Yammy" Jamieson, star twirler for the Victorias, Boyd and Howard.

The annual meeting of the Central Ontario League will be held at Belleville on Saturday next, and an effort is being made to have Kingston represented. Local fans are hoping that the report that Oshawa will re-enter the League is correct.

American golf enthusiasts recently made an unsuccessful effort to buy the old home of Tom Morris, famous maker of golf clubs, which is located close by the historic course at St. Andrew's, Scotland. It was purposed to bring the house to America to serve as a golf clubhouse.

Mickey Ion Not Likely To Referee Allan Cup Finals.

PLAY FRIDAY.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 23—To meet the Fort William Hockey team, Western Canada's representatives in the finals of the Allan Cup series by virtue of their 3 to 3 victory over Trail, Grads arrived here yesterday morning. The finals, in which the senior amateur hockey championship of Canada will be at stake, will be played in Vancouver next Friday, Monday, and, if necessary, Wednesday night.

"It is now reasonably certain," said the Vancouver Province yesterday, "that Mickey Ion, appointed by president Sandercock of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, to referee the series here, will not be released from his contract with the American Hocky Association in time to do so, and it is understood that Dr. Sandercock is negotiating with Pete McIntyre of Trail to officiate."

FAMILY MOVES TO WARKWORTH

Andrew Dugan Transports Effects From Haliburton.

HASTINGS NEWS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, March 23.—Andrew Dugan of Haliburton began this morning the last stage of his long trek into Percy Township, where he will reside on the James Moore farm near Warkworth. His household and farm effects and stock were loaded into several C.N.R. box cars at Haliburton on Monday and the "way" freight train got under way on Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock, arriving here about two o'clock in the afternoon. Their goods were loaded by evening onto wagons they had brought, and their stock and horses stabled for the night. This morning they were ready for the rumbling ride down the ten miles to Warkworth, lacking only the canvas tops to reincarnate the pioneers of "covered wagon days."

Saw Mill Busy

David McGrath, who is well known in Peterborough, has at least three months' work laid out for his sawmill and shingle mill. With his son, Mr. McGrath has a staff of eight engaged in cutting the timber which was drawn in from the country during the winter. Some of it was hauled twelve miles. The sawmill was set in motion about March 1st and will be kept busy until the end of May, Mr. McGrath told The Examiner. His saws are humming a lively tune these days.

Ice in Marshes

Local trappers said yesterday that they have so far had slim success both above and below town.

"There's about twenty inches of ice in the marshes down the river," said one of the men, "and I'll bet there's ice still twenty-five or thirty fet from shore. I got one rat this morning, and I don't expect much luck yet awhile."

It was reported that the deputation of farmers from around the mouth of the Ouse River, that interviewed the Department at Toronto last Friday, was informed that marshes belonged to the farmers who owned the nearby land. These farmers are determined to insist on their rights by preventing "tramp trappers" from trespassing.

Many Lease Marshes

Six or seven Hastings trappers are working between the town and Healey Falls. They have leased marshes on the north shore, and defend this system of exclusiveness as against the old unrestricted customs by which any person could set his traps where he chose. Stealing or "lifting" traps was common in those go-where-you please days, and some of the same evil has been reported from leased marshes already this Spring. Here and there up and down the river, there have been threats of strong arm reprisals and those who know the feeling that has cropped up in places are hoping the season will close without some serious altercation.

Some freebooters of the Trent marshes are blamed for the disappearance of two hens from a house down the river while the farmer was at church last Sunday. The heads had been chopped off and left as a souvenir of the poachers' visit.

Good Horses Scarce

From recent conversations with farmers the fact was gleaned that there is a scarcity of good horses not only in this district but throughout the country. The heavier general purpose horses are needed for farm work, and as a result of the predominant demand these is a great deal of talk of breeding.

J. J. Collins freports increasing purchases of seed grain as the spring season gives promise of early planting.

John Drope of Roseneath was in town yesterday. He recently sold a fine team to W. Morris of Westwood.

Reeve Hess was in Oshawa on business yesterday.

Rev. Mr. Thomson went to Peterborough today to assist at the communion preparatory service.

Lavoie Knitters report that they are sharing in the improved conditions in the textile trade.

Spring levels of water at the dam here have reduced the head or fall, with the result that the output of power is temporarily diminished.

FINGER AND THUMB CUT OFF BY SAW

Sidney Township Man Suffers Very Painful Accident.

BONAR LAW, March 23.—Mr. Thomas Burkitt of Sidney township had a very painful accident on Monday. While helping operate a circular saw his hand came in contact with the saw, which severed his thumb and finger. He was rushed to Frankford as soon as possible, but owing to the bad condition of the roads some time elapsed before reaching medical aid. Mr. Burkitt is suffering from loss of blood.

The older members of the family can be more up to date and in touch with modern life than their children. Many of them are. That is because they read the advertisements.

THE MOST DISTINCTIVE CLOTHES MADE IN CANADA

THEY'RE HERE!

the New Spring Clothes by Society Brand

The Right Topcoat
Though other styles will also be good, the box coat will again be the favourite with young men. It has an ease, a careless drape and swagger that no other coat has.

The New 2-Button
It's the style for the man of to-day. Broad shouldered, with plenty of chest; a trim waist; coin lapels. Good-looking — and altogether correct.

Here, and ready for your inspection! It's always an event—this first look at the styles for Spring—but this year it seems to be twice the event of other seasons.

For one thing, the styles themselves are more interesting than at any time in years. There are new ideas—new style points that are worth watching. There are new fabric ideas too—all interesting.

Society Brand have outdone themselves in the fine distinction they have given to these new models. And in the richness of their exclusive imported fabrics; Bristol Stripes and Scotch Downs.

And all in all, it will be worth your while to look over the new display—when you do, you'll say that for real variety, for correct styles, for value, there's nothing to equal it anywhere.

Society Brand Clothes may be purchased on the Ten-Pay Budget Plan, if desired. No interest or carrying charges. Cash prices apply.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., — March 22. United Press. — All ladders that might reach to the second storey windows of the United Home for Aged Hebrews are under guard. The casements themselves are double bolted and barbed wire has been strung through the creeping ivy. SUN LIFE AGENTS HOLD CONVENTION

Meetings To Be Held in Company's Enlarged Offices Here To-morrow.

Agents of the Central Ontario Division of the Sun Life Assurance Co., will gather in Peterborough for their annual convention, to be held under the chairmanship of J. F. H. Wallace, Division manager. The problems of the agents will be discussed and addresses of instruction and interest will be given by representatives from Head Office departments.

Recent enlargements of the local offices makes it possible to hold the meetings of the convention in the company's new quarters here. The offices used by Dr. Middleton have been taken over and made into a large room for the agents. This will be big enough for the regular sessions of the convention, which will be attended by about 35 or 40 men. More space is also available for the headquarters office staff, this being necessitated by the increase in the company's business in this division.

A banquet to be held on Friday night in the Paragon Hall will be the concluding event of the convention.

PLAY

The X. L. Mission Circle of St. James' United Church will present their play entitled "A Kentucky Belle," on the evening of Monday, March 28th, in St. Andrew's Sunday School Hall, commencing at 8 o'clock. Admission 25c.

CANTONESE IN CONTROL.

SHANGHAI, March 23. Canadian Press. — The situation in Shanghai appears much easier in all native district to-day, with the victorious Cantonese army gradually taking matters in hand. A small body of northerners were still holding out in the Chapei district, and there was some firing, but the Chinese shops, which usually constitute a good barometer of the prevailing conditions, were reopening.

A night of comparative quiet after two days and nights of chaos and disorder, was followed this morning by the resumption of firing in the northern parts of Shanghai, not far from the border of the International settlement, where a small remnant of northern troops was still holding out. A number of houses were set on fire.

SITUATION PEACEFUL.

Nevertheless the general situation in and around the city was more peaceful than at any time since the vanguard of the southern armies marched into Shanghai on Monday. Their coming marked the beginning of disorders of all descriptions—fighting, killing, looting and destruction. It was only after the arrival of more than five thousand Cantonese regular troops in the native city late yesterday that a semblance of quiet was restored.

A fate similar to that of Shanghai seems to be hanging over the important city of Nanking, as the southern armies continue to close in around that place. Artillery and rifle firing southward of the city is audible in Nanking. Women and children are being taken aboard merchant vessels as fast as accommodations are available. Others are being held on British and United States war craft until space is available elsewhere.

LONDON, March 23. Canadian —The French police in Shanghai, says a despatch to the Daily Express prevented a riot yesterday when 400 students of Aurora university, conducted by the Jesuit Fathers, rebelled, demanding that the name of the school be changed forthwith to "Sun Yat Sen University." A notorious Communist agitator was appointed by the students president of the University.

FOREIGNERS EVACUATED.

SHANGHAI, March 23. United Press. — More than 450 foreigners to-day were evacuated from the Chapei war area under the direction of U. S. Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham. The foreigners were brought into the comparative safety of the International settlement.

The Steamer "Peyang" was expected to arrive in the morning with 175 foreign refugees from Nanking, and 125 others were expected to arrive soon afterward. About 25 foreigners would remain at Nanking.

CONSULS MEET CANTONESE.

SHANGHAI, March 23. United Press. — The British, Japanese and French Consul-Generals to-day conferred with the Cantonese Commander-General, Pei Chung-Si, concerning the status of the International settlement and the French concession.

Importance was attached to the conference, which probably was to prepare for negotiations in which the Cantonese were expected to demand at least joint control of the foreign areas.

The French were expected to agree to such a demand forthwith.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM POLAND.

WARSAW March 23. Canadian Press. — The Communist faction of the Polish Diet, sent a message of congratulations to Shanghai last last night, on "its delivery from imperialist oppressors."

They Play Golf.

SHANGHAI, March 23 (Canadian Press).—What's a mere battle when the weather is fine? Golf enthusiasts are indifferent to the perils of civil war here and are playing their daily round on the links. One of the star golfers is exhibiting a golf bag with a bullet hole through it, the result of a native rifleman's marksmanship.

ABOUT NIGHT HAWK

(Answering an inquiry)

At the shareholders meeting of Night Hawk Peninsula Mines held in Pittsburgh a proposed deal was submitted whereby new capital may be secured for the mine. It will be remembered that when the Night Hawk closed down on June 30 last it was for want of capital rather than for want of ore. The present proposed deal, if it goes through, will entail the sale of a half interest in the property for the sum of $900,000 net. The basis of the proposed expenditure provides for $100,000 for the first year's operation and a certain amount for each ensuing year until the $900,000 is spent. Bondholders will be asked to change their holdings from straight mortgage securities to collateral mortgage and it is the hope of the management that this can be arranged.

McINTYRE.

The new, or No. 11 shaft at this property has practically been completed to the 4150 ft. level. It is only a matter of days now when this shaft will be ready for operation. Preparations are also practically completed for the hooking up with this shaft and the older main workings. Having this shaft ready will enable the Company to immediately carry on much more extensive explorations and development than it has been able to do during the past two years. Waste can be taken care of through this shaft that could not be handled by the others as long as mill tonnage had to be maintained at around 1,400 tons per day. The complexion of work underground will be entirely changed by having this new exit. Development of ore in the easterly section of the property at lower levels can be speeded up and ore obtained from this work will be stacked for reserve on surface, close to the collar of the new shaft. Ore bodies which are known to exist, particularly in the 5-7 vein system, from the 1875 ft. level to below the 3,000 ft. level, can now be intensively developed, which work will enable the management to arrive at definite conclusions in regard to the new or enlarged mill which is to be erected.

Outside of the Porcupine 'Camp McIntyre interests are quietly picking up what appears to be valuable mining property throughout Northern Ontario and Quebec. The greater part of such properties is being acquired at very little cost to te McIntyre Company as engineers employed by the Company are acquiring such properties by staking. McIntyres interests in the Kamiscotia district, close to the Hollinger holdings, are considered to be important. The work being done at the present time by Hollinger will give McIntyre a pretty fair line on their own property at no material expense to themselves.

During the past two years developments at McIntyre have not been such as to furnish important information. During the next six months these conditions will be entirely changed and we look for information of very material importance to be forthcoming rather rapidly. We consider the property to offer good chances for speculation at present prices.

Trading In Mines Dull; Duprat Most Active Stock

TORONTO, Mar. 23 (Canadian Press)—Trading was dull and uninteresting on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Duprat was the most active issue on the board and in sympathy with the balance of the list sold down to 13 1-2, a loss of 1-4. Argonaut Consolidated was active and slightly stronger, selling up 1-2 to 40 1-4. Area sold off 2 1-2 to 34. Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves were the only dividend paying gold stocks to advance. The former gained five cents to 6.40, while the latter stock sold up ten cents to 19.90. Dome Mines declined five cents to 8.60, Hollinger was down two to 20.98 and McIntyre weakened 25 to 25.25. Towagamack was a strong spot in the unlisted department, gaining five to 3.55. Amulet was off 7 and Noranda 55 cents a share. South Keora and Vickers were both weaker.

New York Market Weak Baldwin Dropping Further

NEW YORK, Mar. 23 (Canadian Press)—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment characterized today's stock market with the line of least resistance on the downside. Baldwin was again liquidated freely, selling down at least four points below yesterday's final quotations. Motors developed further weakness with selling pressure directed chiefly against General Motors and Hudson. Stop loss orders were touched off in many stocks, swelling the volume of offerings and giving the list a decidedly weak tone. Lackawanna was again one of the outstanding strong spots, moving up seven points to 172, the highest price in six years but it reacted substantially from that level on realizing.

Wheat Sinks Further; Good Weather Responsible

CHICAGO, March 23. Canadian Press. — Wheat prices dropped today to new low price records for the season, but later scored slight gains. Reports were at hand telling of abundant moisture over most of the wheat territory in the United States, and saying that as a rule the soil was in excellent condition. Opening unchanged to 5-8c off, wheat underwent a temporary general set back. Corn and oats were easy and provisions steady with corn starting 1-4c to 3-4c down but subsequently recovering.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 132 1-2; uly 127 3-8; Corn, May 71 7-8; July 76 5-8; oats, May 42 1-2, July 43 1-8.

Listless Day In Toronto; Most Stocks On Weak Side

TORONTO, March 23.— (Canadian Press.)— British American oil continued to dominate the activities on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day in a quiet and somewhat listless market. This issue led in activity and was the weak feature of the trading, selling down to 25 3-4, a decline of 5-8. The traction group was active and soft. Brazilian sold off 1-8 to 125 1-4. C.P.R. was unchanged at 183, while Twin City weakened 1-8 to 55. The distillery stocks were active and weaker. Walker led in activity and sold off 3-4 to 36 1-2. G. and W. declined 1-2 to 56 1-2. Seagram dropped 5-8 to 23 1-4, while Industrial Alcohol gained 1-8 to 25 7-8. Considerable interest was shown in the mining section of the unlisted department, with Wright Hargreaves the feature by selling up 40 cents to 11.05. Noranda dropped 30 to 23.40.

FINAL REVISION OF PRAYER BOOK NOW PUBLISHED

Altered Book Must Be Accepted Or Rejected Now.

NEW PREFACE.

No Change in Doctrine Meant By Altered Communion Rules.

LONDON, March 23.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—With the final revisions of the House of Bishops, the new book of common prayer of the Church of England, as published today, is now on a "take it or leave it" basis. No further alterations can be permitted, and church and nation must stand or fall by both book and parliamentary measure as they now appear.

The proposed rules concerning the reservation of the Sacrament are also published and furnish perhaps most of the controversial addition.

The new preface to the prayer book is most interesting. It says in part: "There will always be some to whom a change in that which has been hallowed by long use seems grievous and fraught with dangers. They would stand upon old paths and follow in their worship of God the pattern which their fathers set.

"In truth, however, they cannot quite see worship, because they cannot, any more than those around them, be blind to what has been happening during 250 years. Old barriers are broken down by sea, land and air. Men are brought ever closer together. England of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries has become the mother of a great commonwealth of people still linked together in common loyalty.

"With the rise of numbers has come also the shifting of power from the few to the many. If the minds of any be troubled because we have allowed another order of Holy Communion as well as the old and have made further provisions for the communion of the sick, let them not think that we mean thereby any change of doctrine."

THOMAS McCONNELL

OMEMEE, March 23. — The funeral of the late Thomas McConnell, which was held from his late residence, Concession 5, Lot 16, Emily, on Sunday afternoon to Omemee Cemetery, was very largely attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends.

Mr. McConnell had reached the ripe old age of eighty-three years. A few years ago the late gentleman and his helpmate received the hearty congratulations of friends on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. A large family blessed this union, of which five daughters and six sons are still alive. There are also twenty-nine grand-children and one great grandchild.

The funeral service on Sunday afternoon was conducted by the Rev. E. W. Rowland, pastor of Trinity United Church, Omemee. An unique feature of the service was the bearing of the casket to its last resting place by six sons of the deceased, namely William, John, Thomas, Harold, Penington, and Robert.

To the aged and sorrowing widow and her family is extended the widespread sympathy of the community.

Asthma
results from a narrowing of the air passages leading to the lungs. These passages become narrowed when the circular muscle fibers of the bronchial tubes become excessively contracted. All muscle fibers contract and relax, dependent upon messages conveyed from the brain through the spinal cord and nerves. An improper supply of nerve energy to these muscle fibers cause them to tighten up and decrease the size of the air passages thus reducing the amount of oxygen reaching the lungs.

WARSHIPS REPLY TO CANTONESE FIRE

BRITISH AND AMERICAN VESSELS SHELL PART OF NANKING TO STOP FIRING AT WHITES AWAITING SHIP

One British Citizen Killed and Two Wounded By Cantonese Fire.

CONSULATE LOOTED.

Undisciplined Troops Blamed For Trouble—Destroyer Standing By.

SHANGHAI, March 24 (Canadian Press).—British and United States warships replied this afternoon to shelling by Southerners of the foreigners concentrated in Nanking. One Britisher was killed and the British Consul and another Britisher wounded.

The foreigners were concentrated for evacuation on a hill in the northern part of the city, where the Standard Oil Company plant is located. Shelling by Southern irregulars began shortly before four p.m. A few minutes later, the United States destroyers "Noa" and "Preston", and the British cruiser "Emerald" shelled the area surrounding the hill with the object of opening way for immediate evacuation of the foreigners. Combined British and United States forces were landed.

It is officially announced that some Americans were killed and some wounded. No details have yet been received.

Undisciplined Troops Blamed.

A wireless despatch from Nanking blames the attack on the hill on "undisciplined Cantonese troops." The report reached the warships early this afternoon that looting had begun in the city and that foreigners were being killed. This report was not verified. Later it was reported that the British Consulate had been looted and the Consul wounded. The United States Consul, John Davis, and his staff, accompanied by a Marine guard which had previously landed from the "Noa," left the Consulate and took refuge on Socony Hill, where the foreigners were assembled.

When the warships learned that the hill was being attacked, they opening fire with their main batteries on the area surrounding the hill for the purpose of cleaning out the attackers.

Destroyers Standing By

United States destroyers are standing by at Shanghai, awaiting possible hurry calls to Nanking.

Three destroyers have been ordered immediately from Manila to Shanghai.

The British steamer "Poyang" arrived today in Shanghai with first refugees leaving Nanking since the official evacuation.

The "Poyang," which left Nanking Tuesday night, was fired upon during her voyage to Shanghai and was hit several times, but there were no casualties aboard. She brought seventy British and thirty Americans, although her accommodations only provide normally for thirteen first-class passengers.

The British citizen who was killed in the Cantonese shelling of the foreign concentration at Nanking was

Mansion For $270 Year But There's a Catch

LONDON, March 24.—Many people who have grown to regard the housing shortage and high rents as a permanent feature of English life rubbed their eyes when they read this week an advertisement of a house containing fifteen rooms and two baths, equipped with central heating, electric light and standing on its own grounds of 22 acres, which could be rented for $270 a year.

This mansion is near Carnarvon, Wales, but there are one or two catches in the offer. One is that the place needs many repairs toward which the owner is willing to contribute, but the chief condition is that the new occupant "must be a person capable of living up to the surroundings." From scores of applications nobody has yet been found who fills the bill.

Court Adojurns To Give Defense Time To Study New Declaration.

MUCH ELIMINATED.

DETROIT, Mich., March 24.—(Canadian Press.)—Aaron Sapiro's declaration, containing 141 separate alleged libels against him by Henry Ford, was amended to-day by the elimination of approximately fifty of them.

Defense attorneys said that eleven typewritten pages of amendments handed the court and them, represented virtually a new case and asked adjournment until Monday morning, to study them.

Court was adjourned until 2 p.m. to permit preliminary examination of the new declaration.

REFERENCE OF LIQUOR EXPORT TO STATES IS GIVEN AT PROBE

Counsel Questions Official Regarding Methods Employed in Clearing Launches.

125 CASES TO CARGO.

Appraisers' Work Concerning Quality of Importations Again Under Fire.

TORONTO, Ont., March 24. — (Canadian Press).—Brief reference to the movement of liquor from Toronto to the United States came during yesterday afternoon's sitting of the Royal Commission on Customs. Thus far, during the Toronto sittings, there has been almost no mention of liquor export to the south. Yesterday afternoon, John V. Horne, Customs officer who has charge of the docks here, was asked some questions by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., counsel for the Commission, regarding the methods employed for clearing these liquor-laden launches.

Oswego, Ogdensburg, Youngstown, Charlotte and Cleveland were among the points mentioned by Mr. Horne to which launches laden with liquor cleared from Toronto. Cargoes, he said, ran from 110 to 125 cases. As soon as a liquor-laden launch sailed, the United States Consul here was notified of the sailing and the declared destination.

"You don't send notice to the port of destination?" asked Mr. Rowell.

Mr. Horne replied that he did not. The arrangement was that he should notify the Consul here. Mr. Rowell commented that the boat might never reach the destination for which it cleared.

Appraisers.

An interesting feature of the evidence yesterday hinged on the selection of packages to be examined by Customs appraisers. Major A. E. Nash, auditor for the Commission, submitted a number of miscellaneous import entries which he had examined and which showed that, in many cases, the legal provision which states that one case in ten must be examined, is not being observed. Out of one consignment of 175 cases, said Major Nash, only 5 were ordered up to the examining warehouse for examination. Again, out of 76, only three had been ordered up by the computing clerk.

Furthermore, said Major Nash, the documents indicated that the seletcion of the cases which were sent up for examination was very frequently left to the railway carter handling the consignment. This statement was substantiated by Customs examiners on duty at the sufferance warehouses of the two railways and on the docks. One of these officers, when asked by Mr. Rowell, said that there was nothing to prevent an importer making an arrangement with a railway carter which would result in the selection of certain cases out of a consignment being sent up for examination.

Jewel of the God Siva Sold To Dealer in U. S.

NEW YORK, Mar. 24 (Canadian Press) — The New York Times says the Nassak diamond one of the world's most famous precious stones, believed to have been set once in the statute of the god Siva, at a temple in Nassak, India, has been purchased from the Duke of Westminster by M. Manbonssin Park Avenue jeweler.

Although no purchase price was given, it was estimated in 1911 that the gem was worth $148,000. The Duke of Westminster has sold several family treasures in recent years because of increased taxes in England.

Dollar Worth Cent More Than Last Month In U.S.A.

NEW YORK, March 24. — (United Press.) — Everybody's dollar was worth a penny more in February than it was in January—which means that the high cost of living continues to slip downward, at least on paper. The index number of the cost of living stood at 165.2 in Feb., as compared with 166.9 for Jan., according to the monthly investigation of the National industrial conference board.

But as compared with July of 1914, when $1.00 was worth a dollar, the February dollar was worth but 60½ cents.

CHINESE TONGS OBSERVE TERMS

Keep Two Year Treaty Inviolate—But Fight Day Truce Ends.

FIVE DEATHS.

NEW YORK, March 24.—(Canadian Press.) — Deadly warfare between Chinese Tongs in widely separated sections of the United States flared up to-day and resulted in five deaths and three persons being wounded.

The two year truce between the Hip Sing and On Leong Tongs expired to-day and shortly afterwards gun play started. It could not be determined in first reports whether all of the shooting resulted from difficulties between members of these secret societies.

Casualties were as follows:
Brooklyn—One dead, two shot.
Newark—One dead.
Chicago—One dead.
Manchester, Conn.—Two dead.
Cleveland—One shot.

The death is reported in Bavaria of a remarkable adventurer named Frankenberg. In the course of his career he is said to have become engaged to be married 120 times, though he remained single throughout his life.

RHODES ASSERTS IS NO NEED FOR RECIPROCITY

Believes That Reference To Pact Was Entirely Unnecessary.

AFFECT INDUSTRIES.

Says All Canada Is Willing To Help Eastern Provinces.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 24.—Canadian Press. — Hon. E. N. Rhodes, premier of Nova Scotia, returned to Halifax, after an absence of a fortnight in Montreal and Ottawa, gave out a statement in regard to the Dun can commission report.

"Naturally the statement of Premier King was on the whole most gratifying, carrying out as it does, in the main, the complete recommendations of the Duncan commission, based as they were in turn so largely upon the representation contained in the submission to the commission prepared by the government of Nova Scotia," said Mr. Rhodes. "The result is a complete vindication of those who have so consistently supported the claims of the maritimes.

Expects Action.

Regarding the deferring of action with respect to the steel and coal industry, Mr. Rhodes said it was his belief that the government had withheld action only awaiting the assurance of a proper reorganization of the industry under proper management and with an assured financial programme which would make for future success of the industry.

The statement continues:

"The reference to reciprocity was, I believe, entirely unnecessary, if not gratuitous, when it is borne in mind that under the reciprocity pact it was proposed to reduce the duty on coal to 45c per ton and to place slack coal and steel rods upon the free list. Especially is this true when one contrasts the attitude of the Liberal party in Nova Scotia subsequently and notably the position of former Premier Armstrong who headed the delegation to Ottawa, seeking increased duty on coal and steel. Nor must it be forgotten that the King administration increased the duty on slack coal from 14c to 50c per ton. Having in mind the tremendous importance of this industry to the industrial and commercial well being of the province, there is no question that the reciprocity pact, as affecting this industry, would have dealt it a serious, if not fatal blow.

"I have yet to learn that the reciprocity pact would have had any beneficial effect upon the lumbering industry. It certainly would have had no beneficial effect on the fruit growing industry of the Annapolis valley, and so far as our fishing industry is concerned, a complete answer is found in the circumstance that our fishermen themselves rejected reciprocity."

In conclusion, the Nova Scotia premier said:

"Canada, as a whole, has met us in a generous spirit. We are placed upon a parity of opportunity with the rest of the Dominion, and if we press forward with courage, energy and optimism, there is no good reason why we should not largely share in the future growth and development of this country."

CUTTERS GUARD SHIPPING LANES

U. S. Coastguard Vessels On Lookout For Ice In North Atlantic.

BREAK UP BERGS.

BOSTON, March 24 (Canadian Press).—The annual war is on against northern ice—menace of the North Atlantic. Every year as the month of March begins to wane, two staunch coastguard cutters speed northward. To-day the cutter "Tampa" is approaching the danger zone. With her sister cutter, the "Modoc," she will patrol the shipping lanes until the warm weather ends the danger for another year. When a towering berg or lowlying growler is near the path of the Transatlantic liners, the cutters will flash out warnings by radio. With gunfire and bombs many of the larger ice masses are broken up.

Youngest Bootlegger Retires At Age Of 12

DENVER, March 24—Denver's youngest confessed bootlegger—a 12-year-old boy—has gone out of business, permanently, he says. The sudden end to his career as a booze baron came late yesterday when he lugged 10 pints of whiskey to the apartment of Mrs. Maude Haines at the same time the police were raiding her home.

When the boy saw the officers he dropped his sack of bottles and ran to the street where his brother-in-law, Frank Hagely, was waiting for him in an automobile. The police seized him before he could start the car.

After obtaining a confession, officers turned the boy over to juvenile authorities. His brother-in-law and his customer were to be arraigned today on liquor law violation charges.

He was remanded in custody until April 2, bail being refused.

CONSULATES LOOTED.

Number of Casualties Feared Large, Says Report To United States.

WASHINGTON, March 24 (Canadian Press) — Stringent demands for the protection of foreign lives at Nanking were served on Chinese officials today at a conference with British and United States representatives aboard the British cruiser "Emerald."

The Chinese officials, presumably the Cantonese commanders in Nanking, were brought aboard the "Emerald" after a number of foreign lives had been lost in firing in the city by Chinese. The demands were: First, immediate protection of all foreigners and foreign property; Second, that the Cantonese general in command report on board "Emerald" before 11 p.m. to-night to negotiate respecting outrages committed by his troops; and, Third, that all foreigners must be delivered on the Bund under escort by ten o'clock to-morrow morning.

Consulates Looted.

WASHINGTON, March 24 (Canadian Press).—Admiral Williams reported to the Navy Department today that "a number of American civilians have been killed and wounded" at Nanking.

The exact total of casualties was uncertain, he added, "but it is feared that the number is large."

BELIEVES HE HAS UNCOVERED PROVINCE-WIDE ARSON RING

Provincial Fire Marshal Says In Investigating Case at Ottawa.

PRO. FIRE BUGS.

Headquarters of Organization Is Said To Be in Toronto.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 24. — Investigation by the Provincial Fire Marshal, E. P. Heaton of Toronto, which is stated to have uncovered extensive operations of a province-wide arson ring, resulted in the appearance before Magistrate Charles Hopewell, in the police court yesterday, of James John Colores, for detention as a material witness in an arson charge against Harry N. Simpson, formerly of Ottawa, but under arrest in Toronto.

Simpson is stated to have appeared in the Toronto police court yesterday for remand to Ottawa, on a charge of arson. He is being brought to Ottawa.

The "arson ring" which the provincial authorities are stated to have uncovered is said to be in the form of an organized society having a paid up membership in cities in all parts of the province of Ontario. A member of the society desiring to collect insurance on his property instead of relying on his own crude ideas regarding the setting of a fire, communicates his intentions to the head office of the organization, said to be in Toronto, and an accredited representative of the society in whatever city the members happens to reside calls and does the work for him.

The agent of the society having performed his duty in an expert manner there is said to be little to attract suspicion about the resulting fire and the owner collects the insurance in the ordinary way.

In the case against Simpson the authorities claim that Colores was a member of this society, and that Simpson acted as agent. Belief that Colores, either voluntarily or at the instance of the society itself was about to disappea so that he Crown's case against Simpson would fall to the ground, resulted in his being placed behind the bars as a material witness. No bail was allowed.

"It must be all conjecture," said Deputy Fire Marshal Lewis this afternoon, when shown the above despatch. From time to time, it is understood, the fire marshal's department has felt that there was more or less of an organized arson ring. The difficulty, however, has been to catch them with the evidence. Usually when the investigation comes too close those suspected get wind of what is happening and manage to make off.

Woman Kisses Slayer Of Her Daughter At Trial

NEW YORK, March 24. Canadian Press. — Mrs. Anna McIntyre regards Walter B. Mayer, who is on trial as the slayer of her daughter, Shirley, as "a gentleman in every respect." She kissed him in court yesterday, after testifying as a character witness and saying she would have welcomed him as a son-in-law."

Mayer testified that the girl rejected him because he was "too slow," that he displayed a pistol to provide excitement enough for her, and that it was accidentally discharged in a struggle.

FREE VACCINE IN MONTREAL

Doctors Supplied With Anti-Typhoid Serum By City Officials.

TO STEM EPIDEMIC.

MONTREAL, March 24 (Canadian Press).—The city authorities, through Dr. Boucher, director of the health department, began to-day to distribute vaccine against typhoid in city hospitals and to private physicians free, in an effort to stem the epidemic which is prevalent here. Dr. Boucher said that while a number of new cases continued to be reported each day he thought that the source of infection—a milk dealer — had been discovered and eliminated. One large insurance firm has opened a clinic and has instructed its medical officers to inoculate citizens against typhoid free of charge. Statements by Dr. Boucher and other prominent physicians that inoculation is a very effective measure against fever are being published in the local papers.

From youth Lieutenant General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder and head of the Boy Scout movement, has been ambidextrous, being able to write and draw with both hands with equal facility.

No More Petting On Ship Than At Colleges On Shore

PARIS, March 24. (United Press.—Petting their way around the world, some of the students on the S. S. Ryndam, first co-educational floating university in history, have had a gay time of it, it has been frankly admitted by several since the 500 youngsters arrived here.

But they pointed out that the pastime is not unknown, even in old-fashioned dry land colleges. "There was a certain amount of necking on board, but no more than I saw at the University of Colorado last year," said George L. McClure, of Boulder, Colorado, a junior at the University he referred to. "If you wanted to," he added, "it was easy though to stay away from the girls. The only thing wrong was that the decks were too cramped in comparison with the campus at home."

SINCLAIR SAYS HOUSE RULES WERE IGNORED

Measures Will Have To Pass Through All Stages Again.

EXCITES GALLERIES.

Includes Amendment To Corporation Tax Act and Liquor Control

TORONTO, March 24.—Liberal Leader W. F. N. Sinclair, on the opening of yesterday's session of the Legislature, moved adjournment of the House and challenged as illegal considerable legislation already put through this session because of failure to observe established rules of the House.

His challenge rested on the Government's passing of a bill granting $100,000 to the Banting research fund, without the formality of a preliminary resolution which is required before the introduction of any bill concerning the revenues of the province.

Mr. Sinclair's challenge caused some excitement in the House and well-filled galleries. He added that the Banting grant bill was not the only piece of legislation in which the Government had ignored and disregarded established rules of procedure.

Includes Race Track Tax.

He cited among other bills not preceded by preliminary resolutions the amendment to the Corporation Tax Act, cutting race track taxes from $7,500 to $5,000 a day; the Provincial Land Tax Act and even the Liquor Control Act itself now in committee of the House.

"All these have passed through all stages up to committee and third reading without the resolution rule being observed," declared Mr Sinclair.

"The procedure in all these bills is invalid and will have to be done all over again unless this House sees fit to cure this oversight in some way."

Mr. Sinclair cited precedents and said he could quote instances of observance of the rule in previous houses.

Legislation Out of Order.

"I submit that the Government stands for criticism for getting legislation out of order according to the rules of this House. These are the well established rules of this House, the House at Ottawa, and the British House of Commons. I think it is my duty to call attention to this oversight.

"The bill regarding the Banting research foundation provides for the payment of $10,000 a year for 10 years to come—$100,000 in all. The bill has gone through all its stages and yet we haven't made the preliminary provision for it."

"I'm sure you will be glad to be assured that the situation is by no means as serious as my hon friend implies," replied Premier Ferguson.

Governors' Assent Sufficient.

He said that the Lieutenant-Governor's approval had to be secured in all cases of bills regarding expenditure of provincial revenue. He held that the Governor's assent was sufficient. "The clerk is sitting for the first session. When resolutions of this kind have been carried in the past they have been recognized as carried and automatically disappear from the order paper. I have never seen resolutions dealing with a matter like this appearing in two forms."

"I have no condemnation for the clerk at all. This evidently was taken as carried and just disappeared from the order paper."

Mr. Sinclair took issue with the Premier, quoting the precedents of the gasoline tax act, the northern development act of 1927, the indemnity act of 1925 and the beverage tax act.

Technically Correct.

"I would ask the Premier what he is going to do about this. It is an important matter. The act has been read a third time and is awaiting royal assent, yet this resolution is not yet carried."

Premier Ferguson replied that while Mr. Sinclair might be technically correct, it had never been the practice to have two distinct discussions on the resolution and then on the bill. The resolution, he said, automatically passed with the bill.

"You should not blame it on the clerk," said Mr. Sinclair. "Someone is running this House. I never recall a motion passing without being called."

"I admit my hon. friend is technically correct," said Premier Ferguson, amidst loud Liberal applause. "No doubt things will run smoother as time goes on. In the meantime I must take the responsibility as leader of the House."

EDITOR SAYS MANUSCRIPTS OF STORIES LOST

Cameron Again Testifies in Ford-Sapiro Libel Suit.

QUOTATIONS READ.

Evidence Centres About Articles Written By Harry S. Dunn.

(By M. D. Tracy, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

COURT ROOM, Detroit, March 24. —Original manuscripts of Harry S. Dunn's stories in the Dearborn Independent, basis of the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit, cannot be found, it was revealed in court yesterday.

William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent, which is Henry Ford's weekly magazine, testified he had searched his office Tuesday night and could not find the manuscripts.

William Henry Gallagher, Aaron Sapiro's chief counsel, had demanded production of the manuscripts in court.

Presentation of the paragraphs from the Dunn articles, about half complete yesterday, was then resumed by Sapiro's counsel.

"Controlled By Jews."

"It may be only a coincidence that the line of agricultural control in this country runs from Otto Kahn and Bernard Baruch (New York financiers) down through Aaron Sapiro and lesser Jews," Gallagher read from the Independent.

'But here is an incident which may throw light on that. Because Aaron Sapiro, when he organized the Colorado potato growers, thought Erskine R. Myer spelled his name Meyer and was a Jew, the enterprising young promoter of co-operative associations employed Mr. Myer as attorney for the Colorado Potato Growers' Association."

The defence resumed its policy of objecting to all questions, and the court went to great length to explain to the jury that some of the evidence being offered was presented as evidence of libel and some only as evidence of malice. Malice, he said, is a factor in determining the amount of damages.

Read By Sapiro.

Sapiro read the article personally, the first time he had joined in the pleading of his own case. A man of medium stature, dressed neatly in grey, he stood erect in the middle of the court room and read rapidly in a clear voice.

Searchlight Gun Flashes Images On the Clouds

General Electric Machine "Shoots" Five Miles

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., March 24—A long-range searchlight gun, which can shoot pictures or images on clouds or buildings at varying distances, depending on atmospheric and cloud conditions, has been perfected by the General Electric Illuminating Engineering Laboratory.

This projector, which in external appearance, closely resembles a large naval cannon, with its tapering barrel painted a battleship gray, is only a small model of larger sky-writers which can be made, according to W. D'Arcy Ryan, director of the laboratory.

"There is absolutely no reason why we cannot make projectors using a sixty-inch searchlight which will be capable of casting an image on a cloud or other object at a distance of five miles," Mr. Ryan explained. "The present gun employs an eighteen-inch searchlight, which can be used with either an incandescent lamp or carbon arcs. It is our laboratory model on which we have been experimenting for some time. We know its characteristics and can now make projectors just as big and powerful as may be wanted."

A searchlight is located at the rear end of the gun and in the barrel are lenses and a slot for inserting the slide to be projected. These lenses are so arranged that the image from the slide is in constant focus at any distance greater than twenty feet from the end of the barrel, which makes it possible to cast the image about on various objects at different distances without refocusing.

The image may be reflected in everchanging colors by use of an electrically operated screen attached to the nozzle of the projector. The speed of the screen can be regulated so the colors will vary quickly or slowly, as may be desired.

REFERENCE OF LIQUOR EXPORT

Customs Department in Toronto took up the major part of the sitting. The early part was featured by an effort on the part of Mr. Rowell to locate the missing books of the O'Keefe Beverages, Ltd., of Toronto, which culminated in his suggestion that if the books are not forthcoming the Commission should recommend that the license of this company be not renewed. The Commission is now considering making such a recommendation. The license expires at the end of this month.

Evidence offered by E. J. A. Johnson, head clerk in the sales tax branch here, concerned the efforts made to collect from reluctant licensees. He informed the Commission that his last report showed 3,823 licenses issued to manufacturers and wholesalers in the city of Toronto. He had twelve assistants in his branch.

"Do the licensees make a sworn return every month?" asked Mr. Rowell.

"Not always," replied Mr. Johnson. He detailed for the benefit of the Commission the steps taken to keep the returns up to date and collect the sales tax promptly. After firms fell behind for more than a certain time, it became the duty of Ottawa to take what action it saw fit to make the collection.

Examination of Customs officers will probably continue to-day.

SINCLAIR SAYS, ETC

an act to amend the Provincial Park Act. Mr. Finlayson said that the amendment affected timber licenses in Algonquin Park.

Under the present Act, he said, timber licenses except for pine would lapse in 30 years. Some of these will soon lapse unless relief is given. Representations had been that owing to the war and other causes, some licensees had not been able to complete their operations. The Department investigated and found the representations to be correct.

The bill, said Mr. Finlayson, provides for a commissioner for Algonquin Park to have complete control, subject to the Department, of cutting of timber in the park. The commissioner," he said, "can order this particular area preserved for beautification another preserved for purposes of seed. The Department in this way will have complete control of the park. We intend also to co-ordinate the services of the different departments. For example the Game and Fisheries Department will have a man there, under the superintendent, with power to seal up certain lakes against fishing, if such is considered advisable.

The Minister said that of 2,741 acres, 1,885 or 68 per cent., are under timber licenses. These will be renewable from year to year under the new superintendent and department.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

SOMEONE

Someone to marvel at our wit?
No, that is not our need.
A night, when you are through with it,
Is emptiness indeed.
Someone to dazzle with our gold?
No, that will never do.
The brightest coin is always cold,
Its friendship seldom true.

Someone to frighten with our fame?
No, that has naught of worth,
However much men may acclaim
The great ones of the earth.
Someone to think us wondrous wise?
No, that will never make
Contentment when the daylight dies,
Or when the sad dawns break.

Someone to give us words of praise?
No, even these grow stale.
God knows we have our other days,
When sudden friendships fail
Someone to love us? Oh, make sure
Of this when shadows fall!
Someone to love us, rich or poor,
We need—and that is all.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Good Smaritan

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

When a lawyer, enjoined to love his neighbor, replied to Jesus, "Who is my neighbor?" Jesus told the story known as The Parable of the Good Samaritan. "A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho." (Luke X : 25-30)

This man fell among thieves who robbed and beat him, leaving him half-dead. (Luke X : 30)

A priest, and a Levite, both came that way, but passed by without helping the man. (Luke X : 31-32)

But a Samaritan, whom the priest and Levite would have despised as a heretic and outcast, helped the man, giving him every service. Jesus commended the Samaritan, urging all who would be neighborly to do likewise. (Luke X : 33-37)

PRINCE OF WALES WILL VISIT SPAIN

Spend His First Official Visit at Seville and Madrid.

LONDON, March 24. — The Prince of Wales will be the guest of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain this Easter, spending a fortnight at Seville and Madrid. This will be the Prince's first official visit to Spain.

The Prince's visit to Seville during the holiday week will coincide with the annual fair, one of the most picturesque sights of Europe. While in Seville he will stay at the Palace belonging to the Marquise Yanduri and the Spanish Royalties will occupy the Alcazar Palace.

King Alfonso's daughter Beatrice, who will be 18 years old on June 22, with Princess Ileana of Rumania, is among this season's debutantes at the court of St. James. A rumor of the engagement of the Prince to Princess Beatrice last June was authoritatively denied.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON LIQUOR BILL

Compulsory Licensing of Peddlers, Hawkers Given Third Annual Hoist.

TORONTO, March 24.— Proposals for compulsory licensing of peddlers, hawkers and transient traders in Ontario municipalities were given a third annual year's hoist by the municipal committee of the legislature yesterday, when they were brought forward for consideration in the bill sponsored by Fred Smye, M.L.A., West Hamilton.

Whereas in the past two years the committee has laid over similar bills without any very tangible prospects of future consideration, however, it went so far this year as to recommend the government to appoint a select committee of the house to investigate the entire problem which transient traders represent.

The action of the committee in laying over the bill for possible consideration from a select committee came as the anti climax to a morning's keen discussion when interests both opposed and favorable to the bill made vigorous representations.

1927 Model Young Man To Wear Tans and Greys

ST. LOUIS, March 24 (Associated Press). — Silver gray, blues, light tans and sand shades are the favorite colors in young men's clothing for spring as sketched by leaders of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, which opened its annual convention here.

The 1927 model young man wears a three-button coat with peak lapels, trousers of discreet width—20 inches at the knee and eight inches at the bottom, a six-button vest with long points, slender black shoes and a hat with brim narrower but still snapped down at the front.

The necktie is a bit quieter than heretofore, with two-toned stripes preferred. The shirt is still the starched collar-to-match, and at its best in solid color. The socks are in quiet stripes, or one shade, and probably they are lisle.

The coat will be of a soft front, rolling to the second button, and if a two-button coat, the lapels will be rounded and for the college student.

Above all the colors will get along together. "Ensemble" is the clothiers' favorite word.

OLD MASTERS

When do I see thee most, beloved one?
When in the light the spirits of mine eyes
Before thy face, their altar, solemnize
The worship of that Love through thee made known?
Or when in the dusk hours (we two alone),
Close-kissed and eloquent of still replies
Thy twilight-hidden glimmering visage lies,
And my soul only sees thy soul its own?
O love, my love! if I no more should see
Thyself, nor on the earth the shadow of thee,
Nor image of thine eyes in any spring—
How then should sound upon life's darkening slope
The ground-whirl of the perished leaves of hope,
The wind of death's imperishable wing?
—Dante Gabriel Rosetti: From "The House of Life."

A SURPRISING FIGURE

Old Country people express surprise at the extent to which Canadians rely upon the telephone. At that they usually are thinking in terms of purely local service. They would be astonished to hear that in Ontario and Quebec alone the average daily use of the Long Distance telephone in 1926 was 51,768 messages. These remarkable figures are found in the Bell Telephone Company's Annual Report. They indicate the present-day demand for quick communication regardless of distance.

LADIES' AID SOCIAL WELL PATRONIZED

Good Programme Given at Entertainment at Trent River.

TRENT RIVER, March 24.—A most successful social evening was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Thompson, Norwood road. Notwithstanding the bad condition of the roads there was a large attendance. The programme consisted of the following: Miss Velma Davidson, Havelock, rendered two vocal solos, the Rev. Mr. Archer also favored the company with a vocal number; recitations by the little Misses Anna and Gena McNeely; Mr. Humphrey gave a few comic readings; Wesley Wildman accompanied the soloists and also the violin selections. The door receipts amounted to about twenty dollars.

Mr. Fred Scott and son Victor went to Toronto last week and purchased a new truck, which they drove home. They found the highway as far as Brighton in good condition, but from there home the roads were in poor condition.

The canal and back channels at this point are open, with only a little ice on the shores, but where the trappers are busy up and down the river they report the ice so thick it interferes with their traps. There have not been many muskrats caught yet.

Mr. Lott, of Oshawa, attended the funeral of the late Mr. Stephen Watson.

Mrs. Gunn, Hastings, was a visitor over the week end with Mr. John Ruttan and family.

The Misses Marguerite Garneau and B. Blakley spent Saturday in Peterborough.

Miss Ada Doupe, Havelock, spent Sunday at the parental home.

Mr. Jim Doupe left Monday for Springbrook, where he intends to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Palmer (nee Mary Watson), Toronto, and Mrs. MacIntosh, Haileybury, left on Saturday for their home after attending the funeral of their father and brother, Mr. Stephen Watson. While here they were guests at the Cook cottage.

EPIDEMIC GRIPS MONTREAL CITY

158 Typhoid Cases Reported During Last Twenty-four Hours.

25 DEATHS.

MONTREAL, Quebec, March 24. —Canadian Press. — The typhoid epidemic, which has been raging in Montreal for the past three weeks, took on a serious turn during the past 24 hours ending at noon yesterday, when the number of cases jumped to 158, the largest in ten days.

After appearing to be well under control and following a drop over the week end in the number of new cases, the epidemic has flared up again. The total number of people reported ill from the fever in Montreal last night were 905, forty seven additional cases being reported yesterday morning.

One death was reported yesterday, making the mortality list 25 since the fever became epidemic.

All the regular hospitals now report that no more space is available for typhoid patients and the authorities who have already re-opened an old hospital for the care of the sick, yesterday made arrangements for equipping an emergency quarantine building.

Grey Nuns Aid.

The call for nurses has been met very promptly the Grey Nuns supplying a number, under the superintendence of Rev. Mother McKenna, Assistant Mother-General of the order. Hospital supplies have been ordered in adequate quantities.

While Dr. S. Boucher, Director of Health, has issued a notice to citizen that there is no reason for undue alarm, he has solemnly warned them that every family must take precautions against infection.

Number Increasing.

The authorities believe that effective vaccination with anti-typhoid serum has had much to do with keeping the form of the fever down to a mildness which will not call for long treatment. However, despite general vaccination among people thought to have been exposed to infection, the number of cases is increasing.

The Montreal Star yesterday published the following editorial under the caption: "Wanted—a Bacteriologist."

"It seems incomprehensible that with the epidemic taking heavy toll in suffering and serious loss to many families the city council neglect, or refuse, to appoint a bacteriologist. Never have the services of such an official been so urgently needed as at present. The most elaborate equipment has been purchased at great cost to the ratepayers, but for some reason or other the city refuses to name a successor to the scientist who last occupied this post, and it offers no reason for its refusal to act. Public bodies and private individuals have sent petitions to the executive committee urging and imploring that the appointment be made. To their pleas and prayers the council is indifferent."

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE GIVES GOOD CONCERT

BETHANY, March 24.—A very pleasant entertainment was given in the Town Hall Friday evening under the auspices of the Women's Institute. The chair was taken by the president, Mrs. Jamieson, who called upon the band to open the programme with The Maple Leaf. An amusing dialogue with nine characters featured a supposed sewing circle at the home of a Mrs. Martin, who was impersonated by Miss Elsie Richardson. The costumes were unique and very quaint causing a great deal of amusement in the audience. Recitations were given by Beatrice Darroch; piano duets were played by the Misses Gladys and Vera Fierheller, also Misses Helen Patton and Viola Gray; a vocal selection was given by Misses Elsie Richardson and Violet Jackson, and Messrs. Harry Preston and Douglas Driver. Mrs. (Rev.) Howard of Millbrook sang two solos with encores. Rev. Howard gave a very interesting short talk on his travels around Fort Churchill where he was stationed for about four years. The band played several selections which were much enjoyed. Proceeds were $60.60.

Relic Of Light Brigade Owned By Local Resident

A relic of the Charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava, in the form of a belt worn by Sergeant Pollock, at that time a trooper in one of the Hussar regiments that took part in the famous charge, is now in the possession of J. H. Edmison, Woodlawn Avenue, Peterborough.

The belt was given to Mr. Edmison by Sergeant Pollock, who afterwards worked on his father's farm. On the buckle is a mark caused by a Russian bullet which it deflected in such a manner that it passed through Pollock's thigh and killed the horse upon which he was riding.

WEDDING BELLS.

PRATT—TUCKER.

The following notice, from the "Ottawa Journal", concerns a wedding of local interest, as the bride who lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Tucker, up to 1913, is a step-daughter of Mr. Harry R. Blade of Ottawa, formerly of Peterborough, and a son of Mr. A. Blade of this city.

Charming in every detail was the house wedding, which took place quietly at three o'clock this afternoon, at 28 Broadway Ave., of Lenore Tucker, daughter of the late James A. Tucker and Mrs. Harry R. Blade, to Forest Millen Pratt, M.C., son of the late Horace O. E. Pratt and Mrs. Pratt of Ottawa. Rev. G. G. D. Kilpatrick officiated in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends only.

Lovely spring blossoms adorned the rooms. Columbia roses, with a banking of ferns and palms were used effectively in the drawing-room, where the ceremony took place. Miss Evelyn Tolley played the wedding music and continued to play softly through the service.

The bride was unattended and was given in marriage by her step-father, Mr. Harry R. Blade. She wore a smart costume of bisque shade flat crepe, the skirt draped softly at one side. A deep pointed yoke and long tight sleeves were of ecru lace. Her hat was a mohair model of the same shade, with a wide band of velvet ribbon and she carried an arm bouquet of butterfly roses and lily-of-the valley.

Mrs. Blade, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of Cleopatra blue with a French hat of crochet straw to match. Her corsage was of Columbia roses and violets.

Miss Doris Blade, younger sister of the bride, was daintly in reseda green, with a mohair hat in a deeper shade and her bouquet was of roses.

Mrs. Pratt, mother of the groom, was charming in black crepe with hat to match and a corsage of violets.

Mrs. F. W. Berry, of Gravenhurst, sister of the groom, was attractive in sand crepe, with hat of the same shade and a corsage of sweet peas.

Miss Charlotte Millen, aunt of the groom, was smart in Lagoon blue, with a black hat.

After an informal reception, Mr. and Mrs. Pratt left for Montreal en route to Washington, D.C., and on their return to Ottawa will reside at 17 Torrington Place. The bride travelled in a grey frock, with a grey ottoman corded coat trimmed with chinchilla and a grey hat with pastel shaded motifs effectively embroidered.

Mr. and Mrs. Barklay Mason, of Toronto, were out-of-town guests."

FORD—FEE

A very pretty Spring wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, March 16, in the United Church Parsonage, Cannington, the home of the bride's sister, when Eva, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Francis Fee of Omemee, was united in marriage to Emerson F. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ford, of Oakville.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. A. E. McCutcheon, B.A., B.D., brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride was prettily attired in a rose blonde georgette gown with gold lace trimmings, and wore the gift of the groom a platinum bar pin set with diamonds. Her bouquet was composed of sweetheart roses, lily of the valley, and sweet peas. Her bridesmaid, Miss Blanche Stinson of Unionville, also an Omemee girl, was becomingly gowned in a pink satin crepe frock, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and sweet peas. Mr. Frank Campbell of Oakville supported the groom.

The drawing room was prettily decorated with ferns and carnations, blending with the prevailing color scheme of rose and white. After a dainty luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Ford, amidst showes of confetti and congratulations left by motor for Toronto, Rochester, and other points; the bride travelling in a French dress of sand georgette embroidered with gold with hat, blonde shoes and Hundson seal coat.

MORE POTATOES TO BE PLANTED

New England Growers Plan Increase of 15 Per Cent This Year.

EXPECT BIG CROP.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., March 24.—(Canadian Press).—Fifteen per-cent more potatoes than were harvested last year will be planted this year, if the March 1 plans of the country's potato raisers materialize, the New England crop reporting service announced here today.

The intended acreage will yield more than four hundred million bushels, given an average season. This will be seventeen percent larger than the harvested acreage in 1925 and almost nine percent above that in the bumper crop year of 1924, when prices were very low.

RELIEF SOUGHT FOR SUFFERERS FARMERS' BANK

Dr Edwards Urges Same Aid Given in Home Bank Failure.

DEPOSITORS LOST.

Claims Government Is To Blame By "Errors in Judgment."

OTTAWA. March 24 —/In the House of Commons yesterday Hon. Dr. Edwards (Frontenac-Addington) moved "that in the opinion of this House it is advisable that the same measure of relief should be granted to those who suffered loss through the failure of the Farmers' Bank as has been granted to these who lost through failure of the Home Bank."

Dr. Edwards declared that from 1868 to 1910 there were 24 bank failures. The aggregate savings or deposits was $77,000,000. The amount lost by the depositors was $6,665,000. Out of the total 25 cases there were 14 in which the depositors had received full payment and six in which the depositors had received from 59 to 96 per cent. In one case they received 11 per cent. only and in another only 17 1-2 per cent. There were only two cases where the depositors had received nothing at all. One was the Bank of Acadia in which the deposits only amounted to a few hundred thousand, and the other was the Farmers Bank where the amount of deposits exceeded two millions.

Depositors Lost All

"In the last fifty years," said Dr. Edwards, "There is only one case where the depositors lost all, that was the case of the Farmers Bank."

Michael Hambourg, blind swimmer of Toronto, who announces himself an entrant for the $50,000 George Young challenge swim being promoted to take place in Toronto next summer. Mr. Hambourg swam in the across the bay and gap to gap races in 1921. He was blinded by an affection of the eyes that followed a blow received while boxing.

The Home Bank, he said, had been in operation for seventeen years, the Farmers Bank for four years.

It had been found that the Home Bank depositors had a moral claim in equity for reimbursement by reason of governmental responsibility in the granting of the certificate by the treasury board. Reimbursement was thereupon ordered.

Dr. Edwards recalled the history of the fight for the depositors of the Farmers' Bank. He declared that a bill had been brought down in 1912 by the Borden government for recompense. There was then a liberal majority in the Senate and the bill was killed in the upper house. When the Home Bank bill was introduced by the King government it passed both the house and the Senate, though there was a conservative majority in the latter.

Claim Government to Blame

Dr. Edwards went at length into the debate which had occurred in both measures and referred to "errors of judgment" on the part of government officials by which depositors had suffered loss. He went into an intricate argument on the finding of Sir William Meredith respecting the Farmers' Bank disaster, and on Mr. Justice McKeown on the Home Bank, and undertook to revive the old contention that the government was as much responsible for the failure of the one as for the failure of the other. There was, he declared, "negligence" in both cases.

In answer to a question by Adshead, Labor member for East Calgary, as to whether the government had in mind "any plan either by the dominion alone, or in co-operation with the provinces, whereby relief may be granted to the wives and families of prisoners, or of having whatever the prisoners may earn forwarded to the families of prisoners to keep them from suffering and destitution," Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, replied: "The matter is under consideration."

Curfew in Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, March 24 (Canadian Press).—The Municipal Council of the Shanghai international settlement issued a proclamation to-day ordering all residents to remain indoors between the hours of ten p.m. and four a.m.

Agreement to Surrender?

Most of the foreign military and naval experts believe Nanking was surrendered by the Northern troops in consequence of an 'arrangement' between Chang Kai-Shek, Cantonese Commander-in-Chief, and Chang Tsung-Chang, Shantungese commander.

Jesuit Is Hero.

One of the heroes of the day in Shanghai is a French Jesuit, Father B. Jacquinot, a red-bearded one-arm giant. With Viscount Gort, chief of staff of the British defence force, and Consul-General Barton, he rescued 500 refugees from the shell-wrecked French institution of the Holy Family, a combined orphanage and convent in the Chapei district of the Chinese native city. Among them were 41 nuns and 300 young children—British, American, and French.

Unable to emerge because of snipers, the inmates spent 48 hours in the basement, praying for help, watching the ever-approaching flames, and fighting off desperadoes, who forced their way into the building. Shells wrecked the roof and walls.

Meanwhile the Jesuit Father fought his way alone and unarmed through bullet-swept alleys. He was assaulted repeatedly by gunmen, whom he felled with a powerful fist, but was wounded thrice before he reached the convent. Nevertheless, he managed to organize a procession to the boundary of the international settlement. Six men, ill and unable to walk, and several women who collapsed, had to be carried. Finally, Viscount Gort and Consul Barton came on the scene and assisted in getting the party to the international settlement.

The priest was taken to hospital immediately. He will recover.

SALE BY THE GLASS.

The Ontario Legislature has had few sittings in regard to the Liquor Control Act during the present session when some member has not had something to say about the advisability of permitting the sale of beer by the glass.

Members who propose such a programme seem to forget that the people of Ontario were definitely promised by Premier Ferguson during the recent campaign that there will be no sale by the glass.

The promise was made in all parts of the Province, not only by the Premier himself, but by members of the Cabinet, by Government candidates and in campaign advertising.

It is undoubtedly the case that many people voted for Government control on the strength of this pledge, who would not have done so if they had thought the return of the Government meant sale by the glass.

The Premier has lived up to his promises, and members who try to induce him to bring in legislation directly opposed to his pre-election pledges are wasting time.

PLACING IMMIGRANTS.

A party of Belgian farm labourers is due to arrive in Canada at the end of the week, and efforts are being made to secure positions for these men, the situation apparently being that, although their arrival is only a few days away, their location in Canada is still a matter of doubt.

Doubtless these men are good material as immigrants and will make useful workers for Canadian farms, but there is reason to question a system that dumps such labourers into this country before the question of where they are to be placed is definitely settled.

Our immigration efforts and the activities of railway and steamship companies in promoting immigration have for the most part been marked by much too great eagerness in booking the passage of new citizens, and not enough attention paid to the all-important question of what they're going to do when they get here.

It has been suggested that some of these Belgian workers could be placed on farms in the Peterborough district, but lack of knowledge on the part of local farmers as to the ability of the newcomers to speak English has made this impossible.

NOW WE'RE GETTING SOMEWHERE.

The House of Commons has adopted a rule limiting speeches of members of the House, with the exception of the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition, to 40 minutes.

The Examiner is confident that this decision will be received with whole-hearted approval by the people generally.

The limit on speeches is expected to reduce the length of the session by at least one-third and possibly by one-half, and much of the useless debate that has been carried on in recent sessions will be eliminated.

Forty minutes is surely long enough to give members of Parliament a fair chance to state their views on any particular question.

The man who is not able to boil down his remarks and keep them within such a limit should not be elected to Parliament; it is the case that some of the best speeches made in the Canadian House have been delivered under closure when the members were held to a limit of twenty minutes.

The new rule is a big step forward in the direction of a more expeditious and more business-like administration of Canada's affairs, and the people will thank the 115 members of the House who made its passing possible.

GIVE THE VETERANS A CHANCE.

There is naturally much interest in the personnel of the staffs that will be selected in the various centres in which Government control stores are to be located.

The launching of a new system of dealing with the liquor question opens the way to the appointment of a large number of positions for which there is naturally a keen demand.

In this connection The Examiner has already expressed its hope that men in whose honesty and business ability the public can have ready trust will be chosen; the whole scheme will be jeopardized if poor selections are made in filling such responsible positions.

But there is another point that might well be taken into consideration.

Among Ontario men who fought overseas there must be many who are fully capable of carrying out the duties of positions of this nature, and they should be given a fair chance when appointments are being made.

Many promises were made in the recruiting days as to the gratitude that would be shown the men who came back.

In numerous cases these promises have not been fulfilled.

The positions opened by the introduction of a new liquor policy afford the Ontario Government a chance to do justice to men who faced death and sacrificed much in the years when the common liberty was threatened by a formidable foe.

WHO'S WHO IN CHINA.

Most people find it difficult to intelligently follow events in China because of the similarity in the names. A Shanghai correspondent sums up the situation as follows:

The Cantonese Army, or Republican National Army of the South, known as Kuomintang, commanded by General Chiang Kai-Shek.

The army of another war lord, formerly in alliance with Chang Tso-lin, but now independent, Marshal Wu Pei-fu.

The army of Wu Pei-fu's associate, General Yang Seh-shan.

The army of another Southern war lord, dictator of the Yangtse seaboard, Marshal Sun Chuan-fang.

The "People's Army," known in China as the Kuominchun, commanded by the famous "Christian General," Feng Yu-Hsiang.

The "Red Lances," an armed organization of the farmers in Honan Province, in sympathy with the Cantonese.

The farmers in Shantung.

Student organizations in all the cities.

And other restless groups, subject to propaganda tending to reinforce the Cantonese army.

After one reads that list, one has an idea of the difficulty of intelligently following the civil war in the celestial empire. After one has learned the names of the armies and the leaders, one must keep in touch for, any day, any general or any army may switch from one side to the other.—Niagara Falls Review.

PEDESTRIANS IN CANADA WOULD WELCOME IT.

After regulating the length of skirt which may be worn by the maid of Athens, and also deciding that if she is under the age of 16 she shall not be allowed about the streets of the city, or in places of entertainment, after ten o'clock at night, except in company with a parent or guardian, General Pangalos has turned his attention to motorists. The police are to carry poles studded with sharp nails, and any motorist who disobeys a signal to slow down will have the pole—and nails—applied to his tires. There seems, in short, to be no doubt about it—a definite competition between Angora and Athens in the matters of strange laws and bylaws appears to have been opened. But let credit be given where credit is due. It was Turkey who first thought of the nail cure for reckless drivers. The Turkish system was reported to be a plank studded with nails, and this was to be cast down in the path of offending motorists; it would seem that the nimble Greek mind has really done nothing but add to the mobility of the weapon. Neither method appears to be quite so subtly thought out as the plan which has been used by some French villages (and also in America) to discourage furious driving through their hamlets. At each end of the village a shallow depression is dug in the road surface; traversed slowly it supplies nothing but a gentle rise and fall, but if taken at full speed a broken back axle is the likeliest result. All these are grim methods of making the punishment fit the crime, but minds, though just as ruthless, are evidently shrewder in France than in the Balkans. It would be possible for the infuriated motorists to have a most unseemly altercation with the human wielder of a spiked plank or pole, in the course of which the nails might become embedded in something even more sensitive than motor tires. On the other hand, there is no argument with a hole in the road, or with a notice which warned you of its presence before you reached it. The method for once exhibits that logical quality which we are often told is characteristic of the French genius.—Manchester, Eng., Guardian.

WE ARE ALL CUT TO A PATTERN.

The other day, on Sparks street, five well-dressed young women were observed jeering and hooting at a sixth girl—because she was wearing the footgear known as Russian boots. It did not matter that the weather and the season made such apparel most fitting. Did she not know that the fashion called for low shoes and mud-bespattered stockings? Away with her! And about the same time, a cable despatch from Bucharest told us of the police quelling a riot due to Rumanian resentment at the appearance on the streets of some fellows wearing the wide trousers known as "Oxford bags."

The mob mind, the herd instinct, is one of the most curious phenomena of human nature. The world resents individuality. The tendency of organized society more and more is towards standardization. We must be regular, or we are labelled odd and eccentric. The great majority, who eat meat, feel a little superior to the vegetarian. He is odd. A man brave enough to wear a straw hat in January or a fur cap in August is worth a paragraph on the front page, even though he is doing only what he happens to like doing. Men wear stiff, ugly and uncomfortable garments because they shy at the thought of the ridicule which would attend any serious departure from convention. Women shorten their hair and their skirts because all other women are doing the same thing at the command of mysterious and invisible monarchs of style, and the limit of modesty moves onward and upward with changing fashions.

We must be orthodox. If "everybody" is reading somebody's new book, then we must read it. Ten thousand orchestras play the same dance music at the same time, and we applaud and pretend to like the songs that other people applaud and like. The gramophone, the radio—we exclaim "beautiful!" "wonderful!" so long as it is in chorus. We play ping pong, Badminton, marbles, join winter swimming parties, when these are "the thing." We "visit" until breakfast time and drink more whiskey than we want or than is good for us when that is the rage. We are cheery choristers at mid-day when luncheon clubs are the prevailing mode. We kiss our wives in public or we don't, we act "dignified" at sixty or we don't, we go to church or we don't—according to the rule of the day. We eat standardized meals at certain hours of the day because it is the custom and "everybody" does it that way. One who ordered roast beef rare, French fried and apple pie for breakfast would be—well, rather queer, you know! Meekly we buy flowers because the florists remind us of "Mother's Day," or sausages if it is "national sausage week," gather up the winter's litter if we are told it is "clean-up week," plant the garden when the neighbors do, and buy a motor car because "everybody" has one.

We must be regular, above all things, and much is forgiven the one who always does the expected and conforms to usage. Only the genius can do the unusual thing without discomfort. His eccentricities in the way of clothes or manners or beliefs are attributed to his genius, and so few of us fall within the class that the sacred cause of standardization does not suffer.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Premier and Mr. Raney are likely to have as many clashes as there are clauses in the Liquor Control Act.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., March 24 (Canadian Press) — The export trade in Canadian grain in Montreal yesterday showed some improvement owing to the improved demand from both the United Kingdom and the continent and a moderate amount of business was accomplished in Manitoba spring wheat and Canadian Western barley for shipping from Canadian winter ports and for may loading here.

There has been a steady demand of late from Canadian and United States exporters for ocean grain room for loading at the opening of navigation at Montreal. It is estimated that the total engagements to date have been 1,000,000 bushels of which about 400,000 bushels were to the United Kingdom at 3s to 3s 3d per quarter as to port and the balance to the continent at sixteen cents per hundred pounds.

There was an increased inquiry from local exporters for wheat and barley in the local cash grain market, and a moderate amount of business resulted, including sales of No. 3 Canadian Western barley at twelve cents per bushel over Winnipeg May option, C.I.F. Montreal for May loading. There was no further change in prices for American corn or Canadian western oats and the trade was quiet.

The spring wheat flour trade continued quiet and prices were unchanged. The movement of winter wheat flour was also slow, but the undertone was steady.

The demand for all lines of millfeed showed a further improvement and values were firm. A steady feeling prevailed in the market for standard grades of rolled oats, but the volume of business was small.

An active business was done in eggs, but the undertone was easy owing to the large supplies available and indications are that values will be reduced in the near future. The receipts were 2,478 cases.

A stronger feeling developed in the market for potatoes and prices scored an advance of fifteen cents per bag. This was attributed to an increased demand from local buyers. Sales of car lots of Quebec varieties were made at $1.25 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track. The trade in seed potatoes was quieter with selected stock quoted at $2.25 per bag, and certified stock at $2.65 per bag of ninety pounds, ex-track.

The butter market was quiet today and prices were unchanged. The receipts were 30 packages.

The trade in cheese showed no improvment, the demand from all sources being of a very limited character and the undertone was easier. The receipts were 22 boxes.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH
BY DR. FRANK McCOY
"The Fast Way to Health"
© 1926 McCOY HEALTH SERVICE - LOS ANGELES - CAL.

The average person uses an excessive amount of starchy food in his daily diet, further harm is caused by using this kind of food in wrong combinations with other food. Excess fermentation is thus set up in the stomach and intestines and is productive of causes which lead to so many diseases.

In today's lesson I will explain what I consider to be the best starchy foods.

POTATOES contain from 14 to 20 per cent of starch. The best way to prepare potatoes is to cook them with their skins on, as this retains the valuable salts lying just under the skin. Baking destroys these salts, but potatoes prepared in this manner have a good flavor and the starch is partially converted into dextrose.

FRESH GREEN CORN is a good starch to use in season, while during the winter the canned corn may be used in limited quantities.

MACARONI, SPAGHETTI, VERMICELLI, and NOODLES should be prepared without the addition of too many eggs. These foods should be cooked in plain water and served with butter or cream. No onions, garlic, tomatoes or cheese should be used at the same time.

HUBBARD SQUASH is a starchy gourd available during the winter months and provides a pleasing change from the starchy grains.

WHOLE RICE is the best rice to use, as the valuable vitamins and proteins have not been removed. Prepare rice by soaking in plain water over-night and boil for, at least, an hour. Serve with butter or cream. Never add sugar to rice as this will induce excessive fermentation.

CORN MEAL is a wholesome starchy food and may be made into muffins or corn bread. Do not mix with white flour.

WHOLE WHEAT MUFFINS should be made out of the pure, whole wheat flour which you can obtain in any Health Food store.

WHOLE WHEAT GRAIN makes an excellent breakfast food if soaked over-night and cooked for at least an hour. This makes the best breakfast cereal, and is superior to any of the so-called breakfast foods.

CARROTS, TURNIPS, PARSNIPS and BEETS are medium starchy vegetables which contain about 12 per cent starch when fully grown. These vegetables should always be prepared without removing their skins, which contain excellent blood-building and tissue-building material.

In the next article I will give you a list of starchy foods which may be used occasionally if the "best" ones are not available.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

PUZZLES
By Dr. Frank Crane.

A book called "Real Puzzles" has come to my desk. In it there are some 150 puzzles included. Those who like puzzledom will be entertained and many who do not like puzzles will be started on their downward path.

Solving a puzzle introduces us to the mental process which discovers many useful things. The problems of this life are not solved like questions in arithmetic, but are usually solved by the process known as "fumbling and experiment."

To estimate the answers to a question by computing the average of probabilities is the way which is followed by those who find out recondite matters.

There are puzzles in the Bible. There is a tradition that Adam proposed curious riddles to his two sons, but it is not substantiated.

We know, however, that Samson besides being the strongest man was a good deal of a puzzler.

When the Queen of Sheba came to visit Solomon she "proved him with hard questions" and it is recorded that Solomon and Hiram, King of Tyre, had a contest in riddles.

The hieroglyphics of the ancient Phoenicians and Egyptians were a sort of rebus, in fact the alphabet started with rebus symbols.

Readers of history are all familiar with the puzzle of the sphinx which was: "What is that animal which in the morning goes forth on four feet, at noon on two and in the evening on three?"

The answer is: "Man."

Edgar A. Poe wrote a most charming and intriguing story called "The Gold Bug" which turned on the solution of a cryptogram and cryptograms are now the favorite amusement of puzzlers.

Some people despise the puzzler's art, but there is a National Puzzlers' League in the United States which directs attention to the educational benefit of it. It publishes a paper called The Enigma, which is a good test of one's general information and power of weighing probabilities.

After all, we know very little in this world exactly and most of our opinions are formed by the preponderance of probabilities.

ESTIMATES ARE UP TWO MILLION

Hydro Projects Responsible For Increase in Ontario's Budget.

TORONTO, March 24.—The Ferguson Government introduced its main estimates into the Legislature yesterday, proposing for the coming fiscal year a total expenditure of $44,615,516 in comparison with $42,129,499 which formed last year's total. The increase of some $2,457,000 is due to contemplated expenditure upon the Hydro projects which the Government has recently announced, notably the building of a 220,000-volt line from Chats Falls to the Toronto vicinity.

Perhaps the greatest significance for the Ontario public in the estimates lay in an item of $20,000 additional inserted into the estimates of Hon. George S. Henry's Department of Highways. The item heralds the proclamation in the near future of the requirement that all motor car drivers should have permits. The vote of $20,000 is for the administration of this provision.

The estimates have a negative interest in the fact that they make no provision whatever for the operation of the Government Control Act. There is a resolution on the House order paper, however, to "set aside a certain sum" for the establishment of the Government's new liquor policy, and this is presumably to care for the activities of the Commission during the coming year.

Grants For Hydro.

Apart from its provision for the enforcement of the permit system for motor car drivers, the Government estimates provide for exactly the same services to the public as have been maintained in the past year. The change in the total of the estimates is supplied principally by votes on account of Hydro, and these are given in detail under the estimates of the Prime Minister's Department. The Niagara system is to have $9,395,000 spent on it. Increased transformer capacity in Thorold, Welland, London, Preston, Stratford, St. Mary's, St. Thomas, Brant, Guelph, Hamilton, and Toronto is to require $1,500,000. Construction of transmission and distribution lines is to require $7,225,000, of which the construction of a 220,000-volt line to Eastern Ontario is to require $5,000,000, cost of transformer stations being included in this amount. The erection of 110,000-volt lines, including the St. Thomas to Brant extension, is to cost $1,500,000. The Thunder Bay system is to receive $4,045,000, of which $3,875,000 is for work incidental to the Alexander Landing development which is in the construction process. The sum of $800,000 is alloted to the superstructure and generating equipment there and $3,000,000 is provided for the substructure canal and dam.

Rural Hydro bonuses are provided for by an item of $750,000.

Hon. Mr. Henry has achieved a cut in his Public Works Department estimates from $2,597,000 to $1,216,000, due presumably to the fact that the new east block of the Parliament Buildings and also the Government's Building at the Exhibition have now been completed.

There is no provision in the main estimates for any of the Provincial universities except Toronto. As grants to the other universities generally come in the supplementaries, however, no significance for Queen's or Western is attached to the omission.

Fashion Show.

There were capacity houses at the Capitol Theatre for the first three nights of this week, the major attraction being the Spring Fashion Show presented by the J. A. McNabb Company, Limited. The show was put on in very snappy style, the modelling by the mannequins, all members of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I. O. D. E., eliciting many complimentary remarks from those attending. The young ladies acquitted themselves admirably, demonstrating the models in very pleasing fashion, and did equally as well as any professional mannequins. The young ladies, the Misses M. Morphet, C. Sollitt, M. Conner, F. Adams, D. Davidson, J. Frederick, V. Davidson and E. Conner, and the vocal soloist, Miss M. Masson, received beautiful bouquets of roses and boxes of chocolate last evening, at the conclusion of the final performance. Assistance in the make-up of the mannequins was given by Mrs. A. A. Perrin.

AT THE REGENT.

WEIRD MOJAVE CANYONS BACKGROUNDS FOR FINEST BUCK JONES THRILLER

Exterior sequences of "Desert Valley," Buck Jones' latest starring drama for Fox Films, which will open at the Regent theatre to-day for a run of three days, were "shot" in the picturesque Mojave desert. At Red Rock and Jawbone canyons, background for these scenes, the peculiar lava and mica formations have been a source of interest and admiration to sightseers.

The formations have assumed the weird and fantastic proportions of colossal pipe organs, castles, camels, lighthouses and other shapes. The so-called "dry lakes" in this section are also the subject of much interest. These 'lakes,' some of them from three to five miles wide and eight or ten miles long were at once time filled with water but their inlet streams were in some manner cut off and after gradual evaporation, the lakes became dry. The smooth, hard surfaces of these lake bottoms are to be seen in some of the sequences of "Desert Valley."

The story centres about Buck Jones in his role as Montgomery Wilson Fitzsmith, a rover of the desert, who has fared badly in a dice game and minus most of his possessions, has come to the little town of "Desert Valley." He lands in jail after an attempt to steal pies to satisfy his hunger. Through a ruse he manages to escape, but not before he has learned that Timothy Dean leader of the cowmen in that section has been accused of breaking Jefferson Hoades' desert water line. Montgomery himself was responsible for this damage, having shot into the line to provide water for cattle he had found dying of thirst in the desert. He learns that Hoades, played by Malcolm Waite, has been attempting to gain possession of the cattlemen's land by cutting off their water supply. He succeeds in spoiling these plans after an exciting series of adventures. He falls in love with Mildred Dean, the beautiful daughter of Timothy Dean and the romance has its conclusion in the final scene of the picture.

Bank notes to the value of $2,000 were found wrapped round the water pipes in a house in Liverpool recently. They had been placed there by a former tenant during a severe cold spell, in order to keep the water from freezing.

SEAGRAVE MAKES NEW AUTO RECORD

Maintains Speed of 166.51 Miles Per Hour On Daytona Beach.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 24.—(Canadian Press.)—Speeding under unfavorable course conditions, Major Seagrave, British driver, today set a new United States' record of 166.51 miles an hour for a mile on the Ocean Beach speedway here.

Workmen had plotted a nine mile straightaway with flags and erected an intricate timing equipment for use in the British pilot's one mile of greatest speed. Major Seagrave used four miles to gather power, shot one mile, and eased up in the next four. Officials of the American Automobile Association timed the test.

PILES DISAPPEAR

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M.D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McDermid & Jury, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

COBOURG PASTOR AWARDED SALARY

Rev. T. W. Goodwill Gets Judgment For Arrears Aganist St. Andrew's.

COBOURG, Ont., March 24—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church congregation, Cobourg, were ordered in Division Court yesterday afternoon by County Judge J. E. McGlade to pay arrears of stipend; amounting to $150, to the pastor of that church, Rev. T. W. Goodwill, who has held the charge since May, 1925.

W. L. Allen, treasurer of the church, mailed a cheque to the pastor on March 3rd for $100 of the $250 stipend for the previous month, and enclosed a letter explaining that owing to shortage of funds only this portion of the full amount was being forwarded. The pastor waited until March 9th and instructed his solicitor, T. F. Hall, K.C., to write Treasurer Allen and warn him that unless the other $$150 was forthcoming by March 10th that he would enter action in court.

A cheque for the full amount was tendered to the plaintiff in the presence of the court.

Rev. Mr. Goodwill is well known throughout Ontario, both as moderator of the Peterboro Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church, and as a strong platform advocate of Government control in the recent provincial election. Internal troubles in the congregation of St. Andrew's resulted recently in the board of management asking Rev. Goodwill's resignation, but a meeting of the congregation of the church upheld the pastor.

FATAL ACCIDENT TO TREE TRIMMER

Collingwood Man Dies When Suspended Head Down in Tree.

COLLINGWOOD, March 24.— William H. Travis, C. N. R. baggageman here since 1902, died under tragic circumstances yesterday. He had not been well for some time, and, feeling better, he entered upon pruning a number of fruit trees in his garden. While doing so the ladder broke, and in the fall Mr. Travis's leg caught in the tree, leaving him suspended in mid-air. He was alone, and when discovered some time later was dead.

Mr. Travis was born at Georgetown on April 1, 1867, and before coming to Collingwood lived in Listowel, and Orillia. He entered the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway many years ago, and was a faithful employee. Mr. Travis was an Oddfellow and a Presbyterian. He leaves his wife. The funeral will take place to Georgetown.

INDIAN OBJECTS TO STATEMENTS

Flies To Six Nations' Reserve For Evidence On Ancestors' Home Life.

TO ANSWER ARTICLE

BRANTFORD, March 24.—For the purpose of securing evidence to repudiate charges made in February of this year by Prof. George Daugherty, teacher of English language at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, Dr. R. J. Atkins, full-blooded Mohawk Indian, reached the Six Nations reserve, near here, yesterday by aeroplane. He left Cedar Rapids, Iowa, his home, on Monday, being delayed en route by five blizzards.

The article he protests reads: "The Indian home life in the days when the white man first came to America was one of trials and troubles and petty spats, not unlike many homes of to-day. In those days, if a warrior was not happy with his wife, he simply shunted her out of his tepee and found another, provided she was of a weaker family than he. But if the squaw had brothers and sisters, or, most important of all, a mother, whom he feared, the buck might have been very hesitant about expelling his mate."

Several hundred Indians were assembled at the lower Cayuga longhouse to greet their flying brother and to furnish him with evidence of Indian customs of the early days.

MAN WALKS 4 BLOCKS, GAS STOPS HIM

"I had gas so bad that I could not walk four blocks without lying down. After taking two bottles of Adlerika, I am entirely relieved. I cannot recommend this wonderful medicine too highly."—Leo Boness.

Because Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, it gives the system a REAL cleansing and clears out old poisons which usually cause sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. Just ONE spoonful stops GAS, and relieves that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never guessed was in your system and which may have long caused trouble. No matter what you have tried for stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In Peterboro at McDermid & Jury and other druggists.

SOME QUESTIONS AND THEIR ANSWERS

House Organ of Dunlop Tire Co. Gives Replies

Why the Newspaper? taken from Pura, house organ of Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Company Limited.

Why The Newspaper?

Does anybody ask why we advertise in the newspapers every year? Does anybody think it unusual that we have never missed a "newspaper" year since we started in business 33 years ago? It's so easy to answer these two questions that we will ask ourselves two more: "Is the daily and weekly newspaper the logical medium for the tire manufacturer?" "Is Canada a newspaper country from the standpoint of the average advertiser?"

An answer to all four questions can be given in one sentence: Dunlop has been advertising Dunlop Tires for 33 uninterrupted years in Canadian newspapers not only because Dunlop believes the newspaper is the logical field for the tire manufacturer but because Canada with a few people in many places is ostensibly a newspaper-reading country and, therefore, logically a newspaper-advertising country.

Where the advertising campaign is as easy to stop as it is to start, there you find most advertisers in Canada—in the Daily Newspaper.

Breakfast

best meal of the day

Physicians urge satisfying breakfasts because in the forenoon most people are called upon to do two-thirds of their most important work.

To enable body and brain to reach their highest capacities in the shortest time, digestion must be easy and quick.

The delicious taste of Quaker Oats invites digestion. Gratefully warm, it is welcomed by the stomach. It assimilates quickly and its bulk and tender bran assist in the assimilation of other food. They aid in a function which doctors say is the first essential to good health.

And Quaker Oats sustains throughout the day's most vital working hours. No other cereal has such perfect balance of food elements. It contains 16% of the tissue builder, protein; 65% of the energy producer, carbohydrates; and the all-important vitamines and mineral salts.

If you are not using Quaker Oats at breakfast, start now. You will take up your morning work more eagerly and will feel more vigorous and alert throughout the day.

Two Kinds

You can get Quaker Oats in two forms—the large, plump whole flake or the half flake, rolled thin, and partly cooked. Both are of the same Quaker Quality, famous in 58 countries.

If you wish to make porridge while you boil the coffee, or make the toast, use Quick Quaker. It cooks in 3 minutes.

"Have you any nickels or pennies, Beckie?" asked Neddie Stubtail, the shaggy little boy bear as he shuffled out of the Hollow Stump School one afternoon and started for home.

"Not a nickel or a penny," answered Sister Beckie. "Why did you ask, Neddie?"

"Well, I'm sort of hungry for a honey cake, and I thought maybe if you had a nickel we could buy a big one and I'd give you half, or if you only had a penny we could buy a small honey cake and I'd give you half of that. I'm generous that way; aren't I?"

"Yes, I suppose so," sniffed Beckie. "But you can't buy honey cakes with any of my pennies or nickels, 'cause I haven't any. Where's your own nickel that daddy gave you yesterday?"

"I either spent it or I lost it. I forget which," answered Neddie. "And I don't remember buying any honey cakes with my nickel so I must have lost it and—"

Then, all of a sudden, Neddie saw Uncle Wiggily hopping along the street a little distance ahead and the shaggy little boy bear shuffled along quite fast until he had caught up with the rabbit gentleman.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily," rumbled Neddie, in his deep voice, "have you a nickel in your pocket?"

"Why, yes, I think so," answered Mr. Longears. "Do you want it?"

"I would like to look at it, if you please," answered Neddie, while his sister Beckie behind him pulled on his coat and whispered:

"You mustn't ask Uncle Wiggily for nickels! Daddy wouldn't like it!"

"I'm not asking him to give me a nickel!" whispered back Neddie. "I just want to look at it." And when Mr. Longears pulled out a nickel, the little bear looked at it carefully, first on one side and then on the other. At last he sighed and said:

"I don't know if that's my nickel or not. But if you wanted to let me take it, Unkie Wig, and if I found out afterward, that it wasn't my nickel, I could give it back to you—maybe—if I didn't spend it."

"What makes you think that is your nickel, Neddie?" asked the bunny.

"'Cause I—now—I had a nickel," answered Neddie, standing first on one paw and then on the other. "And I don't know if I lost it or if I spent it maybe lost. And it's the same color. I guess it's mine all right. Thank you for finding it for me, Unkie Wig! Come on, Beckie!" and he hurried away. "We'll go buy some honey cakes!

But, if you found this nickel, why, maybe it's the one I lost and then, in that case—"

Neddie began licking his teeth with his tongue for he was very hungry to eat a honey cake. Uncle Wiggily laughed and said:

"Well, Neddie, as it happens, I did find that nickel. And I'll give it to you, for it may be the one you lost. But if you discover it isn't why, then—"

Neddie looked more carefully at the nickel and said:

"It's the same shape as the one I you lost instead of a nickel."

"Have you a nickle in your pocket?"

"Oh, no, Uncle Wig!" said Neddie. "It was only a nickel I had and maybe I spent that instead of losing it and—"

"Oh, well, take the dime anyhow!" laughed the bunny gentleman, and Neddie and Beckie bought as many honey cakes as were good for them with the ten cents.

And as the little bears shuffled away, the bunny gentleman laughed and said to Uncle Butter, who pranced along just then:

"I found the nickel I gave Neddie, of course, but I found it on my bureau where I had laid it. However, I didn't want him to know that."

"No, I suppose not," bleated the goat gentleman.

He and Uncle Wiggily walked on together and pretty soon they met Neddie and Beckie again.

"Well, how were the honey cakes?" asked the bunny.

"We didn't buy any," answered Neddie. "After we left you Beckie and I saw a poor mouse lady who didn't have any money to buy cheese, so I gave her my nickel that you found. I don't care much for honey cakes, anyhow." And Beckie said the same thing.

Then Uncle Wiggily put his paw in his pocket again and pulled out a ten-cent piece, saying:

"There, Neddie! Take that and buy honey cakes. I guess it was a dime

DURANT MOTORS SHOWS SURPLUS

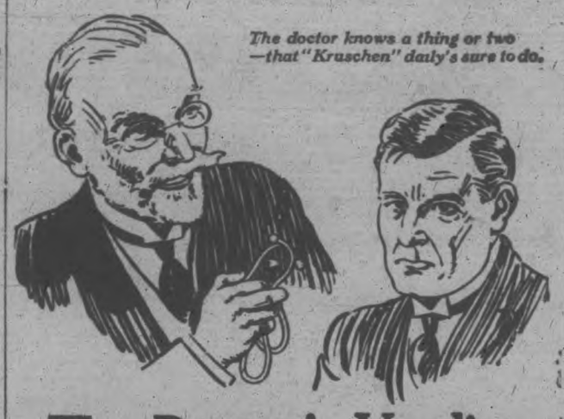
Closed 1926 With Profit, Shareholders Learn at Annual Meeting.

TORONTO, March 24.—At the annual meeting of Durant Motors of Canada yesterday it was shown that the company had shown a profit after wiping out previous deficits. Net result of operations for the year showed aa profit of $234,593. From this was deducted deficit of $77,102 brought forward, and $24,000 for Federal taxes, which left credit balance of $133,581, an improvement of $210,593 over 1925. Cash in hand at $869,793 was up $590,722. No bank loans are outstanding, and President W. C. Durant states that no borrowing is anticipated during 1927. Inventory stands at $581,697, as compared with $1,024,185 in 1926. Despite this reduction, the president states that the company has sufficient material on hand to take care of production in accordance with sales demand. Plant and equipment stand at $1,459,229 after depreciation.

General Manager Roy D. Kerby stated that actual increase in business during 1926 was 37.62 per cent., as compared with the previous year, and that the general business outlook for 1927 is very favorable. The company entered the export field during 1926 and the general manager predicted that the present year would see material increase in this end of the business.

Referring to the tariff situation Mr. Kerby said: "During the year we had to cope with serious adverse conditions brought about by tariff changes, which conditions were not adjusted for several weeks following the budget announcement. We are still hoping that there will be further adjustments made in order that your company may be in a position to compete more favorably with the imported automobile."

The balance sheet shows current assets of $1,709,940 against $1,405,153 in 1925 and current liabilities of $105,210 against $315,403, leaving working capital of $1,514,730 against $1,089,650. Operating profit was $234,503 against operating loss of $16,963 in 1925.



The doctor knows a thing or two —that "Kruschen" daily's sure to do.

The Doctor's Verdict

Patient: Well, doctor?
Doctor: It seems a shame to disappoint you, but the verdict's going to be sentence of—life.
Patient: You mean there's nothing much wrong?
Doctor: Nothing—and everything.
Patient: But what about all the symptoms — look here, doctor, you're not suggesting that I'm suffering from over-exercise of the imagination?
Doctor: Not for an instant. The symptoms are unmistakable. What you're suffering from is auto-intoxication.
Patient: Auto-intoxication? That sounds—
Doctor: Oh, it's not nearly so riotous as it sounds. It means self-poisoning and it's the result of not getting properly and thoroughly rid of the waste products of the body.
Patient: But that doesn't account for the pains in my face and head.
Doctor: My dear sir, it would account for anything and everything, from the neuralgia and depression you've got to the worst things you've happily escaped if you tackle it in time. It's the basic evil of civilisation, for civilisation makes it all but inevitable.
Patient: Then how can I avoid it? Must I diet?
Doctor: Diet? If a tenth of the time that people spend bothering about what they should eat were devoted to the problem of clearing out their insides, there'd be nothing between me and the poorhouse. No, all you need is something to clear your body of its impurities without lowering the tone of your system. So my prescription is Kruschen Salts.
Patient: I used to take the little daily dose, months ago, but I got to feel so fit there didn't seem to be much point in keeping it up.
Doctor: So you stopped it and promptly lost "that Kruschen feeling." Now you go away and get it back, and I can safely wash my hands of you.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

The ingredients of Kruschen Salts are necessary for healthy life. Your body must of necessity extract these ingredients from somewhere, or you could not live. If you led an ideally healthy life in the open air, with plenty of exercise and no worries, your body would extract these six vital salts from your food. But the artificial life you lead prevents this. Hence the need for the "little daily dose" of Kruschen, which, unlike any other saline preparation, is a scientific combination of the six salts your body needs for its proper health. "As much as will cover a 10 cent piece" every morning, tasteless in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea, expels all clogging waste matter, purifies and invigorates your blood, and sets you all a-tingle with "that Kruschen feeling." Every druggist sells Kruschen.

A 75c bottle contains 160 doses — nearly enough for six months. Get a bottle to-day and begin a new life to-morrow. It's the "little daily dose" that does it.

SAFEGUARDING MILK

BY PASTEURIZATION

(Report of M.H.O., Toronto, Continued from Tuesday)

The tribes were thus enabled to supoprt life through the medium of these herds when agriculture was impossible.

It is surprising then that it has taken centuries for us to fully appreciate the wonderful value of milk as a food for the human as well as for the domestic animal. Nature has provided it as the sole source of nutrition for all domestic animals in early life. As Saleeby has very fittingly expressed it: "You may search earth and sky and you will find that only once has nature set out to make a perfect food; something which exists in order to be a food and for no other purpose." It is quite obvious then why the ideal land for the tribes of Israel was referred to as "A land flowing with milk and honey."

However, until the discovery of the calorimeter it was impossible to compare accurately the amount of energy present in the different foods, and consequently to ascertain the relative values of the different foods from a purely nutritional standpoint. When we speak of calories as applied to the human engine, we use it in practically the same sense as in the British Thermal Unit when applied to various forms of fuel for engines, etc., the calories being the amount of heat necessary to raise one liter of water, one degree centigrade.

The most recent intensive scientific observations with regard to the food value of milk commenced about the beginning of the present century, and have consisted of a large number of experiments by expert food chemists, not only to ascertain the relative values of the different foods, but also their economic value and digestibility. The conclusion of all observers has been that no other animal food is to be compared with milk from the standpoint of nourishment, energy and cheapness. At the present time there is no other food as economical as milk for the feeding of infants and no other comparable from the standpoint of efficiency. For children between the ages of two and sixteen years milk is indispensible. Every child during this period should consume one quart of milk a day—certainly under no consideration should he have less than one pint a day.

SIGNS OF SPRING

WELCOME, March 21.—Many of the spring birds have been seen in the neighborhood, crows, robins, meadow larks, killdeers, black-birds, and blue birds.

Rhubarb and peonies are showing nicely above the ground.

On Tuesday, March 14th, a man was seen ploughing near Colborne. The boys are playing ball and marbles.

Bicycles are now the mode of conveyance for many of the school boys and girls on the highway.

The frost is coming out of the ground and the roads are very soft in spots. The result is many difficulties for motorists once they leave the highway.

WARKWORTH SOFTBALL

WARKWORTH, March 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Blake Valleau, of Rochester, are spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker.

J. R. Battisby, of Campbellford, was in town Saturday on business.

Mrs. W. C. Allen spent one day recently with her mother, Mrs. Elijah Skinkle, Hastings.

The Adult Bible Class of St. Paul's church held a banquet last Friday night in the basement of the church. Twenty-six were present. Mrs. Elgin Edgar had charge of a very interesting programme, after which a dainty lunch was served.

On Sunday evening a very interesting address was given in the United church by Rev. J. F. Horwood, Doctor of Music. Rev. Horwood was pastor of Norham circuit about six years ago, moving from there to Marmora. He is now connected with Toronto Conservatory of Music, but preaches every Sunday that he can.

Rev. Horwood chose for his text the fourteenth verse of the fourth chapter of St. James, 'What Is Your Life.'

Life should always mean something to everyone. Life should be met with a cheerful spirit. Sadness is not religious. It is no credit to anyone to smile when they are not sad or in difficulty. Life should be industrious. Life should be friendly. Were it not for friends we would not be where we are religiously or morally. Bought friendship is false. It is a terrible thing not to have a friend and it is terrible to have a chance to be a friend and not take that chance to be a friend. Life should have a touch of God every day. Sunday religion is no good. One should try to live out the laws of Christ which is a great task.

The speaker stated that we are living the most wonderful country with all its natural resources and life has to be met cheerfully, industriously, friendly and with devotion to God.

PRESENT PLAY AT WELCOME

Comedy Drama Entitled "Deacon Dribbs" Presented By Newcastle Talent.

WELCOME NEWS.

WELCOME, March 24.—On Friday evening, a play, entitled, "Deacon Dribbs," was presented by Newcastle talent, in the Welcome church, under the auspices of the Sunday school. The play, a comedy-drama, was fascinating and gripping, so much so that with the splendid impersonation of the characters, the excelent acting, accompanied by the stage setting and outdoor scenery, the idea of a play faded and the audience felt that it was a succession of actual happenings. The cast of characters was:

The Deacon, from West Virginia—Harry Pearce.

Amos Coleman, his nephew, a handsome young lawyer—Howard Allin.

Rawdon Crawley, a deserting husband, a villain and escaped convict—Emerson Fisher.

Major McNutt, auctioneer and justice of the peace—T. W. Jackson.

Deuteronomy Jones, a rustic youth, shy and awkward—Irwin Colville.

Rose Raleigh, the leading lady, the popular—Mrs. Percy Hare.

brave yunog schoolma'am, pretty and Miss Philipena Popsover, a first-class housekeeper of mature charms—Mrs. S. W. Sutton.

Trixie, the deacon's niece, lively and mischievous—Hazel Barrie.

Emily Dale, a wealthy young belle, who can afford to dress in style—Mrs. W. F. Rickard.

Yennie Yensen, the Swedish hired girl, who captures Dent—Bertha Cowan.

A mixed quartette, composed of Mrs. W. D. Bragg, Miss Hattie Mason, Mr. W. F. Rickard and Mr. H. C. Allin assisted in an able manner.

Mission Circle Service.

A very enjoyable service was held in Morrish church on Sunday evening when the girls of the Mission Circle held their Thank offering service.

The girls of the Circle formed the choir, assisted by some of the young men of the neighborhood and rendered two special musical selections.

The service was taken by a number of the Tuxis Square—boys of Port Hope, under the leadership of Mr. Crowhurst. The service was as follows:

"Holy, Holy, Holy."
Invocation—Fred Skitch.
Hymn.
Prayer—Mr. Crowhurst.
Choir—Solo and chorus.
Scripture reading— Beverley Hancock.
Hymn.
Offering and Doxology.
Introduction of the speakers by Mr. Crowhurst.
Addresses by Harold Hancock, Allen Oke, Hiram Lyall, Gordon Garnett.
Prayer—Gordon Johnston.
Hymn.
Mizpah Benediction.

The spenkers based their remarks on the verse, Luke 2: 52, each speaker taking one phase of the four-fold life.

Harold Hancock explained from what the word "Tuxis" was formed and dealt with the word 'Wisdom.' Allen Oke spoke of the value of physical training in Greek history and the importance of physical development.

The spiritual side, favor with God, was dealt with by Hiram Lyall, while Gordon Garnett, a member of the Boys' Parliament, spoke on the social life.

The boys all did well, speaking clearly and with an enthusiasm that showed their interest in the subject.

Mrs. W. E. Lewis received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. Convey, at Welland, last week.

Mr. E. H. Martyn attended the Provincial Prohibition convention in Toronto on Wednesday last.

Active men resent crippling pain

"HAD TO BE CARRIED LIKE A BABY"

Quickly put on feet again by simple home treatment

Laid up for two weeks with an attack of rheumatism or neuritis in the legs, a Canadian writes all the way from Moncton, N. B., to tell of the quick relief he got when he began using a simple, old-fashioned home remedy.

"I could not walk for two weeks," he writes. "I had to be carried around like a baby. But one bottle of Sloan's Liniment put me on my feet again."

Sloan's gives real help to all kinds of muscular pain because it stirs up your body's own curative forces to drive out the germs and poisons that cause the trouble. Just pat it on lightly—and a healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood is sent tingling through the pain-ridden tissues. No rubbing! It's the medicine itself that does the work.

Soon the swelling and inflammation go down. The aching stops. Almost suddenly you find yourself really free from pain, really comfortable at last. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

MILLBROOK NEWS

MILLBROOK, March 24. — The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Thomas' Church held its March meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. A. Vance, the attendance being above the average.

The president, Mrs. (Canon) Allen, was in the chair, and when addressing the gathering urged the importance of every member contributing as generously as possible to the thankoffering on Easter Sunday; this offering is a gift of the W. A. each year to the church wardens toward the missionary apportionment of the church.

Reports from the officers were encouraging, showing continued interest and activity, and the Dorcas secretary, Miss Annie Armstrong, explained that the spring bale, sent each year with a complete outfit for an Indian girl, is well under way, and will probably be ready for packing by April first. The women of the entire parish assist with this bale; it will be sent this year to the MacKay Home, at The Pas, Manitoba, the same girl being the recipient another season.

A letter from Mrs. Boyd, Bobcaygeon, Deanery officer, was read and its contents, relating to a suggested change by which the Auxiliaries in Victoria Deanery became allied with those in Peterborough, Durham and Northumberland Counties, forming one large Deanery, were discussed. The general feeling was that such a Deanery would be too large, making it practically impossible for delegates from a number of Auxiliaries to attend the annual convention, and the decision was reached that, locally, the members preferred the present affiliation with the Victoria Deanery alone.

Mrs. Thos. Harkness and Miss Margaret Whyte were appointed the visiting committee to look after sick and shut-in members for this month.

Mrs. H. J. Grassett read the chapter from the study book, "In Desert and Town," the material being much enjoyed, and the president noted the fact that the evening with a lecture and slides on "The Moslem World in Revolution" will be Thursday, April 28, when it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

Mrs. Vance, assisted by Mrs. H. Nattrass, served refreshments during the social hour at the close, and a very pleasant time was spent.

The next meeting will be at the home of the secretary, Mrs. E. Whyte.

Mrs. John McBride has sold the business which her husband, the late Mr. J. McBride, purchased about five years ago from W. H. Byam and Son, to Mr. J. Kidd, of Peterborough, the latter to take possession early in April.

Mr. Ivan L. H. Gray has bought the residence on Anne Street, generally spoken of as the Henry Mulligan homestead, from the present occupant, Mr. J. Whitfield, and expects to move to his new home the first week in April. Mr. Whitfield, with his sisters, Mrs. H. Kennedy and Mrs. J. J. Gardiner, expect to reside in the latter's house on King Street, the present tenant, Miss Annie Armstrong, moving elsewhere.

Mrs. McBride will continue to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Ivan Gray. Her many friends will be glad to learn that she is recovering from the severe illness which has confined her to bed for the past eight or nine weeks.

Councillor and Mrs. G. W. Sayles entertained the choir of the United Church at their apartments in the Waverley Building on Friday evening, between thirty and forty members, with wives and husbands, being present.

Practice of the music for the Sunday services occupied the time during the first part of the evening, and afterward there was a pleasant social aspect to the gathering when contests and other entertainment kept everyone happily employed.

The service of dainty refreshments brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

The choir is holding its weekly practice at the home of some of the members lately, and on Thursday evening of this week it will be at the home of Mrs. G. E. Burnham.

Miss Gladys Gray and her sister, Mrs. Russell Smith, were visitors to Peterborough on Saturday.

Miss Myrtle Russell has been reappointed as librarian at the Public Library for the current year.

Mrs. G. F. Harrington is visiting friends in Toronto, going to the city last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jones and Miss Ethel Hatherly motored from Toronto on Sunday, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatherly.

Miss Muriel Curtiss, head clerk in Fowler and Pendrie's store, who has been at her home in Peterborough convalescing after a severe attack of 'flu, resumed her position this week.

Mr. Maurice Gray, who has been taking the course for a non-commissioned officer at Stanley Barracks, Toronto, for the past six weeks, has returned home. Mr. D. Fowler has completed his Lieutenant's course, but on account of an operation is still at the Christie Street Hospital. Miss Kathleen Fowler visited her brother in Toronto last week.

Miss Elsie Spence spent the week-end with friends in Toronto.

Miss S. Muir was in Peterborough on Monday evening and attended the lecture by Charles D. Roberts, held in the assembly room of the Collegiate Institute.

Miss J. M. Burry, investigator for the Mothers' Allowance Board for this district, made one of her regular official calls in this vicinity on Monday.

PINEDO'S FLIGHT TO BE EXTENDED

Italian Aviator May Go As Far West as Los Angeles and Seattle.

COMING TO CANADA.

MONTREAL, Mar. 24 (Canadian Press)—Probability of an extension of many thousand of miles over the North American continent of the flight of the Italian aviator commander Pinedo is held out in advices received here by the Cunard steamship line from Italy. Under the new plan, if adopted, the aviator, instead of flying direct from New Orleans to Chicago and New York, would go via Galveston, Texas, SanDiego and San Francisco, Calif., Seattle, Chicago, Quebec, and New York.

Commander Pinedo is now on the Brazil part of his European-Western hemisphere flight, and no date is set for his arrival in Canada.

TOUR OF CANADA BEING ARRANGED

Dean Laird, of Macdonald College, Will Conduct Party Across Country.

An attractive booklet has been prepared by the Canadian Pacific Railway in connection with the fourth annual tour under the guidance of Dean Laird, of Macdonald College. The tour will consist of a trip across Canada and back, at a cost of $330 which includes all expenses. The time taken for the journey is 21 days.

Contained in the book are views of the different sections of the Dominion, with descriptive notes on each place of interest, the whole combining to make delightful reading in addition to supplying much information regarding the different places of note.

Master Of Our Actions.

Importance Of Speech Said To Be As Great As That Of Ideas.

Away back in the early sixteen hundreds George Herbert wrote: "Words are women, deeds are men." We wonder what he meant. "Actions speak louder than words," says an old proverb. Then said Democritus: "Words are but the shadows of actions."

These are only half truth, and all of them could just as well be reversed. How can there be any action without a thought behind it? And of course we cannot voice a thought without words.

So the dictionary should be a daily companion. Should it be within reach every day and every hour, frequent consultations would produce surprising results in a short time.

The offer of the New Universities Dictionary will be of lasting benefit to all readers. There is nothing that could be more welcome at this time in the school, home, shop, and place of business. The coupon printed elsewhere in this issue explains the terms.

FINANCIER SUEING MONTREAL PAPER

Col. G. W. Morden Charges Article in Financial Times Was Libellous.

MONTREAL, March 24 (Canadian Press).—Alleging libel in the contents of an article published in the Montreal Financial Times of December 10, 1926, Col. Grant W. Morden, Canadian born financier, who is now a member of the British House of Commons, has entered action in the Superior Court here to recover damages in the sum of $100,000 from the publishers.

The article in question, purporting to relate an incident in the career of the financier, was published under the heading, "Inside Stories of the Street," and under a sub-heading to which the plaintiff has taken exception along with the article itself.

The fiat for the action was filed by a local legal firm.

Nujol method is modern treatment for Constipation . . . said physicians

THE daily use of laxatives for constipation is over. Eight doctors out of ten now recognize that the Nujol type of treatment is better from every point of view than laxatives and cathartics.

Recently we asked leading physicians throughout the country how they treated constipation. 81.3% answered that they advise the Nujol type of treatment. Seven out of ten stated that the continuous use of laxatives is dangerous. On every hand we got answers like this—"Laxatives bring on the laxative habit and do not remove the cause."

Doctors Advise Nujol

Eight doctors out of every ten told us they were advising the Nujol type of treatment for their patients in place of laxatives—and for these reasons:

1. Nujol is not habit-forming.
2. A more natural method.
3. A lubricant is better than a laxative.
4. Does not gripe.
5. Is not irritating.
6. Nujol gives lasting relief.

Unlike Laxatives

Laxatives and cathartics act by irritating the intestinal tract. They cause the bowels to frantically expel the contents of the intestines and thus rid the system of the drugs that pills and potions contain.

Nujol acts entirely differently. It contains no drugs, no medicine. Its action is mechanical. It merely softens the dried waste matter in the intestines and lubricates the passage so that the muscles of the bowels can expel the waste matter regularly, naturally and thoroughly.

Nature-given Remedy

Nujol appeals to the medical man because it is a simple, scientific and safe remedy for constipation, no matter how severe the case may be. It is gentle in its action and pleasant to take. Children love it!

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today. Doctors advise it for constipation, whether chronic or temporary. Avoid substitutes.

REGULAR MEETING WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Plans for Bazaar at Cavan Discussed at Monthly Meeting.

CAVAN, March 24—On Thursday afternoon the Cavan Women's Institute held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Sutton. There were eighteen ladies present. The president, Mrs. D. J. Hunter, conducted the meeting. Among the items of business discussed were plans for a bazaar to be held either the latter part of May or the first week in June. Committees were formed to look after further arrangements; also the meeting at which a summer delegate speaks was planned for. This delegate will speak at other branches of the Institute on days of the same week. The Department has not yet set the dates for these series of meetings but they are usually in May. This year the meeting for Cavan branch will be held in the Community Hall. It was decided to spend fifteen dollars on dishes for use in the Community Hall. The dishes already there belong to the United Church, but have been used by church and community. The money expended will add to the supply which has become depleted with use. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by a lunch committee and a social half-hour was enjoyed. The April meeting will be held, by invitation, at the home of Mrs. David Hunter. This will be the annual business meeting and election of officers.

Mrs. Purser, Toronto, was the guest of Mrs. Leonard McNeil this week.

Miss Muriel Matchett was a visitor to Peterboro on Thursday.

R. Staples was a visitor at Lifford on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Matchett were visitors at Bethany on Wednesday.

Miss Preston, Welcome, was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perrin.

On Friday evening the Tuxis Boys held a very successful basket social in Cavan Community Hall.

Mr. R. S. Staples acted as chairman for an excellent programme as follows: Songs by the Tuxis boys with Mrs. Totten as accompanist on the piano; recitation by Ralph Staples; duet, "I Never See Maggie Alone," by Ray Staples and Archie Matchett, encore "Just a Bird's Eye View." Play, "Pa's New Housekeeper. Between acts Eldred Snyder gave a "sermon," taking his text from "Old Mother Hubbard"; this was followed by a humorous encore. Auctioning of baskets followed, Mr. Will Pritchard being the capable auctioneer. The baskets were all sold and brought good prices.

The Tuxis Square is well pleased with the result as they had feared that the condition the roads were in would hinder a crowd from attending. The proceeds were upwards of thirty dollars.

The cast of the play was: Pa Jackson, Rev. J. O. Totten; Jimmie Jackson, his son, Ralph Staples; Jack Brown, Jimmies friend, Archie Matchett; Mattie Jackson, Jimmie's sister, Helen Staples; Mollie Holbrook, Matties friends, Muriel Matchett. The play was full of fun espepcially when Jack Brown impersonated Mrs. I. O. Pounce, the widow, who was supposed to come as Pa Jackson's housekeeper and whom he promptly fell in love with. The parts were well taken and proved very entertaining to the audience.

Miss Margaret Lang, Peterboro, was the week-end guest of Miss Muriel Matchett and attended the basket social.

Mrs. Purser returned to her home in Toronto this week after a month's visit with Cavan and Millbrook friends.

On Thursday evening, March 24, Cavan Community Hall anniversary will be celebrated. A good supper, consisting of cold meat, salads, pickles, jellies, cakes, pies and everything in the line of good cooking will be served, after which an excellentp lpay will be given, entitled "Valley Farm." There are twelve characters in the play, which is full of wit and humour throughout.

'BOYS' WEEK' PLANS INCLUDE HOBBY FAIR

Will Be Conducted at Y.M.C.A.—Junior Stamp Club Formed.

There will be an added attraction to Boys' Week this year when a Hobby Fair will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on April 12, 13 and 14. The committee in charge is getting things well planned and this fair promised to be a real attraction in the life of the boys of this city. All boys of this city are asked to co-operate and make the fair a real success. In a few days the prize list will be printed and it will include departments for woodwork, art, stamp, coin and newspaper heading collections, pets, scout craft, camp craft, and many other hobbies that boys delight in.

There will also be a poster display at the fair which will show the making of Canadian Lithographic posters and the best poster exhibits from across Canada.

Last night at a meeting in the Y.M.C.A. a junior stamp club was formed. About forty boys were present and these were addressed by Charles Butcher, George H. Clark, J. H. Barringer, and William Atkinson, men in this city who are interested in the collection of stamps. They brought parts of their collections and told the boys how to start for themselves. Fred Brown was also present and he explained how to start a coin collection.

During the time of the fair the city championship will be held in ping-pong, checkers, and chess. Valuable prizes are being offered by the directors with many special prizes for the collections.

On Friday evening next J. L. Young will exhibit several prize pigeons in addition to giving the boys a talk on the many varieties. There will also be a movie show of an educational nature.

The committee has these meetings so arranged that they are over sharp at 8 o'clock and steps are taken to clear the building of all boys at that time.

Ford Mayor's Card Party Is Broken Up By Fires

WINDSOR, March 24 — A bridge party, sponsored by Frank D. Riberty, Mayor of Ford, held in the Fire Hall at Ford last night, was broken up at midnight when a fire broke out, and the Mayor and other officials were called upon as volunteers to fight the blaze.

The first regular fire equipment had gone to fight a fire at the home of Daniel Bob, Aubin Road and Metcalfe street. While the firemen were out an alarm was received from a grocery store operated by Louis Sanberg at 173 Drouillard Road.

In the absence of the firemen Mayor Riberty called for volunteers, and the members of the party responded. They were Dr. P. J. G. Morgan, Coroner; Councillor Edward O. Poisson, Chairman of the Fire Commission; Ray Dugal, Park Commissioner; and Albert Maisonville, Chief of Police.

RETURN OF CARGO ASKED BY CANADA

Urged That Owners Of Pulp Not Responsible For Action of Crew.

WASHINGTON, March 24 (Canadian Press).—Return of the wood pulp cargo impounded by the United States Government when the Canadian steamer "Clackamas" was seized on a rum-running charge has been formally asked by the Canadian Legation here. It is understood that the State Department has been urged to recognize the principle that the owners of the cargo in this case were not responsible for any illegal actions of the captain and the crew of the vessel. The "Clackamas" sailed from Port Mulgrave, N.S., in February with a shipment of wood pulp from the Picton Pulp and Paper Company, consigned to Philadelphia. She was refused papers pending investigation of the charge that she picked up a cargo of liquor on the high seas and delivered it at Newark, N.J. The case is now before the United States Courts.

SAINT and SINNER

When Faith reached the little Myrtle Street house on Christmas night, her bitter disappointment over the failure of the clue of the half footprint in the snow was thrust into the background by a new calamity. She found Jim Lane pottering about the kitchen, messily concocting a villainous-looking mustard plaster and directing Junior in the mixing of an evil-smelling dose of turpentine, kerosene oil and lard.

"Joy's got the group," Jim explained. "Your Ma used to doctor you kids with mustard plasters and make you swallow that stuff that Junior's mixing. Didn't know anything else to do."

"I'll attend to her," Faith told him, stopping a moment to kiss the bald spot on his grizzled head.

She found Joy so ill and requiring so much attention that she had no time even to think of the crippled beggar. Sunday was a strenuous day of caring for the querulous, red-nosed and feverish little invalid, preparing dinner from the left-overs of the Christmas feast and paying a visit to Cherry in the jail. Because it was the holiday season, the warden and the matron winked at restrictions which permitted visitors only twice a week.

Faith found Cherry in gay mood.

"One hundred and forty-one telegrams wishing me the best of luck in the coming trial," she sang out joyously as soon as she had greeted her sister. "And I've got more Christmas gifts than any other prisoner: eight dozen roses, eleven pots of poinsiettas, five pairs of the sheerest black chiffon stockings! People are so good to me!"

Faith scarcely heard the rest of her eager monologue, as a sudden thought flashed through her mind. What fools she and Bob had been, to be so easily discouraged! She broke ruthlessly into Cherry's gay little chronicle of her pathetic Christmas.

"I've got to run now, darling. I'll bring two of your dresses to you Tuesday—the next visitor's day. No, I'm sorry, honey, I can't stay another minute."

She couldn't tell Cherry about the cripple, lest she arouse her hopes, only to dash them later. But she telephoned to Bob immediately.

"Hello, dear," she began breathlessly when his beloved voice answered her. "I want you to do something for me. Find out all you can about Phil—you know. I don't want to talk too freely over the phone. Had it occurred to you that he might have been hired to carry out another man's revenge?"

"Good Lord, why didn't I think of that?" Bob ejaculated. "I was going to call you anyway to tell you that the measurement of the footprint we found yesterday almost exactly fit those under Uncle Ralph's window."

"Be careful, Bob," Faith warned. "Someone may be listening in. Oh, Bob! Please find out everything you can about this Phil person. Go to see him, but for heaven's sake don't give yourself away. Don't let him see you. If he did it, he will recognize you as one of the family. Be awfully careful, Bob."

"I'll see you tonight, of course, to report to Lady Sherlock," laughed Bob, but his voice was quivering with excitement.

"Everybody gone to bed, dear?" Bob Hathaway asked when he arrived at the Myrtle Street house at half past ten that Sunday night.

"Dad's on the job at the Pruitt Wholesale Grocery, Junior's gone to church with Fay Allen—I'm expecting them to be married any day now—and Joy's just dropped off to sleep, thank heaven," Faith sighed wearily.

"The poor little tad has been enjoying her invalidism today. I've read her at least sixteen fairy stories and helped her work four cross-word puzzles. Tell me what you found out about old Phil, the beggar, I thought you'd never come."

Bob kissed her eyelids very gently before he answered. "Sorry to be so late, darling. But I found it surprisingly hard to get any real dope on the old boy. He wasn't on his usual corner at Lincoln Park and Kelly, the old news dealer, said he hadn't shown up all day. Kelly says he used to live with his daughter down in Peach Tree Hollow—our beautifully named but odorous slum—but Kelly didn't know the daughter's name. In fact, he doesn't even know Phil's last name."

"And he's known the beggar for five years?" Faith demanded incredulously.

"Nothing so odd about that," Bob answered. "You see, honey, old Kelly thinks Phil is beneath him socially. Kelly has a business—a legitimate business—that he's proud of, and although Phil carries a box of cheap lead pencils and a few packages of stale chewing gum, on the pretense of earning his living as a peddler, he's really a beggar. It seems, too, that there's a sort of feud between Kelly and Phil, that Kelly didn't like to talk about, but which has been in existence for more than a year. I gathered that the two old boys don't speak to each other any more—"

"But Kelly took your dollar to give to Phil," Faith protested.

"Of course he did, but you didn't believe for a minute that Kelly would ever turn that dollar over to the beggar, did you?" Bob laughed. "At any rate, Kelly admitted to me today that he is about as fond of Phil, the beggar, as he is of cyanide sandwiches. In a way, I'm glad he feels that way, for he won't be likely to blab to Phil that someone has been taking an extraordinary interest in him.

"I went down to Peach Tree Hollow, and searched for hours for a trace of the beggar. One evil-eyed old hag did admit that a crippled beggar had once lived there with his married daughter, but she either did not know or would not give the daughter's name. And at the house she pointed out to me as the cripple's former domicile I found a stolid young Polack couple who'd never heard of the beggar or his daughter. So there the trail ends, for the moment anyway. He'll probably show up at his old stand tomorrow at the park and I can get a good look at him, at any rate."

"If he makes a pretense of selling pencils and chewing gum he's got to have a license, hasn't he?" Faith asked thoughtfully. "Couldn't you trace him that way?"

Bob's blue eyes regarded her with fond admiration. "Darned clever, these Chinese," he grinned at her. "There's only one drawback. We don't know his last name, and it's unlikely that he takes out a license merely as 'Phil the beggar.'"

"Don't laugh at me," Faith begged. "Do you think it's absolutely ridiculous for me to suggest that he might have been hired to kill Mr. Cluny, hired by someone who had a grudge against him but who would not risk his own life to get even?"

"Kelly says he is all crippled up with rheumatism and is sick half the time, so it does seem a little far-fetched, except for one thing. Those footprints do measure almost exactly the same," Bob answered. "I haven't given up Phil as a possible suspect by any means."

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The rhinestone bow knot shown at the left may be worn on the hat or on the shoulder. It is set in silver with a narrow colored enamel edge. The Pierrot hatpin is of rhinestones and imitation rubies. The shoulder pin of rhinestones and onyx is worn with a bracelet to match.

If a book on the fashions of the early twentieth century were to be written one chapter ought to be called "The Passing of the Pin." Under that heading there could be important paragraphs on the hairpin—with an account of the waning of the hairpin industry due to the fashion for short hair. A quite accurate curve of the development of this fashion might be drawn from a knowledge of the annual decrease in the output of hairpins since the fashion began. Maybe it will end with the complete passing of this once essential bit of wire.

The decrease in the use of the ordinary "tin pin" is really more significant than it might at first seem. A generation ago the toilet of almost every woman included a pin or two. Neck ribbons and turn-over collars and cuffs were frequently held in position by means of them. Girdles and belts could hardly be secured without them. Women's dress now, though not apparently so trim as it was once, is in reality immeasurably neater since pins are no longer tolerated.

Then there is the hatpin—absolute necessity in the days when hats never went on the head but were always laid on top. It may still be possible to buy these old-fashioned hatpins at the notion counter of some of the stores, though it would be hard to find among your acquaintances a single woman who still uses them.

In the meantime another sort of hatpin has come forward—an entirely ornamental accessory supplied with a pin end merely for the sake of holding the ornamental head in place. "Millinery pins" these are often called to distinguish them from the old type of pin that actually held the hat on the head.

Quite the newest sort of millinery pins are those made from real or imitation tortoise shell, the shades of which blend well with brown, beige, rose or black. Pins of white crystal, new last spring, are still worn. Onyx and crystal are frequently combined and ornamental pins made entirely from rhinestones might now be considered one of the hardy annuals of the milliners. Many of the new pins are made with heads three or four inches long, in the shape of pointed leaves or canoe paddles, and these are usually used in pairs thrust into the crown of the hat.

SILVER WEDDING DAY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perrin, of Cavan, Receive Gifts From Friends.

CAVAN, March 24.— On Saturday afternoon and evening Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perrin, Eighth Line, Cavan, were 'at home' to their friends and neighbors, it being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day.

Afternoon tea was served, Mrs. E. Syer and Mrs. Locke, Millbrook, pouring tea. The long dining table looked very pretty with a bouquet of carnations in the centre and four silver candle sticks with candles. The waiters were the Misses Alma Perrin, Gwen Hunter, Norma Staples, Margaret Lang and Muriel Matchett. In the evening, lunch was served at seven o'clock, to the young people, who came to spend the evening. Tea was poured by Mrs. David White and Mrs. J. M. McKnight.

Many beautiful gifts of silverware were received from friends present and others, unable to attend, who sent gifts. The neighbors and friends of the community presented a tray of community plate silverware.

Miss Olive Perrin and Mr. R. Brown, Toronto, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perrin.

Miss Margaret and Mr. George Lang, Peterborough, were week-end guests of Cavan Centre friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lang and Miss Lazelle Lang, Peterborough, attended the silver wedding on Saturday evening.

Mr. Gerald Staples, Lifford, spent the week end at his home.

Miss Helen Syer, Otonabee, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Syer.

Mr. John Stark and Miss Nellie Stark visited friends in Clarke last week.

Mr. Everett Keegan, Bowmanville, and Mr. Charlie Parnell, Newcastle, spent the week end with Mr. James Keegan.

On Monday morning the country did not present a very spring-like appearance, everything and every place being covered with snow. The snow makes a warm covering for the fall wheat and clover, so lately exposed to the weather.

Next Sunday evening at Cavan United church, the musical part of the service will be taken by a choir of children from the Sunday school.

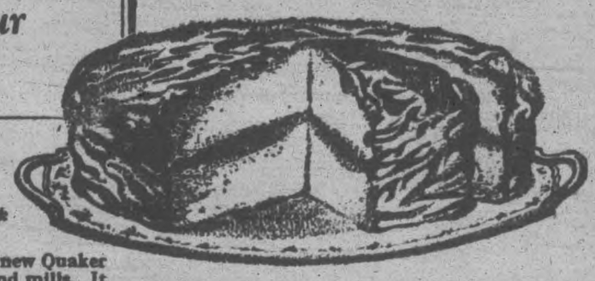
Domestic Scientists and Successful Home-bakers joined with expert Millers and Food Chemists in perfecting this NEW Cake Flour



By NELLIE LYLE PATTINSON
Domestic Scientist
Author of The Canadian Cook Book

CANADIAN home bakers will welcome the new Quaker Cake Flour. It comes from our own fields and mills. It bears the unreserved guarantee of superior quality by its makers—Canada's best known cereal millers.

For nearly two years The Quaker Oats Company has been perfecting this Cake Flour. Their own expert millers, professional bakers, and food chemists have been assisted by domestic scientists and home-bakers who have tested Quaker Cake Flour times innumerable and under every condition of home baking.

Now, Quaker Cake Flour is pronounced perfect. It bears the seal of enthusiastic approval of all who have used it and the guarantee of its makers. Your grocer is authorized to refund to you the price of the package if you, too, do not have satisfactory results.

I have baked with Quaker Cake Flour in the home as well as in the laboratory. It has been to me a distinct revelation and a pleasing surprise. Whether in the hands of the trained cake-baker or of those who are not so expert, Quaker Cake Flour produces better, lighter cakes, and cakes that will keep fresh longer. As they become acquainted with it, I believe the home-bakers of Canada will be as enthusiastic about Quaker Cake Flour as I am.

One Egg Cake
with Quaker Cake Flour

¼ cup Butter,
½ cup Sugar,
1 Egg,
½ cup Milk,
1 cup Sifted Quaker Cake Flour,
¼ teaspoon Salt,
½ teaspoon Vanilla,
2 teaspoons Baking Powder.

Cream butter thoroughly; add sugar gradually; add yolk of egg, well beaten; add milk alternately with flour, well sifted; and add salt, vanilla and white of egg, stiffly beaten; beat lightly. Sift baking powder over mixture; beat it quickly; pour into well-greased baking pan. Bake in moderate oven about 35 minutes, temperature 350 deg. to 375 deg. F.

This amount makes a cake about 8 inches square. For a layer cake make twice the quantity.

CROWN COMPLETES DEBRUGE CHARGE

Murder Hearing At Ottawa Attracts Many Interested Auditors.

OTTAWA, March 24.— The Crown completed its case last night in the murder case against Albert Debruge, who is charged with having caused the death of Jane Lameront in a fire on the night of Jan. 8 last, when their home, near Brockville, Ont., was burned to the ground. The Crown claims that Debruge set the fire.

Yesterday afternoon's evidence was replete with sensations and the courtroom was crowded with spectators, many from Brockville district. The venue of the trial had been changed from Brockville to Ottawa at the request of the defense, on the ground that residents of the district were hostile to the accused, and that a fair trial could not be secured.

Evidence was submitted that the accused had taken his fire insurance papers and certain Victory bonds and deposited them with his lawyer the day before the fire. The Crown's contention is that accused burned the house either to get the insurance, and Jane was the accidental victim, or that he set the fire chiefly to do away with his common law wife. Cross-examination by the defense yesterday brought out the evidence that Jane was subject to hysterical fits, and Dr. Carron agreed that if she were seized with one of these when carrying an oil lamp, she would lose control of herself, and the lamp falling might have caused the fire.

Now he spends sixteen hours a day with his classes on the beach and is reported to be getting moderately wealthy.

EVER-GROWING POPULARITY IMPROVING ANGLO-ARGENTINE RELATIONS

Presiding at the 30th annual general meeting of Bovril, Limited, held at River Plate House, Finsbury Circus, London, E.C., the Chairman, Sir George Lawson Johnston, said that the cost of advertising was large—this year a little larger than usual—but he did not think they regretted any of it. Advertising was the motor power of the business, and it was mainly through it that they reached an ever widening circle of consumers. In some small unadvertised business the overhead charges were so great that no profit was made, in spite of high selling prices. They had so increased their sales that overhead charges were comparatively insignificant per bottle, and in spite of the increase in the cost of beef, they had been able to avoid making any advance in their selling prices.

An English style exterior has here been combined with a modern Canadian plan with eminently satisfactory results. The overall width of this house is 32 feet, therefore a 45 foot lot would provide ample space for a side drive and lighting on both sides, although, of course the 60 feet is not actually used in this instance is altogether more desirable.

Undoubtedly the exterior ... ness relies largely on the ... proportions, but the part ... restrained use of half timber ... the gables, and the bay window with its casement windows must not be overlooked.

The living and dining rooms are connected by a wide archway, and are both ample-sized bright rooms, having paper panelled walls, birch floors, and trim stained dark mahogany.

Opposite the archway from the hall, in the living room is a well designed mantel, to the right of which a door opens onto the porch.

A cupboard, sink with double draining boards, hot water boiler, and gas range comprise the equipment of the kitchen which, however, is of ample size to accommodate what other fixtures are deemed desirable. The breakfast alcove is directly connected with the kitchen.

Ascending the gracefully curved stairs to the second floor we enter a small hall giving access to a bathroom, and three good size bedrooms for which an abundance of closet space is provided. This entire floor has white egg shell painted trim, with pearl pink walls in all rooms except the bathroom, which is finished all white, with tile floor.

The basement, of which no more has been excavated than would prove useful, has been divided into a laundry, laundry dryer, and furnace room. Here an oil burning, steam heating plant is located.

A distinctive exterior color scheme has been obtained by the use of red stucco walls, blue black asphalt roof, and white painted woodwork.

This completes the description of the quality of a six roomed house costing ten thousand dollars.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architects direct, Address, C. A. Fowler & Co., Tramway Bldg., Halifax, N.S. Copyright, 1927, Mac Lean Building Reports, Limited.

BREAD WAR CONTINUES.

Belleville Bakers Sell 3-Pound Loaf For 16 Cents Now.

Nearly all the bakers are selling at the cut rates, which range from 9 1-2 cents to 18 cents a loaf. With two exceptions, the price is 16 cents for a three-pound loaf. An official of the Bread Association is expected in the city to make overtures of settlement to the warring makers.

THE MYSTERY OF INFLUENZA

It must be, he thought, be very satisfactory to the shareholders to realize by the steadily increasing sales of Bovril that it was being more and more appreciated as a body-builder and a rampart against the incursions of disease. Several of the great scourges that afflicted us—notably amongst them influenza—were mysteries as to their efficient cause. Scientists had not yet detected the infinitely minute organism on which influenza depended, which was certainly air-borne, and swept in huges waves over vast tracts of the earth from time to time, and they had, therefore, no antiseptic, no vaccine, no serum or specific remedy by which it might be destroyed or counteracted, outside or inside the body. What they had to trust to was the power of the body to repel the attacks or hold it in check after it had effected an inroad. But that power of the body might, he believed, be greatly strengthened and augumented by Bovril, which was a nutrient agent of the highest value.

EVANGELIST TELLS ABOUT FOURTH DAY

Mr. Colville Preaches From Gen. 1-14 at Gospel Hall.

Last night, at the Gospel Hall, Evangelist J. Colville gave an address on the fourth day of Creation, from Genesis 1-14. "And God said, 'Let there be lights'" (not light, but lights). "This gave a death blow to evolution theories," said Mr. Colville. "God said, and it was done. Evolution is empty, delusive, false. All Old Testament Saints had the light of the Son of God; they walked in the light, although the light had not yet come. When Jesus came, He said: 'I am the light of the world,' so the coming of Christ began the fourth day dispensationally. On that fourth day the sun was to shine by day and the moon by night. So Christ is the sun, and Christians are the moon, giving out the light they receive from the sun which shines in their hearts. Christians are only reflectors, and while their Lord is away, they should reflect Him.

"During this fourth day (or dispensation) God is calling out a people for Christ. The Pentecostal movement came in for severe reprimand last night. They attack the work of Christ as not sufficient, and the modernist attacks the person of Christ, so these two evils will one day meet their doom at the second coming of Christ.

Th subject tonight will be the fifth day of Creation.

LAVAL QUEBEC.

Continuing drilling of their second diamond drill hole which is being drilled from the Lake. Trouble was encountered at the bottom of the Lake with boulders. A second and heavier drill was sent for and arrived on the property on Feb. 23rd. It is expected that no further drilling troubles will be encountered. This hole is being drilled away from the diabase dyke where the last onex was sunk. The reason that this second hold is being put down is that the Lundberg Electrical survey gave strong indications of ore at this point. It will be some days yet before information will be available as to results being met with.

The electrical survey is continuing and indications have been found in various parts of the property. These will be explored by drilling in the immediate future. The Company's Montbray holdings are to be thoroughly explored within the next few months. Surface indications including a dip needle survey, give promise of important ore deposition. Looks like a good speculation.

DUPRAT LAKE SHORE

This Company has a group of well located claims in Duprat Twp. W. of the Waite Montgomery. Of this group 12 are held outright, being 9281 and 8288 and 6029 to 6033. They also have 9 claims adjoining under option. Formation similar to that found on the Waite Montomery property has been uncovered and an electrical survey is to be made in March. Camps have been erected to take care of the crew which will be necessary. Recently this Company have optioned approximately 1000 acres well located in Montbray Twp. in the vicinity of the Nipissing. Looks like fair prospect.

Sawyer-Massey Co. May Sell Out To New Company

TORONTO, March 24.—Sawyer-Massey Company, Limited, shows an ending November 30, 1926, according to the annual financial report operating loss of $86,012 for the year just issued. These figures are arrived at after providing for all operating expense, including interest on bank loans, administration and general expense. This compares with a loss of $87,151 for the previous year. From this deficit for the past year is deducted $13,437 saved on bonds redeemed to date, bringing the net loss down to $72,575. An amount of $18,008 was provided for bond interest, proportion of bond flotation expense and obsolete stock written off, bringing the deficit up to $90,583 to be carried to the debit of profit and loss account. This compares with $104,914 under the same heading a year ago. Additional provision for possible shrinkage in the collection of notes and account receivable amounts to $75,594 compared with $84,747 at the close of the previous year. When these figures are added to the balance of profit and loss account, November 30, 1925, the total debit balance of profit and loss account at the end of the year under review stands at $1,112,171.

The balance sheet shows current assets of $1,833,257 and current liabilities of $2,038,401. At the close of the previous year current assets amounted to $2,196,206 and current liabilities $2,165,975. Reserves for depreciation of properties and plant this year were $416,761, this amount being unchanged from the previous year.

Accompanying the report is a circular letter from the president to the shareholders, dealing with the proposed plan for selling the company's properties and undertakings to a new company to continue the business.

Upward Move Continues On New York Exchange

NEW YORK, March 24 (Canadian Press).—The upward movement of prices was resumed in to-day's stock market. The buying of rails was stimulated by rumors of an increased or extra dividend on Reading Common, which moved up over four points before the session was half over, and by a favorable February earnings report of Southern Pacific Road. A steady demand also was apparent for New York Central.

The demand for industrials was most pronounced in such issues as Dupont, Baldwin, Union Carbide, American Telephone, International Combustion, Vanadium Steel, and Universal Pipe. Public utilities continued to respond to merger and dividend rumors, National Power and Light and Louisville Gas and Electric moving up to new high levels for the year. The call money rate was lowered to 4½ per cent. during the fourth hour.

Weakness In Mine Market; Trading Quiet This Morning

TORONTO, March 24.—(Canadian Press.)—A weaker feeling developed in trading on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. The market was quiet, with losses outnumbering gains by a considerable margin. A gain of 20 cents to 3.70 by Towagmac was the feature of the strong movement. Lake Shore was the only dividend paying gold stock to show buoyancy, advancing ten cents to 18.10. McIntyre dropped 5 to 25.10. Wright Hargreaves was down twenty to 10.65. The Quebec issues were active and soft. Laval Quebec declined two to 28. Nipissing was off four to 7.95. Noranda sold off 55 cents to 22.60. Central Manitoba Gold gained one to 119.

Little Buying To-day; Wheat Turns Downward

CHICAGO, Ills., March 24.—(Canadian Press.)—With buying less active, Wheat turned downward to-day despite firmness at the start. Initial strength associated with a falling off in the volume of Argentine shipments this week, but otherwise developments to sustain an advance were lacking. Starting unchanged to 3-8 cent higher, wheat underwent a material setback all around. Corn was easy, Oats steady, and provisions firm. Corn opening at a 1-2 cent decline to 1-4 cent gain and later suffering a general drop.

Opening prices were:

Wheat, May, 133 3-4, July 128 3-4. Corn, May 72 1-2, July 7 1-2. Oats, May 43 1-8, July 43 7-8.

City Dairy Is Feature Of Toronto Market To-day

TORONTO, March 24 (Canadian Press).—Spectacular trading in City Dairy Common stock featured the proceedings on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Opening at 108, the stock rapidly soared to a high of 114½, before receding at the noon close to 112. The latter figure represented a gain of five points over yesterday's close. This issue was also the most active of the listed stocks.

British American Oil was again prominent and was the leader in activity. The close at 26⅛ indicated a gain of ⅛. McColl advanced one to 32½. International Petroleum was off ¼, while Imperial was unchanged at 49.

The traction group was quiet and firm. Brazilian advanced 1-8 to 127 3-4, C.P.R. gained 3-4 to 184, and Winnipeg Railway Preferred sold at 102¾.

Distillery issues were in demand but little price change was in evidence. Seagram gained ¼ to 23½. Walker gained ¾ to 36½, and G. and W. was unchanged at 56. Industrial Alcohol weakened 1-8 to 26 3-8.

HAMILTON ASKS FOR CONTROL OF 'BUS BUSINESS

Want Clause Included in Bill Sought By the T. C. C.

TORONTO ANNOYED.

Objection Not Taken To Charter Trips—Bill Covers Operation Anywhere.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 24 .—When the private bills committee of the Legislature met to-day to consider the application of the Toronto Transportation Commission for the right to operate buses anywhere in Ontario, Hamilton pressed for a clause giving it control of the bus business within its own limits.

Solicitor Waddell and Controller Morrison represented the city and they received their instructions from the Board of Control at a meeting yesterday afternoon. The Toronto officials are willing to enter into an agreement with the city in order that there will be no delay of the bill at Toronto, Controller Morrison stated. He has been in conference with the Toronto officials, and recommended that something along this line be done. He added that if the city declined to do this the attitude might be considered unfair and as a result the city would lose what it had gained in previous negotiations. While Controller Morrison previously opposed the bill, further investigation had convinced him that Hamilton had nothing to worry about, he said.

C. H. Clancey and L. L. Smith, of the T.T.C. were present and they entered into the discussion of the different points.

There was a lengthy debate on the question of whether or not Hamilton should include other centres in its application for certain rights under the bill.

The T.T.C. were not pleased with the decision to press for the clause to be included. The local officials have no objection to charter trips being carried through the city but this is as far as they are prepared to go.

"WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD" SAYS OTTAWA MATRON

Mme. Beatrice Charlebois Could Not Hold Pen To Write. Nerves Completely Shattered, Health Ruined. Now Alert, Vigorous and Strong, She Gives Praise To Tanlac.

The two-year ordeal which she passed through before Tanlac came to her permanent relief, was recently described by Mme. Beatrice Charlebois, of 22 Rose St., Ottawa.

"What I endured in that time could not be told," she said. "I was so weak I could hardly walk. My appetite was poor and my stomach gave no end of trouble. Gas pains would bring on fainting spells.

"My nerves were so completely shattered that I jumped in fright every time the doorbell rang. My hand trembled so that it could not hold the pen to write my name. Night after night I've gone without sleep, too nervous to lie still for even a few moments. Even my housework became too much for me.

"I tried all kinds of remedies in those two years, but can honestly say Tanlac gave me my first real relief. It built me up so that I've gained 11 lbs., eat and sleep fine and have nerves as calm and steady as ever. Tanlac is worth its weight in gold."

Build up your health on Tanlac, nature's own tonic made from roots, herbs and barks. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

SMITH'S STORE

Just a Word of Warning

The overwhelming public desire and demand for Radio without Batteries, coupled with the outstanding success of the Rogers Batteryless Radio, has inspired many dealers to advertise so-called "Light-Socket" operation for nearly every other make of radio.

This "Light-Socket" operation claimed by dealers for radios other than Rogers is not elimination of batteries, but a combination of batteries and a charger, which charger operates from your light socket.

—You still have batteries

—You still have chemicals

—You still have wires

It is not your radio but the charger that operates from the light socket. The current operates the charger, which charges your batteries. The batteries operate the radio set. Instead of eliminating anything, you have added one more part and expense.

These devices certainly have merit and are a real convenience to those who have radios and cannot afford to sacrifice them for a Rogers, but when you are buying a new radio and are led to believe it is "Batteryless" or so-called "Light-Socket" operation, just ask one question:

"Has it got batteries or chemicals or a charger?" Insist upon a straight answer then—insist on Rogers—with the A/C Tube!

Priory Park Wins Lincolnshire Handicap with Long Shot

OUTSIDER VICTOR IN LINCOLNSHIRE; 20 TO 1 AGAINST

J. B. Joel's Five-Year-Old Priory Park Won by Head

TRACK HEAVY

Favorite Asterus Finishes in Dead Heat With Murray's Mellon.

LINCOLN, England, March 24 (Canadian Press). — Fairly lightly weighted with 106 pounds, J. B. Joel's five-year-old horse, Priory Park, by Rocksavage-Chatham II., won the Lincolnshire Handicap over the straight mile yesterday afternoon. Another outsider, B. Coulson's four-year-old Orbindos, finished second, just a head back. The favorites Asterus, French horse, finished in a dead heat with W. Murray's Melon for third place, another length and a half back. Thirty horses ran.

Track Was Heavy

Priory Park was ridden by F. Fox and started at twenty to one against. Orbindos carried only 92 pounds and started at 100 to 6 against, ridden by Rigos. Asterus carried 124 pounds, and started at three to one against, with Elliott up, while Melon started at 33 to 1, carrying 108 pounds, with Lane up.

The winner's time was 1.42 2-5, over a fairly heavy track, with rain falling. Berkeley Bridge and Gallop King were the first to show in front, leading Priory Park, Asterus, Orbindos, Autocrat and Helter Skelter for two furlongs. At the quarter mark, Priory Park edged into a slight lead over Orbindos, Berkeley Bridge, Asterus, Grandflight and Melmon. Half-way Helter Skelter and Galloper King were beaten.

Won by a Head

Priory Park then came on from Asterus, Melon and Grandflight. At the three-quarters, Priory Park led from Asterus and Orbindos. The latter weakened shortly afterwards, but gamely came again and gave Priory Park a thrilling battle, the winner just lasting long enough to keep his head in front. Melon got on even terms with Asterus in the last stride. Grandflight was fifth and the crack German horse, Weissdorn, top-weight, was sixth.

Young Pat Donoghue, son of the famous jockey, who was also in the race, rode King of Clubs, last year's winner, but failed to finish anywhere among the leaders. Steve was on Friar Wile. The runners were the same as the list of probable starters except for the defection of Tide, who was to have been ridden by L. Read.

The race goes back to 1853 and has become traditional for its romance and uncertainty. It is worth about $10,000 with all extras.

CHANGES MADE IN LICENSE LAW

Resident of Municipality May Get Peddler's License More Cheaply.

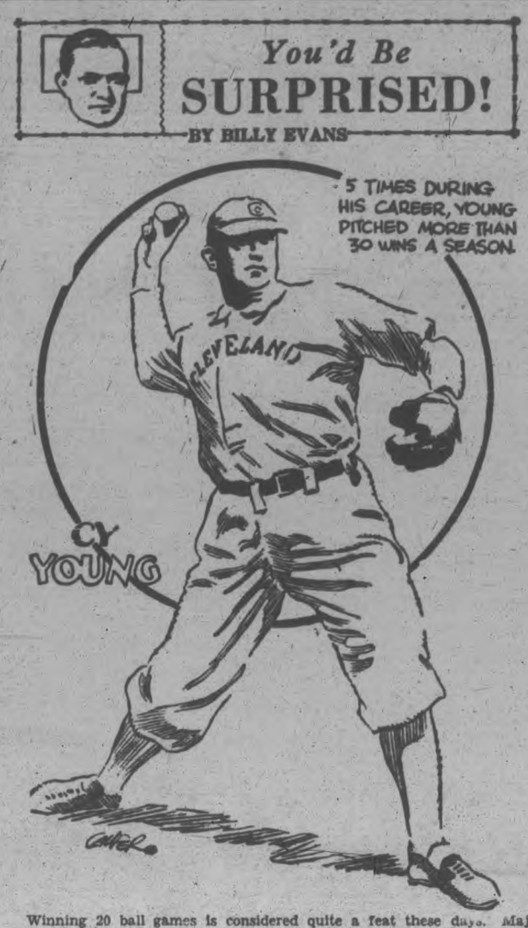
MINIMUM FIXED

A bill has recently been introduced in the Legislative Assembly governing the licensing of hawkers and peddlers. This bill requires that the fee paid for the license may be lower in the case of persons who have resided continuously in the municipality for at least one year, but it shall not be less than $10 for residents and $15 for non-residents, in the case of a person travelling on foot carrying a pack or basket or otherwise carrying goods for sale or to take orders for goods to be delivered afterwards. This regulation does not apply to the sale of nursery stock, medical and scientific books, sewing machines, office equipment machines, milk, bread, or ice produced in Ontario. In all cases where the enactment is effective, the licensee is required to carry his license with him and to exhibit it to any person to whom he is offering goods for sale, if requested. Failure to show this renders him liable to a penalty of not less than $5 or not more than $25. Any person not holding a license but carrying on a business as a hawker or peddler is liable to the amount of the license fee and in addition a fine of $10.

Farmers May Sell.

The Consolidated Municipal Act is amended to permit the prohibition of the sale of fruit, candy, peanuts, ice cream or ice cream cones from a basket or a wagon, upon any part of a highway or in any public park or public place, but this by-law shall not apply to a farmer or market gardener or other persons selling or delivering goods of his own production at any place of business or residence upon such highway or part thereof.

A signal honor has been accorded Harry Vardon by his club in England, the members of which have subscribed several hundred dollars for a trophy to be competed for at an open amateur tournament next May. The trophy, which will be known as the Harry Vardon Cup, will be won outright.



Winning 20 ball games is considered quite a feat these days. Major league managers are willing to pay a fancy bonus to any pitcher capable of turning the trick.

This fact makes me marvel at the record Cy Young made during his more than 20 years as a star twirler in both the American and National Leagues.

True, the lively ball and the short fences have made the task of pitching more difficult, yet when Cy Young was the big noise in the majors, a pitcher who couldn't win at least 20 games wasn't rated a real star.

Young during five years of his career managed to win 30 or more ball games, to be exact 31, 32, 34, 35 and 36. No other major league pitcher in the last 25 years has ever won 30 games more than three times. Only two have done that—Grover Alexander and Christy Mathewson.

For 13 successive years, from 1892 to 1905, Cy Young turned in the unheard of performance of winning 20 or more games each year. During 16 years of his career he registered anywhere from 20 to 36 victories a season.

On three occasions Cy Young let down the opposition without a hit, once in 1897, again in 1904 and lastly in 1908. The 1904 feat was made against the Philadelphia Athletics. In this game not a player reached first base.

All of which makes it appear as if Cy Young was quite a pitcher. Well, that's right.

BIG LEAGUE STARS ON HOSPITAL LIST

Washington Hard Hit by Casualties—Johnson and Harris Out.

NEW YORK, March 24—Making due allowances for the spree that the weather sometimes takes in late March and early April, it is believed that the best conditioned bunch of all ball clubs in years will open the major league season.

The usual run of training camp injuries have occurred, casualties including Walter Johnson, Bucky Harris, Ray Schalk, Babe Ruth and Johnny Mostil, but good weather which prevailed during the training season in the south spared most of the managers the grief and worry of lame old arms, and stiffened old legs.

Condition of the athletes at the start always means much, and it may be a bigger factor than ever, this year, in deciding the pennant winners.

The importance and the value of a flying start were demonstrated last year by the performance of the Yankees, who went away so fast to a commanding lead that they were never caught up with, in spite of most annoying late season slumps.

The "jump" this year, with strength in both leagues so closely grouped among four clubs in each circuit, will be more important than ever. That managers of the contending teams realize the strategic value of a fast start has been plainly apparent by the zeal they have employed in getting veteran pitchers ready to work from the very start.

The Washington club has been hit particularly by injuries. Walter Johnson was pitching to the batters in the Washington camp at Tampa, when he was felled by a liner that struck him on the ankle. A bone was fractured and with the fondest hopes for a quick recovery, it is not likely that the grand old veteran will be able to work during the first month of the season.

Bucky Harris was also disabled when he cut off a throw from the outfield in an exhibition game, and jammed up the index finger of his throwing hand so badly that he may be out of the game for weeks. Even if he is able to start the season, he will not be at his best.

Babe Ruth's injuries — charley horse and strained muscles — are not serious. The $70,000 per star has not recovered as quickly as expected, and while he is still limping around, he ought to be able to work out of it before the season opens.

FINE FLINGING BY LEFTY FAULKNER

Southpaw Restricts Opposition to Three Hits in Training Session.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 24.—There was a mild chilliness in the atmosphere Wednesday noon but it was plenty warm enough for the Maple Leafs to put in a full day's training session with the assorted varieties of practice and a full length ball game in which the regulars gathered the laurels of victory by the count of five to one. Jim Faulkner went all the way on the mound for the conquerors and was in midseason form. Just a trio of safe hits were gained by the opposition and they were not entitled to the solitary run with which they were credited.

Fans the Side.

The big lefthander did not extend himself to anything like his real strength until the final round when he bore down and retired the side on strikes. Besides his noble conduct in the box he cracked a line drive between a pair of outfielders and was at the third station before the ball was relieved.

Tragedy marked the opening inning of the game when Tilly Walker was struck on his throwing hand by a pitched ball. First aid was rendered the injured member and after careful examination it was learned that the fears that a bone had been broken were groundless. Tilly reported the member is improving and that the swelling is subsiding and that he expects to don his working clothes as usual when the bugle blows assembly for today's practice.

Hardin, the young tosser from the tire company team at Akron, Ohio, slung the sphere that struck Walker and it appears that this flinger has a wicked fast ball that takes a nasty zip.

Manager Fohl used a new combination, playing Andy Harrington at second for the regulars with Lamotte at short. The results were most pleasing and a pair of double plays neatly executed were inserted into the pastime. Lamotte joined the home run hitters' club with a drive into the stands.

Cincinnati Pilot Says He'd Swap Cuban Hurler

ORLANDO, Fla., March 24.—If the New York Giants get Adolfo Luque away from the Cincinnati Reds they will part with a pitcher or so to get him.

Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati club, refuses to trade any other way.

"I feel sure Luque won't be sold to the Giants," Hendricks said here. "We need players. I'd consider taking Kent Greenfield or Fred Fitzsimmons for Luque if that sort of a trade could be hatched up."

JUST GOOD PITCHING WILL WIN PENNANT

Says Manager of Washington Senators When Questioned Regarding League.

TAMPA, Fla., March 24.—"I note that most of the other American League clubs dont think Washington will get enough good pitching to win this year," says Manager Harris, when you ask him about his club, pitching in particular.

"I think so well of our chances, that good, not great pitching, is all we need to be up there.

"The experts have always rated our infield as up to snuff. Now that we have Tris Speaker in center, our outfield is easily the best in the majors.

"Honestly! Can you imagine anything more pleasant than being a pitcher on a ball club with an outfield composed of "Goose" Goslin, Tris Speaker and Sam Rice?

"I want to go on record right now as saying that any balls that drop safe in the Washington outfield this summer will be legitimate base hits.

"Buddy Myer, who has been slow in arriving because of illness and injuries after entering the majors, has passed the experimental stage. He proved late last fall he was capable of holding down the shortstop berth, causing us to let Peck go to Chicago.

"Myer is a great hitter. He should come close to the .350 mark this year, and, if he does, it will mean much to the offense of our club.

"I fully realize that my pitching is the biggest problem for me to solve, but I have hopes that it will be equal to the occasion. As I have said before, in my opinion, we need only good, not great pitching, to win the American League pennant.

"I don't think any one will question the fact we loom a strong contender."

Secretary's Report.

Madam President and members of the Ladies' Curling Club, I beg to present the following report of the activities of our Club for the season 1927. The curling year which is being brought to a close today has been very pleasurable and successful, due undoubtedly to a large extent to the tactful and faithful guidance of the President, Mrs. Wood. Though this curling season has perhaps been shorter than usual, weather conditions have been generally favourable, so that it has been possible to complete the games for all trophies with the exception of those for the Waddell Cup in the Consolation Competition. For this, one game remains to be played between the rinks, whose skips are Mrs. W. H. Hill and Miss N. Davidson. If the many prophecies of a summerless year are fulfilled, we may expect this game to be not the least attractive feature on the programme of events to be arranged in connection with the celebration of the Diamond Anniversary of Confederation.

There were 38 members enrolled in our Club, this year—eight scheduled rinks and six unattached players. Of these five tested the slipperiness of the game for the first time while four others were welcomed back to the Club after a more or less prolonged absence.

The Gibson Trophy was won this year by the rink skipped by Mrs. C. E. Jameson, with Miss C. Littlefield as vice skip, Miss L. Green playing second and Mrs. C. Browne as lead. The winning rink enjoyed a splendid record of having lost but one game through this competition.

The winners of the vice skips' bonspiel, for which Mrs. W. H. Hill had offered the prizes, were Miss E. McIntyre, Mrs. Darcy, Mrs. A. W. Turner, and Mrs. R. Grant (skip), while the runners-up were Miss E. Collins, Mrs. V. Eastwood Jr., Miss F. Gladman and Miss Fanning (skip).

The games for the Sturgeon Trophy were as usual keenly enjoyed, the winning rink being skipped by Mrs. A. W. Turner with Mr. G. Duncan as vice skip Mrs. A. Robson playing second and Dr. Sutton as lead. The runners up in this competition were Mr. G. Green, Miss L. Green, Mr. J. Bacon, and Mrs. E. Wood (skip).

Our Club was represented this year in the Ontario Tankard Competition which was held on February 22nd in the Victoria Club Rink, Toronto, by the following two rinks: Mrs. R. H. Turner, Miss Fanning, Mrs. A. W. Turner, Miss F. Gladman (skip), and Mrs. R. Grant, Miss H. Munro, Mrs. G. Wood, Mrs. W. Oke (skip).

While these players reluctantly left the Tankard Trophy for another year in Toronto our local Club feels that it was worthily represented in the competition and that the outcome was but another proof of the vagaries of the game.

Before closing this report, may I place on record the Club's regrets at the prolonged illness of this year's vice president, Mrs. V. Eastwood, Sr., whose good sportsmanship and delightful companionship have been much missed by the members throughout this winter and may I likewise record the hope of our Club that the new season may find her completely restored to health, ready to enjoy the game as of yore.

In the conclusion, may I quote the following few lines, expressive of a sentiment in which I am sure, we all will heartily concur:

There's only one cure for all maladies sure
That draws like a stone through a bore,
'Tis the roar o' the game known to curlers alane
And where is the heart wishing more?
It turneth the grave into gay,
Makes pain into pleasure give way;
Makes the old become young and the weak become strong
So we'll all go a-curling today."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

MARY I. KENNER,
Secretary.

BUY FIRST BASEMAN.

TORONTO, March 24.—The Toronto Ball Club this morning exercised its option on First Baseman Dale Alexander, of Charlotte, N.C., and purchased him for $5,000 cash. Alexander had 42 base hits last season, and a dozen or so triples and as many home runs. In a word, he is a powerful hitter when he hits, and apparently that is frequent enough to attract the attention of major league scouts for the past three seasons.

Manager Fohl sent an urgent message to the Toronto owners to close the purchase. He regards him as a big asset to his club on his long hard hitting and feels that he will make a big hit with the fans.

Mickey Heath will not be let out, but carried along so that the club will be doubly fortified at the first corner. Heath is unquestionably the cleverest fielding first baseman in the league.

Chairman Fired On

LONDON, March 24 (United Press). — Stirling Fessenden, an American, who is chairman of the Shanghai Municipal Council, narrowly escaped assassination on Tuesday, the Peking correspondent of The Morning Post reported today. An assassin fired at Fessenden while the American was eating breakfast, the dispatch said. The assailant was reported to have escaped.

The Daily Mail Shanghai correspondent reported the Coldstream Guards would be replaced today by United States Marines in the first line defence around the foreign settlement. Two squads of Marines have been in position with the Coldstream detachment for two days.

Fifty Nationalists were killed and one hundred wounded when the British Durham Battalion repulsed an attack on the settlement on Tuesday, the correspondent said.

COMMUNICATIONS BROKEN.

SHANGHAI, March 24. — Canadian Press. — A number of Americans were killed when the Cantonese troops shelled the hill in the northern part of Nanking, where the Standard Oil Plant is situated. The number killed and wounded is yet to be ascertained. Up to eight o'clock to-night only meagre news had been received from Nanking, and that by radio, the telegraph wires having been cut. The British destroyer, "Wolsey" is rushing to Nanking from Wuhu.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ROBERT YOUNG.

LAKEFIELD, March 24.—Mary Ann Brady, relict of Robert Young, died this morning at her home in Young's Point, at the advanced age of 96. She had enjoyed good health until about a year ago, but since then had been confined to her bed most of the time.

Mrs. Young was twice married, first to the late Cornelius Scollard, and later to the late Robert Young. She was a highly respected resident of Young's Point, and a devoted member of St. Mary's Church there.

Mrs. Young is survived by one son, Captain W. J. Scollard, of the steamer "Stoney Lake." Two daughters predeceased her some years ago.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Mary's Church and Cemetery, Young's Point.

H. A. McKIBBIN.

The following clipping from a Port Arthur paper refers to the funeral, on March 12th, of the late H. A. McKibbin, cousin of Mrs. W. A. Graham, of 182 Hunter Street East, son of Robert McKibbin of Smith, and nephew of Colonel Ray, of Street and Ray, Port Arthur, and Mrs. (Dr.) Hodge:

"St. John's Church, Port Arthur, was filled with a large gathering of old acquaintances and sympathizing friends who had come together to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of H. A. McKibbin, pioneer citizen and well-known man, who died suddenly on Thursday last.

"His funeral was marked by the attendance of a large number of members of the Masonic Order, the deceased having been associated with Freemasonry for many years, and having held high offices in the many branches of the Order. Members of the Shrine, Rhodes Preceptory, Royal Arch Masons, and of the various Masonic Blue Lodges were present, there being an especially large number of members of Shuniah and Thunder Bay Lodges, in both of which Mr. McKibbin held active membership, having been a past master in Shuniah Lodge. In addition, various civic bodies with which Mr. McKibbin had been associated in one capacity or another showed the universal respect in which he was held by attending at the church.

"A private service was held at the family residence, 131 Court Street North, conducted by Rev. Percy Steed, pastor of St. John's. Then followed the Masonic service, conducted by Dr. C. N. Simpson, Worshipful Master of Thunder Bay Lodge, after which the cortege proceeded to St. John's Church. H. S. H. Goodier, organist of Shuniah Lodge, presided at the organ, playing the Dead March at the conclusion of the service. The hymns sung were 'Peace, Perfect Peace' and 'Abide With Me.'

"At Riverside Cemetery, where interment was made direct in the earth, Rev. Percy Steed committed the body to the ground, after which the Masonic lodges took charge of the service, with Worshipful Brother Harold Stanworth, Master of Shuniah Lodge, officiating. Grand honors were accorded to the brother who just a quarter of a century ago was Worshipful Master of Shuniah Lodge.

"So profuse were the wreaths and floral designs sent that an extra car was provided to accommodate.

"The active pallbearers, all members of the craft, were: F. B. Allen, W. F. Langworthy, K.C., Col. R. H. Neeland, D.S.O., H. B. Hardy, A. P. Freed and Dr. C. S. McComb. The honorary pallbearers were: Francis Kiefer, Col. J. A. Little, L. J. Webster, F. S. Wiley, S. M. Connolly, C. W. Jarvis, H. I. Millar and A. L. McEwen.

"The funeral was under the auspices of both Thunder Bay Lodge and Shuniah Lodge, A. F. and A. M."

ADDRESSES ON CHEESE MAKING

Meeting Held By Patrons of Peterborough Milk Products.

STANDING OF COUNTY.

One hundred and fifty patrons of the Peterborough Milk Products, Ltd., attended the annual banquet of the company yesterday in the Canadian Legion Hall. During the morning the district cheese makers met, and were addressed by Dr. Hood of the Dominion Department of Agriculture; James Irwin, county cheese grader, and J. W. Moore, G. G. Publow, and G. H. Barr of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. At the patrons' meeting in the afternoon the speakers were Prof. Bell of Kemptville, W. Griffith, and G. G. Publow.

James Irwin gave a very interesting address on the grading and the standard of cheese in this district. In Ontario today there are 799 cheese factories with 87.09 per cent located in Eastern Ontario. During the year 1,845,581 boxes of cheese were graded in Canada of which 88.3 per cent were first grade. In Ontario 1,305,211 boxes were graded and 92.6 per cent were first grade. Seventy-one per cent. of the Canadian cheese is produced in Ontario and 78 per cent of this comes from the eastern part of the province.

Prince Edward Leads

Prince Edward County again heads the list of counties in the province, with 48,489 boxes, of which 95.9 per cent graded first. Carleton County was second with 95 per cent, Hastings third with 94.7 per cent, and Peterborough County seventeenth with 90 per cent of the 25,005 boxes produced grading No. 1. This county has twenty-three factories and on account of five with low grading the relative position with the other counties of the province was low. If these five factories were taken out the position would have been second in the province.

In Ontario last year sixteen factories had 100 per cent of their make first grade, and 319 more had at least 95 per cent per cent first grade. Peterborough had six factories grade 96 per cent and over.

Ten factories in this county had over 93 per cent of their make of first grade, five over 88 and under 95 per cent, and eight under 88 per cent. Five factories made 69.80 per cent of the under-grade cheese and the average of the best eighteen factories was 93.1 per cent.

Mr. Irwin was disappointed in the quality of cheese last year, and he still found a number that were poorly finished. This year all cheese that is poorly finished will be lower in grade.

In closing Mr. Irwin recommended that good cheese makers be secured so that Peterborough County might win back her name as being one of the leading cheese-producing counties in Ontario.

E. G. Hood

"Records show each year that a certain amount of the Ontario cheese is in second and third grade on account of flavor defects," said E. G. Hood, head of the Federal Division of Dairy Research. Undesirable cheese flavors are caused by bacteria and yeasts and these have been traced to recontaminated or impure starters and to improperly cleaned equipment.

The starter is one of the most important factors that will determine the quality of the cheese. The question of the starter is wholly up to the cheese maker, and he has himself to blame if the quality of the cheese is injured. The starter should contain no other form of life than acid-producing bacteria. The department has analyzed the starters used in various factories and found them to contain high numbers of yeast moulds, and undesirable bacteria.

Factory equipment may look bright and clean to the general observer, but on making a bacteriological examination much of the clean-looking equipment has been found to be heavily laden with yeasts and bacteria and as a result serious recontamination has resulted during the manufacture of the cheese.

IN MEMORIAM.

DOWNER.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Matilda Downer, who died March 24, 1926.

"Mother, dear, we think of you,

No one knows a mother's worth
Until she is taken from this earth;
The heavenly gates were open wide,
A loving voice said, 'Come'."

Asthma
results from a narrowing of the air passages leading to the lungs. These passages become narrowed when the circular muscle fibers of the bronchial tubes become excessively contracted. All muscle fibers contract and relax, dependent upon messages conveyed from the brain through the spinal cord and nerves. An improper supply of nerve energy to these muscle fibers cause them to tighten up and decrease the size of the air passages thus reducing the amount of oxygen reaching the lungs.
By Releasing
nerve interference at the spine the Chiropractor restores proper nerve energy to the bronchial tubes. The tubes regain a normal size and comfortable breathing takes place. Many asthmatics have found wonderful benefits from Chiropractic Spinal Adjustments.

Anxiety Is Caused By Nanking Outbreak

CAMPAIGN OF ANTI-FOREIGNISM THROUGHOUT NATION IS FEARED ACCOUNT OF NANKING OUTBREAK

Foreign Commanders' Action in East Backed By Home Governments.

MORE CASUALTIES.

Japan Flotilla Succeeds in Evacuating 200 Japanese From City.

SHANGHAI, March 25 (Associated Press)—Conflicting reports from the city of Nanking left the fate of a portion of the foreign community there in doubt early this morning.

While one despatch announced the rescue of all foreigners by British and United States landing parties from Socony Hill, another suggested that a number of foreigners remained. Further casualties were reported but whether these were among landing parties of sailors or among those residents of Nanking who took refuge on Socony Hill when the Cantonese occupied the city, was not clear.

Identity Unknown

A late message said that further rescue efforts had been made under a renewal of yesterday's bombardment presumably by the Cantonese This was also unconfirmed. Whether the attack on Socony Hill was made by Cantonese, Northerners or gorillas.

Yesterday, a number of Nanking's foreign residents were killed and wounded by shell fire directed on Socony Hill. When the firing began the British cruiser Emerald and the United States cruisers Noa and Preston immediately let go with their heaviest guns at the Cantonese positions. Landing parties from these vessels went into action under a barrage and successfully fought their way through the streets to the hill, returning with refugees to the warships. Some lives were lost in this operation.

A despatch received here, reported that some foreigners still remained on Socony Hill and a second expedition was undertaken. It is with respect to the complete success of this rescue battle that doubt exists. Most reports are being received by wireless, the telegraph lines to Nanking having been cut.

In responsible quarters here the greatest anxiety is felt lest the Nanking outbreak should bring on a nation-wide campaign of anti-foreignism. It is understood that the United States vessels, Peary, Pilsbury and John D. Ford, have been diverted to Swatow and Foochow where trouble is feared.

The city of Shanghai was quiet yesterday after carnage which prevailed in native sections early this week when the Cantonese took over the city.

Back Action

LONDON, Mar. 25 (Associated Press)—The British capital was shocked yesterday by news of the slaying of foreigners at Nanking recalling the tragic days of the Boxer uprisings.

Only the briefest accounts have been received in official quarters and as definite information had been received last night as to the number of names of foreigners killed and wounded. Government spokesmen deplore yesterday's hap-

Two Crash at the Corner of Charlotte and Stewart Streets.

NOBODY HURT.

Fenders and running boards were badly damaged as a result of a crash between two cars at the corner of Charlotte and Stewart at an early hour this morning.

At the time of the accident one car was proceeding north on Stewart street, while the other was coming east on Charlotte. The force of the impact turned the car going north in an easterly direction. None of the occupants of either car was injured.

BALDWIN PLANS TO VISIT CANADA AT END OF JULY

Will Be Away From Old Country For Three Weeks.

COMING WITH WALES.

Secretary For Downing To Visit Canada at End of This Year.

LONDON, March 25. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Premier Stanley Baldwin, if engagements permit, will be away from England for three weeks on his visit to Canada. He expects to leave London at the end of July. The Prince of Wales may sail with him, while the Hon. L. C. Amery, Secretary for the Dominions, begins his Empire tour by leaving for South Africa in August.

Although definite plans cannot be made until it is known when Parliament will conclude its present session, the Premier hopes to leave London late in July. As his few days' stay in Canada will be fully occupied by official functions, it is unlikely that he will visit the Prince of Wales' ranch in Alberta as had been suggested.

If the Prince of Wales can delay his departure for Canada until the end of the Parliamentary session, he and the Premier will travel together, it is understood.

Hon. L. C. Amery is expected to leave London at the beginning of August. He will visit in turn South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Canada and will spend Christmas in Canada. He will return to London in January of next year.

Another British visitor to Canada shortly will be C. T. Cramp, Industrial Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen. He sails for Canada on March 31, his visit being on behalf of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees.

Firm Stand of Naval Officers Results in Cessation of Fighting

SHANGHAI, March 25.—(Canadian Press.) — Despatches from Nanking late to-night indicated that the situation there was easier, with the remaining foreigners being evacuated.

The first of the 120 American missionaries who took refuge in Nanking University from the rioting Chinese, began to arrive at the dock near the British and American warships at five o'clock to-night. Among them was Miss Anna Moffat, of Fort Sheridan, Illinois, who had been shot twice through the body.

The missionaries came through without military escort and without molestation from the Chinese. It was not known whether the entire 120 were coming out.

BRITISH ARE ANXIOUS.

LONDON, March 25.— (Canadian Press.)—The British Government is anxiously seeking the full story of events of Nanking, where the gravity of the situation was increased today by the collapse of negotiations for the rescue of the Britishers and Americans remaining ashore.

The British Government holds the Cantonese authorities fully responsible for events at Nanking, in consequence of which new difficulties have been put in the way of carrying out the British policy of conciliation in China.

TROUBLE AT CHINKIANG.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(Canadian Press.)—The situation at Chinkiang, recently captured by the Cantonese, is described in the official despatches as serious. British refugees have concentrated at the Asiatic petroleum station and the Americans there have taken refuge at the Standard Oil Company's installation.

Looting and firing are reported in progress throughout the concession area. Americans are preparing to leave on the steamer 'Wenchow' for Shanghai.

PRESTON FIRED ON.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—(Canadian Press.)—The U.S.S. 'Preston' was fired upon from Nanking points. The fire was returned by the destroyer's machine guns. The Chinese forts above and below Chinkiang also fired on the 'Preston,' and the destroyer again replied by turning loose its four-inch battery. No casualty to the Preston's personnel resulted.

PREPARATIONS POSTPONED.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Preparations for bombardment by British and United States' ships at Nanking have been postponed until to-morrow because of the partial evacuation of the city by foreigners which has been effected. The bombardment was to have begun late this afternoon.

The decision to postpone the drastic action decided upon was reached by the British and United States' naval commanders when it was seen that concrete results had followed the announcement of their firm stand.

Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, United States' commander, reported to the Navy Department that the Japanese in Nanking were completing their evacuation, that the missing British marines were coming out of the city, and that there was a fair possibility that the 120 Americans who took refuge in Nanking University would leave to-night.

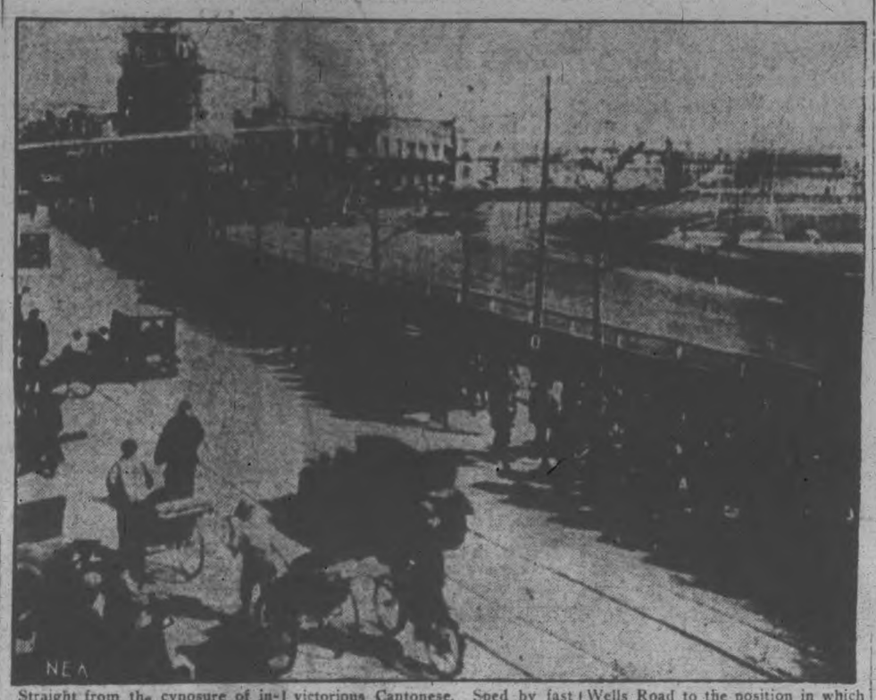
EMBATTLED BRITISHERS AT SHANGHAI



Straight from the cynosure of international anxiety and as fast as human devices could convey it comes this exclusive photo of preparations to defend the international concession in Shanghai against possible incursion by the onsweeping hordes of victorious Cantonese. Sped by fast steamship across the Pacific to San Francisco, it was telephotoed to the New York office of NEA Service and was rushed by express train to The Examiner. Here we see British troops proceeding along Bubbling Wells Road to the position in which they were found with ready arms when the approaching southern invaders entered the city. This thoroughfare skirts the Shanghai race track, the key site of the Allied defence where foreign troops mobilized as the Paris of the East fell.

THOROUGH TESTS ON NEW PUMPER

High Pressure and Full Capacity Are Maintained.

WORKED ON WHARF.

The new American LaFrance fire pumper which arrived in the city the first of the week was put under several tests by Fire Chief George Gimblett before the city accepted it. The pumper has lived up to all expectations, and in the tests has pumped more than its registered capacity.

The first test was carried out at the George Street Wharf, where the pumper was in action for two hours. Three lines of hose were connected, one 150-foot line with a one and three-eighth inch nozzle, and two 150-foot lines siamesed together with a 1½-inch nozzle. The pumper pressure was maintained at 125 pounds and the pressure at the nozzles varied from 66 pounds to 70 for the smaller one and 73 to 76 for the larger nozzle. The highest number of American gallons pumped in a minute was 1,050 and the lowest 1,035.

The second test was for 30 minutes with one 300-foot line and one inch and one-third nozzle. The pumper pressure was 210 pounds, the nozzle pressure 80 pounds, and the amount of water pumped per minute 595 gallons.

A third test was carried our with 256 pounds pressure. In this test the pressure at the end of the nozzle was 125 pounds and 414 gallons were pumped per minute.

The hydrant test was the final one made in which 90 pounds was the pumper pressure, 80 pounds the nozzle pressure, and 1,031 gallons of water was being pumped.

The pumper is capable of forcing a stream of water to the top of the highest church tower in the city. The delivery engineer is busy every day teaching the firemen how to run the new machine and how to make the proper connections.

CITY FIXES PRICE FOR UTILITIES HELD BY HYDRO

Will Offer $150,000 For the Street Railway and Gas Plant.

PUMPER ACCEPTED.

Council Holds Special Meeting To Deal With Urgent Matters.

The City Council will offer the Hydro Electric Power Commission $150,000 for the street railway system and the gas plant, and if this is accepted will submit a bylaw to the ratepayers asking them to authorize the purchase.

This was decided by the aldermen last night after several sessions devoted to wading through a great mass of figures submitted by the commission.

The price quoted by the Hydro, based on the book valuation, was $477,000 for the gas plant alone.

The question to be decided was expressed by Mayor Holloway as being: "Is the railway worth anything to you as a citizen to supply transportation?" He pointed out that no bus line would run without an exclusive franchise, which the city could not give. Even if the city were operating the street railway it could not refuse licenses to competing lines without special legislation.

Ald. Deane opposed the idea of running the railway at a slight loss on the grounds that a large proportion of those who use it are people who live outside the city in order to have lower taxes. He declared it would not be fair to tax city people for a deficit.

Ald. Greene thought that an expert valuation should be obtained, but Mayor Holloway asserted that the physical valuation of the plant was not of as much concern to the city as the possibility of providing transportation, and of reducing the price of gas.

When Aldermen Fife and Stocker moved that the offer of $150,000 be made, Ald. McIntyre asked "Aren't you making it too cheap?" Other aldermen hastened to assure him that a more reasonable price than that previously mentioned would be obtained in reply.

It was estimated that various savings to be effected, such as the elimination of head office overhead, would enable the city to break even if the capital invested were not too great.

Formal acceptance of the new pumper for the fire department was made last night after the report of the results of the tests had been read. The delivery engineer of the American-LaFrance Company is at present in the city explaining the operation of the new apparatus.

ESTIMATES ARE DISCUSSED BY ONTARIO HOUSE

Premier To Allot Day For Consideration of Hydro Matters.

WITHDRAWS BILL.

Opposition Leaders Oppose Item For Fees To Special Counsel.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25 (Canadian Press).—The Ontario Legislature was engaged yesterday in consideration of the Government main estimates totalling $44,616,510. By far the largest item was the sum of $15,800,000 for the Prime Minister's Department, including $14,970,000 for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

Referring to this item, W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, said it would require much consideration by the House and he reminded Premier Howard Ferguson that he had indicated his willingness some days ago to allot a special sitting of the House for discussion of Hydro matters.

The Premier said it was his intention to allot a day and would inform the House when the matter would be taken up.

When considering the estimates of the Attorney-General's Department amounting to $2,128,360, W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, drew the attention of the Government to an item of $48,575 which was provided for the operation of the Board of License Commissioners for Ontario for 1928.

"Is it the intention of the government to continue the Board of License Commissioners after the Liquor Control Act comes into force?" asked Mr. Sinclair.

Premier Ferguson explained that the item had been prepared by the office staff, and that they had inadvertently included the appropriation. The item was therefore struck out.

Mr. Sinclair succeeded in having an appropriation of $30,000 for the revision of the statutes reduced to $10,000, on the ground that the Commission engaged in the work would finish by October next, and the full sum would not be required.

In the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon Premier Howard Ferguson, who introduced a bill at the beginning of the session of the purpose of replacing the Section School Board system with a Township School Board system, announced that he intended to withdraw the measure and re-introduce it next year. Before doing so, however, he would make an amendment to the bill and have the value of the discussion by the members.

"Fees Are Wild"

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 25 (Canadian Press)—Lawyers' fees in Ontario "are running wild" and it is time that a halt was called, W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, told the Ontario Legislature when discussing the main estimates of the government this afternoon. The particular item under discussion was an appropriation of $30,000 in the estimates of the Attorney-General's department for payment of special counsel engaged to act in crown prosecutions in 1928 in various parts of the province, and Mr. Raney and W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, objected to it on the ground that Crown Attorneys

IRISH REPUBLIC SEPARATE STATE

Not the Same as Dublin Administration De Valera Says.

FREE STATE SUIT.

NEW YORK, March 25 (Canadian Press). — Documents to support contention that the Irish Republic was separate in theory and fact from the Irish Free State were introduced Wednesday at the trial of the Free State suit to secure possession of $2,500,000 residue of the $6,000,000 proceeds of the republican bond issue raised in the United States from 1919 to 1921.

Eamon de Valera, head of the defunct republic, continued on the witness stand. He identified the documents. The evidence included correspondence interchanged by the republican leader and David Lloyd George in the summer of 1921, when negotiations which resulted in the formation of the Free State were under way.

After a conference with Lloyd George, de Valera rejected the plan of partial independence drawn up and presented by Lloyd George, he testified in regard to the closing days of the republic's short life. De Valera resigned when he was not uphold by his followers.

INSPECTION OF DISTILLERIES HEARD AT PROBE

Customs Official Gives Detailed Account of Duties as Inspector.

WIDE TERRITORY.

Dealt With Parcels Received Through Postal and Express Divisions.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25. — (Canadian Press).—A Customs inspector whose territory reaches from the eastern boundary of Ontario to the Pacific Ocean, testified before the Royal Commission on Customs yesterday afternoon. Alphonses F. Brain, inspector of distilleries for the Customs Department, gave the Commissioners an idea of the varied duties which he is called upon to perform in dealing with twelve distilleries. Superintendence of the construction of that part of a new distillery in which the distilling apparatus is housed, he mentioned first on the list.

Mr. Brain was the final witness to appear yesterday afternoon, and he was still on the stand when the Commission adjourned. He said that he had a staff at each distillery, which aggregated forty-eight or forty-nine men. He was able to make only one annual inspection of the western distilleries, but he tried to visit the ones in Ontario two or three times a year.

Liquor in Bags.

Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., counsel for the Commission, brought up the old question of packing liquor in bags before it was placed in cases, during his examination of Mr. Brain. The witness said that this had been a general practice among the distillers until complaint was made of it. It had never occurred to him, prior to the complaint, that the packing of liquor in bags would facilitate bootlegging. The practice had been discontinued.

The difficulty of appraising the great volume of imports entered at the outport of West Toronto with the present staff was brought out during the examination of two officers from there.

Allan B. Rice, sub-collector at West Toronto, gave the Customs collections at this outport for the present fiscal year, up to March 22, as $4,037,085. The fiscal year ends on March 31, so it has now nearly elapsed. Entries passed during the year numbered 24,140. At West Toronto there is a staff of 14 officers. Only one appraiser, with a single assistant, is stationed there, Mr. Rice said.

"Is is possible under present conditions for you to appraise importations as you would like to do?" counsel asked Angus L. McKinnon, the single appraiser at West Toronto who was called to the stand after Mr. Rice.

"It never was," replied Mr. McKinnon. In his opinion there should be at least one other appraiser at West Toronto. Also, he said, there should be a relief man.

Postal Parcels.

Other witnesses examined yesterday afternoon dealt with parcels received through the postal and express divisions of the Customs. R. H. Clark, in charge of the Toronto themselves should perform the work.

Mr. Sinclair said that it was desirable that the Crown Attorney's who had been appointed by the government should perform the work for which they were paid and if they were not capable of handling all cases of criminal prosecutions they should be relieved of their positions. He was willing to make exceptions in cases where local circumstances were such that it would be more satisfactory to engage outside counsel. In that event the most capable lawyers should be provided. He would pay senior counsel more than the minimum of $60 a day for their services in cases which required very skillful handling.

"Political Plums"

The Liberal leader stated he had noticed in the public accounts that the engagement of special counsel by the government had been along party lines and he desired to register a protest against "political plums" being handed out in the administration of justice.

Mr. Raney said that he had found while Attorney-General of the province that much better results could always be obtained by using the crown attorney. If it so happened that a certain prosecution required a lawyer with greater skill than was possessed by the crown attorney then the proper thing to do was to engage the best lawyer possible for the work.

Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, asked Mr. Raney if he thought $60 a day was adequate remuneration for important criminal prosecutions. The Progressive leader replied that he considered it sufficient.

"Legal fees are running wild in Ontario," said Mr. Raney, "And the attorney-general should not encourage any increase. It is more or less an honor for a lawyer to be entrusted with criminal prosecutions by the Crown and I am of the opinion that the fee should remain at $60 a day."

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE GENTLEMEN GET OFF

The train is very nearly home,
Has whistled for the town.
And mother's straightened Mary's comb,
Pulled Jimmy's jersey down.
She can't see how she'll manage all
The bundles and the rest
And see that Jimmy doesn't fall—
That suit's his Sunday best.

At last they're marshalled in the aisle,
The baby on her arm,
And mother's trying hard to smile,
And keep them all from harm.
She has a suitcase in her hand,
A bundle here and there;
She sways a little while they stand,
And wants a breath of air.

The train is really there at last,
But still she has to wait.
So many people crowding past
Because the train is late;
And mother feels a little ill,
And Mary has a cough—
"Hush, children, we must wait until
The gentlemen get off."

OLD-AGE PENSION ACT PASSES THIRD READING IN THE SENATE

Rapid Progress Made During Latter Stages in Upper House.

AWAITS ASSENT.

Provides $240 For Those Who Have Attained Age of 70.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 26.—(Canadian Press.)—The Government's Old Age Pension Act was given third reading in the Senate yesterday without amendment. It now awaits Royal assent. Rapid progress was made with the bill during its latter stages in the Upper House.

The bill was given second reading after a division which gave a majority for the bill of 61 to 14.

Three Liberal Senators voted against second reading of the bill: Messrs. Turriff, Sir A. B. Aylesworth and Wilson.

Later, Senator Dieque moved to have the bill referred to the Banking and Commerce committee with special instructions, but this motion was defeated by 17 votes to 50, and the Senate took up the bill in committee of the whole. After about an hour's consideration, during which several amendments were put forward, one by Senator Griesbach to include ex-service men of the age of 65, and one by Senator Deicourt which would have kept the bill from coming into effect until six of the nine provinces had taken advantage of it, the bill was deported from committee and given third reading without division.

$240 Yearly.

The bill provides for a maximum pension of $240 yearly for British subjects who have attained the age of 70 years and been resident in Canada for 20 years provided that the recipient of the pension is not in receipt of as high private income as $365 a year.

The provinces and the Federal government are each to contribute one-half of the amount required to maintain the pension, and the province is in charge of the administration of the Act.

As if stands the bill remains on the Federal statute books waiting the decision of any of the provinces which choose to make it effective within their boundaries.

Amendment Passed.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 25.—(Canadian Press.)—The Act to amend the Food and Drugs Act passed through the Committee of the House to-day but the third reading was left over until a subsequent sitting. The chief feature is the provision to standardize drugs.

W. K. Esling, Conservative, Kootenay West, thought the department should take the power in this Act to investigate the quality of the beer sold in various provinces. There were all sorts of claims made in British Columbia about beer containing ether and certain chemicals and he thought the Department should be able to regulate the quality of the products of the different breweries.

Hon. Dr. J. H. King of Health, said there were certain regulations respecting beer but they were not included in this Act.

SUICIDE CHECKS MARRIAGE FEAST

Disappointed Over Business Deal, Doukhobor Shoots Self at Wedding.

BUCHANAN, Sask., March 25 (Canadian Press Service).—March 25.—While the guests attending the marriage of his sister were still on the premises, Jacob Kalmakoff, 23-year-old Doukhobor, committed suicide by shooting himself through the brain with a rifle in the barn on his father's farm north of here.

Earlier in the day Jacob went to town and turned over his bank balance, between $6,000 and $7,000, to the credit of his father.

For some time past a number of the Doukhobors in this vicinity, including Jacob Kalmokoff, have been negotiating to sell out and go to Paraguay, South America. The deal fell through and it is believed that disappointment over this fact was the cause of the suicide. His mother could not be separated from the body of her dead son until after doctor had arrived. She was almost frozen when the doctor succeeded in getting her into the house.

OLD MASTERS

Eat thou and drink; tomorrow thou shalt die.
Surely the earth, that's wise being very old,
Needs not our help. Then loose me, love, and hold
Thy sultry hair up from my face; that I
May pour for thee this golden wine, brim-high,
Till round the glass thy fingers glow like gold.
We'll drown all hours: thy song, while hours are tolled,
Shall leap, as fountains veil the changing sky.

Now kiss, and think that there are really those,
My own high-bosomed beauty, who increase
Vain gold, vain love, and yet might choose our way!
Through many years they toil; then on a day
They die not—for their life was death—but cease;
And round their narrow lips the mould falls close.

—Dante Gabriel Rossetti: from "The House of Life."

OBITUARY.

JOHN S. BRACKENRIDGE.

WESTWOOD, March 25.—The front page of The Traer Star Clipper of March 11 contained the following obituary of the late John S. Brackenridge, whose death was reported last week:

"John Brackenridge, long time prominent resident of Dinsdale, died suddenly at his home Sunday morning. He was stricken with apoplexy about 3 a.m., death following about 9.15. Mr. Brackenridge appeared to be in usual health Saturday. He was at Goldfield only a few days before attending the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. William McCutcheon. The stroke early Sunday came without warning, and he never regained consciousness.

"Mr. Brackenridge was born at Westwood, Peterborough County, Ontario, Canada, June 14, 1855. He came to the United States and to Tama County, Iowa, in 1879, and for a number of years worked on his grandmother's (Mrs. John Stevenson) farm, near Traer, going to Dinsdale in 1886. He was married to Miss Ella Dinsdale o. this county, December 18, 1884. Five children were born to the couple, three sons and two daughters. A son, James, died in 1900 at the age of 13. The daughters, Anna and Agnes, also died in their youth, the former in 1902, at the age of 17, and the latter in 1903, aged 16. The living children who survive with the wife and mother to mourn his death are State Senator Will Brackenridge, of Rodman, Iowa, and Hugh, on the home farm at Dinsdale. There are four grandchildren, also four sisters and six brothers in Canada.

"Mr. Brackenridge was a leading citizen of North Tama for nearly fifty years. He was a devoted church worker, becoming a member of Amity United Presbyterian Church in Grant Township soon after coming to Tama County, and in 1891 transferring to the Dinsdale Congregational Church. He has been a deacon of the Dinsdale church continuously since 1908, and for many years was Sunday School superintendent. He was a willing and active worker for every good project for the uplift of the community and a good neighbor, ever ready to help his fellowman in time of sickness or death. He was an officer and director of the Dinsdale Savings Bank, of the Dinsdale Grain and Lumber Company and the Tama County Mutual Aid Association, and served Grant Township as Trustee many years.

"Mr. Brackenridge was the eldest of a family of fifteen children, eight brothers and seven sisters. Five predeceased him in death. The living are: Thomas, William, David, Marion and Agnes Brackenridge and Mrs. Jane Thompson, at Westwood, Ontario; Norman Brackenridge, at Cavan, Ontario; James, Edmonton, Alta.; Hugh, Vancouver, B. C., and Mrs. Maggie Gillot, of Millbrook, Ontario.

"The funeral was held at the home at Dinsdale at 1.30, Wednesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. W. J. Clark, Dinsdale pastor. There was a large attendance. Burial was in Buckingham Cemetery, near Traer, where three children are buried. Here for the funeral from a distance were: David Brackenridge, a brother, of Westwood, Ontario; William Thompson, a nephew, of Indian River, Ontario; State Senator Brackenridge and family, of Palo Alto County."

MRS. JOSEPH O'SULLIVAN.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Joseph O'Sullivan took place on Wednesday morning from the residence of her nephew, Mr. John O'Sullivan. The late Mrs. O'Sullivan passed away in Toronto on Monday, having been ill for some time. She was a well known resident of Campbellford possessing a kind nature, and her demise will be regretted by a large circle of friends.

The late Mrs. O'Sullivan (nee Bridget Cooney) was born in Cavan township, 84 years ago. She came to Campbellford 60 years ago. Her husband predeceased her about eight years ago.

The deceased was a devout member of St. Mary's church, where the funeral service was conducted on Thursday morning, by the Rev. Father Phelan. Father Joseph O'Sullivan of Wooler, sang Requiem mass and Dean O'Sullivan was in the Sanctuary.

Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pallbearers being six nephews: Messrs. Daniel O'Sullivan, Sr., D. J. O'Sullivan, Jr., John O'Sullivan, George O'Sullivan, Charles O'Sullivan and Clarence Dryden.

Out of t wn friends attending the funeral were Miss B. Morrison, (a niece), Lindsay, Mrs. Matthews, and Miss Mary Dryden, of Toronto, and Mr. Clarence Dryden of Syracuse, N. Y.

NO BAIL ALLOWED IN ARSON CASE

Simpson Remanded in Ottawa Court Following Arrest in Toronto.

OTTAWA, March 25.—Harry N. Simpson, arrested in Toronto on a charge of arson, appeared before Magistrate Charles Hopewell in police court yesterday, and was remanded until today. Clifford H. Argue, deputy fire marshal, asked an adjournment until March 30, but this was opposed by Austin O'Connor, counsel for Simpson.

Counsel declared that the crown should have sufficiently strong evidence to make out a prima facie case on which the accused could be committed to trial. He objected to a long delay unless bail was allowed, but the deputy fire marshal opposed this. Counsel said his client was now selling flowers and that he had gone to Toronto in connection with that work.

The complaint against Simpson was laid by Clifford Argue, and was that on December 24, 1926, he "did unlawfully and wilfully, without legal justification or excuse, and without color of right, set fire to a certain building to wit, a shop at 282 Dalhousie Street, Ottawa, belonging to one W. Shenkman."

When arrested and brought to Ottawa by Detective Meehan Wednesday night Simpson gave an Albert Street address; age 36; business, tailor, and birth place, Greece. The authorities hope to prove that he was an agent for an organization, the members of which collect insurance on incendiary fires. James J. Colores of Ottawa, held as a material witness, was also remanded until today.

Unconscious Balloonist Sets Altitude Record By Reaching 28,510 Feet, Experts Announce

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Although he became unconscious at an altitude of 27,000 feet, Captain Hawthorne C. Gray ascended another 1,500 feet and set a new American altitude record of 28,510 feet for free balloons in his ascent from Scott Field, Ill., on March 9, the Bureau of Standards made known yesterday.

The previous American record was 15,997 feet, made by Clifford B. Harmon on October 4, 1909, but the mark set by Captain Gray, who is an engineering official in the Army Air Corps at Scott Field, fell short of the world's record of 35,424, made by the German aeronauts, Suring and Benson.

"Captain Gray, who won second place for the Army Air Service in the Gordon-Bennett intecnational balloon race last year at Antwerp," it was announced yesterday, "started to lose consciousness on his Scott Field flight when his barograph registered around 25,000 feet, because in the raw atmosphere and sub-zero temperature improperly adjusted tubes failed to supply him with sufficient oxygen from the three tanks in the balloon basket.

"At 27,000 feet he was overcome, but regained his senses at 17,000 feet to find his balloon falling at 1,000 to 1,200 feet a minute. Dizzy and intensely cold, he began to throw out sand ballast to check his fall. He was finally forced to use his fingers to tear the sand bags away, as the three special knives had grown dull after he used them a short time.

"Captain Gray succeeded in checking his descent to about 600 feet a minute, his balloon finally crashing through some telephone wires on the roadside near Ashley, Ill., forty miles southeast of Scott Field, and into a ditch.

BOY DROWNED IN SMALL POND

Hamilton Lad, Aged 7, Fails To Rally When First Aid Is Used.

HAMILTON, March 25. — Bobby Burgess, aged 7, who lived at 37 Keith street, was drowned in a wayside pool yesterday when he was on his way to meet his father, who is employed at the plant of the Otis-Fensom Elevator Company, Ltd.

The pool, said to have been five or six feet deep in spots owing to the recent rains and thaws, is located between the factory and a railway spur. C. Welch, an employee of the Otis-Fensom Company, was walking along the tracks on his way home to dinner when he saw a foreigner waving his arms frantically and pointing to the pool. Mr. Welch saw the body of the little boy in the water, and was obliged, finally, to swim a few strokes to reach it.

The body was still warm, and there appeared to be faint signs of life. An ambulance was summoned, and meanwhile employees of the company resorted to first-aid methods. The boy, however, did not rally, and died in the ambulance before the General Hospital was reached.

Mr. Burgess and his wife were ignorant of what had happened. When their little son failed to come home for dinner Mr. Burgess made inquiries and learned the tragic truth when he saw the boy's body at the Morgue. An inquest will likely be held.

SECOND ACCIDENT.

TEESWATER, March 25—Truman Walker, seven-year-old son of Mrs. J. Leslie Walker of Culross, had the first and index fingers of his left hand severed at the second and last joints respectively in an accident when he struck his hand with the sharp blade of an axe, with which he had been playing. A remarkable feature of the mishap was that when he was a baby a few months old he lost the index finger of his right hand.

HORSE INJURED NEAR STIRLING

Accident Blamed on Bad Condition of Road There.

STIRLING NEWS

STIRLING, March 25.—The sleet and ice storm of Sunday night made the roads so that sleighs were in use again on Monday. J. N. West cheesemaker at Evergreen factory unloaded his car of coal on Monday and the patrons of the factory did the hauling for him. Vernon Matthews was helping and at a bad spot at the east end of the village one of his horses made a misstep and fractured the right hind leg between the fetlock and hoof and had to be shot. The authorities have been notified regarding the condition of the road at this point as it had existed for a week or more.

The condition of the roads in this section is very bad and the expense of road-repairing in 1927 will surely exceed any former years.

The executive of the Horticultural Society met last week and prepared the seeds for distribution to their members. The ferns and bulbs have been ordered since. The membership roll contains over 120 names and each one receives as a premium the Horticulturist perodical and either seeds and buibs, or a fern or shrub. This Society is a live organization and does a great deal towards beautifying the village, by supplying flowers for the boxes at the library and in the parks and at the cemetery.

Mr. Newton Bird completed the loading of a car of apples on Monday destined for an evaporator at Montreal.

Mr. R. H. William as purchased the Ackers property adjoining his shop on Mill Street East and will occupy one of the apartments himself, taking possesion at an early date.

Messrs. Maynes, Eggleton, Hourd, and Prest, of Anson, are making preparations to build additions to their barns this spring.

At the regular meeting of Laurel Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., on Tuesday night. They were honored by a visit of the Grand President of the Assembly of the Order in Ontario, Mrs. Brett, of Windsor, Ont. The degree staff of the Lodge exemplified the principles of the Order in a creditable manner. An interesting feature of the evening was the reading of the following address and the presentation of a fruit bowl to Mrs. Brett:

Dear Sister Brett:

It is with a feeling of joy and pride that we welcome you here tonight. Joy at having you, as a visiting Sister, spend a social evening with us, and pride that you, as President of the Rebekah Assembly, can find time to meet with us and enlighten and enthuse our minds and fill our hearts with the high ideals of friendship, love and truth.

Never before since we were instituted six and a half years ago, have we had a visit from our President and we assure you that we are grateful to you for this kindly effort on your part, for we fully realize the responsibility which rests on you as President of this great Order.

As a slight token of our esteem we ask you to accept this gift trusting that its constant use will awaken kindly feelings and give Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211 an honored place among the pictures that hang on the walls of your memory.

Signed on behalf of the Lodge:
Alberta Farrell, N.G.
Alice Siné, V.G.
M. Megginson, R.S.
B. Thompson, F.S.
A. Hammond, Treas.

The address was read by Sister Sine and the presentation made by Sister Farrell.

Mrs. Brett made a suitable reply.

Several of the members spoke briefly and the serving of lunch brought a pleasant occasion to a close.

penings and declare that the guilty Chinese will be held responsible for the attack.

The rapidly developing events will largely be left in the hands of the British representatives on the spot and any action they deem necessary to protect life will be backed to the hilt.

Secretary of War Worthington Evans told the House of Commons that another battalion of British troops was en route to Shanghai from Hong Kong but that no further changes in the defence force there was planned at present. Additional British destroyers were rushed to Nanking from Shanghai.

Because of the great distance involved, officials say that it would be useless to consider re-inforcements from Great Britain to meet the existing crisis.

Praise Foresight

The government is being congratulated from China as well as here for its foresight in sending a deefnce force to the Far East would have been placed at the mer- Otherwise, it is said, Shanghai cy of the victorious Cantonese, particularly their guerilla sympathizers.

No statement concerning the Nanking slayings was made in the Commons by Foreign Secretary Chamberlain, who simply recounted the demands of the Shanghai consuls-general on the Nationalist commanders to control the irregulars. Sniping and lawlessness continued in Shanghai, Premier Baldwin said, adding that the British were constantly in contact with the central Cantonese government at Nankow.

Foreigners Rescued.

SHANGHAI, March 25 (Associated Press).—Further foreign casualties, including some Americans, were reported here in latest news from Nanking this morning.

The reports stated that British and American landing parties had approached Secony Hill, where foreigners were concentrated throughout yesterday under a renewal of fire by the Cantonese. This resulted in further foreign casualties over those which took place Wednesday, when the hill was shelled by Cantonese, resulting in the opening of return fire by British and United States naval guns.

Ultimately, however, the latest news says, all the remaining foreigners were rescued and evacuated.

Rescue Japs.

LONDON, March 25 (Canadian Press).—A Shanghai despatch to the Westminster Gazette says that the Japanese flotilla at Nanking has succeeded in evacuating 200 Japanese from the city.

Ultimatum Issued.

WASHINGTON, March 25. — (Canadian Press). — Unless immediate arrangements are made for the safety of foreign lives in Nanking, military points in the city will be shelled by British and United States warships.

A flat notice to this effect has been served on the Cantonese leaders by the direction of Admiral Williams, who is commanding the United States forces in Asiatic waters.

Nanking, nominally listed as an undefended city, could not be bombarded, under ordinary circumstances, but after the killing yesterday of foreigners the British and United States commanders informed the Chinese officials that unless the situation was remedied, Nanking would be proclaimed a "military area." Such a proclamation would open it to whatever military operations were necessary to protect foreign lives.

The United States Commander-in-Chief reported that he had received an "insolent" reply in response to three demands made yesterday by the British and United States naval authorities in Nanking. The reply was followed by a warning that military points would be fired on late this afternoon (Chinese time), unless the demands were complied with. Whether he has found it necessary to carry out the threat has not been reported to the Navy Department.

Authorities Anxious.

SHANGHAI, March 25 (Canadian Press).—Foreign authorities here were anxiously awaiting word this morning as to the situation at Nanking, following upon the disorders yesterday when a number of foreigners were killed.

The deaths were caused through Chinese shell fire—but whether directed by Nationalists (Southerners), Northerners, or guerillas is not yet definitely known.

One thing is certain, however, that the British cruiser "Emerald" and the American destroyers "Noa" and "Preston" lost no time in returning the fire after the first Chinese shells fell on the Standard Oil plant on a hill in the northern part of the city.

How many foreigners were killed or wounded in the shelling of Nanking by the Chinese was not known this morning. Reports that some members of a naval landing party were killed were unconfirmed, although it is known that one sailor of the "Emerald" was killed by a shot from the shore, the ships being constantly fired upon.

Nothing was noted in wireless messages to bear out the local Nationalist reports that there were two thousand Chinese casualties. As a matter of fact, it was pointed out that the fire was directed mainly behind the hill, which area was uninhabited.

HUGO HOME FALLS.

PARIS, March 24. — The old chateau where Victor Hugo used to court Adele Foucher, and where they spent the first years of their married life, recently collapsed. It now lies a mass of wrecked masonry and rafters. The chateau was built in the 13th century and many romantic figures of French history have visited the place.

HAVELOCK COUPLE MARRIED 60 YEARS

Celebrate Diamond Wedding Surrounded by Relatives and Friends

HAVELOCK, March 25.—An event of more than usual interest took place on Monday, March 7, when Mr. and Mrs. James Ketchen, Sr., celebrated the diamond anniversary of their wedding at their home on Union street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen received during the afternoon and evening when about sixty friends called to congratulate them upon the memorable occasion. They were the recipients of a large number of congratulatory messages from out-of-town friends, and were also presented with a flower basket filled with tulips by their grandchildren.

The rooms were attractively arranged with daffodils, tulips and hyacinths. Mrs. A. Anderson poured tea. Mrs. H. Johnston, Mrs. T. Sarginson and Mrs. F. Butters acted as assistants in the tea-room.

Sixty years ago James Ketchen, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ketchen, of Burnbrae, and Mary Ann Whitton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Whitton, of Burnbrae, were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. Neil at the Burnbrae manse in Seymour.

The minister, the attendants and guests at the wedding of sixty years ago have all passed away. Mrs. Ketchen had the unique experience of being the only one in a family of fifteen children to celebrate the golden wedding anniversary.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen were born in the Burnbrae district, where they lived until they moved to Havelock twenty years ago. Mr. Ketchen is 80 years of age and his wife is 78. During the years of their married life, eleven children were born, six sons and five daughters, of whom nine are living. Two sons, Thomas and Robert, died some years ago. The family are: Mrs. Thomas Sarginson, Mrs. Francis Butters and Mr. James Ketchen, Jr., of Town; Mrs. Robert Matthews, of Harold; Mrs. C. Saylor, of South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. H. Johnston, of Trenton; Messrs. John and Alexander Ketchen, of Watson, Sask., and Mr. Gilbert Ketchen, of Shannonvan, Sask. There are thirty-three grandchildren and thirteen great-grandchildren.

Unfortunately, the three sons in the West and Mrs. Saylor, of South Bend, were unable to be present. Plans are being made for a family re-union in the summer, and Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen are looking forward to meeting all of the absent members of the family then.

During the evening an infant grandchild and great-grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen received the ordinance of baptism, Rev. G. E. Lougheed, B.A., of Knox Presbyterian Church officiating. They are: Wilma Dora, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ketchen, Jr., and Marion Cleo, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Copp.

Mr. and Mrs. Ketchen are not at present in the best of health, but their ultimate recovery is hoped for, and their friends wish them many more years of happy wedded life.

TAX REVOLTS IN RUSSIA.

RIGA, March 24.—Reports of serious revolts in many parts of Russia have been confirmed by Kalinin, president of the executive committee of the Communist Party of Moscow. He said local governments have been adding such heavy burdens of special taxes to the state taxes that serious unrest has been caused among the peasantry. Martial law has been declared in several of the provinces.

Quinine, which is almost universally used in the treatment of colds and fevers, is produced from Peruvian bark. Oddly enough, the natives of Peru themselves never use it.

LICENSING PEDDLERS.

For the third year in succession an attempt to more closely regulate transient traders and peddlers has been shelved by the Legislature, the only concession made at this session being a recommendation that a special committee of the Legislature should be appointed to investigate the whole problem.

The merchants of the Province—and they are backed up by many other citizens as well—feel that something should be done to check the activities of these wandering peddlers, who succeed in unloading inferior goods upon unwary customers to the detriment of legitimate dealers.

A bill, introduced at the present session by Fred. Smye, one of the Hamilton members in the Legislature, would have tightened the regulations in regard to the licensing of such peddlers, but like similar bills of the same nature the measure received little support, and was left over until next year.

The suggested inquiry by a special committee might lead to an improvement of conditions with general benefit.

A SPLENDID YEAR'S WORK.

Sir Henry Thornton, head of Canada's National Railways, in his annual report declares that "the figures reflect what may be fairly regarded as a satisfactory position."

The people of Canada will agree with Sir Henry, inasmuch as the net earnings in 1926 showed an increase of $14,781,731, or 41.2 per cent., as compared with the preceding year.

The gross earnings of the system, including the lines of the Central Vermont, totalled $275,570,310, an increase of $21,861,536 over 1925, while the total operating expenses increased only $7,079,084.

For the first time the net earnings for the year, Sir Henry is able to point out, are more than sufficient to pay all fixed charges due the public.

While the President of Canada's railways intimates that many opportunities for economy that were possible during the years of consolidation will not be again available, and gives warning that it is not probable that corresponding percentage improvements can be maintained, the public will nevertheless regard the present position as good, and will congratulate Sir Henry and his staff upon what he has been able to accomplish in materially improving the status of the national system.

THE PREVENTION OF DISEASE.

With the total number of cases as this article was written approaching the 1,000 mark and with a record of 25 deaths, Montreal is battling with a very serious outbreak of typhoid fever.

No more space is available in the regular hospitals for typhoid patients, and emergency hospitals are being opened for the care of the sick.

The epidemic, in the suffering it is causing and the loss of income on the part of those afflicted, means a very heavy blow to the city of Montreal, and none the less heavy because of the feeling that more rigid precautions against such an outbreak and a more vigilant watch upon the health of the people would have prevented the disaster.

It is characteristic of Governments in Canada whether Federal or Provincial or municipal to starve health departments.

The Federal Government spends about $600,000 a year in protecting the health of human beings, as against $2,000,000 in looking after the health of animals, and this desparity is encountered in other fields of jurisdiction, with results that sometimes, as in the present case of Montreal, are disastrous.

Money spent by municipalities in prevention of disease is about the best investment that can be made; as the health record of Toronto as compared with that of Montreal affords ample evidence.

A SCOTTISH YEAR BOOK.

Full of interest to every Scot in Canada should be the Scottish Club of Canada Year Book, edited by Walter Dandie, a copy of which has just reached The Examiner.

The Year Book, an editorial introduction points out, is a first venture, and is the beginning of a work for the knitting together of Scottish interests in North America.

It is full of interesting information, evidently the work of many months not only by the editor but by many others, and splendid articles have been contributed by well-known Canadian Scots, including Rev. Chas. W. Gordon ("Ralph Connor"), who writes in his best vein on "The Imperishable Scot"; Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce; Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia; Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, and Hon. Wm. D. Ross, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

James Black Perry, author of "Yon Toon o' Mine," discusses "The Scottish Race in Canada."

A list is given of the members of Parliament and of Provincial Legislatures who are of Scottish birth or descent, and it is imposing.

There are seven such members of the Dominion Cabinet, 24 Senators out of the 96 in the Upper Chamber, 75 members out of 245 in the House of Commons, 11 out of 60 in the Alberta Legislature, 13 out of 48 in British Columbia, 14 out of 55 in Manitoba, 19 out of 43 in Nova Scotia, 8 out of 48 in New Brunswick, 30 out of 112 in Ontario, including the Premier, the Speaker and three Ministers, 21 out of 30 in Prince Edward Island, 21 out of 63 in Saskatchewan and one in the Quebec Legislature.

Scots, wha hae!

WE WANT THEM.

Action of the United States Congress in declining to amend the present quota law for at least one year, is said to be a hard blow at thousands of British people waiting in Canada for a chance to cross the border legally. The proposed amendment would have drastically cut the German quota from 51,227, and raised that of Great Britain 150 per cent. from its present allotment of 34,007. Other changes were proposed, but these are two striking instances of how they would have worked. It will be a reflection upon Canada and its various Governments if the situation does not work for the good of this country.

A new arrangement is already being made regarding immigration, which promises to be on a much larger scale this year than for some time past. Indications are that some continental European countries will be more heavily represented than was lately intended or expected. Railway and other manual labor will absorb some of these people. But if there are in Canada thousands of recent British arrivals simply waiting to get into the United States, what is this country going to do to try to get them to settle down here? That is a matter worthy of immediate and careful consideration.

It is impossible that great Government works should be embarked upon simply for the sake of finding employment for new settlers. There is never anything economically sound in that kind of scheme. But between the Governments, Dominion and Provincial, and the private employers of the country, an exchange and clearing house system could be put into operation almost at once. In this way the situation in various sections of the country as to employment opportunities and their character, could be disseminated to the best advantage. The Government employment bureaus could form the neucleus of such a service. There might be a plan whereby industrial as well as agricultural workers would be given cheaper transportation rates to various points and aided in practical ways to fit into their new surroundings. Canada ought not to be a half-way house for the best kind of immigrants United States bound. There should be some definite plan of showing these people our advantages.—Brantford Expositor.

BE BETTER THAN A TRADE WAR.

(Editorial in New York Times, Ind.-Democratic.)

On Friday, announcement was made by the Canadian Prime Minister that his Government favors a policy of reciprocal trade agreements with the United States. On Saturday, the Administration at Washington seemed to feel cold chills running down its spine at the very mention of the subject. If Prime Minister King put out his statement as a "feeler," he has already found the United States Government not only unresponsive but distinctly hostile. This may have caused surprise to Mr. King, since he probably had in mind the successful working of the reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States of seventy years ago, recalled President Taft's efforts to bring about its renewal in 1911, and remembered the many solemn declarations of the Republican party in favor of mitigating the severity of a high tariff by reciprocity treaties. But that is a policy which we have bravely got over.

Prime Minister King may not be aware of it, but under President Coolidge the protective tariff has become a sacred thing, a magical wonder-worker, which must not be touched by a sacreligious finger. Besides, there is a new political reason just now for tabooing even a discussion of the tariff. If the tariff were to be "opened" at the session of the next Congress just before a Presidential election, unnumbered evils would flow through the fatal gap. The Republican farm block might rush through the breach, in order further to disturb the heavenly harmony of the Grand Old Party. So the first answers made to Mr. King from Washington are chillingly negative.

A different attitude would be taken by business men, bankers, exporters and others directly interested in trade with Canada. They see the advantage, and believe that others will soon see the necessity, of suitable trade arrangements with the Dominion. In them there would be gain for the citizens of both countries. If free trade across the imaginary boundary lines of our States is profitable to both buyers and sellers, how can it be doubted that commerce intelligently promoted across the Canadian border, invisible as it is along so many hundreds of miles, would be equally to the profit of those engaged in it?

It is a further question whether the United States can afford to reject out of hand any proposals of this sort which the Canadian Government, through its new Minister in Washington, may make. The time may come when we shall need trade favors from Canada even more than Canadians need them from us. It is well known that bills have been introduced in the Parliament at Ottawa which contain a tacit threat of trade reprisals. These have been kept back by the Canadian Government, but may be brought forward if the Government at Washington stubbornly refuses even to consider any relaxation to our tariff rates that bear hard on Canadian products. If our Government thinks that reciprocity with Canada would be a bad thing, it must admit that a trade war would be worse. This is something which both nations should strive to avert. One good way to avert it is for the two to sit down together and work out a plan for a profitable exchange of the products which one has and the other desires. To take fright at the mere utterance of the word "reciprocity" by the Canadian Prime Minister is not a crime, but it may prove to be something more of a reproach to our statesmen—namely, a blunder.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Doubtless there is more than one individual able to name somebody who will accept $20,000 a year as Chairman of the Control Board if Mr. Hanna declines to take that salary.

Considering what they say, 40 minutes is too long a period for some members of the House of Commons.

The point made by Mr. Sinclair, while his statement is absolutely correct, as to the necessity under the rules of passing a preliminary resolution before the introduction of any bill concerning the revenue of the Province, merely emphasizes the red tape with which the transaction of public business is surrounded.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 25 (Canadian Press). —The improvement in the demand from the United Kingdom and Continent for Canadian grain here Wednesday was again in evidence yesterday, and as the prices bid were in line with local exporters' views a more active business was done for both nearby and deferred shipment in wheat, oats and barley.

A feature of the trade in the domestic market was the increased demand from exporters for wheat and a moderate amount of business was done in No. 1 Northern at 13 3-4 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, c.i.f. Bay ports, and Tough No. 2 Northern at 1 cent per bushel over the May option. New York exporters paid 14 cents per bushel over for No. 1 Northern in the same position.

The trade in car lots of coarse grains was fair with local and country buyers and the tone of the market was steady.

The demand for Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour was quiet but prices were unchanged.

A fairly active trade was again done in most lines of millfeed and the undertone was firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet, but the tone of the market was steady.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained under a good demand. The receipts were 2,507 cases.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for potatoes, but the feeling was firm on account of the good demand. Sales of Quebec White stock in car lots were made at $1.25 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

Owing to the continued limited supplies of high grade creamery butter available on spot and the steady demand, the undertone to the local market was stronger and prices scored a further advance of 1-2c per pound. Sales of New Zealand finest creamery were made at 45c per pound, and Western re-graded No. 1 pasteurized at 44 1-2c per pound. The receipts were 69 packages.

The tone of the cheese market continued easy and prices are steadily tending upward.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 25 (Canadian Press).—Renewal of liquidation sales in the corn market brought about the lowest prices yet this season for corn, and weakened other grain as well. Corn closed unsettled 1c to 1 3-8c net lower, wheat unchanged to 1-4c down; oats 1-4 and 3-8 to 1-2c off, and provisions at 2c to 32c advance.

Wheat and rye held relatively firm in the face of corn weakness. One reason was that ocean freights were easier and that toward the end of the day a good export business in Canadian wheat was noted, and some foreign call too for domestic wheat, with a reduction of Argentine shipments as compared with last week. Milling demand for wheat showed a slight improvement. Oats sympathized with corn.

TRENT DEPUTATIONS.

Peterborough, March 24, 1927.

The Editor, The Examiner, City:

Dear Sir,—There has been some reference recently regarding the Trent Canal deputation to Ottawa, to confer with the Honorable Charles Dunning, the Minister of Railways and Canals, regarding the completion of the Trent Canal.

The President, Mr. Walter M. Fowlds, of the Trent Waterways Development Association, intimated in yesterday's Examiner that it would be a rather expensive deputation to go to Ottawa, and would bear rather heavily upon the light resources of the Association.

Would it not be possible for the Association to invite those in this district who are public spirited enough to pay their own expenses, and request them to join this deputation to see the Minister?

There is one gentleman in particular who has given Trent Canal matters possibly more study than anyone else in this neighborhood, and that is Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., and if I were allowed to make a suggestion, I would suggest that he and Mr. J. J. Duffus be at least two of the spokesmen representing Peterborough County, to place before the Minister the value of this scheme.

Yours truly,
G. N. Gordon.

To the Editor:

Through the kindness of Thelma Mealing, a little granddaughter, I have before me the attendance of St. Paul's United Church Sunday School for five Sundays in succession, which she has sent me each week:

On Sunday, Feb. 13	719
On Sunday, Feb. 20	678
On Sunday, Feb. 27	729
On Sunday March 6	753
On Sunday, March 13	729
Total for 5 Sundays	3608

Practically one tenth of the population of the town attending the one Sunday School, notwithstanding there are many other religious organizations, six of the largest practically surrounding one block. St. Paul's United Church was formerly Methodist but when the Union was consumated the board automatically disbanded and organized under the proposed plan of the United Church the elders doing the work of the elders, such as visiting the homes in connection of their territory, looking after the stranger that comes within their gates and caring for the sick and meeting the congregation at the door of the church, carefully ascertaining who the stranger is and finding a place of activity for such if he has been a church worker in the past.

And the stewards functioning the duties of the stewards, that is, looking after the financial interests of the church from receiving from the hands of the young men the collection plate and all other means of financing. The least the elders have to do with the finances of the church the more they will gain the confidence of the congregation in their own duties. Now I have written this letter to encourage attendance in Sunday School. Now it

YOUNG

By Dr. Frank Crane.

George Young, a Canadian boy of 17 years, succeeded in swimming the Catalina channel which separates Catalina Island from the mainland of California.

He was the only one out of 103 entrants to finish and he swam the distance in a little over 15 hours and won the $25,000 Wrigley prize. The success of youth illustrates the resilience of youth.

That Young was able to stay in the cold water so long and was able to function so successfully marks him as one of the greatest athletes of his time.

His life history reads like a Horatio Alger romance. He came down from Canada on a motorcycle and landed in Los Angeles with only sixty cents in his pocket.

Now he has signed up a movie contract as well as got the Wrigley prize and doubtless will be capitalized by venders of entertainment and make his fortune.

Whether it will ruin him or not is yet to be determined. Many men can stand adversity who cannot stand prosperity.

His exploit was a demonstration of youthful pluck and endurance. The prizes for physical prowess go to young men. By and by the prize fighter or golf expert gets old and muscle bound and some young man takes his place.

It is interesting to note, however, that the great positions in the business world are filled by older men.

Youth is a time for physical excellence and old age is a time for mental. Many of the great business concerns of the day are in the hands of old men.

Youth needs to make hay while the sun shines, for youth will not always last. If a man, however, depends upon mental prowess he is apt to keep it up to a very old age unless those powers fail.

DISCHARGE FROM THE EARS

This trouble may occur at any age, but is more frequently seen with young children. In fact, very few children reach ten years of age who have not had frequent earaches, and in most cases, a discharge of pus from the ears. If pus forms behind the ear drums, either with a child or adult, the consequence will usually be a rupturing of the ear drum, as the body seeks to expel the foreign material. Physicians usually lance the ear drum before the pus has a chance to rupture the drum. This often causes deafness, which can be avoided if the patient will wait until the discharge starts in a natural manner.

The real cause of this trouble must always be considered to be a chronic state of catarrh, which simply shows up in this acute form in the ear. It is true that an infection may exist in the inner ear, but this could not develop unless the patient's blood is in a toxic condition.

This trouble is quite common among children who have been fed an over-abundance of sugars and starches. A slight earache, improperly treated, will often be the irritant that will cause the blood to deposit its poisons in the mastoid process in the form of pus. A surgical operation is usually advised to drain the pus from the cavity, but after successfully handling many serious cases of mastoiditis, I am convinced that it can almost always be cured by making use of the absorbing power of the fast.

No matter how young or how old the patient may be who comes to me with an earache, he is immediately put upon a strict fast to insure the immediate start of an absorption of pus, if any exists in the mastoid process. This is always a safe procedure to adopt in the case of any form of earache, and parents will do well to note this point as earache is one of the most common symptoms of children's diseases.

Applications of hot towels or radiant light therapy should be used on the neck and upper back, in order to assist the circulation of blood going to and from the head. The patient should be confined to bed, and be made to lie as quietly as possible with a hot water bottle at the feet. If warm olive oil is poured into the ear of the affected side, it will often assist in relieving the earache symptoms.

After the acute symptoms of the disorder have subsided, it will be necessary to follow a strict body-building regime, with an increased amount of exercise and a properly regulated diet, so that the blood will be clean from any toxins which might cause trouble in the future.

Calisthenic exercises should be used each day, if you are past the age where you can play as well as a child. Young children do not require calisthenics, if certain hours of every day are assigned to them for outdoor play. The body must be kept at its highest degree of efficiency at all times, in order to be able to resist the infectious diseases, which so easily gain foothold with those who have a tendency toward catarrhal troubles. The quantity of food does not have to be so well regulated if sufficient exercise is taken to use up the food material consumed. However, be careful about the quality of your food, and be cautious in the use of such foods as starches, sugars, and fats.

MOUTH HYGIENE BENEFIT SHOWN

Improvements Noted in the Health and Scholarship of Pupils.

MORE EFFICIENCY.

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools in Atlanta, Georgia, has in a paper to Oral Health shown how health and education go hand in hand and how the health and education of the students in the schools under his charge was looked after and made a success of. The relation of mouth hygiene and good teeth to the health, scholarship and promotion through the grades of the public schools has been a subject of careful study by the public schools of the city of Atlanta, Ga. In a school of 987 students a careful study was made. The records of the preceding year were compiled. These children lost on account of bad teeth and other physical defects, 5,561 days from school. Twenty-eight per cent. failed in two or more subjects; 83 per cent. were under weight and their physical condition was deplorable.

A dentist was employed and each child's mouth was put in good condition. Six weeks after each child's teeth were finished we commenced to keep his record and continued to keep it for an additional period of nine months. We found that we saved 3,301 school days. We discovered on comparison the failures had been reduced from 28 per cent. to eight per cent., thus saving at least one-half of a year for 200 children. Instead of 83 per cent. being underweight, only 29 per cent. were underweight, and the appearance of the children had undergone so remarkable a change that many who had seen them before we commenced the experiment could scarcely recognize them.

The work had been accomplished at a cost of less than $4,000, and the savings were as follows:

3,301 School days at $10 per day—$33,010.00; half year in the life of 200 children at $500 per half-year—$100,000.00; total, $133,010.00.

This of course does not include the efficiency and happiness of the whole 987 children. The years added to life are an additional profit that cannot be estimated. The improvement in cleanliness, conduct, and morals was apparent to all.

Not content, I asked for an additional experiment in a school where 15 teachers were working. I asked each teacher to give me the name of the child who was hopelessly backward and who had, in the opinion of the teachers, no hope of passing his or her work. Without revealing our purpose to the teacher we sent these children to physicians and dentists. We removed their physical defects as far as possible. We treated their teeth, filled their cavities and caused their mouths to be put in good condition. The result at the end of the year showed 14 children promoted in every subject. Our conclusions from these experiments were as follows:

1. There is a direct relationship between the condition of a child's teeth and his general health.

2. If a child's teeth are in good condition he saves many school days, is more regular in his attendance.

3. The child with a well-kept mouth increases his chances of success in school 25 per cent. If this is true in school, why not in life?

4. It is the practice of economy for school boards to see that children's teeth are inspected and cared for.

5. Better conduct and morals result from good teeth.

The experiment having been made and the conclusions determined, we proceeded to put a plan into operation that would give over 50,000 children the benefit of our findings. We realized that the present tax rate would not permit us to employ enough dentists and physicians to correct all defects. We did not believe that all children's teeth should be fixed at public expense. We realized, nevertheless, that all should be inspected and those found defective must be remedied. The city employed two dentists, who made careful inspection. We made it the duty of the teachers and nurses to follow up the inspection and get the children to the dentist. We secured the promise of the dentist to co-operate and to treat the children's teeth at a reasonable price. The records of the examination were kept in triplicate, one going to the Health Department, one to the teacher and one to the home, with a note urging the necessity of action and telling the benefits to accrue to the child.

Parent, teacher or mothers' club committees were formed to assist. People whose financial condition would prohibit the expense were certified to teachers and school authorities, and these were treated free of cost at the various clinics. Physicians and dentists were invited to speak to the mothers' meetings and information as to the care of teeth was disseminated by nurses and dentists.

As superintendent, I made an investigation and found that children were losing three days per term on account of poor teeth. I felt justified in offering each class where every child and teacher secured a dental certificate a holiday. This was very effective. We made a campaign for 100 per cent. teeth in every room. We commenced this work five years ago; the first year we had two schools where every pupil had a dental certificate and many other schools went as high as 80 per cent. In the following year we observed the number of pupils in these 100 per cent. schools taking measles, mumps, etc., was relatively small; attendance in these schools was high and promotion rates were correspondingly high. The second year there were nine schools with 100 per cent. in teeth and results continued to be most gratifying. Last year 42 schools out of the 50 came to the 100 per cent. mark and the improvement in the entire school system has been phenomenal.

We have passed from an attendance of 84 per cent. to an average attendance of 95.6 per cent. Our failures have been reduced from an average of 20 per cent. to less than 8 per cent. The health and conduct of the children is the subject of comment of all who know them. Mouth hygiene is taught consistently in all schools and is practiced by all children.

School boards, school administrators, teachers and parents must realize their responsibility for an oral hygiene programme. The health of our people is paramount to all other issues. We must meet the responsibility.

Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE FLAMING FRONTIER."

One of the interesting historical pictures that deal with events in American history within the last half-century is "The Flaming Frontier," the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for the second part of this week. It is a thrilling affair with a wonderful picturization of the tragic massacre of General Custer and his men, that was the outstanding event in American annals of the year of 1876. As a variation of the ordinary version of western films, it is quite unique, and much care and attention has evidently been paid to the details of the historical episodes portrayed.

The big scene, of course, is "Custer's Last Stand" showing the massacre by Indians of General Custer and his brave men, sacrificed to the greed and the intrigue of a group of profiteers and a weak president. This is a massive reproduction of the famous episode in American history, and goes into minute details with respect to the gathering of the red men, the mustering of the troops in the gallant stand against their enemies' onslaught, and the aftermath of the battle. The warfare of those days, in the arrow attack and the rushing charge of the braves, with squadron after squadron of cavalry wiped out in the ensuing massacre, is faithfully portrayed.

The cast is excellent. Hoot Gibson has the role of Langdon, an army scout befriended by General Custer, a part taken by Dustin Farnum. Ward Crane is Belden, the intriguing villain of the piece, who wishes to deprive the Indians of their lands and this incurs their enmity against the white man, and Anne Cornwall is the heroine. Kathleen Kay makes a very fine "vamp."

The programme also includes one of the entertaining "Collegian" pictures, with Benson again well to the fore.

AT THE REGENT.

DESERT VALLEY, A PERFECT THRILLER OF THE SAGE LANDS, WITH BUCK JONES AT HIS BEST.

"Desert Valley," which opened a three day run at the Regent theatre yesterday proves one of the best rip-roaring Western romances in which Buck Jones ever starred. It is an evening's perfect entertainment.

Many thrills result from the humane action of Buck, in the role of Montgomery Wilson Fitzsmith, who breaks a desert water line to save a herd of cattle from perishing from thirst. Throughout the picture can be found comedy of the variety that produces near hysteria, counterbalanced by touches of pathos. Climaxing the interest is a roman that struggles through a blinding sand storm on the desert to a happy conclusion.

Buck gives one of the best characterizations of his screen career in "Desert Valley," as the roving but likable cowboy, whose only faults are dice playing and an irresistible tendency to take into his own hands the straightening out of other person's affairs.

At the risk of his own safety he rescues the father of the girl he loves from a charge of which he has been wrongly accused. He becomes the benefactor of the cattlemen in the entire "Desert Valley" section when he prevents their war supply from being cut off. And last, but most important to Montgomery, he protects the daughter of Timothy Dean, the cattlemen's leader, from the unwelcome attentions of Jefferson Hoades, who controls the water supply.

Exciting events follow and Buck does not hesitate to use his fists winning his way.

Virginia Brown Faire effectively plays Mildred Dean, the plucky and adorable daughter of the cattlemen's leader.

MASSEY RESIDENCE GIVEN UNIVERSITY

Was Left to the Methodist Church, But Was Never Claimed.

TORONTO, March 25 (Canadian Press).—The old Massey residence at the corner of Wellesley and Jarvis streets is to be turned over to Victoria University by the trustee of the estate of the late Lillian Frances Massey Treble, by order of Justice Middleton. In the will of the testator, who died 10 years ago, Euclid Hall, the old Massey residence, was devised to such corporation organized in connection with the Methodist Church of Canada that would undertake to establish it as an educational institute or for hospital purposes. Since no corporation of the Methodist church came forward and since the United church by special resolution waived all claim to the property, Victoria University as the residuary legatee of the will falls heir to the property, which at present is used as an art gallery.

Stated to be the only one in existence, a complete suit of chain-mail has been made by a man in Nottingham, England. There are 47,520 links in the suit.

AEROPLANE SAFER THAN MOTORCYCLE

So Says Aviator Arguing Against Popular Fears—Funny Crashes.

LONDON, March 25 (Canadian Press Despatch.)—The progress of aviation is very considerably handicapped by the fact that there is something so dramatically horrible about a bad aeroplane smash that far more attention is drawn to the dangerous side of aviation than to the great and valuable work safely accomplished, writes Capt. F. T. Courtney, famous test pilot. The history of air crashes is, of course, a long and painful one; but they have often an interesting, and even an amusing, side to them.

The very earliest aeroplane crashes were due sometimes to defective machines, but more often to defective knowledge of the air on the part of the pilot. Another common bogey of the past was the crash due to "airpockets." It was thought that there was a sort of hole in the air into which a machine fell, thus losing control of itself and crashing. "This fantastic idea was long ago exploded, but it astonishes me that many people still speak of air-pockets," Capt. Courtney says.

"The present form of air crash is due almost invariably to unforeseen circumstances which might occur on any railway line or with any motor car. In fact, anybody with experience of both aeroplanes and motor cycles will agree that the motor cycle is by far the most dangerous craft."

Fire in the air has been almost completely eliminated, and a risk of its occurring is probably less than the risk of a railway collision. When it does occur, however, it is a very terrible matter owing to the fact that the high speed through the air acts on the burning petrol with a blow-lamp effect.

Precautions against the effects of crashes are well worth studying. Many a minor crash has killed the pilot from concussion, for want of strapping himself in his seat. Especially during the war very humorous crashes used to take place, particularly on the flying schools. One day a Russian cadet was seen to dive straight into the ground from about two hundred feet. We walked slowly to the mass of wreckage, when a dark blue uniform emerged, fished a kodak from its pockets, took a photograph of the wreck, muttered something about "It was God's will," and walked off to get a drink. In a terrible crash on Salisbury Plain, the ambulance party came across a dejected young officer poking away in the wreckage to try to find his monocle.

"One of the funniest crashes I ever saw was a case in which a pupil accidentally stopped his engine on the ground a long way from the sheds," Capt. Courtney continued. "Being afraid of reprimand, he attempted to start the engine by swinging the propeller himself. Unfortunately, he left the throttle fully open. The engine, of course, started at full power, and before the pupil could rush to the pilot's seat, the machine had started to run along the ground. In an attempt to stop it, he seized the tip of the wing, with the result that the machine went round in ever widening circles, going faster with the poor man hanging helplessly on the wing-tip. The machine finally dissolved itself in a mass of wreckage, from the middle of which ear-splitting shrieks were issuing. We finally extracted a terribly frightened and perfectly unhurt pilot."

UNITED CHURCH SOCIETIES MEET

Mission Band, Circle and Auxiliary Report on Year's Work.

MILLBROOK, March 25.—The "Sunshine" Mission Band held its annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon, the retiring Superintendent, Mrs. Offa Williamson, taking the chair.

During the year just closed the Band has raised a total of $112.00, and has a membership of 35, not including life members; several of the latter received their early training in missionary information and activities while connected with the local organization, and are now living at a considerable distance, both in Canada and the States.

The officers for the current year are: President, Jean Stinson; Vice-President, Jack Stinson; Secretary, Mary Burnham; Treasurer, Dorothy McDowell; Organist, Charlotte McMahon; Room Committee, Reg. Edmunds, Clendon Challice, and Arthur Howard.

Mrs. G. W. Sayles has been appointed superintendent of the mission band for the present year; Mr. Williamson, who has very successfully filled this office for the past few years, having resigned.

The support of "The Millbrook Sunshine Cot" in the Women's Hospital, Chentu, West China, has been the special object which the Band has sustained almost since its organization. Thirty dollars annually discharges the expense involved. The contents of the "birthday box" in the primary department of the Sunday School is contributed toward this object, going in with the Band funds.

Mission Circle

The annual meeting of the "Golden Links" Mission Circle was held on Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. J. Stinson, the President of the Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, taking charge of the election.

Reports for the year were most encouraging, showing activity and interest on an increased scale, in many particulars, and the largest results, financially, of any year in the Circle's history.

Ten regular meetings were held during the year, with an average attendance of 16; as these meetings were held in conjunction with the Young People's League, only Circle members were kept account of by the secretary, Wilma Fallis. In November a public gathering attracted a good sized audience, the choir from Garden Hill presenting the pageant, "The Challenge of the Cross," to the great pleasure and profit of the listeners. A social meeting, for which Mrs. David Lunn was hostess, was enjoyed in January.

There are now 37 members on the roll, and eight life members; the fee for life membership has been doubled and is ten dollars instead of five. The total amount raised to date is $101.41, and there are still some mite boxes to come in. Officers elected for the year are: Hon. President, Mrs. V. C. Lambert; President, Mrs. J. McKnight; Vice-President, Miss Marjorie Skitch; Secretary, Miss Dorothy Crossley; Treasurer, Miss Lila Whyte; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Thelma Ball; Strangers' Secretary, Miss Eleanor Fallis; Associate Helpers' Secretary, Miss Hazel McMahon; Literature secretary, Miss Alvira Davis; Pianist, Miss H. McMahon; Auditor, Miss P. Burnham.

The concluding chapter in the study book, "New Days in Old India," was taken by Dorothy Crossley, and the delegate to the Presbyterial at Bowmanville, April 25 and 26, is Marjorie Skitch; it is hoped there will be good motoring by that time and a number may be able to attend.

The Circle will present the pageant, "India's Quest," founded on the study for the past year, early in April, assisted by members from the Tuxis Square, and some of the senior members of the church organizations. Forty or more characters are required.

Miss Jean Stinson served homemade candy at the close of the business session, and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

The Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group will work in conjunction with the Mission Circle this year, a number of the girls belonging to both organizations. The meetings are the first Tuesday of each month, and will be held at the various homes.

W.M.A. Report

The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the United Church has completed its financial schedule for the year, and has the satisfaction of knowing that it has passed all previous records. The figures as listed at an official meeting on Tuesday afternoon are:

Number of annual members, 72; fees	$36.00
Life members' fees (2)	50.00
Offering envelopes	51.43
Easter Thankoffering	158.50
Other sources	35.50
Total	$331.43

Including the amounts from the Circle and Band, the total sent to the branch treasurers will be at least $300.00, exceeding the allotment of $467.00 by $33.00.

With the exception of the year 1924, when the late Miss Lillie Pendrie, for several years treasurer of the Auxiliary, left a bequest of $100.00, the total amount raised during the year just closed is the largest in the history of the organization.

The final reports from the eight groups will be presented at the next regular meeting, the second Wednesday in April.

Mrs. E. McConnell of Toronto is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Nattress.

Mrs. F. W. Burnham and daughter Dorothy, were guests of Mrs. E. S. Burnham on Tuesday.

Mr. Urry of Beaverton, a former resident of this village, was in town on Monday and called upon a number of friends.

Miss Etta Peel will enter the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, this week, and begin her course of study for a trained nurse.

Miss Marjorie Skitch has taken a position at the local "central" and is training as one of the "hello" girls. Miss Amy Brock is home this week on account of her mother's illness with 'flu.

The many friends of Mrs. A. J. Brown will regret to learn that she has not yet recovered from a recent severe attack of 'flu.

Cape Breton Island Lady 108 Years Old

WINDSOR, Ont., March 25 (Canadian Press).—To have lived long past the allotted span, has been the good fortune of Mrs. Margaret McRae, who has just celebrated her 108th birthday. Born in Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia, of hardy pioneer stock, she was brought by her parents to Three Rivers, Quebec, and finally to Victoria County where most of her life was spent. Her father combined the occupations of farmer and school teacher. She was the mother of 12 children, of whom two are now living. The stirring events of the days of the Rebellion of 1837, Confederation, and subsequent political events are quite familiar to her.

The first nail-making machine was invented in England at the end of the eighteenth century.

Once a School Teacher—Later a Famous Physician

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save enough money to put him thru medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pennsylvania, and often rode horse-back through the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and easily recognized most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Finally, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known general tonic for building up strength, restoring impaired tissues and enriching the blood. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell it, in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND FAT BILLIE

Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

By HOWARD R. GARIS.

Billie Bushytail was scampering through the new spring forest, happy and full of joy because summer was coming. Though there was, as yet, only the tiniest, faint little bit of green showing on the trees, where, later leaves would sprout, still Billie felt happy.

This way and that way he scampered, sniffing and snuffing for something good to eat. He was hungry. Always, toward the end of winter and when spring has not yet decided whether or not to stay, there is hunger among the animals of the woods. Some of them do not eat at all, during the cold months. They take a long sleep, like Mr. Stubtail, the bear gentleman, or like Woodie and Waddie, the woodchucks.

The squirrels, however, always put away a store of nuts when cold weather starts, and these nuts they eat during the winter. But almost always, just about the time of spring the nuts have all been eaten, so the squirrels must scamper around and look for tender, new buds, fresh bark or other things to eat.

Mrs. Bushytail, a few days before, had made the last of the nuts into a pudding, and Uncle Wiggily helped eat it.

"And there won't be any more nuts until late in the fall," sighed Billie as he scampered about. "If I could only find a place where a lot of last year's nuts had fallen into some hole, or hollow tree, what a feast I would have!"

With his bright eyes Billie glanced about. All of a sudden he smelled sweet nuts not far away.

"I wonder where they are," chattered the little squirrel boy. "If I found a lot of nuts I could eat as many as I wanted, and the rest I would take home to mother for another pudding."

All at once Billie looked up the trunk of a tree near where the nut smell was strongest. On the side of the tree was a little hole, and scampering up to this, Billie looked in and saw that the hole was almost filled with chestnuts, walnuts, butternuts and beechnuts.

"Oh, how lucky I am!" chattered Billie. "I've found such a lot of nuts!" It did not take him long to climb down into the hole, though he had to squeeze himself a bit, for the hole was small and Billie was growing to be quite a large squirrel boy. Once inside the hollow tree, for which the little hole was a sort of door, Billie began to eat the nuts, gnawing off the hard shells with his sharp, white teeth and eating the sweet kernels inside.

Billie guessed that some other squirrels had stored these nuts here and had forgotten about them, or else that a blue jay, in fun, had put the nuts in through the hole. Jays sometimes do this, for no reason that has ever been found out.

"Oh, what a feast I'm having!" chattered Billie. So he ate and he ate some more nuts until his skin was quite a tight fit all around him, like a new pair of shoes. Then he said: "Now I'll climb out of the hole and take home as many of these nuts as I can carry, in my pockets. Afterward I'll come back with Johnnie and get the rest. Oh, I'm lucky!"

But when Billie tried to scramble out of the hole in the tree he found he couldn't get out. He pushed, tugged and scrambled, but he could only stick his head and one paw out.

"Ho!" cried Billie! "Somebody has been making this hole smaller since I came in! I can't get out! Oh, but I must get out" he chattered. "I can't stay here. Nobody will know where I am! I must get out!"

But he couldn't. He was a prisoner in the tree.

"Help! Help!" chattered Billie. Then he heard a voice on the ground below asking:

"What's the matter?" Billie looked down and saw Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh!" answered Billie, "I crawled in this hole to get some nuts, but after I had eaten as many as I could somebody made the hole smaller and I can't get out. Help! Help!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Nobody made the hole smaller, Billie. The trouble is you ate so many nuts you have grown fat!"

"And will I have to stay in here until I grow thin enough to crawl out?" sadly asked the squirrel boy.

"Oh, no!" answered Mr. Longears. "You are a smart little squirrel, Billie. I should think you could find a way out. But I'll tell you. You have sharp teeth. Gnaw the edges of the hole until you have made it wide enough, so you can get out—fat as you are."

"Oh, of course! I should have thought of that!" cried Billie.

It did not take him long to gnaw the hole large enough to let him out, and then Uncle Wiggily helped him carry the nuts home. And the other squirrels all laughed at fat Billie. But they were glad he had found the nuts. And if the front door doesn't slam shut and pinch the foot of the stairs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the chalk dust.

GIRL SAVES TWO TOTS FROM FIRE

Rescues Little Children From Attic of Employer's Home.

BADLY BURNED.

BEETON, March 25.— But for the bravery of Miss Gladys Hickland, two little children might have perished in the fire which damaged the roof and attic of the home of Reeve Camphin on Wednesday.

The two children were Helen Camphin, 4-year-old daughter of the Reeve, and Keith Akitt, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Akitt, who was in the house playing at the time. Both were practically untouched by the flames, but Miss Hickland, who carried them to safety, is now under the doctor's care.

Miss Hickland, who is employed as a maid by Reeve Camphin, was in the kitchen of the house when the outbreak occurred. Five-year-old Donnie Camphin came running downstairs, crying that the upper floor of the house was on fire. Miss Hickland ran up to the top floor, and there she found the two children trapped behind a wall of flame.

Twice she went through the flames to bring out the children, whom she dropped over the side of the stairs to safety. So fierce were the flames that the hair was scorched off one side of her head, and her neck and army were badly burned.

Loss from the fire is estimated at $1,400.

"GOD IS A SPIRIT"

Wednesday

"God Is Spiritual"

SCRIPTURE: Read — Isaiah 40: 18-31.

"God is a spirit and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and truth" (Jn. 4:24). "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control" (Gal. 5:22, 23). "God is love" (1 Jn. 4:8).

See—Job 26:13; Psalms 104:30.

MEDITATION: Love and all the fine graces—whence come they? Just as fruit comes from the plant and reveals its nature, so these testify that God is spiritual. A mechanical tree cannot bear spiritual fruit. We think of God as a creator, manufacturer, mechanic; but we think inadequately until we think of him as spirit, person, father. Only so are we saved from a machine-like universe. I want vital relations with that Spirit. I know that worshiping this God in truth demands sincerity. I search my heart therefore for any dark insincerity, and I measure my life by the fruits of the spirit in love and the works of righteousness.

"We want to see the deep things of God, the life of the Spirit permeating the life of the flesh, to find the impress of eternity stamped upon the forms of time."

HYMN:

Lord of all being, throned afar,
Thy glory flames from sun and star;
Center and soul of ev'ry sphere,
Yet to each loving heart how near!
Lord of all life, below, above,
Whose light is truth, whose warmth is love;
Before thy ever-blazing throne
We ask no luster of our own.
Grant us thy truth to make us free,
And kindling hearts that burn for thee,
Till all thy living altars claim
One holy light, one heavenly flame.
—Oliver Wendel Holmes, 1848.

PRAYER: Thanks for our knowledge of of God.

Pray for—the grace of love; non-Christians.

Collect—Almighty Father, whose power knows no limit, let us feel within us the movings of Thy might. We thank Thee for life, marvelous in its ways. We bless Thee for the world, rich in its wooings of life. We rejoice that Thou are a spirit with whom our spirits may commune, and that Thou hast shown forth Thy nature in the Christ, who lives with Thee and with us. We praise Thee for the high privilege of prayer in which spirit blends with spirit. Mercifully forgive us that we have so often chosen the satisfaction of our lower instincts to the impoverishment of the soul. Quicken, we pray Thee, our inner awareness of Thee, so shall temptation have no authority over us. Through Thy grace we engage to walk in all Thy ways. Amen.

THE GREAT RELEASE

(B. L. G.)

How pleased all Nature, as well as man, is when grim winter loses his grip and spring arrives! It is like a great awakening!

The first fine day that comes the cattle wander through the fields, and such a contented, pleased appearance they have! Hens sing and hustle about, other poultry gobble and strut and preen! Crows make a great noise with their cawing, and the other birds greet us with a song as they arrive. Wild geese honk as they pass over.

Almost as soon as the snow disappears the grass starts to show traces of green. Little children, who have been housed up all winter, whoop and cheer with the gladness of freedom in the sunshine.

But the greatest of all is for the old people who are prisoners all winter, on account of the cold weather. What a God-send for them to get out again into the sunshine and fresh air! I always think it a pity that all the old folks cannot be taken to Florida or California for the winter months.

People in the temperate zones are most ambitious. The extreme heat of the torrid zones saps the strength and ambition so that most of the great achievements of the world—scientific and inventive—have been done by men in the temperate zones. The cold of winter is exhilarating except to old people, and yet how we all love to see spring come.

Sometimes we think it would be fine to live where it is always summer, and yet we are told that the sameness palls; that when time for change of season comes and there is no change, that one longs for change.

W.M.S. SERVICE HELD AT WARSAW

Treasurer's Report Shows Objective Was Reached During Year.

WARSAW, March 25. — The United Church Missionary Society held its annual Sunday service last evening. Mrs. Greystock read the report. There are 20 members with average attendance of 10.

Death removed one of the charter members, Mrs. E. Sneider. She was also a life member.

Collections, fees, donations, proceeds of entertainments and sales of calendars and Japanese pictures netted a little over $96. There were expenses which reduced the amount to nearly $88. The loose collection on Sunday evening was $4.66, and the envelope collection was $23.75. The treasurer is glad to report that their objective of $100 to send away has been reached, and $15 more.

There was one entertainment, a debate held on Feb. 14th.

The anthem was a missionary one and Mrs. Herrington sang "I'll go where you want me to go."

Rev. H. B. Herrington's address was a most interesting one on the development of missionary work in India. The text was from Matthew 13-33.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Mark's church gave a very successful bazaar and entertainment in the town hall, on Thursday afternoon and evening. The hall was beautifully decorated. The booths were arranged on the side of the hall and separated by lattice work, arched and trimmed with evergreens. The tea room, candy and home made cooking booth, and the remembrance table were in the centre of the church.

Mrs. A. F. Choate, assisted by Miss Moyan and Mrs. Allan Payne, presided at the tea table. The remembrance table was loaded with beautiful things sent by ladies who had once been connected with the church. Articles came from Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Des Moines, Chicago, Toronto and many other places, far and near. The fancy articles in all the booths were exquisite. They included aprons, tea cosies, buffet and crocheted articles of all kinds.

A handsome embroidered spread was disposed of by ticket. Frank Drayton won it.

The unsold articles were taken to Mrs. Choate's, and several have since been sold.

A fish pond was arranged on the stage.

From eight o'clock until about half past nine cards were played after that there was dancing, which everyone enjoyed and then refreshments.

Dr. Munro's full orchestra was joined by Mr. A. F. Choate with the cello.

The Guild has over $100 clear.

Mesdames J. A. and T. H. Crowe audited the Women's Institute books on March 21, and found everything correct to the cent. A bill of 98c for paper plates for the closing exercises of the class was charged to the Institute but will have to come out of the class funds.

Signs of spring vanished on Monday morning. A fairly strong wind, with sleet and snow, which covered the trees and ground with an icy coat, ushered in the day, and in the evening it was still at it. Men were glad of the chance to use their sleighs for teaming. On Sunday there was frost, and the ground, though not deeply frozen, did not thaw. The snow blanket is welcome.

Mark Lonsberry, while cutting a stick with a small axe in Hendren's garage on Monday morning, cut his foot quite badly and will be laid up for a few days.

James Tighe is doing well since his return to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews have returned from their winter visit in California.

Mr. A. F. Choate has received word of the serious illness of his brother, Mr. James Choate.

STIRLING FARMERS READY FOR WORK

Hope to Get on Land Soon—Play Presented—Stirling News.

STIRLING, March 25.—Nearly all the evidence that there was a winters season has disappeared. The water in the creek has been raging at the highest point—with all the stop-logs raised at the dam—for the past week, and the ice is moving out fast. The fields are free of snow and the farmers talk very optimistically and expect before many days to be at work on the land.

After a year's waiting Mr. C. B. McGuire received news on Monday that he had received the appointment as bursar of the Institution for the Deaf at Belleville, and entered upon his duties on Wednesday.

The moving picture presented on Monday night in the interests of the Public Library Board was not patronized as well as the object or the picture merited.

The play presented in the Empire Theatre on Wednesday night under the auspices of the Ladies' Union of St. Paul's Church, by the Young People's Society of the Church, was a decided success in every respect. The hall and stage were nicely decorated with potted plants and bunting emblematical of the season. The play was entitled "His Uncle's Niece," and the characters were taken by Messrs. Osborne, Jackson, H. E. Hulin, Jeffrey, Lamb and Sandercock, and Mrs. Jackson. Misses Bessie Dickens, and Irene Hulin, all acting their parts well. The programme was repeated on Thursday night. Mrs. D. M. Halpenny had charge of the musical part of the programme.

A well-attended and very interesting meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Reid, on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. A. B. Fargey gave a report of a recent meeting of the Kingston Presbyterial Executive, which she attended. IN THE SPRINGTIME, when buds are bursting forth, when birds are courting in songs of melody and cheer, when sunshine and all things new fill our hearts with happiness, not least among the joys are the lightsome modes which are Fashion's contributions to spring fancy. The colors of new Frocks are as clear and lovely as spring flowers. The new season is a delight, and so are its modes. Learn their fascination in Cressman's Store where the most charming are grouped in smart array.

FROCKS

That Show the Newest Style Details

Many Spring Frocks are tiered or pleated, others are bloused or Bolero-ed. Sometimes the blousing is very subtle, just a slight graceful drawing in at the waistline. In other Frocks it is quite definitely marked by snug-fitting girdles on hiplines. Who would care to limit one salf to a Bolero Frock, for instance, when lovely tiered Frocks in compos'e effects and all sorts of bewitching tucks and bows make themselves so intriguing.

Hats are still tall, but carefully moulded. Their crowns creased to best become the wearer—individual chic—their brims rippling in the prettiest fashion about the face, and made of such captivating new stuffs as chouguette and crocheted straw. Even their straws are made so soft and pliant as to be easily adapted to any contour.

PRESENTATION TO NORWOOD CITIZEN

N. C. Porter Receives Jewel From Norwood Royal Black Preceptory.

NORWOOD, March 25.—On Monday evening Worshipful Preceptor Sir Knight H. A. Thistlewaite, Past Preceptor Sir Knight F. Robertson, Past Preceptor Sir Knight W. H. Montgomery, Sir Knight Robert Lieper and Sir Knight R. A. Dean, of Royal Black Preceptory Lodge, No. 311, of Norwood, met at the home of Sir Knight R. C. Porter and presented him with a certificate of honorary membership and special jewel, accompanied by the following address:

"Sir Knight Porter:

"On behalf of Royal Black Preceptory, No. 311, we would offer to you our unbounded thanks for your tireless efforts and the liberal giving of your time and talents for the benefit of this organization.

"We are, one and all, proud of the fact that we are permitted to be classed among the Sir Knights of this Preceptory.

"That you, by your generous giving of time and labor, are largely responsible for the wonderful growth and development of this particular Preceptory, we are all fully aware.

"Therefore, it gives us real pleasure to present to you this certificate of honorary membership in this Preceptory.

"We would also ask you to accept this small token, not for its intrinsic value, but simply as a token of the appreciation and esteem which we, your fellow Sir Knights, have for you.

Public School Concert.

The concert presented in the Town Hall on Thursday evening by the pupils of the Public School was a great success. The hall was packed to the doors.

The kiddies in the primary department deserve special mention, everyone taking his or her part well. Teddie Baskin, as Georgie Porgie, brought down the house.

The net proceeds amounted to over $100. This amount will probably be used towards the purchase of a piano or pictures for the school.

The new grader recently purchased by the Norwood Council has arrived, and it is expected that the Council will have the grading of the streets done much earlier than last year.

TRIALS OF INDIGESTION.

Some Errors About This Trouble Into Which People Fall.

Many people so far misunderstand the digestive system as to treat it like a machine; neglect it until it works sluggishly; then irritating it into work again by use of purgatives. The stomach needs help at all times, but a study of the process of digestion will show that purgatives, as commonly taken, are seldom necessary and often harmful.

To safeguard your digestion the diet must be controlled. Overeating is always harmful, but one must take enough food to supply the needs of the blood. Remember, the blood has to carry nourishment to all parts of the body and find fuel for its energy. Hence when the blood becomes weak and fails to do its work, indigestion arises. Therefore the sure remedy for indigestion is to build up the blood. If you suffer from any form of indigestion choose your diet carefully and take wholesome nourishment. Above all, start building up your blood by taking a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Then under the influence of the new blood supply, your digestive system will respond naturally, your appetite improve and your food will do you good. So begin to improve your digestion by starting to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now.

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. A useful little book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free to any address.

The older members of the family can be more up to date and in touch with modern life than their children. Many of them are. That is because they read the advertisements.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

would be nice if other churches would do as Trinity and Cambridge Street Church, Lindsay, has done this year: enter into competition. George Street Sunday School and Orillia Sunday School would make a good competition.

Thanking you, I remain,
W. H. MERRELL.

YES; WHO PAYS?

To the Editor of The Examiner:
Sir:

Having read the able articles of Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., on the foolishness of Peterboro which gave way the water-powers that had brought her factories here, I would ask him to say what the city can do about it. The Mayor says we are bound tight to the Hydro for 30 years, 12 of which only have passed. How can we get out of this mess which ambitious people looked upon as a kite to pull them up into the sky?

We are a very able lot of people here, I don't think. Is is the annual Cook's tour, and who pays for it.
MIKE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:
Mr. Editor:

A great many of our readers are delighted than an effort is about to be made to have the Trent Valley Waterway completed, and entirely agree with the letter of Mr. R. R. Hall in tonight's paper.

A great many people do not seem to appreciate the importance of this great waterway. Are you aware that there is more traffic on the Sault Ste. Marie canal than on any other waterway in the world and that the great bulk of this is destined for European ports?

Are you aware that the Trent Waterway would be seven hundred and fifty miles shorter, on the round trip, than any other route?

That the overhead for boats to travel through the Trent Canal would be about one half as much as for boats to use the proposed ship canal via Niagara? That the locks on the Trent Canal are among the largest of those on large canals in the continent?

A great part of the freight which now goes through the Erie Canal and helped to build up the City of Buffalo at the one end and the City of New York at the other should go through the Trent Waterway and help to build up Canadian ports to give employment to Canadian workmen. Why even the prospect of having the canal finished has been a reason for one of our largest industries locating here.

Let us have the tourist traffic by all means but let us urge the completion of the Trent Canal as a great national highway which will benefit the whole country, both east and west, as well as the City of Peterboro and surrounding public.

If the citizens of Peterboro wake up to the possibilities of the Trent Waterway they will have no difficulty in convincing the government that it should be finished at once.

Yours, truly,
N. MUNRO.

Women Dispose

Of this new hygienic pad as easily as tissue —no laundry

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

COUNTLESS women have discarded old-time "sanitary" pads for a new and better way.

A way that offers far greater protection. A way, too, that banishes the old-time problem of disposal.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

✓ Discards as easily as tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending all danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

KOTEX
No laundry—discard like tissue

NOW BEING UNITED.

Widely Separated Users of Aryan Tongue Together in Melting Pot.

Those people who speak English, Russian, French, Spanish, Welch, Italian, Irish, German, Scotch or Gaelic, and some of the Asiatic languages, trace their origin back to the old Aryan race.

It has been said that the Aryans came from some point in Asia several thousands of years ago; but some historians now claim that their home was in the southern steppes of Russia; that the Indian and Persian branches went toward the east; the Slavs and Teutons into the German forests; and the Greeks went toward Greece; while the forefathers of the Celts and Romans followed the Danube river into Italy and Gaul.

At any rate, the chief Aryan language now is English, and untold thousands are now being daily educated in its use through the New Universities Dictionary. It is offered to all readers of this newspaper on terms that make it almost a gift. The coupon printed elsewhere in this issue explains how to get it.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

As Faith went about her household duties on Monday and Tuesday of the week before the trial was to start, she could not rid herself of the conviction that old Phil, the crippled beggar was somehow connected with the murder of Ralph Cluny, for whose death her beloved little sister was so unjustly held.

Only a few more days, and nothing, nothing, had been done. Churchill would hardly give her a minute of his valuable time any more, for she made him flush uncomfortably as her great, tragic brown eyes searched his cold, grey gaze for a ray of genuine hope which she never saw in them.

After all, what did it really matter to Churchill if he lost the case? The newspapers had agreed unanimously that Banning, the district attorney, would have a walk-over. Reporters, now gathering from all over the country, had devoted columns to summing up the circumstantial evidence against Cherry and Chris Wiley, dismissing Churchill's efforts to sustain Cherry's story with what was little more than a shrug. That they—the reporters and special writers—all liked Cherry, wrote sympathetically and even excusingly of the plight in which she had found herself on the eve of marriage with an old man when she was infatuated with a handsome young "sheik," would not count at all with sterm old Judge Grimshaw, would undoubtedly do his best to keep the jury from deciding the case purely on the basis of Cherry's extreme youth and delectable eauty and charm.

Bob's search of the city record of beggars' licenses had, of course, netted him nothing at all, since he had no idea of the crippled Phil's last name.

On Tuesday afternoon, Faith was hurrying through the downtown district on her way to keep one of her clandestine appointments with Madame Denise, a portfolio of sketches under her arm, when she suddenly decided to go out of her way to pass the small city square known as Lincoln Park.

Her disappointment when she found no crippled beggar offering hard lead pencils and stale, soiled packages of chewing gum to pedestrians battling the late December gale was sickeningly keen, but her determination to do something definite—no matter how little—made her overcome her natural timidity and approach a blue-coated policeman who was stationed on the corner near old Kelly's news stand.

"Old Phil, the cripple?" The big policeman's cold-reddened cheeks bulged in a smile. "Sure, I know him. Ain't seen him around for several days. Reckon he's sick again. Sickly old bird. Ain't been just right in the head since his daughter died."

"Oh, so his daughter is dead?" Faith asked, trying to keep her smile and voice casual. "It must be terrible to be old and sick and crippled when one is all alone in the world."

"Sure, you said a mouthful, miss," the officer of the law agreed. "His daughter died down in Peach Tree Hollow somewhere. After that, Phil went down hill at a great rate. Nearly went blind. Funny old coot—that Phil," he added thoughtfully. Then he stooped to look keenly into Faith's eyes:

What might you be wanting of old Phil, Miss? Any kin to him?

"No," Faith shook her head, smiling. "Just interested in him. I'd like to find him and —and do something for him if he's so sick and all alone. Could you tell me how to find him?"

The policeman raised his hat with the rounded end of his stick and thoughtfully scratched his thick black hair. "Now, blessed if I could. Why, miss, I don't even know his last name! But Callahan—he's a traffic cop now over on Main and Columbus—might be able to tell you. He had this beat before I did, and him and Phil used to pass a lot o time spinning yarns. You might go see Callahan. He's on duty now."

Faith was about to hurry away, after thanking the kindly officer for his helpfulness, when the bluecoat laid a hand on her arm.

"I hope you don't mind me saying so, miss, but I recognized you from your pictures in the papers. I couldn't let you go without telling you how all the boys are hoping the little girl will get off scott free."

Faith choked. "Thank you," she said. "I'll tell Cherry what you said."

"Your bothering about old Phil when you've got troubles enough of your own, made me think he might be some kin to you. He needs a bit of looking after, seeing as how he's near lost his eyesight and his memory's gone bad—"

"His memory?" Faith asked quickly.

"Sure, he ain't go no mind left at all. Why, when he came back about six months ago to his old corner, after a long spell of sickness, he didn't know me! That's a fact. Why, he'd even forgot that he wasn't on speaking terms with old Sour-Face Kelly here, that runs the news stand. Acted like they'd been friends, he did, but old Kelly couldn't cotton to him at all. They fell out about something more'n a year ago, used to jaw each other like a coupla alley kids. So long! If you find old Phil, I'd like to do something for him myself."

Faith's brain was a whirl of conflicting emotions and doubts and half-suspected, half-rejected truths as she hurried to the city's busiest corner—Main and Columbus. But of one thing she was sure. Churchill had been extraordinarily wise not to let out a word to the regular police or to the newspapers about Bob's discovery of the queer footprints, or about Bob's theory that a cripple had been on the scene of Ralph Cluny's murder. She and Bob could thus pursue their investigation into the mystery of the crippled old beggar without arousing suspicion or inviting ridicule if they failed.

Traffic Officer Callahan, a magnificent young giant of an Irishman, stood in the center of the intersection of Main and Columbus, directing the four unending streams of traffic with grand, sweeping gestures and shrill whistle blasts. When traffic was halted, Faith crossed to the small square wooden dais on which he stood and waited, with what patience she had, until he had started the twin vehicular processions on their way again.

At her query, Callahan stooped low to listen, but his keen blue eyes never left the unending caravans of motor cars.

"Could I tell you what?—oh, yes, where old Phil the beggar lives, and what his last name is? Hey, there, what d'ye think this is? Going to a fire?" he bellowed to a motorist. "Now, miss, I'm sorry, but I ain't got an idea where old Phil lives. Used to be a real pal of mine, too, before he went dopy in the bean. But seems like to me his last name's Schmidt or Schwartz, or something Dutch like that. No—hey, back up there! Gone deef? Can't hear this whistle?" he shouted at a taxi chauffeur who attempted to disregard the signal.

"Schultz it is, Miss, Schultz. It was his married daughter as was named Schmidt. Don't mention it, little lady. And—good luck next week! The little girl'll come clear, don't you worry, No jury'd convict a little red-headed beauty like her."

There were tears in Faith's eyes as she left, but in her heart there was springing up new hope. At last there was a tiny clue to work on.

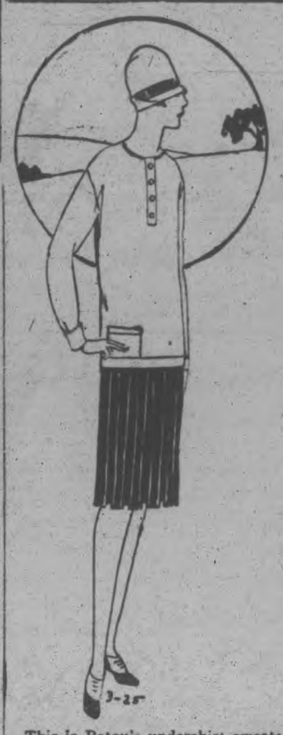
Holy Bible Is Still Best Seller In China

LONDON Mar. 25. Canadian Press.—The Bible is yet the best seller in China, notwithstanding the spread of power of the Nationalists, who are on friendly terms with the Russian Bolshevists. The British and Foreign Bible Society sold more than four million Bibles in China last year.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL



This is Patou's undershirt sweater worn with a pleated skirt.

A knit shirt, worn as such, is an article of dress that the modern young woman would be loathe to wear, and it would be hard to prove that since she las left off this and other once indispensable articles of winter apparel she has made herself any the more susceptible to colds and other cold weather maladies. She would shudder at the very sight of a long-sleeved flannel shirt to be worn as underwear, but a shirt of almost identical appearance designed to be worn as a bit of outer apparel for all the world to see is quite a different matter. It then seems very smart and especially so if it is made in the natural tone of rather dirty gray that was long associated with the coarser sort of flannel underwear.

A few seasons ago these undershirts worn as blouses were first introduced in Paris, and, of course, the very absurdity of the idea helped to give them favor. Some women wore them and they undoubtedly carried with them an air of distinction. But the fad didn't amount to much.

Now they have been revived in earnest and any shop that shows a variety of overblouses for spring is sure to have some of these new shirt sweaters or shirt blouses. Patou has been showing neat little frocks of the sports genre consisting of one of the undershirt sweaters of fine wool worn with a finely pleated skirt. Some of the French dressmakers have offered similar shirt blouses as accompaniments to neat two-piece tailored suits.

Garments of much the same type are included in the children's wardrobe for spring and before long you will see little girls wearing very short pleated skirts or bloomers with fine, thin, woolen shirts or jerseys of the same sort. For boys, too, there are neat spring suits consisting of wide short trousers, and jackets of some fine serviceable tweed or other suiting, with a jersey or shirt of this sort to match in place of the usual waistcoat worn over cotton shirt, with collar and tie.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

Good and evil planetary influences contend today, according to astrology. The mind should be guarded against unstable ideas.

The morning hours are fairly favorable to the activities of women, who will probably maintain a neutral attitude on public affairs while this sway prevails.

There is a fairly good sign for weddings today. The best luck comes to her who marries a poor man.

Theatres should benefit under this direction of the stars, which appears to presage a return to poetic drama and literary plays.

This is read as an auspicious time to entertain friends and dances should be especially successful.

Promoters and stock salesmen should take a vacation today for the stars frown on them.

It is not a fortunate day for seeking any sort of a position unless it be an engagement in a theatrical company.

Women will be wise to delay apply for any sort of work while this configuration prevails.

Children appear to be most fortunate at this time when their value to the nation is especially appreciated.

The stars foreshadow an increase in the birthrate with boys in the majority, a sign, it is said, of coming wars.

There is a promising sign for all lines of artistic activity. Music is to be especially appreciated, owing to certain extraordinary developments in national affairs.

Again the coming of a great genius of the stage is foretold, a woman who will make international fame for herself.

Persons whose birthdate it is should beware of deception in the coming year, which should be very prosperous.

Children born on this day probably will be gifted and able to win many friends. Many radicals are born under this sign.

OUT WEST

By W. D. Packwood.

Out where the skies are a little bluer,
Out where your friends are a little truer,
Out where the sun shines all day long,
Out where a man feels bully and strong.

Out where the golden west begins,
Out where pluck and endurance wins,
Out where you get a chance to live,
This is what Canada has to give.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MARKS OF A TRUE CHRISTIAN

Devotional Reading: John 3:16-21

For God so loved the world, that he gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

For God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through Him might be saved.

He that believeth on Him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.

For everyone that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved.

But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 27: Marks of a True Christian.—John 3:16-21.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

The lessons for the quarter have constituted studies in the Christian life.

They have begun with the Christian life itself as it arises in the acceptance of Jesus as Savior and Lord. Then we had brought before us the great ideal of Christianity as expressed in Christ himself. True Christianity, it should always be realized, is not a theory, nor even the acceptance of a doctrine, but the acceptance of Christ himself, the willingness to live in his spirit and to have his presence dominate our lives.

Out of this great beginning and the appreciation of the highest ideal, came the study of how to get help from the Bible, and of what Jesus taught about prayer as a power in the Christian life.

Practical Problems.

The practical problems of the Christian life were then dealt with in a study of how to overcome temptation, and in considering the ways of achieving positive attainments in service, especially in the scope and practice of Christian stewardship.

Hence we passed to the study of Christian relationships in home, church and country; to the consideration of Christian missions as the hope of the world, and the outreach of the Christian life through the immortality of the soul in life beyond. If one cannot find through these studies the marks of a true Christian, and the way to become a true Christian, where can he find guidance and help?

The fact of the matter is that it is not so hard to discover how to be a Christian as really to be one. One may recall the story of the professor who had been discoursing about skating but who tumbled about very badly when he actually tried to skate. Someone asked him about it and he said, humorously, "I am all up in the theory of it but all down in the practice." There are a good many professing Christians who are just in that class.

Nonetheless it means a great deal to have the right conception of the Christian life, for a great many people have wrong conceptions of it or their lives would be very different. How much intense zeal and sincerity and even capacity for self-sacrifice one finds oftentimes devoted to very narrow ideas! Paul spoke of those who had zeal that was not "according to knowledge"! It means much to know Christ.

It is not waste of time to study carefully what a Christian should be, and we may make that study most definitely in the example of Jesus himself. It is to him and his teaching that we should bring all our theory and practice for testing. To be a Christian is to be Christ-like; and any religious ideas that get away from that are dwarfing the soul from its true development.

In the Golden Text of this lesson we find the application of it all in the words of Jesus himself, "If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments," and in the devotional reading for this lesson we find the true foundation and background of Christian life in the love of God for the world and in the gift of his son to be the world's Redeemer and Savior.

Consider All Aspects.

He who would be a full-orbed Christian must consider the Christian life in all these aspects, its nature, its ideal, its dangers, its privileges, its relationships and its outreach and expression. The Christian life, it should be remembered, has been represented in these lessons not as an individual or circumscribed thing. Its real meaning and purpose are expressed in the spirit of evangelism.

A man cannot be a true Christian without wanting others to share his experiences. Instinctively he become zealous for proclaiming the Gospel, if not in word at least in life and duty.

From these lessons we now pass on to practical studies of Christian problems and progress as they were manifest in the life and letters of St. Peter. Few better subjects could be crosen for this purpose, for Peter was typical of human weakness as well as human impulsiveness and the passion to excel.

NEW ADDITION DOUBLES PLANT

Formal Opening of Wing of Brinton Factory Next Friday.

WORK FINISHED

The trend of the times is demonstrated by the addition to the present plant of the Brinton Carpet Company of a modern factory building of the latest type of slow-burning mill construction, measuring 35 feet by 215 feet, which was completed today by T. C. Ephgrave, a local contractor.

Early next month the company will instal 24 looms and the other machinery necessary to the fabrication of the materials to be woven.

The building will be formally opened on April 1 by J. M. Mackie, president of the Brinton Carpet Company. On that day the company is giving the building over to its employees for the purpose of carrying on a dance and euchre party. The entire sales organization will be here for the occasion, also a number of out-of-town buyers.

The outside walls of the building are constructed of cement and brick. The windows are wire glass and are arranged so that a maximum of light is always available. A sprinkler system has also been installed.

Charles H. Thompson, works manager of the company, told The Examiner that the new building would result in the capacity of the plant being doubled.

The plumbing and heating was installed by Regan & Shaughnessy; the painting was done by Guppy & Hall, and the lighting by Miller, Powell & Company.

GOT HER FEET WET CAUGHT BAD COLD

Mrs. Ernest Hall, Cardinal, Ont., writes:—"Last winter I got my feet wet and I caught a terrible cold. I took different kinds of medicine, but none did me any good and I seemed to be getting worse all the time.

One day I was reading about what your medicine had done for others, so thought I would get a bottle. After I had taken a few doses I found it was helping me, so I took a few bottles and was completely restored to health. I cannot praise

WATERLOO FIGHT WELL DESCRIBED IN OLD PAPER

London Times of June 22, 1815, Gives Much Space to Despatches.

LONG CASUALTY LIST

Ads on Front and Back All of "Want-Ad" Type.

"I send, with this despatch, two eagles, taken by the troops in this action, which Major Percy will have the honour of laying at the feet of His Royal Highness." This is the concluding portion of the Duke of Wellington's despatch on the Battle of Waterloo, as printed in a copy of The London Times, dated Thursday, June 22, 1815. The copy is the property of Mrs. Goodwin, 519 Chamberlain Street.

The issue of The Times consists of four pages measuring 15½ inches by 10 inches, and is four columns wide. The front page is entirely taken up with advertisements with the exception of a five-inch space which is devoted to an interview with a gentleman who had left Brussels the previous Sunday evening at which time the people were "manifesting the greatest joy for a decisive victory gained by the Duke of Wellington on that day."

The item tells that many of the British officers present in the affairs of the 16th declared that they never witnessed more severe fighting in the Peninsula than that which took place on the plains of Fleurus and its vicinity. The 79th and 42nd Regiments were ambushed, most of them being cut to pieces, continues the interview. "This latter regiment formed itself into a square and five times were they broken. On the sixth attack they formed the plan of opening a passage to the enemy; and the moment he effected it, they changed their position, and so hemmed in the cuirassiers that not a single man was suffered to escape; thus was the destruction of one of Bonaparte's finest regiments completed. The Duke of Wellington exposed himself as usual to imminent danger; the bullets, says our informant, were whizzing about him in all directions."

The two inside pages are devoted entirely to the Duke of Wellington's report and the official casualty list of the officers. The last page contains half a column of casualties carried over from the preceding page, the remainder of the page containing advertisements.

Just as today, music teachers, boarding houses and real estate dealers have their advertisements. Snuff box makers are sought in another ad., which reads: "Snuff box makers wanted. Two or three first rate hands as snuff box makers in gold and silver. Apply to Hockley and Bosworth, Brook Street, Holborn."

Underneath the heading, "Situations Wanted," runs an ad, that would seem to indicate that the young lady in question was far sighted. She advertises as follows: "As good plain cook, where a footman is kept. A steady active young woman to a single gentleman, in town or country, understands the dairy and can have a good recommendation from her last place."

WHEN YOUR STOMACH GROANS WITH GAS

When Sourness, Pain and Bloating Follow Every Meal Make This Simple Test

If you really want stomach comfort—quick, certain and lasting relief from the usual annoyance of after-eating distress — make this simple NEVER FAILING test today!

At trifling cost, get from your nearest druggist a few tiny tablets of Bisurated Magnesia—and take three or four of them after your next meal. This is a simple, pleasant inexpensive test that can be depended upon to prove its value in less than five minutes. In most instances relief comes instantly.

Pure Bisurated Magnesia (now in handy tablet form) is a harmless, non laxative preparation of old-fashioned Magnesia with Bismuth that, when taken after meals, soothes, cleanses, sweetens and neutralizes the dangerous stomach acids that cause most stomach ailments. Ask your druggist for TABLETS of Bisurated Magnesia —and start the test today!

On the top of the first column of the second page is the notation: "We again stop the press to insert a copy of The London Gazette Extraordinary. The despatch was borne personally by Major the Honourable H. Percy, who arrived late the night before."

It describes the actions of the various battalions and commends the whole army, making special mention of the number of officers who distinguished themselves by their gallant conduct.

The Times editor devotes two and a half column to an editorial full of caustic comment directed against Napoleon. "Such is the great and glorious result of those masterly movements by which the Hero of Britain met and frustrated the audacious attempt of the rebel chief. Glory to Wellington, to our gallant soldiers, and to our brave allies. Bonaparte's reputation has been wrecked and his last grand stake has been lost in this tremendous conflict. Two hundred and ten pieces of cannon! When, where, and how is this loss to be repaired? Besides, what has become of his Invincible Guard, of his dreaded and admired Cuirassiers? Again we do not deny that these were good troops; but they were encountered by better."

The editorial also refers to rumors that pervade the city in connection with an insurrection in Paris, showing how completely even the newspapers were devoid of authentic news unless borne by the official couriers. No telephones, wireless, or telegraph being in existence, the task of gathering news proved a difficult one.

The casuality list gives the names of 3 generals, 9 colonels, 7 major, 13 captains, 2 lieutenants and 2 ensigns as being killed. Under the heading "Wounded," most of the names having severely bracketed after them, are 9 generals, 20 colonels, 13 majors, 11 captains, and 17 lieutenants.

The advertisements are printed after the style of the modern "want" ad., the only difference being that the wording is in a "flowery" style. The following is an example: "One thousands pounds will be presented to any person who can procure for a gentleman of respectability, an adequate mercantile situation."

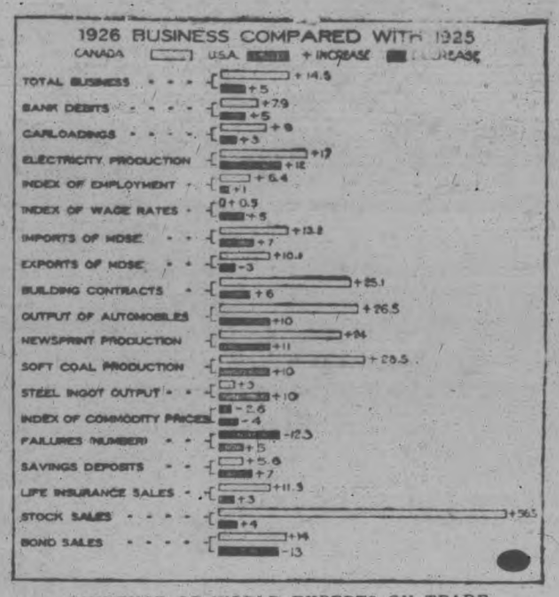
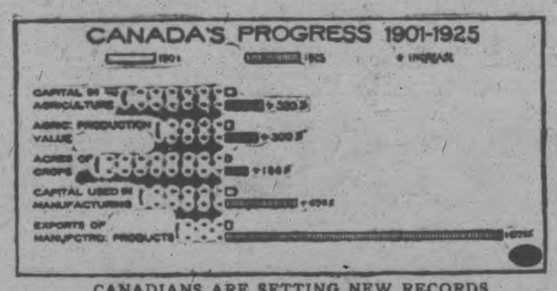
Canada Is Most Prosperous Country in World

CANADA IS TO-DAY THE MOST PROSPEROUS COUNTRY IN THE CIVILIZED WORLD





EVIDENCE OF WORLD EXPERTS ON TRADE

The National Foreign Trades Council of New York, recently issued a statement showing that Canada led all nations in increased trade since 1913. The Dominion headed the list with an increase of 85% followed by Australasia with 45% and the U.S.A. with 31%.

The League of Nations Bureau recently issued the statement that Canada's per capita wealth had grown from $1,100 in 1903 to $2,406 in 1926. No nation has previously shown such a rapid growth.

The National Bureau of Research of the United States, recently published the results of 17 years' trading, showing that Canada had enjoyed more prosperity than any other nation.

CANADIANS ARE SETTING NEW RECORDS

Between 1901 and 1925 Canada changed from an agricultural country into one in which manufacturing is equally important. Manufacturing production has grown from 214 to 1,311 millions of dollars. Forest production practically doubled. Mineral production increased from 66 to 228 million dollars. Coal output grew from 4 to 13 million tons, and mileage of Canadian railways from 18,149 to 52,692. The wheat yield in 1926 exceeded $406,000,000, and the field crops totalled $1,131,241,000.

During this period, Canada's foreign trade rose from 196 to 1,878 million dollars a year, and per capita exports from $36 to $115. Never before in the history of the world, have such increases been recorded in a nation's trading in a similar period.

Because of its vast size, Canada needs a great influx of immigrants, but whilst recognizing to the full the desirability of increased immigration, it should not be forgotten Canada is increasing her population at a much greater rate than is the U.S.A., Australia, New Zealand or South Africa, the countries which compete with Canada for new immigrants.

Canada's remarkable growth in the period under review is due to increasing efficiency of its people, and its manufacturing methods. In the Dominion, over 47% of the total population are engaged in gainful occupations; in the United States the proportion is 31%. The efficiency of production index figure in Canada has risen from 97% in 1920 to 128% in 1924, according to the Canadian Business Research Bureau which has compiled the figures on which our comparisons are based.

International trade experts place growing reliance on the length of the business cycle as an indication of stable business. In Canada the average business cycle is 5.1 years; in the United States it is 4 years.

Canadians have every reason to be proud of their record as a nation of home owners. Over 70% of the total home in Canada are owned by their occupants, a proportion which is unapproachable by any nation. Roger Babson has publicly stated that "nowhere on the American continent are living conditions better than in Canada." Comparison of family budgets, cost of living, etc., indicate that Canadians are setting up new records.

the average budget was found to be $2,202.37 or $562 more than the average budget for the whole Dominion in 1922, which would, of course, be again higher than that of rural families.

Much of the difference of $550 was represented by "advertiseable" goods, thus the expenditure on food was $110 higher and the city family spent $275 more upon clothing than the general average.

Increased Purchasing Power.

The year 1926 saw the purchasing power of the Canadian people increase by over $50,000,000. Immigration for the 10 months ending January 31st, 1927, showed an increase of 76,439 or 55 per cent. compared with the same period of the previous year. Following the war, a period of depression was felt in certain areas, both in Canada and the United States, and many Canadians from such areas sought employment over the border. During the past three years there has been a steady influx of Canadians returning from residence in the United States. During the 10 months ending January 31, 1926, more than 50,000 Canadians, who had planned settling in the U.S.A. have returned to the Dominion attracted by the superior opportunities existing here.

Prosperous Canadian Cities.

The growth of Canadian cities during the past 20 years has been of a steady and substantial nature. In certain areas the increase has exceeded that shown even by the boom areas of Florida and California. The year 1926 saw an increase in bank debits, building and construction, and in trade generally, in practically every city in Canada where a daily newspaper is published.

Taken as a whole, the business situation in Canada today leaves no room for doubt that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's prophecy will be fulfilled: "The 20th century will be Canada's."

Nothing particularly at this property. Exploration will not likely get under way until the Spring. While considerable exploratory work has been carried on on this property, the result has been nothing more than a fairly thorough outlining of geological conditions. No important ore deposition has as yet been indicated although the prospects are considered to be decidedly favorable.

MILLCREST.

Nothing new since our last. This property will likely start operations again in the Spring. It has been severely handicapped by the action of those in control of extensive blocks of its shares. Unfortunately the disagreement which occurred between certain factions seems recently to have been intensified. Such disagreement cannot be carried on indefinitely and in the meantime what we consider to be a good property is forced to lie idle. Some day, work will be resumed again and those who are willing to pick up the shares around present quotations have a splendid chance to be rewarded at that time.

Mining Stocks Lose Under Selling Pressure

TORONTO, March 25 (Canadian Press).—Selling pressure was much in evidence in the trading on the Standard Mining Exchange today, and as a result practically every stock to make its appearance on the board held at a lowel level. Vipond Consolidated and Tough Oakes-Burnside were rare exceptions to the general trend, however, and both sold on a firmer basis. Vipond advanced three cents a share to 1.48 and Tough Oakes two cents to 44. Included among the weak spots were Argonaut Con., off three; Area, down 4 1-2; Dome Mines, off 20; Laval Quegec, down 1-2; Nipissing, sold off 15; Teck Hughes, five; Amulet, five; Towagmac, 10; and Noranda, 85 cents a share.

Wheat Prices Are Firmer Because Of Chinese Trouble

CHICAGO, March 25 (Canadian Press).—Warlike news from China tended to encourage early buying of wheat today and to life prices. The upturns, however, met with enough selling to keep the market within narrow bounds. Starting at 1-8 cent off to 3-8 cent up, wheat later scored some gain all around. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firm, corn opening at a shade to 3-4c advance and holding near to the initial range.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 133 3-4, July 128 5-8; Corn, May 71 3-4; July 76 3-8; Oats, May 41 1-2, July 43 1-4.

British American Leads Dull Session In Toronto

NEW YORK, March 25 (Canadian Press).—Stock prices made a further recovery in to-day's market. United States Steel Common crossed 165 to a new high record for all time. Railway equipments were again under accumulation on reports of new orders from prominent carrier systems. The buying of rails was confined largely to dividend-paying shares. Norfolk and Western, in which the Pennsylvania recently increased its minority interest, moved up to a new high. Sharp gains also were recorded in 'Frisco, New York Central, and Canadian Pacific. Houston Oil was one of the day's outstanding strong spots, jumping nearly 10 points. Sterling exchange went to a new high level for the year.

Railway Shares Lead New Upward Movement

TORONTO, March 25 (Canadian Press).—With the exception of one or two stocks, trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today was of a quiet and uninteresting nature. British American Oil continued to attract interest. It was the leader in activity and was a strong feature, selling at 26 3-4 for a gain of 1-2. Seagram was in demand and sold up 1-4 to 23 1-2. Other firm spots included Industrial Alcohol, up 1-4, C.P.R., up two; Walker, up 1-4, and International Nickle up 1-8. City Dairy was the weak feature of the market, declining 1 1-2 to 110.

The mining issues were active with Consolidated Smelters being the feature, advancing three points to 258 1-2. Central Manitoba Gold was active and sold down one to 116. Noranda dropped 70 cents to 21.75.

You can stretch your dollar to the limit by knowing the day's buying opportunities; or you can spend it for some object of beauty where price is no consideration. The advertisements tell you how and where to do both.

THERE CAN BE NO SUBSTITUTE FOR NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING UNDER EXISTING CONDITIONS

Daily Newspaper Gives Most Economical and Effective Average.

CANADA'S CENTURY.

Dominion's Purchasing Power Is Increased By Over $50,000,000.

Out of 1,932,352 Canadian householders receiving mail through the Canada Post Office, 1,070,000 have their mail delivered to the door by city postmen, or to a locked box in the post office.

It has long been common knowledge that Canada contained more urban homes than rural and that the urban population equalled, if indeed it does not now exceed, the rural, but the above figures, quoted from the Post Office report for 1926, emphasize the extent to which Canadians live under city conditions and therefore under the direct influence of the Daily Press:

The predominant position already secured by daily newspaper advertising in the Canadian market is shown by the following comparison of advertising carried by the daily newspapers:

Percentage of Total Advertising Carried by Daily Newspapers.

Canada	U.S.A.
52 National Advertising	36
48 Local Advertising	64

That the daily newspapers must continue to increase their lead on the lists of discriminating advertisers is assured not only by the changing from rural to urban conditions throughout the country, but by the ever-increasing use of automobiles and 'busses and by many other potent factors in keeping close contact between suburban shoppers and city stores.

Changing Character of Canadian Industries.

The report of the census of occupations, issued by the Dominion Government, during recent weeks, illustrates clearly the great change which began with the century, grew with the last census decade, and has undoubtedly been even greater during the past five years.

Compared with an increase of about 17 per cent. in the total number of workers, agricultural workers increased a little less than 12 per cent.; trade workers increased 22 per cent.; professional 73 per cent.; financial 61 per cent.; transportation 23 per cent.; manufacturing 13 per cent.; construction 14 per cent., etc., all the larger increases relating to city industries.

A review of the trade of 1926 shows that, generally speaking, Canadian department stores showed larger increases over the previous year than did similar stores in the U.S.A. Canadian chain stores in particular made far larger increases. Both these are essentially city businesses, and it is a notable fact that the departmnt stores in Canada do a larger proportion of the total trade than in the United States.

City's Budget Outranks Country's.

According to figures published by the Labor Department, the average family budget in Canada, in 1922, was $1,650.58. The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Engineers in 1925 made a survey covering 10 daily newspaper cities in different parts of the Dominion, for the purpose of arriving at the average budget of railway workers resident in cities. This investigation was carried out on scientific lines, the actual prices paid for the goods being checked,

Information For Enquirer About Two Mining Stocks

The following is information on Night Hawk and Porcupine Crown, requested by a reader:

Night Hawk is endeavoring to raise additional money with which to finance more exploration work. The deal now pending would give the company $100,000 cash and $900,000 over a period of two or three years, and we believe that if this deal goes through, which at the present time is highly problematical, the company has a real good chance of coming through.

In regard to Porcupine Crown, about the only asset this company has at the present time is about 60,000 shares of Vipond, as they have sold their property in Porcupine to the Vipond Consolidated Mines. We do not regard this as a very good speculation at present prices. The same may be said of Night Hawk.

U.S. WILL TRY TO GET RECORD

Sportsmen Gather Funds For Construction of Fast Aeroplane.

MARK NOW 278.4.

WASHINGTON, March 25 (United News)—New York sportsmen are raising a fund of from $75,000 to $100,000 to build a mystery aeroplane to recapture speed honors lost by the United States.

The machine is being constructed by the Booth-Thurston Co. of Long Island, N.Y., under carefully guarded plans. Lieut. Al G. Williams, naval flying ace now on duty with the Bureau of Aeronautics in Washingtop has been selected as the pilot.

The mystery plane is being constructed for a two-fold purpose, first, to shatter the world's record for a land ship now held by Warrant Officer Bonnett of the French army, at 278.4 miles an hour, and second, to enter the Schneider race, to be held at Vinence, Italy, next November.

For the cup race, the mystery ship will be equipped with pontoons.

SPRIG WINNER OF NATIONAL

Ten Year Old Gelding Captures Classic in Third Attempt.

37 STARTERS.

AINTREE, Eng., March 25. Canadian Press. — Sprig, owned by Mrs. M. Partridge, to-day won the classic Grand National Steeplechase. Sprig, by Marco, out of Spry, is ten years old.

Bolvril Three, owned by G. W. Pennington, was second, and Bright's Boy, owned by Stephen Sanford, third. Thirty seven horses started.

The victory in the Grand National by Sprig was well deserved, both by the horse and its owner, Mrs. Partridge. Both in 1925 and 1926 Sprig finished fourth, the winners in those years being Double Chance and Jack Horner. Only one of the six horses finishing in front of Sprig in the last two Nationals was in the race to-day, and he was Bright's Boy carrying the top weight of 175 lbs.

Sprig carried the severe handicap of 72 points. He was ridden by his trainer, T. E. Leader, one of the country's best chase horsemen.

Sprig was trained at Newmasket, is a big chestnut gelding, ten years old. This was his third attempt in the National.

As last year Sprig was prepared at Cheltenham in a number of hurdle races. He spread a plate in one race a few days ago but suffered no ill effects and was a favorite with many, especially the large contingent from turf headquarters.

A woman owner captured the Grand National here to-day for the first time, so far as can be recalled in the history of the world's greatest steeplechase.

Mrs. M. Partridge owns Sprig, who won the hazardous 4½ mile jumping race in which thirty seven started, and just seven finished.

G. W. Pennington's Bovril Three was second, and third place went to an American horse, Stephen Sanford's Brigh's Boy.

Lord Salbridge's "Thrown In," which the Prince of Wales jocularly picked yesterday to win the race, was among the thirty horses which fell.

The King, many thousands of his subjects, and the Prince of Wales, were at the course for the dangerous and thrilling classic, and were rewarded with plenty of excitement as the big field was steadily thinned out as it passed over the obstacles. The long course has 16 high thorn hedges, 14 of which must be jumped twice, besides ditches, streams and other hazards.

The race enriched a Birmingham bettor by 24,500 pounds ((about $120,000) on Parlay of Priory Park, winner of the Lincolnshire handicap on Wednesday, and Sprig. The book maker who lost the bet has a total of 150,000 pounds to pay on the race.

TRAIN CREW FREED OF ACCIDENT BLAME

Jury Finds Death of Percy Young Not Fault of Railway.

KINGSTON, Mar. 25 (Canadian Press)—That Percy Young came to his death while walking on the railway tracks and that no blame could be attached to the railway company for his death was the verdict rendered last night by a jury empanelled by Dr. Northmore, coroner, of Bath, to enquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Young, who was killed on the Canadian National Railway, near Ernestown, on Saturday.

The evidence of the conductor and the head brakeman on the freight train that ran down young was taken and it was shown that every effort possible had been made to bring the train to a standstill when it was found that Young made no attlempt to clear the tracks. The evidence showed that Young paid no attention to the whistle, which was sounded.

Nail Is Held As Cause Of Child's Lung Trouble

BRIDGEBURG, March 25.—The riddle, hertofore unsolved by doctors, of the recurrent attacks of lung trouble with which 5-year-old Frances Merry has been afflicted, was answered Wednesday when the child, in the midst of a violent coughing fit, expectorated a brass-headed nail an inch long.

The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Merry of Fort Erie. Hope for her recovery from this attack had been abandoned, but since she coughed up the nail her condition has steadily improved. Doctors believe that the nail, thought to have been swallowed by the child two years ago, had lodged in one of her lungs, preventing respiration.

Y'S MEN HEAR S. R. ARMSTRONG

Interesting Talk On Reading Given at Regular Meeting of Club.

MOST INSTRUCTIVE.

City Clerk S. R. Armstrong was the speaker at the regular supper meeting of the Y's Men's Club, held last night in the Y.M.C.A. His address was on Reading, and was of a most thoughtful and instructive nature.

Touching first on what to read, Mr. Armstrong advised his hearers to read the newspapers, studying current events, or history in the making. He strongly urged them to read the editorial columns, where the news is explained and interpreted. The reading of papers featuring scandal and crime news was not advised and the average comic strip was condemned.

In the matter of magazines, Mr. Armstrong favored the reading of those dealing with current events, science, history and the more educational magazines. The same type of book was advised, although the reading of good fiction as a form of relaxation was praised. The speaker suggested that the purchase of books, so as to form a library, would lead to more careful reading.

Speaking on how to read, Mr. Armstrong said that the proper way was to get the feeling of the writer and read as if intimately concerned with the actions or sentiments about which he was writing.

The thanks of the club were expressed by Alex. Fitzgerald and G. H. Roper. Howard Wood was chairman for the evening, and the speaker was introduced by Bill Hamilton. Next week's meeting will take the form of a "Pal and Lad" night, and the members will bring boys, either their own or some one else's, with them.

CITY CLERK ASKED TO EXPLAIN LIQUOR

St. Catharines Official Knew Nothing of Cache on Garbage Dump.

ST. CATHARINES, March 25. — A cache of five cases of whiskey neatly hidden under a tarpaulin on the city dumping ground formed the groundwork of an unusual case in Police Court yesterday. City Clerk H. H. Smith was summoned to show cause why the liquor should not be confiscated.

"I know absolutely nothing about it," he said. It was explained by Crown Attorney E. H. Lancaster that some responsible city official had to be summoned to meet the law's requirements, and the City Clerk had been chosen. The Magistrate ordered the whiskey confiscated. It is supposed some bootlegger hid it on the city dump property, fearing he was cornered by the police.

ONTARIO PARTY STARTS ON TRIP

Will Go As Far As Miami Urging Americans To Visit Province.

FOSTER MAY FOLLOW.

TORONTO, March 25 (Canadian Press)—A party, including Mayor W. J. Wilson of Gananoque, Dr. Doolittle, J. B. Thompson, secretary of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, and L. Fraser, of the Ontario Tourist Association, left Toronto this morning on a motor trip to Miami. They will stop at various cities enroute in an endeavor to encourage Americans to visit Ontario this summer.

Mayor Thomas Foster of Toronto has signified his willingness to join the party at Cincinnati if his business arrangements will permit.

'BACK TO CHINA' THREAT ENOUGH

Tong Leaders Gather in New York For Peace Conference.

EIGHT KILLINGS.

NEW YORK, March 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Facing the threat of deportation to their war-torn native country, Chinese chieftains gathered for a peace conference to-day in an effort to end the renewal of Tong warfare that has already taken eight lives in five big cities.

"Back to China by the shipload if necessary," was the ultimatum issued by District Attorney Banton as he called the Metropolitan leaders of the rival Hip Sing and On Leong Tongs into conference. The Chinese Consul General has also been invited to attend.

The barking guns that marked the end of the two year truce between the Hip Sing and On Leong Tongs yesterday brought death to three Chinese in Chicago, two in Brooklyn, one in Newark, one in Pittsburgh, and one in Manchester, Conn. Two others were critically wounded.

The characteristic Oriental silence handicapped the police in their hunt for the killers, although forty-five were arrested in connection with the shootings. The police said Chinese gunmen are paid two thousand dollars per killing by the rival Tongs.

When Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., gets annoyed with his chef or his valet, he can strafe them to his heart's content without fear of recrimination or retaliation, for those offices are performed for himself. While he is engaged in light housekeeping at his tiny two-room kitchenet apartment above a Fifth Avenue toyshop, his millionaire father is off aboard his palatial yacht, Atlantic, on a southern cruise. Young Vanderbilt, who in his youth moved in royal circles both in England and Germany, is seen shining his own shoes and cooking his own meal on a gas-

SERVICES HELD IN WOOLER CHURCHES

Tuxis Boys Assist at Evening Service at United Church.

WOOLER, March 25.—Services were held in the Anglican church on Sunday evening.

Sunday school and church services were held at the Friends church on Sunday morning.

Both morning and evening services were well attended at the United church, Rev. H. B. Neal officiating. In the evening he was assisted by the 'Tuxis Boys.' It was an inspiration to see these bright young men acting as leaders.

The scripture readings were read by Charlie McColl and Lloyd Darland. The first subject, "Youth," was very ably given by Henry McColl. "We are told that the youth of to-day is idle, irresponsible, vuglar, pleasure loving, rebellious, irreligious, too much addicted to sport. If I were asked to describe the young people of to-day I should say that they are cool, sensible, alert, adventurous, independent. They are certainly intent on having a good time, but you cannot condemn them for that.

"I wonder sometimes if youth to-day is as terrible as some elderly critics imagine. Indeed if youth to-day is critical and rebellious, it is almost entirely the result of the war. Simple faith, home discipline, moral standards—all have suffered through the shock of that cruel massacre of youth. Our elders have got the world into a tangle. They were powerless to prevent the outbreak of a gigantic and stupid war and had to call upon the younger generation to help them out.

James Forrester was then called on to talk on the subject, "The Challenge of Youth." The summary of this address was:

"Youth to-day constitutes the dynamic force which is going to influence our world more than all the power of armies and navies pitting their strength against one another in a foolish wholesale slaughter of human flesh. Youth is not dead to the call of Christ. Indeed we are entering upon a new phase of active spiritual life in which we will attempt to deliver the world from the evil forces of hate and selfishness and blind materialism that have threatened the destruction of the whole social system. Yes, that is youth in terms of the world and in practical Christian service to mankind.

"There is, too, however, to be considered the more pointed and perhaps narrower question—what can youth do as individuals? We can accomplish much when we have others to strengthen us and make us bold, but within our hearts we have a mighty conflict being waged, our real problems are not material and intellectual, but moral and spiritual. The conflict of will and baser instinct—the battle of right and wrong. The outcome of this issue alone will confirm the outcome of the greater issue in world terms, and there is the key to the ideal. We must hear

As Jesus calls us o'er the tumult
Of our life's wild, restless sea.
Day by day His sweet voice soundeth
Saying Christian 'follow me.'

The meeting was closed in the usual order by Rev. H. B. Neal.

Rev. Harry Perry, of Newmarket, officiated at the funeral services of the late Garret Nelson. Those from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Waldie, of Kingston; Mr. Cronk, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and William Arvis, of Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown and Harry from Chisholm Rapids.

Roscoe Bentley returned from Kingston Hospital, where he has been for five weeks ,from the effect of a broken leg.

Mrs. W. Davidson entertained the 'Altruist' class on Monday evening. On Tuesday evening, Miss Loretta McColl entertained the members of the Y.G.C. class.

OUTLOOK FOR AMERICA BALL

More Customers For First Division Than There Are Players.

PUBLIC OPINION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 25—Three weeks' survey by an Associated Press correspondent of major league training camps reveals a conflict of supply and demand in baseball. There are more customers for the first division of the American League than there are places.

Public opinion in the training zone has allotted the first four places to the Philadelphia Athletics, Washington Senators, New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers, on a more or less catch-as-catch can basis. Cleveland insists that the Indians cannot be counted out of the first four, and the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns are in a receptive mood and hopeful. The Boston Red Sox's objective at the moment seems to be anywhere but last place.

The American League teams enter the race with an unprecedented shifting of veteran players and hardly less startling arrival of young stars on the way up.

Athletics' Stars

The Athletics are depending on both old and young. Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins and Zach Wheat have brought hitting strength to Connie Mack's outfit and added spirit. Joe Boley, who can come up with the ball with any infielder, has aided the defensive arrangements. The pitching staff has been brought over intact from last season, and Manager Connie Mack expects his improved offensive to enable his pitchers to cash in on games charged on the debit side of the ledger last year.

Washington has added strength in the person of Tris Speaker, who unquestionably has much good baseball left in his system. In Buddy Meyer the Senators have a greatly improved shortstop, and the club seems stronger in reserve material. The catch in the Senatorial equation is the pitching. Washington must develop some added talent. Thurston, late of the White Sox; Braxton formerly of the Yankees, and Hadley, a youngster, recalled from the Southern Association, may furnish the necessary reinforcements.

Detroit will make little change in playing personnel, but will depend on changed tactics, and a revised batting order to make a splash. the Browns to play second base, Marty McManus, who comes from will help the Tigers, and there is a chance that Shea, a young catcher, may get some regular work. The Jungaleers threaten to do some base-running.

Yankees Pat

The champion Yankees will stand pat on the team that was good enough to win the pennant last year. Some difficulty has been experienced in signing all the pitchers, but if Pennock falls in line, the New Yorkers seem certain to be in the midst of the fight. Grabowski, former White Sox catcher, has added strength to the team. Wiley Moore, a huge right-hander from the South Atlantic Association, has shown promise; and Wera, an infielder, and Funk, an outfielder, might break into a line-up less strong than that of the Yankees.

Cleveland, with a vacant chair in centre field, depends on its pitchers to stand the enemy off. The Indians boast a formidable staff in Uhle, Shaute, Levsen, Smith, Buckeye, Miller, Hudlin, and Karr. Speaker's place will be hard to fill. Infield reserve strength has been added in Lew Fonseca.

The tragic removal of John Mostil from the line-up of the Chicago White Sox has dealt Ray Schalk a fiard blow as he enters his first season as manager, but like the Indians, he counts on his pitchers to see him through. Blankenship, Lyons, Faber, Connolly, and Tomas will get some left-handed assistance from Cole and Barnhe, recent acquisitions. Ward and Peckinpaugh will strengthen the infield.

Dan Howley's Lot

A manager with great enthusiasm and a $100,000 outfielder, who seems to be worth the money, stand out in a stock-taking of the St. Louis Browns. Dan Howley, the new manager, has a way with him, and will get the spirit from his players. Fred Schulte, the high-priced outfielder, from Milwaukee, has done all that a player can do to make good in the spring. Sisler promises to have a better year as a player than he did as a manager.

The Boston Red Sox are following Bill Carrigan at a surprising speed, and will almost certainly make a better showing than was the case last season. Carrigan must feel his way after an absence of ten years from baseball. Hoffmann and Hartley will do some good work.

GOLF MATCHES FOR OTTAWA

Quebec Open and Amateur Titles Scheduled For Ottawa Course.

HELD IN FALL.

MONTREAL, Que., March 25. — The Royal Ottawa Golf Club was awarded the provincial open and amateur championships of the Province of Quebec Golf Association at a meeting of that body here Wednesday night. The championships will be held in the fall. This is the first time the Province of Quebec championships have been held over the Royal Ottawa course. Senneville Country Club will be the venue of the spring open and amateur championship. The annual father and son championship will be held at the Country Club of Montreal, while the junior championship will be staged over the Marlborough course.

Handicap Tourney.

Following suggestions that have been made from time to time that Canadian professionals did not do well in international competitions because they had so little opportunity to enter tournaments, the meeting was unanimous in augmenting the annual spring tourney. In the past this event has been for amateurs only—this year it will be a two day affair, an open event the first day for pros. and amateurs of a certain handicap, the second day for amateurs only.

GRADS FAVORITES OVER FT. WILLIAM

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 25.—Varsity Grads are eight to five favorites for the first Allan Cup match at the Arena here to-night with Fort William, the western champions. The O.H.A. winners have had two workouts since their arrival in Vancouver, and have made a splendid impression.

Conny Smythe stated yesterday that the Grads are in the best physical condition they have been all season, and are at the top of their form. The players are all keyed up for the most important series, which starts to-night.

The Regular Team.

The Grads will play their regular team, with Sullivan in goal, Taylor and Porter on the defence and Trottier, Plaxton and Hudson on the forward line. Taylor's cold has improved and he will be all ready for the series. Frank Sullivan and Frank Fisher will likely be the substitutes in the first game.

Stan Burgoyne, the coach of the Fort William team, says that Pittenger, his centre man, will not be able to play in the series: Pittenger had his left hand broken in the Trail series. Jack Langtry may play goal for Fort William.

Patrick Was Fusey.

Frank Patrick was to referee the first game, but he declined to go on with an assistant, so Dr. Sandercock appointed Stan Marples of Moose Jaw and Pete McIntyre of Trail to handle both games. McIntyre is the old-time Toronto University player.

The Allan Cup finals have created great interest here, and it is expected that the arena will be crowded to capacity for all games.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association is now in progress here with committees meeting during the afternoon and evening preparing the business for the convention which opens this morning.

HUGE STADIUM BUILT AT CHICAGO

Will Eventually Have Seating Capacity For 26,000 Persons.

CHICAGO, March 25. — A sports stadium and convention hall intended when fully developed to be the largest of its kind in the world, was promised yesterday when a contract was signed by P. K. Harmon, and William Wrigley, Jr., with construction concerns for the first unit, the stadium proper, to cost $2,666,000. This unit will seat 26,000.

Eventually it is planned to have the structure occupy an entire block, with a seating capacity of 46,000 for sporting events and conventions.

The projected developments to supplement the stadium unit are expected to approximate $8,000,000.

PRIZE WINNERS IN CHESS MATCH

TWENTY-SIX MOVES.

LIVERPOOL, Eng., March 25.—(Canadian Press).—After last minute withdrawals, and many alterations in riders, nearly 40 steeplechase horses are ready to start in the 88th renewal of the famous Grand National at old Aintree today. The number of starters may be a record, for the largest field so far was 35, in 1921, when Shaun Spadan won.

In the most severe test of the thoroughbred, which has attracted to Liverpool crowds of sport lovers from all parts of the kingdom and from the continent, the runners will have to cover a four and a half mile course blocked by numerous and dangerous fences and water jumps, carrying heavy handicaps. The field includes most of the best jumpers of England and Ireland, although last year's winner, Jack Horner, was withdrawn a few days ago because of sickness.

The heaviest impost is that of 175 pounds allotted to Bright's Boy, owned by Stephen Sanford. He is one of the favorites, who include also Sprig, fourth last year, allotted 172 pounds; White Park, 173; Misconduct, 152, and Silver Somme, Irish-owned horse for which Charles Schwartz, Jack Horner's owner, offered $50,000.

The probable starters include nine of the 14 who finished the course last year. These are Bright's Boy and Sprig, third and fourth respectively last year; Master Billie, Misconduct, Thrown In, Popshead, Dwarf of the Forest, Gerald L. and Red Bee. In addition, five of the 16 horses that fell last year are again starting—Grecian Wave, Knight of the Wilderness, Upton Lad, Cash Box and Test Match.

Betting Odds.

The final betting odds on the Grand National follows: Grakle, Thrown In, 100 to nine; Brights Boy, 100 to eight; Silver Somme, Sprig, Master Billie, 100 to seven; Shaunor, 18 to one; White Park, Knight of the Wilderness, 20 to one; Misconduct, 22 to one; Eagle's Tail 25 to one; Ponshead, Keep Cool, Grecian Wave, 33 to one; Dwarf of the Forest, Amber Wave, 40 to one; Test Match, Ruddyman, Red Bee, Eleanor, 50 to one; Snapper, Marson, Drinmond, Uncle Jack, Mr. Jolly, Hawker, All White, Master of Arts, Trump Card, 66 to one; others 100 to one.

FORTY ENTRIES GRAND NATIONAL

Number of Starters May Be Record For Largest Field

AT OLD AINTREE.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Completion of the two most important games in the twentieth and final round of the International chess masters' tournament Wednesday left unchanged the relative position of the four leaders, the contests, which embraced these players, both having drawn results. As a consequence, Dr. Alexander Alekhine, of Paris, remains in second place and receives a prize of $1,500, while Aaron Niemzowitsch, of Copenhagen, a point below, emerges winner of the third prize of $1,000. The first prize of $2,000 was clinched by the world's champion, Jose R. Capablanca, of Havana, in the seventeenth round.

With an even break sufficient to prevent Niemzowitsch overtaking him, Alekhine was paired with the Cuban for his final tilt, and the generally expected mutual effort to reach a drawn result, was soon realized. With the white pieces 'Capa' selected a variation of the Queen's pawn opening favorable to a reduction of forces, and the carnival of exchanges that followed, led to a position where a draw by repetition of moves was reasonably brought about. The games lasted twenty-six moves.

Not Exciting Enough.

Thus Capablanca had drawn his last four games in the tournament, to avoid affecting the other likely prize winners, but with scant consideration for the spectators who patronized the event with a desire to view exciting combat.

Curious enough, Niemzowitsch and Dr. M. Vidfar, of Jugo-Slavia, were paired together to fight it out for third prize, but the college professor, with a half point less, was up against the task of defeating his adversary. With the black forces he chose the Sicilian defence, and the game was played with great circumspection on both sides. The Danish master advanced his pawns on the Queen's wing, opening up the Queen's rook file for both rooks, but an exchange later left Vidmar in possession of this avenue. The latter made every effort to get a more tangible advantage, but without avail. At his thirty-second turn he attempted the sacrifice of rook for bishop, which startled the onlookers. Niemzowitsch declined, collecting an unprotected bishop instead. Vidmar then offered the draw with seven moves to make in less than three minutes had he continued.

Obtains Draw.

The tournament was concluded yestreday when Frank J. Marshall, American champion, obtained a draw with Rudolf Spielmann of Vienna in their adjourned game in the twentieth and final round.

Jose R. Capablanca, of Havana, the world's champion, previously had clinched first place and $2,000 in prize money.

The final standings:

	Won	Lost
Jose Capablanca (Cuba)..	14	6
Dr. Alekhine (France)...	11½	8½
A. Nimzowitsch (Denmark)	10½	9½
Dr. Vidmar (Jugo-Slavia)	10	10
R. Spielmann (Austria)...	8	12
F. J. Marshall (U.S.)	6	14

The recent meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association in Philadelphia was the first yearly meeting ever held by that organization outside of New York City during the more than forty years of its existence.

LES CANADIENS TO PLAY LEAFS

Wonder Team of N. H. L. Play in Toronto on Saturday.

LAST PRO. CONTEST.

TORONTO, March 25. — The Maple Leafs will play their last scheduled game of the season here on Saturday night when the locals stack up against the famous "Les Canadiens," one of the most feared clubs in the professional ranks. The Flying Frenchmen are at the top of their form and right now they are the most feared team of them all. They have speed to burn and their style of play makes a great hit with the Toronto fans.

Canadiens, who are heralded everywhere as the most colorful team of the year, are high-class vendors of speed and action, the forces what make hockey the fastest and most interesting athletic pastime in the world. The Habitants have a great record in N.H.L. hockey this season and here is some of their achievements.

The leadership over all other teams in either section of games won by the shut-out route. Fourteen in all.

The record of winning the greatest number of consecutive games this season. Ten straight.

The most potent scoring machine in the Canadian division, the only team in this section to acquire more than 90 goals, and second only to Chicago Hawks for scoring in the whole league.

The leading rifleman of the Canadian section, Howie Morenz, the Stratford Speedball, has slashed home 23 counters in all, giving him a more substantial lead than ever over Billy Burch, the temperamental centre-ice star of New York Americans.

The "iron man," lean, wiry Herbie Gardiner, who has played more sixty-minute games than any other half-dozen performance combined in the big league to-day.

It is certainly a marvellous record and a full house should turn out to see the team which is heralded as the coming world's champions for the last time. It will be the close of professional hockey in this town and will be a hum-dinger from start to finish. The Leafs have been travelling at a pretty pace lately, and it would be a feather in their cap to defeat the Frenchmen.

WEDDING BELLS.

BANNON—PATTERSON.
A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Wednesday of this week in the presence of a number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties, when Hazel Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Patterson of North Monaghan, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Cecil Norman Bannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bannon, Perry Street, Peterborough. The ceremony was performed at two o'clock in the afternoon at Knox United Church by the pastor, Rev. Wm. McDonald, B.D.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was becomingly attired in a gown of roseblush georgette, with hat, shoes, stockings and gloves to match, and bouquet of ophelia roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Marguerite Patterson, wearing blond georgette, with shoes and stockings and hat to match, and bouquet of carnations. The best man was a brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Harold Bannon.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Bannon left on the afternoon train for Toronto and points west, the bride donning a smart tailored coat of navy blue. On their return, they will reside in Peterborough.

Fender Crushed On Car Parked Outside Library

Parking her car in front of the Public Library yesterday while she went inside, a local lady was surprised on coming out to find that in the meantime the left front fender of the car had been crushed.

There was no vehicle in sight that might have been responsible for the collision. The only recourse the driver had was to drive home, giving vent, silently, to her opinion of whatever had caused the damage.

DUNNING DENIES GOVERNMENT HAS REACHED ANY AGREEMENT ON CARILLON POWER QUESTION

Hopes Will Be Thoroughly Discussed By Committee He Says.

DISCUSS JUDGES.

C. H. Cahan Disagrees That Members Should Be Retired at 75.

OTTAWA, March 26.— Before the orders of the day were called yesterday afternoon Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P. for South-east Grey, enquired whether the government had made up its mind when the North Huron by-election would be held. Hon. Ernest LaPointe, minister of justice, regretted that he could not give an immediate answer to the question.

Garland of Bow River enquired whether it was the intention of the Carillon power and whether, if so, the house would have an opportunity to discuss the matter.

"I hope the matter will be thoroughly discussed when a bill now before the house goes to the committee on railways and canals," replied Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of that department. "The government has not yet reached any decision."

Col. Sanderson of North Perth referred to press notices to the effect that the senate had passed the old age pensions bill. He enquired whether the minister of labor had been informed of the fact.

Also Reforms Senate.

"I have been informed," replied Hon. Peter Heenan, "that not only has the bill been passed, but that it has reformed the Senate."

Dr. Anderson, of Halton, presented a member's memorial respecting the Georgian Bay canal, which was tabled.

The House then went into consideration of the motion to give second reading of a bill to amend the judges' act.

In the opinion of C. H. Cahan it was time to consider the question of amending the judicial committee act of 1833-34 so as to restrict the power of the committee to grant right of appeal to it. Particularly on certain commercial cases it was incumbent on parliament to strengthen so far as possible the supreme court as the highest court in the dominion, he said.

Mr. Cahan disagreed with the contention of Dr. McGibbon of Muskoka that members of the supreme court should be retired at the age of 75. It might be that the Muskoka member had during five years' war service lived a score of years and expected to be physically and mentally unfit at 75, "but," said Cahan, "Cato learned Greek when he was 80. Socrates wrote tragedies when he was over four score year."

Intellectual Vigor.

Mr. Cahan cited cases where judges in Canada and elsewhere had their full intellectual vigor at over eighty. Michael Angelo was making some of his best paintings at over ninety. Theocritus published some of his best works when over 100.

"When I think of all these people," said Mr. Cahan, "I began to look forward to the time 25 years hence when I have more leisure and will be able to write essays on how to be happy and youthful at the age of 90."

In Mr. Cahan's opinion many men only started to learn wisdom at the age of 75. To decapitate judges at that age was ridiculous.

Instead of increasing the number of judges on the Supreme Court, Mr. Cahan believed that it would be better to increase the salaries and leave the number as it was. He did not believe that the Canadian judges were inferior in any way.

"Is it necessary in order to secure the best legal talent to hold out the highest emoluments?" asked Woodsworth of Centre Winnipeg. "Cannot men be secured who are willing to work for the good of the country?"

"I suppose there are men of such a character," replied Mr. Cahan. "But frequently they are not the best fitted for the positions." In the opinion of Mr Cahan the existing salaries were meagre.

Matter of Surprise.

"You say $15,000 is a meagre salary," said Miss Macphail. "I am sure the people of Canada will be surprised to know it!"

Mr. Cahan suggested that great learning was required for such a position.

"Don't you think that it would be better and a simpler way to make the laws so that people could more easily understand them?" asked Miss Macphail.

"That may be," admitted Mr. Cahan. "I think our statutes could be simplified."

"There are too many lawyers making the laws," remarked the lady member. "That is what makes them so hard to interpret."

GRATITUDE.

The journey o'er the hills, dear,
Has brought us joy and pain;
There's shadows in the valley,
But sunshine on the plain;
And you have been so faithful
All the way we've had to go—
To turn my eyes to smiling skies—
I want to tell you so.

I'm glad you've come with me, dear,
From springtime's garden fair;
You might have helped another,
But I have loved your care;
And when our ev'ning comes, dear,
To ponder that we owe,
My praise shall be, for having thee—
I'm glad I've told you so.

MOTOR LEAGUE REPORTS SHOW SPLENDID YEAR

Much Accomplished During Year By Officers and Members.

MEMBERSHIP GROWS.

James Juby Elected President at Annual Meeting of Local Branch.

Reports presented at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Automobile Club held in the Board Room of the Chamber of Commerce last night indicated that the past year has been the most successful one in the history of the organization.

Many commendations for the Road Service and Legal Defence plan were read from members who had taken that form of membership, and it was confidently asserted by A. W. Blade, the retiring president, that the new plan would result in the membership being doubled this year.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, James Juby; Vice-President, Thomas M. Dutton; Secretary-Treasurer, F. G. Stinson; Directorate, E. W. Borbridge, F. Bowness, Gordon Hill, H. C. Huffman, R. H. Turner, A. Brown and William Boulton.

A. W. Blade, retiring president, was on the motion of Mr. Turner, elected Honorary President of the Club.

On the motion of R. M. Waddell and A. W. Blade, a unanimous vote of thanks was tendered The Examiner for the support tendered the Peterborough Automobile Club.

President's Report.

"In the year just passed the efforts of the Peterborough Automobile Club to provide increased services to the motoring public, and to bring about enactments beneficial to residents of the province, and tourists alike, have been rewarded in an almost unlooked for extent," declared Mr. Blade.

"Our affiliations, the Ontario Motor League, Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, and Trent Waterway Development Association are attentive to our suggestions and needs, and very often add force to our requests and representations to Municipal, Provincial and Federal Governments.

"I recall with pleasure that the two resolutions passed by our last annual meeting at which I was honored by the presidency, have since borne fruit and, in fact, all resolutions and representations during the past term have been productive of good results, beneficial to all motorists.

"Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the past year's activities has been the ready acceptance by Peterborough motorists of the Road Service and Legal Defense Plan, offered by the Ontario Motor League and Affiliated Clubs. This feature was extended to Peterborough District for the first itme early in the spring of 1926.

Membership Increases.

"During 1926 the membership of the Peterborough Automobile Club was increased slightly, moving us up in our group to fifth place Provincially. The increase in membership is, no doubt, due to the interest shown by the motoring public in Emergency Road Service and Legal Defense. This service is now Province wide, and in Peterborough and district there are no less than twelve official service stations, so that the needs of the motorists in the district, in the way of roadside service, are adequately provided for.

"In the matter of legal defense it

Suggest Farmers' Daughters Get Right For Municipal Vote.

TORONTO, March 26.—Efforts will be renewed in the municipal law committee of the legislature next year to raise the property qualification of mayors and councillors. The matter was discussed in 1926 but Labor members succeeded in blocking the move. The committee as now constituted seems more favorable, and it was agreed that W. B. Wilkinson, law clerk, should draft a bill for introduction next session. E. C. Graves, St. Catharines, brought the matter up yesterday at the committee's final meeting.

Other suggestions to be considered during the recess include one by H. C. Nixon, Brant, extending the municipal franchise in rural districts to farmers' daughters, and another by T. J. Mahony that rural councils be required within a reasonable time, say three months, to make a permanent appointment when the office of clerk or treasurer is vacant.

Hon. Wiliam Finlayson, chairman, proposed that there should be in every county an official to see that bonds of municipalities are collected by February 1, and deposited in the county treasurer's office. He also commented on the fact that the municipal treasurer kept his own bond.

"I wonder they don't take it along or burn it when they do skip out," he said.

OFFICERS HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

Peterborough Rangers Regiment Event Held in Officers' Mess.

PRESENTATIONS

Two presentations featured the annual regimental dinner of the Peterborough Rangers which was held in the officers' mess at the Armouries last night.

Lieutenant-Colonel F. L. Bradburn, M.C., was the recipient of a piece of silver plate in recognition of his valued services to the regiment. Lieutenant George Melton was presented with a piece of cut glass in honor of his marriage. The presentations were made by Lieutenant-Colonel W. Gordon Hall, officer commanding the regiment, and by Major M. H. Park.

The toast of The King was proposed by Captain H. M. Yelland, the mess president. Colonel J. W. Miller proposed the toast to the Absent Members. The Sister Corps was proposed by Major G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., and was responded to by Major Fred Mills, 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, Major J. Lawrie, 4th Field Battery, Canadian Artillery; and Major Hurrell Dodds, 4th Battalion, Canadian Machine Gun Corps.

Major Bruce Mills proposed the toast to The Guests. It was responded to by Colonel J. W. Miller, Colonel E. B. Clegg, Colonel C. H. Ackerman, Colonel A. W. McPherson, Major R. T. Hounsell, and Major K. G. Lech.

Inspiring speeches were delivered during the course of the evening by Colonel Miller and R. A. Brown.

A delightful programme was rendered by Major Park, Captain D. G. Melton, Captain E. Nicholls, M.C., D.C.M., and R. A. Brown. John Crane presided at the piano.

The question of military participation in the proposed Dominion Day jubilee celebrations was discussed, it being unanimously decided that the local garrison would do all in its power to make the event a success.

CENTRAL ONTARIO TOWNS MOVE TO ACQUIRE LINES FROM HYDRO

Committee To Ask For Basis of Prices To Purchasers.

FIVE APPOINTED.

Towns Propose To Buy Local Distribution Systems.

(By an Examiner Reporter).

COBOURG, March 26. — The Central Ontario Power Association, at a meeting of its executive here Friday afternoon, appointed a committee to interview the Hydro-Electric Commission respecting certain detailed information regarded as an essential preliminary to negotiations for the purchase of local distribution systems by the municipalities which have been considering that project since the recent increase in the Trent power rates.

The committee is composed of Mayor T. F. Holgate, Bowmanville; F. L. Mason, Oshawa, president of the association; G. D. Conant, Oshawa; H. Fullerton, Cobourg, and J. O. Herrity, Belleville, secretary of the association. They were instructed to ask the Hydro-Electric Commission what will be the basis upon which the prices of local distribution systems will be determined for sale to the respective municipalities; and, secondly, what will be the basis for the price of power to the municipalities if they buy the distribution systems. The committee will report back for further action.

Peterboro was represented by Alderman Denne, Lakefield by Reeve C. S. Tanner, Millbrook by Reeve W. T. Wood, and G. W. Sayles, and other municipalities answering the roll call were Oshawa, Belleville, Cobourg, Bowmanville, Trenton and Newcastle.

Information Vague.

Mr. Mason, presiding, frankly admitted that last week's conference with the Commission in Toronto had been rather disappointing. The information which had been received was too vague and did not materially enlighten the delegates in their joint problem nor guide them in their next step.

Mr. Conant of Oshawa said the Commission had made it plain that they wished to "unscramble" the Trent purchase and reduce it solely to a Hydro basis; and the chairman, C. A. Magrath, had subsequently suggested that the association be kept alive and active. A great amount of detailed information would be necessary to enable the delegates to discuss with the Hydro Commission the question of the proposed purchase.

Lack Information.

Mr. Mason said he did not at present know enough about the matter to discuss it properly and to recommend to the people of Oshawa that they buy their local distribution system.

Reeve Brittain of Newcastle asked what benefit would be gained by buying it.

Mr. Denne said that each municipality should save money by buying and owning its distribution system. Last year the Peterboro Utilities Commission had accumulated $24000 but $20,000 of that sum had been required to meet the Hydro's "thirteenth month" bill.

Several bases for determining a purchase price could be mentioned, Mr. Conant explained. Would the Hydro determine their price of a municipal distribution system on the basis of present appraisal, or on the basis of the amount paid by the Government, plus the capital expenditure since then.

The executive yesterday intimated that they had been cordially treated by the Hydro Commission, but apparently they felt that Mr. G. A. Gaby, the Hydro engineer had led them into a maze and left them there. Mayor Preston of Oshawa had recovered his morale, and proposed that the Commission be requested to answer the interrogatory

TREES FELLED DURING NIGHT

The Cobourg-Hastings Road Blocked By Vandal's Destruction.

NO MOTIVE SEEN.

(By An Examiner Reporter.)

COBOURG, March 26.—Three trees on the Cobourg-Hastings road were cut down late Thursday night by some person whose destructive motive was beyond the comprehension of George Greer, county road superintendent. Two of the trees fell across the road blocking it, although an early morning motorist was able to drag one of them out of the way.

The three trees were about three miles apart, the first north of Crossen's, six miles from town, the second at Hayden's, eight miles out of town, and the third on the Centreton road. The first two were elms and the third a pine. They were splendid big trees that had been left standing by Mr. Greer in his road construction. He was unable to account for what he said was sheer vandalism, nor had he any idea as to who felled the trees.

To Rebuild Bridge.

Mr. Greer said yesterday that the Dartford bridge, on the Cobourg road which collapsed two weeks ago during the spring freshets, would have to be rebuilt this season.

AROUND THE CITY

At an open meeting of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A., held on Thursday evening, an interesting address on Northern Ontario was given by Rev. Wm. McDonald, B.D., pastor of Knox United Church. Rev. G. J. Bousfield acted as chairman.

The comedy drama, "The Minister's Bride," was repeated by the choir of St. James' United Church, last evening to a packed house in the auditorium of the George Street United Church under the auspices of the Lookout Club.

The amusing play was greeted with plenty of applause. The orchestra of George Street Sunday School played during intermissions.

PRICE APPROVES DIVORCE COURT

Favors Establishment of Ontario Trbunal at Toronto.

COST PROHIBITIVE.

TORONTO, March 26.—Commenting on the fact that a bill would be introduced into the senate to provide for a divorce court in Ontario, Attorney-General Price yesterday morning said:

"I cannot see any reason why Ontario should not be placed in the same position as other provinces."

The cost of getting a divorce in Ontario, he said, was prohibitive in many cases where divorce was the only remedy for solving certain domestic difficulties. He pointed out that if it had been necesary for a resident of British Columbia to go all the way to Ottawa to obtain a divorce, the situation would have been remedied long ago. The average lawyer, he thought, was in favor of a divorce court for Ontario.

SEIZED AT FALLS.

Car Containing 36 Bags of Whiskey Confiscated By Customs.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 26 (Canadian Press).—A car containing 36 bags of whisky was seized by the Canadian Customs authorities yesterday. The driver, Fred Boyd, made his escape. The car was turned back at the American end of the lower bridge, and on its return was searched by Canadian officials. During the search Boyd made a successful get-away.

PRAGUE, March 24.—Prof. Peder never heard of Lya De Putti, although he does know his classical dictionary. Recently he advertised for a secretary to accompany him on a tour. By return mail he received an application, accompanied by a picture of Lya De Putti. The professor sent $100 at once for travelling expenses, but when the girl arrived she bore not the slightest resemblance to the picture. The professor wants his hundred.

British Given Credit For Saving Shanghai

LONDON, March 26 (Canadian Press Service).—Reuter's Shanghai correspondent, says a message to the British government is being widely signed by non-British foreigners resident in Shanghai, declaring that "if the British troops had not arrived when they did, the women and children would have had to be evacuated, and the settlement would probably have shared the same fate as those at Hankow and Kiukiang."

The statement expresses appreciation to the British government for the "prompt and adequate measures taken by it for the defence of Shanghai."

OLD AGE PENSION BILL DISCUSSED AT QUEEN CITY

Will Study Question and Confer Later With Federal Government.

NEED CO-OPERATION.

Control Bill Likely To Be Effective Second Week in May.

TORONTO, March 26. Canadian Press. — The Ontario Government is dceply interested in the adoption of the Old Age Pensions Act by the Dominion Parliament and the first opportunity will be taken by Premier Howard Ferguson and Hon. H. W. Price, the Attorney-General, to discuss the matter with members of the Federal Cabinet, the premier stated in the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon while the main estimates of the government were before the committee of supply.

The matter was raised by Leopold Macauley (Con., York South) when discussing the estimates for the Department of Health and the work of department nurses among the poor in the scattered communities of Northern Ontario. Mr. MacCauley said that many people were "sick because they were poor," and required the assistance of public bodies, and he thought that the Old Age Pensions, having been adopted by the Federal parliament, it would be opportune for the Ontario government to study its position in the matter.

Premier Ferguson said he hoped to take part in a full discussion of the problem at the next inter-provincial conference of cabinet ministers. After that it would be for the Ontario government to decide its policy on the matter and announce it to the public. In the meantime he would seek an opportunity shortly

EGGS CONTINUE DROP IN PRICE

Down To 25 Cents Before Closing of Market To-day.

CHICKENS SCARCE.

The price of eggs was still on the down grade at the farmers' market this morning. They opened at 30 cents a dozen, going down to 25 cents before the closing hour, with many baskets well filled even then. Butter was priced generally at 45 cents a pound, with one or two vendors asking up to 50 cents a pound. Cream was 30 cents a pint and chickens were quoted from 33 to 35 cents a pound, and were fairly scarce. Honey in pound and a half containers was 25 cents, and 20 and 25 cents in sections.

Maple syrup was 70 and 75 cents a quart, in small supplies, and potatoes were $1.40 and $1.50 a bag. Cooking apples were 40 cents a peck. Pork carcases were priced at 18 and 20 cents a pound, while little fat Tamworths on the hoof, who had a chilly feeling and retired beneath the sacking covering thoughtfully provided for them, were $12 and $13 a pair. A load of hay was $13.

Three "beautiful" carfish might be purchased this morning at half a dollar, and whitefish was 30 cents a pound. The cry of "nice, fresh fish" still resounds through the market, and there was a fascinated crowd about the open-air table of one purveyor of finny beauties, caught, not by the glistening skins of his wares, but by the cheerfulness and jollity of the legless man who seemed to get so much fun out of selling a box of whitefish, and handed jokes and pleasant remarks with the people who watched him.

MISSIONARIES AND INVESTORS HAVE ABANDONED PROPERTIES TO WHICH THEY CANNOT RETURN

Shanghai May Be Held For a Time, But Army Cannot Remain.

LEADER NEEDED

China Needs a Man Big Enough To Lift Country Out of Chaos.

LONDON, Mar. 26 (United Press). Is the domination of China by foreigners at an end?

This question is being anxiously asked in London, and the only reply to be present to which everyone agrees is that never in the lifetime of those now living, will foreigners again enjoy the special position they have held in China for many years. Missionary work is finished, at least for the time being, and the whole Yangtse valley has been cleared of foreigners, who probably will never return, and if they do, will have to form part of the ordinary Chinese communities without any special rights or privileges.

However, for some time to come it may be possible for foreigners to hold places like the international settlement at Shanghai, which is easy to defend from the sea, but at the same time it is obvious that the moment the victorious Cantonese establish some form of stable government, the regime will have to be modified, foreigners will inevitably lose some of their rights, and treaties will have to be revised.

Change Must Come.

The British cannot maintain a large army for ever in Shanghai, and the recognition of this fact they are impressing upon the other powers who are reluctant to admit there has been any change. These other powers assert that the Cantonese movement has yet to be tested and they seem to doubt whether the Nationalists will conquer the whole of China, and, if they do, whether they will be able to bring a stability of government to the country.

They even predict that the Cantonese movement will break into two factions, that fighting will ensue and that China will be back at

Synthetic Avalanche Kills Movie Employe

CORONA, Colo., March 26— The desire for reality brought death in the filming of a motion picture atop blizzard-swept James Peak in the Rocky Mountains.

One employe of the film company was killed and another was taken to a Denver hospital. Both had been buried by an avalanche, set off by dynamite yesterday in order that action pictures of a snow slide could be taken.

Fayette Bishop was dead when taken from the debris of the spent avalanche. John Steckler, buried under six feet of snow and rocks, was dug out, suffering from three crushed ribs and possible internal injuries.

The two had climbed the mountain of snow to start the slide. While cameras clicked the snow rumbled down unexpectedly into a canyon 900 feet below, catching the pair in its path.

SUN LIFE AGENTS END CONFERENCE WITH BANQUET

Annual Convention of Central Ontario Division Fittingly Closed.

INSPIRING ADDRESS.

John Nelson Gives Talk on "Work"—Has Made Company.

"Why, suh, I just kept goin' after 'em and bringin' 'em in," the answer of Tom Lee, the Memphis negro after he had saved a great many lives in a steamer wreck, was suggested as a motto for every Sun Life agent's office by John Nelson, Supervisor of Public Relations of the company, as he addressed the staff of the Central Ontario Division. The topic of Mr. Nelson's address was "Work," and he delivered it at a banquet held last night in the Paragon Hall to wind up the annual convention of the district.

The gathering was attended by most of the agents of the company in this division, with their wives, and the office staff of the division headquarters here. J. F. H. Wallace, Division Manager, presided. The catering by Messrs. Coleman Bros. left nothing to be desired.

The necessity of work in all lines of endeavor, and the part it has played in the growth of the company was the main topic of Mr. Nelson's address, which was delivered in an easy conversational style, and plentifully interspersed with humorous episodes and personal anecdotes. He called to their attention that all the men of the division, while telling of their methods during the conference sessions, had shown a great similarity, in that work was the base of all their success. He quoted

"The heights by great men won and kept,
Were not won in a single flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were up and toiling."

He reminded his hearers of Edison's slogan, "Perspiration, not inspiration." Work comes hard to most, the speaker continued, but there is no dodging it, as somebody has to do it. The majority of people are not on the jobs they pick out for themselves. Circumstances combine to put them in other jobs. If a man can't have the work he likes he should like the work he has. The way he does the job and sticks to it is what the world judges by.

The value of work as an elixir of youth was stressed. The vitality of Edison and other great workers was mentioned. Mr. Nelson quoted the Bible: "The young men shall see visions and the old men dream dreams," as giving the line between youth and age. As long as a man sees visions of the future he is young, and when he starts dreaming of the past he is old.

Work is also an antidote for the woes of life, which can be more easily borne by working than by seeking pleasure as a source of forgetfulness.

The best angle from which to approach work is the "try"-angle asserted Mr. Nelson, adding that most people are looking for excuses to get out of work or for not getting much done.

Turning to the progress of the company, Mr. Nelson said that it is going to build a great office building in Montreal because the men in the field are doing such good work that they are doubling the company's business every few years. He also

COWAN IN COBOURG JAIL YEARNS FOR HEALTH AND FREEDOM AGAIN

Petition To Ottawa For Release of Prisoner.

SHAKEN IN HEALTH.

Sentenced To 23 Months For Girl's Death

(By an Examiner Reporter)

COBOURG, March 26. — A petition for the release of Percy Cowan of Bowmanville, signed by three thousand persons from Toronto to Peterborough, including the Mayors of Oshawa, Bowmanville and Peterborough, was forwarded yesterday to the Minister of Justice, according to several reports here. Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., of Peterborough is said to be personally acting at Ottawa in the interests of the prisoner whose appeal was prepared by D. A. J. Swanson of Oshawa, who defended him in his trial before Mr. Justice Lennox at the Spring Assize here.

Cowan was found guilty of manslaughter in the death of Ruby Phair, who was instantly killed by the car he owned and was driving on the Kingston highway near his home. He was sentenced to twenty-three months in the County jail here.

Cowan has been gradually recovering, it is reported, from an illness which was aggravated by worry over the death of the girl and his subsequent trial and conviction. He was ill prior to his trial, and in court collapsed twice, requiring the aid of a doctor after he had been convicted and removed to jail. He has suffered from hemmorhages and his health has been much impaired.

Cowan told a friend yesterday he yearned for just two things—to be free and to have his health. He has been kindly treated in jail, and hasn't lost any of the suavity that really lent a touch of distinction to him even when he admitted having been a bootlegger.

prepared by the delegates at the meeting in the King Edward Hotel on the eve of the conference, but which somehow was more or less ignored during the discussion in the Commission's office. On that occasion Oshawa's Mayor was for the most part an auditor, while Mason, Conant and Alderman H. P. Schell engaged Mr. Magrath and his voluble engineer.

Mr. Mason contended that nothing could be gained by correspondence. Some of the questions had been answered during the conversation, he said.

Suspend Charge.

Alderman Schell remarked that since no charges had yet been made for a sinking fund, the Commission should not apply this charge until the plant had been "unscrambled."

Mr. Denne said Mr. Magrath had emphasized that charges were to be based on the cost of the whole system.

In comment on this it was suggested by another delegate that the matter of "de-watering" the Trent capitalization might be taken to Premier Ferguson himself. By such means interest charges might be substantially reduced, and some appeal of that kind was necessary if the electors were to be persuaded that a by-law to purchase the local distribution system was directly in their interests.

Nineteen Have Joined.

Mr. Herrity announced that nineteen municipalities had paid their fees, ten industries had joined and also four private individuals. Kingston and Campbellford had replied that they were not interested. Ten of the municipalities own their distribution systems.

SUN LIFE AGENTS

recounted, much to the amusement of his hearers, the troubles which beset the architect in getting his plans approved for a new building in London.

The company does business in many different countries, writing its policies in five different languages and receiving its premiums in twenty-five different currencies. It is carrying the name of Canada to many people to whom the name would otherwise mean nothing. They learn that Canadians are particular about the contracts they make and honorable in carrying them out. This is a real contribution to the welfare of Canada and a forerunner of successful trade.

Mr. Nelson told of the work which resulted in the company reaching such great development. He described the first office and recounted the adventures of the man sent to open up in the Orient and in England. The driving force in this was first Robertson Macaulay, whose aim was to make it the greatest company in Canada, and then his son, the present president, who was trained by his father to take over the management. They and those associated with them made the company great by work.

The words of Stanley Baldwin, "The salvation of this country depends on faith, hope, love, and work," were quoted by Mr. Nelson as applicable to this country as well as to England. In conclusion, he took his hearers to the battle-scarred areas of France, which are now resuming something of their peaceful pastoral beauty, not because of the efforts of great men in Paris or Geneva, but because of the long hours of work by the peasants of the district.

Our Company

The toast to "Our Company," was proposed by Arnold Platt, who expressed his appreciation of the honor of proposing the toast to the largest and best life insurance company in Canada; in fact in the British Empire. The company's activities take place in 49 countries under 42 flags.

"The Sun Life is great in the world of finance; it is great in the world of philanthropy. When we think of the mantle of protection thrown over millions of homes by this grand old company, we are amazed. When we consider the business of the fiscal year we can safely say that it is great in the business world.

"When we compare the Sun Life way with the methods of those which are called soulless corporations, we can understand this greatness. We think back over 60 years go to the motto over the desk of the late Robertson Macauley "Give to the policy holder the best investment possible." Our president says he wants the company to be known as "the Company with a soul."

Victor Harris

Victor Harris, Inspector of Agencies, responded to the toast to the company. The success of the company, he said, is largely due to the man in the field. He is the man who comes in touch with the public and by whom the company is known.

"Throughout the field organization," he said, "the company has a fine body of men and those of the Central Ontario Division are among the finest.

He thanked those present for giving him such a good time. As Mr. Harris was leaving to catch a train he was bade "Good-bye" with the strains of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The Ladies

Frank Hinchey proposed the toast to the ladies. In introducing him, the chairman said: "If there is any man known the girls, it is our Frank." His humorous address caused peals of laughter and was followed with cheers for the ladies.

Two Presentations

Two presentations were made. W. J. Abraham first called Mr. and Mrs. Wallace to stand up and addresesd them, telling of the appreciation in which they are held by the members of the staff, and Sheldon Phillips presented Mrs. Wallace with a silver cheese dish and Mr. Wallace with a fountain pen desk set. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace made suitable replies, Mr. Wallace ascribing the success of the division to the loyalty and work of the agents.

Mr. Abraham then called Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor to the front and told how much the agents appreciated the co-operation and advice of the Division Secretary. Mrs. Taylor was presented with a cake plate and Mr. Taylor with a pen set, this being done by Fred Wells. Mr. Taylor, in reply, said that unselfish service had been given by the field men, resulting in the division occupying a high place in the company's ranks.

Solos by Miss I. Howarth, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace, and readings by Mrs. Vaughan Walker were much enjoyed. Eric Fawcett played for the community singing and for a short dance which followed.

MANCHURIAN LEADER BELIEVES POWERS SHOULD DIRECT ACTION AGAINST SOVIET INSTEAD CHINA

Would Aid Shantupgese If Powers Guarantee Protection From Russia.

NEEDS MONEY.

Indicates Nanking Attacks Sequel To Mistake Made at Hankow.

LONDON, March 26. Canadian Press. — Chang Tso Lin, the Manchurian war lord, expressing sorrow for the events at Nanking in the past few days, believes that the powers should direct their action against the Bolsheviks, rather than against the Chinese, says a Peking despatch to the Westminster Gazette.

Chang Tso Lin, who is commander in chief of the northern forces, declared that if the powers would guarantee the Manchurian frontier against Soviet Russia, he could liberate 150,000 reliable troops to help the Shantungese, who have just lost Shanghai and Nanking.

Chang, the despatch says, wants the powers to help him with money and munitions.

The Manchurian war lord also indicated that he believed the Nanking attacks were the sequel to a mistake by the British in negotiation with the Cantonese at Hankow.

BUTLER ARRIVES.

SHANGHAI, March 26. Canadian Press. — Brigadier-General Smedley B. Butler, who arrived here yesterday to take command of the United States marine, told the newspaper men he was here to carry out Admiral Williams' orders, which in conformity with the United States policy, would be limited to employing the marines in the protection of the lives and property of United States' nationals. The marines would do what was necessary to that end.

He said he had made no request for further reinforcements.

STRENGTHEN ENTANGLEMENTS.

CANTON, China, March 26. Canadian Press. — Engineers and bluejackets from the British gunboat Tarantula, landed at Shameen, the foreign settlement here, yesterday. They are engaged in strengthening the barbed wire entanglements along the Bund.

FOREIGN OFFICE STAFF SAFE.

LONDON, March 25. — Canadian Press.—The manager of the Shanghai-Nanking and Shanghai-Hungchow-Ningpo Railroads has sent the following message to London:

"Reassure relatives and friends all members of foreign staff safe and well."

Property Looted.

SHANGHAI, March 26 (Canadian Press).—The easing of the situation at Nanking after the ultimatum issued by the naval commands there was preceded by a day of tenseness. Reports were received here throughout the day that all the official and personal property at the United States consulates was looted or destroyed by uniformed Nationalists. There is reason to believe that most of the foreign houses and missions in the city were looted and burned. It was reported definitely that the Nanking Theological Seminary and the Hillcrest School, United States mission properties, were destroyed by fire.

Protests Shelling.

General Chang Kai Shek, Cantonese generalissimo, who has been directing the recent movements of the Nationalist forces leading to the capture of Shanghai, Nanking and other cities in the Yangtse Valley from the northerners, has protested against Thursday's shelling by British and United States vessels of the vicinity of Socony compound where foreigners were under attack by Chinese forces.

The protest was made to British Vice-Consul Tribe, who is at Nanking on a mission of investigation. General Chang declared that he was taking full responsibility for the protection of foreigners. It is stated that Mr. Tribe replied in a strongly worded communication, questioning the value of Chang's assurances, in view of the inability of the Cantonese commanders on the spot to assert authority over the Nationalists.

Firmness Necessary.

Anglo-American naval officers at Nanking were reported to have taken the same view as Mr. Tribe concerning Chang's ability to control the situation.

The joint decision to shell salient military points in Nanking in the event that the Cantonese proved recalcitrant was described here as being based on the belief that such firmness was necessary. The belief is felt in foreign naval circles that it will have an excellent moral effect, not only in Nanking, but all along the river, whereas failure to take effective action would not only imperil the lives of the remaining British and Americans, but probably would necessitate the prompt evacuation of all the Anglo-Americans in the Yangtse Valley.

However, it was stated definitely last night that, as a result of "negotiations between the Anglo-Americans and Chinese there was no bombardment."

General Pai Tsung Hei, Cantonese commander in Shanghai, last night insisted that the Cantonese should not be blamed for the Nanking outrages. He declared that 60,000 Northern soldiers and from 2,000 to 3,000 white Russians were in Nanking just before the outbreak and that they had indulged in an orgy of rioting and looting.

He also complained that gangs of "plain clothes gunmen had cropped up wherever the Nationalist army appeared and that their suppression was one of the most difficult problems confronting the Nationalists.

Makes Escape.

A report received from United States Consul John K. Davis at Nanking graphically described the escape of his party from Socony compound Thursday under a protective barrage from warships. The party, consisting of Mr. Davis, one officer, 11 soldiers, nine civilians and two children, climbed over the city wall under the barrage and reached the Yangtse River.

Previous to this, Chinese police had informed Mr. Davis at the Consulate that the entire party would be destroyed unless they fled from the Consulate. This information, coming on the heels of reports of the cold-blooded murder of a missionary and the attempted murder of many other foreigners by soldiers prompted the party at the Consulate to flee to Socony compound. Their flight was under a constant fire. Until their final rescue, they were under attack at the Socony compound.

SYDNEY PREPARES ROYAL RECEPTION

City Gaily Decorated To Welcome Duke and Duchess of York.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 26. — Sydney is gaily beflowered and keenly anticipating the arrival early to-day of the Renown with the Duke and Duchess of York aboard. The most elaborate arrangements have been made to give the royal visitors the warmest welcome.

Meanwhile, it is learned, through officials here, that the Duchess who contracted an attack of tonsilitis while in New Zealand, has not yet fully recovered and it is expected that she will be ordered to conserve her strength. For this reason her share of the official programme will probably be curtailed.

It is delicately hinted that the Duke and Duchess might have a second happy event shortly after their return to England.

FIRM SENT GOODS TO MONTREAL FOR APPRAISAL HEARD AT PROBE

Importations From Germany Given Lower Valuation in Quebec.

HIGH AT TORONTO.

Officially Notified O'Keefe's License Be Withheld Unless Books Produced.

TORONTO, March 26 (Canadian Press). — The strenuous efforts which were put forth by the firm of McAvoy and Levy, customs brokers of Montreal, to obtain a low valuation for duty purposes on goods imported from Germany by the King Suspender and Neckwear Company, of Toronto, were revealed in correspondence produced before the Customs Commission yesterday.

"Our Mr. Levy has a severe throat, due to prolonged conversation with the hardware department (of the Montreal Customs) regarding the arm-bands, and has pleaded, cajoled, bull-dozed and threatened the Department. But they insist that they must have a few more days to consider the value as they claim the inspectors at Ottawa are very keen on German imports and they do not want to run a chance of antagonizing the inspector's office unless they are sure of their ground."

Lower Valuation.

Thus ran an extract of a letter from Messrs. McAvoy and Levy, at Montreal, to the King Suspender Neckwear Company of Toronto, under date of March 2nd, 1923. It was written in connection with an importation of German arm-bands which the Toronto company had sent to them direct and then reshipped to Montreal, where they were entered into Canada. From Louis Greisman, manager of the King Company, who was called to the witness stand yesterday afternoon, R. L. Calder, K.C., endeavored to ascertain why these goods were brought to Toronto and then re-shipped to Montreal before being declared. He suggested that the company hoped to get them in for a lower valuation at Montreal than at Toronto.

Mr. Greisman did not admit this, but he agreed that the Toronto Customs had advanced the price of the arm-bands from one cent a pair, as set forth on the German invoice, to ten cents which was the price similar goods from Great Britain would bring.

A. E. Nash, auditor for the Commission, in reporting on the transaction to the Commission, said that "the company's correspondence with McAvoy and Levy clearly indicates that the King Suspender and Neckwear Company expected to get more favorable treatment at the port of Montreal than they would get in Toronto." He also reported that the same correspondence "would imply the practice of giving small gifts of ties and handkerchiefs to appraisers at the port of Montreal from time to time."

Four Cent Reduction.

The report of the auditors on a case of arm-bands which were invoiced from Germany at one cent a pair for the King Suspender and Neckwear Company indicated that a valuation of ten cents a pair was placed on them for Customs purposes. Representations made by the Customs brokers apparently resulted in the reduction of this valuation to four cents a pair.

The auditors reported that a letter on the files of the King Suspender Company from G. Kleenblat, of Leipzig, Germany, "indicates that quantities of liquor and cigarettes were shipped as enclosures with other packages. No evidence is ber of voters per polling booth, and T. J. Mahony agreed that ordinarily the polling booths could take care of twice the number, but Mr. Finlayson said that when there were numerous offices filled and several by-laws to be voted on, the proceedings were slowed up.

Highway Damages.

Among the most important changes which the committee made was an amendment to section 325 of the present act, covering the damage which may be secured from a municipality by an individual on account of injury to property through highway widening operations.

The act was broadened so as to make it clear that compensation may be sought for injury to business.

Arbitration.

A further change in the law regarding a municipality and an individual in damage proceedings was made in amending the arbitration provisions.

Whereas in the past the municipality has appointed one arbitrator and the plaintiff another, the two of them agreeing on a third, in the future the county judge or a judge designated by him will act alone. The right of appeal to the supreme court is left unaffected.

Many sections of the old Municipal act, which were regarded as duplications of the criminal code or of other laws, and to be actually ultra vires of the Municipal act itself, were repealed.

You cannot be economical unless you know; you cannot be stylish unless you know; you cannot know unless you look for information. Read the advertisements; let them keep you au fait to the hour they are printed.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

TWO LIVES

A strange thing life—and stranger too.
We come, though whence we know not of,
With minds to will, with hands to do.
And, stranger than all, with hearts of love.
Well, let the smug materialists
Explain this body and this brain.
And, since they cannot pierce the mists,
Say nothing lies beyond the rain—

But how shall they explain that we.
Two lives, with different roofs and kin,
Walked through the world where many be,
Nor knew the other dwelt therein,
Yet passed a million faces by,
Yet passed a million faces by,
And gave a thousand how-dye-do,
And cared for none, and knew not why?—
A strange thing life, and stranger two.

And then one day, like a great rush
Of waters when they meet at last,
We came together in the crush
Of all the millions that had passed:
Two lives we each had thought our own
We found were each a part of one,
And knew that nevermore alone
This thing called living could be done.

Men reap and write and paint and build,
The world is full of things of worth,
Yet shelves with hopeless boosk are filled
To prove that these are things of earth.
Aye, men explain the mystery of
The minds that will, the hands that do;
But tell us, doubter, why we love?—
A strange thing life, and stranger two.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : Jesus Teaches in Parables

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

Jesus, preaching to "publicans and sinners," tells the story of the "Lost Sheep" to illustrate God's love and tender mercy. The shepherd, if he lose one of a hundred sheep, will leave the ninety-nine and go after the lost one until he finds it. (Luke XV : 1-7)

The same gospel of God's love seeking the sinner is further emphasized in the story of the woman searching diligently until she finds a lost piece of money. (Luke XV : 8-10)

But greatest of all is the Parable of the Prodigal Son, who took his journey into a far country, and who fell into sin and want. (Luke XV : 11-17)

And of the loving father, longing for his lost son, who welcomed him home with joy and forgiveness, when he returned, sadder, wiser and repentant. A great message concerning God's fatherhood. (Luke XV :18-32)

OLD MASTERS

The splendors of the firmament of time
May be eclipsed, but are extinguished not;
Like stars to their appointed height they climb,
And death is a low mist which cannot blot
The brightness it may veil. When lofty thought
Lifts a young heart above its mortal lair,
And love and life contend in it, for what Shall be its earthly doom, the dead live there
And move like winds of light on dark and stormy air.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

THIS week I am going to give you something which has been of inestimable value to myself as I have sat musing at the manse window. Call it a sermon if you will! Here it is as it came to me from my friend, John A. Broadus. It arose out of an examination of these words which are to be found in Matthew 7:7, "Ask and it shall be given you." Sitting down beside me in the most friendly way, he spoke after this fashion: One thing is certain, the Lord Jesus believed in prayer. It is no new thing to find some persons who question the reality of prayer. There have always been such persons; but the Lord Jesus Christ believed in it. He showed His belief by often teaching us that we ought to pray, by assuring us that prayer will be heard, and by praying much Himself. When a person, profoundly sincere and highly intelligent, frequently urges others to do a certain thing, and frequently does it himself, we are sure that he believes in it; so, whenever a man undertakes to say that prayer is not a reality, it ought to be distinctly borne in mind that he flings away the authority of Jesus Christ; that he arrays himself openly and hopelessly against the whole genius of Christianity, against the plainest teachings and constant practice of its founder. We ought always to see where we are and to see what is the meaning of this or that position.

I do not know whether it is worth while, in passing, to recall the sensation of a few years ago on this subject, and remark upon it. I suppose that the idea of what they used to call a prayer-test in the newspapers is plainly enough a thing

Improper and Impossible.

It is improper because to ask Christians to confine their prayers to one side of a hospital and pray not at all for the unhappy sufferers on the other side, is to ask a thing out of the question—a refined species of cruelty to be practiced by those who believe in prayer. It is improper, too, because it proposes that we should try experiments upon God. They did sometimes try that sort of thing upon Jesus Christ, and He invariably refused to submit to it. He wrought wonders and signs beyond number when He thought proper; but when according to what they thought proper, He never granted it. For us to do this that is proposed would be just that which they did. They do not believe that prayer now works miracles. It is not the idea at all that prayer operates with respect to physical fixed forces otherwise than in accordance with physical laws. And so if you suppose prayer to be answered in such a case, it could only be in concurrence with proper physical conditions. Then the unbeliever would say at once that this is not a result of prayer. Such a test is impossible unless prayer works miracles, and no one who understands the matter would suppose that to be the idea. Is it not true then—plain enough now as we look back upon it—that the newspaper sensation of a few years since was a thing improper and a thing impossible?

They Demanded a Sign

But for us who believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, it comes back to this, that and that disposition to cry out to Him for mercy and help, which is no invention of theological thinkers, which is the product and the natural expression of human need and dependence, has the high sanction of Christ. He believed in prayer; He taught us to pray; He said, "Ask, and it shall be given."

And notice how often He has repeated it. One might say that that one word was enough. But He said it three times, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." As if not content with that, He repeats it three times again, in the form of an assurance that so it always is. "For every one that asketh receiveth, and he that seeketh findeth, and to him that knocketh it is opened." And even after that He goes on to argue it by a most cogent argument and Affecting Appeal.

Why this multiplied repetition and assurance? Ah! He knew very well how imperfectly we believe in prayer; how difficult it is for us to treat prayer as reality, and He wanted to help us. He condescends to our infirmity, and again and again, in multiplied forms of expression, He would assure us that if we ask, we shall receive. You know how prone we are to make prayer degenerate into an outward thing.

How hard it is for us, when we try to pray, to realize what we are doing! I remember being once deeply impressed with this thought when present at an institution for

The Deaf and Dumb.

After some teaching had been done, one of the instructors proceeded to give them a little address on faith, and then he called upon them to pray. The whole room was still. He stood with reverent face and slowly moved his hands and arms in the signs which they understood, and they sat before him with gazing eyes, and the room grew still as with the stillness of death. I said to myself—I could hear my heart beat—I said, "This is praying." Not a word spoken, but this was praying, praying without any of the forms to which we are accustomed. The eyes were wide open, not a sound was heard, and yet human souls were entering into communion with the Father of all spirits. I went away with a profounder sense than ever before of the distinction between the mere outward form and means of prayer, and the inner spirit which is prayer.

He knows how prone we are to be discouraged in

when we try experiments upon prayer, and get out of heart, and quit. As a man who is endeavoring to effect some invention, and has given all his labor and used all his materials, hoping that he will get the result, when he fails, gives over the experiment, so, how often do we make a mere half-hearted experiment of praying for a certain blessing upon ourselves and others, and when it does not come, we are tempted to give it up as a failure! The Saviour knows how impatient we are that the blessing shall come quickly, and therefore cautions us not to faint when we do not receive it on the instant. We may not receive it in the form we looked for. It may come in a form so different that we shall scarcely recognize it as what we asked for; and so He gives us His assurance and seeks to build up confidence in our hearts that praying is a reality, that Prayer is a Power.

"What man is there of you—a mere man—who, if his son ask for bread, will give him a stone?" Will he give him something that looks like bread, but which is worthless? "Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent?"—something that looks like a fish but which is poisonous and deadly? Will he mock his child's petition by giving him something like what he asked for, but that would be useless and harmful? And if ye who are evil, with all the imperfections of your sinful humanity, if ye know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Heavenly Father give good things to them that ask Him! It is not an argument merely, as I used to think it was—it is not an argument merely as to willingness to give. It is an argument as to Wisdom in Giving.

Our Father is not only willing to give; He is wise in giving. That is the point, and just there lies one of the greatest privileges the Scriptures open up to us, in the assurance that God will give wisely, and this involves withholding where He shall see that withholding is better. That is the sweetest privilege of prayer. For if God should give to you and me an unlimited promise of earthly good for the asking, the more we know ourselves and the more we understand human nature and human life, the more afraid we should be that we might ask for things which would be harmful. Have you not often asked God for something which you have lived to find out would have been a curse to you? Have you not often entreated God to spare you something which it turned out to be a blessing to you that He did not spare? Have you not learned more and more how little you could rely upon your judgment as to What Was Really Best?

But, as God is wise in giving, we may ask without fear. If we ask for something that we think is good and He sees that it is evil, we may be sure that He will not grant it. If we ask for what is really good—He will do for us either what we ask or something better.

One Sunday afternoon, now many years ago, I remember to have been sitting in a darkened room with the body of a little child; and in the room was a little boy ten or twelve years of age, one of those strange, thoughtful children that startle us by asking questions that sink down deep into the mysteries of human life. After a long silence the boy spoke, and said, "Uncle, I should like to ask you something." "Well." "Does not the Bible say that whatever we ask God, He will do for us?" "Yes." "Well, I did ask Him to spare my little cousin's life—I did ask Him and

He Did Not Do It.

I asked Him and I don't know what to think about it." Ah! I thought, as we sat in the darkened room, how far down the child is going already into the sorrowful depths of the human heart! The answer I made was something like this: "You know that if your father should send you off to boarding-school, and were to tell you in parting that whatever you wanted you must write to him and you should have it; and if you were to write to your father on the strength of that promise, for something that was not right for him to give, or was not really best for you, your father would be very sure not to give to you, and if he did not give it to you, would you think he had broken his promise?" The child heaved a sigh and said, "Yes, I think I see how it is." And before he left me, my friend, John A. Broadus said, "The more you reflect upon it, the more comfort there is in that thought, that, in answering our prayer for temporal good, our Heavenly Father will give wisely, and so will even refuse our prayer when He sees that something else is better."

After he had gone I determined that there should be a new meaning to me in the prayer, "Lord, teach us to pray."

—Allan Fairbairn.

Will It Work

IF you will begin at the twelfth verse of the second chapter of Joel's prophecy and read on to the end, then get the swing of conquest in Acts 2, there is no power on earth or hell that can keep back the flood-tide of salvation that will set in. Try it! Don't question it, or quarrel over it, but try it.

A Word To Journalists

O YE slow, judicious, careful people who take an hour to turn a sentence and a day to write a paragraph, and a week to discover the fact, be ye warned in time! Journalism is no profession for you. The man who cannot write a thousand words fit for print in an hour is a man who should choose some other profession.

Children's Corner — TELL US A STORY

JACK, whose uncle was a farmer, had been spending his holidays on his uncle's farm. One morning, anxious to amuse the boy and give him a good time, his uncle took him round to make a tour of the land.

In the yard they came across a small retriever puppy, which was whirling round and round chasing its tail. "Oh, uncle," cried Jack, "what kind of a dog is that?"

"That's a watch dog, Jack," replied his uncle.

"Oh, I see," continued the lad. "I suppose he is winding himself up now!"

My young friends, you can make an application of that story. Be a self-winder. If you are a watch be the best kind of a watch—a self-winder.

HOW TO READ

I DO not know half a dozen people in the world who can read. They go on slowly, or if they make speed they miss pages. You can train your eyes in such a way that almost at a glance they will take in a printed page, and this will give ample leisure for reading everything.

CHURCHES AND CHURCHMEN

By I. SEEWELL

Good Preaching.

AFTER serving eight years as rector of Grace and St. Peter's Church, Baltimore, Md., the Rev. H. P. Almon Abbott, D.D., has been called to St. George's Church, Montreal. In the course of a sermon preached in St. James' Episcopal Church, New York, on the text, "Exhort one another daily, while it is called today; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin," Heb. 3:13., he said: The word that should startle us in this sentence is the word hardened. As a matter of fact, we are not much affraid today of being hardened, are we? There are persons terrified lest their loved ones become sensual. But it is better to be lecherous than to be hardened; because there is more hope of a man in the grip of some particular sin than there is of a hardened soul who cominits no sin especially condemned by canons of good taste. The perils of becoming hardened is one of the subtlest of all perils.

It is the peculiar peril of those who are very familiar with the gospel. If we are not startled by this idea, if the thought produces no pang of shame, no dart of fear, but seems altogether commonplace, the chances are that the process of hardening already has made some progress.

Every Child is Plastic.

NO human being starts life hardened. No child is hard. Human nature is essentially impressionable. Every child is plastic. He has his windows open toward the morning. He indulges in romance, dreams dreams and sees visions, and is a creature of tears and laughter. The man who is hard and boasts of his hardness was not always thus. If I could put my hand on his shoulder and by some mysterious process carry him back through the years, I feel sure that I could bring him to tenderness, to a time when he was easily moved, soft, emotional. He may say, "Thank God, that time has passed!" But, if he knew all that the change meant, he would weep because he could weep no more.

Weeping Over a Dead Canary.

WHAT is the process of hardening? First, we begin to fight against the tendency to the child-like; then we seek to stifle conscience; then we question the verity of things unseen. Once we would have wept over a dead canary. Later we have no tears for a dead soul. The fountain is dried up. Once the boy flushed when he told a lie. Later the man lies with no outward blush and no inward sense of shame. Once the whole soul believed in Almighty God. The time comes when he knows nothing of his best friend. Hardening, the stifling of tears, of conscience, of faith, has resulted in hardness.

You have become hard—equal, of course, to dealing with business, but not equal to the commerce of eternity; equal to handling the the forces of this life, but not equal to laying hold on powers eternal; equal to dust and the things of dust, but not equal to God and the things of God. It is desperately difficult to deal with such a soul, to reach with the evangel one who knows it best, but is unmoved by it to high endeavor.

The Cause of Hardness.

THE cause of this hardness is sin. Let us interpret the word as does the writer of this epistle to the Hebrews. To the last chapter he makes sin synonymous with unbelief. Belief is that which brings men into personal relation with Jesus Christ so as to save them. What is the belief that saves men? Not intellectual assent to formulated truth. We know that one may be at the same time orthodox and a scoundrel. A man on Sunday recites the creed, "I believe in God the Father Almighty. And in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord. And in the Holy Ghost, the Comforter." But does he? To know this, I must live with him on Monday, observe his business methods, his habits of speech, the tone of his disposition. If, not only with my mind, but with my will, I believe in God, I shall live from Sunday to Saturday as one who seeks to fulfil God's law and who measures his activities by God's standards. The belief that saves compels the surrender of the whole man to his conviction of the truth.

Unbelief is the refusal to obey the truth of which one is intellectually convinced. To hear the message, to assent to its accuracy and power, then not to obey its counsels—this it is that hardens a man. He is hardened by the very truth that should have softened him, debased by the knowledge that should have made him noble.

The Result of False Argument.

HOW can men know what is true and refuse to obey it? How can they be conscious that the spirit of God is striving with them, yet refuse to yield? The method of the process is deceit. "Lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin." The sin of unbelief is always the result of false argument. When a man does not obey the truth, he is deceived intellectually, emotionally or volitionally.

Suppose you tell me that in the full sense of the term you are not a Christian. You are thoroughly familiar with the gospel, you have been nourished on the hymns of the church, you have been baptized, and you are a communicant; but you are not a real Christian. Why? Because you have refused to obey the whole truth. But why have you refused? You may tell me, because you desire your liberty.

Listen! This is the deceitfulness of sin. Is sin ever more deceptive and subtle than when it tells a man that, if he refuses to obey the truth, he will be free? Do you not know that no man is free unless he is chained to the throne of God? No man is free who seeks to follow the lusts of his own heart. No man is free because he rushes through life waving his own flag of liberty. Your attempt to do what you want, unshackled by law, is weaving its own chain. You may toy with its silken loveliness. But try to break a link! You discover that it is adamant.

What is the story of corruption in this city or any city? The story of men who sought freedom and found slavery. You say, "I appreciate the Christian ethic; but I want to see life." Tell me this: What are the things that, not being a Christian, you can do that I cannot do as a Christian man? If you will answer truly, you will see that the thing to which you are clinging is the very thing that binds with chains of death.

Promises Which Are Never Kept.

OH, the deceitfulness of sin, the foxiness of sin! Think of the things it promises and never gives! Think of its trickery! "Ye shall be as gods," it says; and then it gives forever the lust of evil! To a man so deceived the things of the soul seem indeed farther off than when he was a boy. The world may tell him that he has done well. He has made money, attained a position, achieved a reputation. But it has been at a tremendous cost. When he lost his sensitized conscience he lost the balance wheel of his life. When he lost his faith in man and God, he lost what made life most worth while. When he lost himself, he lost God's greatest gift. He is in desperate plight.

Backward, turn backward, O time, in your flight;
Make me a child again just for tonight.
Mother, come back from the echoless shore,
Take me again to your heart as of yore.
Backward, flow backward, O full tide of years!
I am so weary of toil and of tears,
Toil without recompense—tears all in vain,
Take them and give me my childhood again.
I have grown weary of dust and decay,
Weary of flinging my heart's wealth away—
Weary of sowing for others to reap;
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep!

Not a Cry for Toys.

THIS is not the cry of a child for toys. It is the wail of a soul that needs God. Does it stir you? Thank God if a sob rises in your heart. Do not check the sign of warmth. Cherish it that you may cease to be hard, shrewd, clever, and may become a little child once more. There is little to do but bury a man when his dreams are dead. All that you need to do is to surrender yourself anew to God, believe His truth and obey the truth you know. Then shall come promise of harvest, and where the desert has been shall blossom the rose.

A Word to the Rich

THOSE who are eager to be rich get tempted and trapped in many senseless and pernicious propensities that drag men down to ruin and destruction. For love of money is the root of all mischief; it is by aspiring to be rich that certain individuals have gone astray from the faith and found themselves pierced with many a pang of remorse. . . . Charge the rich of this world not to be supercilious, and not to fix their hopes on so uncertain a thing as riches, but on the living God who richly provides us with all the enjoyments of life; tell them to be bountiful, rich in good works, open-handed and generous, amassing right good treasure for themselves in the world to come, in order to secure the life which is life indeed.

The above is Moffat's Translation of I Timothy 6: 9-10; 17-19.

God's best gift to us is not things, but opportunities.

Few men suspect how much more talk fritters away spiritual energy—that which should be spent in action, spends itself in words. Hence he who restrains that love of talk lays up a fund of spiritual strength.

CHARLES B. ROBERTSON.

Word has been received of the sudden death in Three Hills, Alberta, of a former well-known resident of Peterborough in the person of Charles B. Robertson. Mr. Robertson was at one time an employee of the C.G.E., and was for several years a member of the City Council. He left here some twenty-five years ago for Three Hills, where he had since resided and where for some time he acted as Police Magistrate.

Surviving relatives are his widow and one son, residing in Three Hills; two brothers, Thomas, of 265 Bethune street, Peterborough, and Frederick, of Pittsburg, Pa., and one sister, Mrs. Millage, of Detroit, Mich.

Many older citizens who remember Mr. Robertson will learn with deep regret of his death.

PROTECTING PROPERTY.

It has been suggested to The Examiner, and the proposal has much merit in it, that the Horticultural Society might be able to do something to create among Peterborough youngsteers a greater respect for private property.

A campaign of education along this line would seem to be long overdue, judging from the scurvy treatment lawns and boulevards receive from local youngsters, particularly at this season of the year when trespassing causes the most harm.

A nice, soft, muddy lawn seems to have an irresistible attraction for the average youngster; the deeper he can sink his boots in the broader the smile that accompanies the attack.

The Horticultural Society, one of the objects of which is to arouse in the breast of every citizen an ambition to clean-up and beautify his property, is perhaps the logical body to endeavour to protect that property from assault at this time when damage is easiest to accomplish and hardest to eliminate.

The suggestion is, therefore, passed on to the officers of the society with power to act.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

The matter of old age pensions is now up to the various Provinces of Canada, or at least it will be when the Federal bill receives royal assent.

The obstacle which wrecked a similar measure last year—the Senate—has been safely passed, and the bill will remain on the statute books ready for use as soon as any Provincial Legislature decides to take advantage of the plan.

Under this measure half of the cost must be paid by any Province which resolves to adopt the system.

So far at least the various Provincial Governments have shown no enthusiasm in the matter, and unless there is sufficient pressure of public opinion to stir up the administrations into action, it is evident that the Federal measure will remain inactive for a long time.

The people who would be eligible for relief under this scheme at the present time should have no illusions in the matter.

The way is open to Provincial Governments to take care of older residents, but it must be admitted there is not the slightest sign so far as Ontario and most of the other Provinces are concerned that any immediate advantage will be taken of the opportunity.

WILL TRY IT AGAIN.

Premier Ferguson has once more withdrawn his bill replacing the Section School Board system with a Township Board system, announcing that he will re-introduce the measure next year.

As Minister of Education, Mr. Ferguson is convinced that the proposed change would be of material benefit to rural education, cutting down the cost and increasing the efficiency of country schools, but he does not wish to press the passing of his bill until he feels that rural public opinion is in favour of the measure.

So far he has not succeeded in selling the idea to rural communities, despite the fact that educationists generally have endorsed the Township Board plan as a very marked improvement over the present system.

That system leaves much to be desired; there are far too many schools with a handful of pupils, and the cost per pupil is higher than there is any need for it to be.

Even these conditions, however, have not as yet won support in rural Ontario for Mr. Ferguson's plan, and he has now decided to devote another year to the task of convincing opponents of the Township Board system that his proposal means a general betterment of rural education.

LETTING GEORGE DO IT.

Governing bodies continue to give convincing evidence that the agitation to reduce the size of Provincial Legislatures and of the Federal Parliament is fairly well founded.

The latest demonstration has been given by the Ontario Legislature, which in committee passed the last forty-five clauses of the Liquor Control Act in little over an hour, and with an attendance that reached a peak of only 55 members, less than one-half of the strength of the House.

A large portion of this measure, the most important legislation of the session, and bringing into being a system of dealing with the liquor traffic that will directly or indirectly affect everybody in Ontario, was put through with over fifty per cent. of the members missing.

The viewpoint of the thousands of people who voted against the introduction of Government control found only nine spokesmen in the House, the Opposition forces consisting of but seven Liberal members and two Progressives.

If a question that divided Ontario into two camps last autumn and occasioned one of the most interesting election campaigns in the history of the Province can only command a 50 per cent. attendance, the arguments of those who advocate a smaller Legislature would seem to have a very substantial foundation.

The spirit of "Let George Do It" seems to be in the air, so far as our politicians are concerned.

NAMES FOR SLEEPING CARS.

(From The Toronto Globe.)

Many a traveller has wondered where the railways get names for their sleeping cars. Of course, a day coach has not the airs of a "sleeper," and is known by a mere number. A low number seems somehow to spell age, early ideas in construction, even discomfort. The sleeping cars, however, hide their age under a name which might belong to yesterday or the nineteenth century.

Yet even this is a hasty conclusion, for a new idea is taking possession of railway moguls. The Canadian National is invading the Eastern territory in its quest. A Montreal despatch tells us that among names recently chosen is Chicoutimi, a rising Quebec town in Lake St. John district. Another is Rouyn, the mining camp in Northwestern Quebec, near the Ontario boundary. Even Ontario is remembered in such names as Orillia, Peterborough, Welland and St. Thomas.

In older days the Pullman Company, which supplied sleepers for many railways, used old classical names of such sort as Eurydice, Leander, and so on, which were the inheritance of the world from great literature. The Canadian Pacific drew from the Indian lore of the West and the names of mountains, each, of course, suggesting some scenic beauty of which the company would lure potential travellers' minds to turn. In Nova Scotia the Dominion Atlantic Railway capitalized local literary possessions by using characters in Longfellow's "Evangeline."

And now the Canadian National is turning to older Canada. It would be interesting to learn the method of name-choosing. Is there not here a chance for ambitious Boards of Trade to press their claims? Is there not a thrill awaiting the former resident of Goderich or Mariposa who finds his home town recorded in gold letters on a car which may travel from coast to coast? It is an age of advertising, and car names are not to be despised. Only, let us hope the choices will be worthy and for sufficient reason.

MAN'S CLOTHES.

A German professor says men wear too many clothes. Women, he declares, have improved their health in recent years by decreasing the weight and extent of their garments, and uncovering various parts of their anatomy to air and sunlight. He believes that some of the ailments from which they were accustomed to suffer have almost disappeared because of saner sartorial customs. But though the dog, even in winter, carries only two per cent. of his weight in hair, man goes around laden sometimes with an additional burden of 10 per cent. of his weight in clothes.

This is probably all true. Perhaps it is due to the fact that man doesn't think as much about clothes as does the so-called fair sex. When one garment wears out, he buys another to replace it. A coat is a coat, and trousers are trousers, but the outer garb of woman is not so simple as all that. Then, too, man is irrational. In the coolness of his home he often goes about in his shirt sleeves, and sometimes collarless and without tie. But to go out into the warm street and engage in walking in the hot sun, he puts on a coat, and envelops his neck in two or three thicknesses of cloth, often stiff, starched cloth.

Still, our German professor suggests a dubious remedy. Short trousers, bare legs and arms, no collar are his recommendations for "all but the coldest weather." The world is ugly enough as it is; and the bare masculine leg and neck would merely add to its lack of beauty by their scrawny unsightliness. As for the coat, a man must have pockets. That is a fundamental which even a professor ought not to overlook. We can't go around carrying a pipe, a can of tobacco and a box of matches in our hands, as a woman carries her necessities.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

HOGGING THE AIR.

Radio fans in Ottawa and throughout the Dominion will regret to hear that Canadian officials in conference with Washington authorities on the vexed question of the securing of exclusive wave lengths for this country have been refused a fair share of the ether.

Ever since the beginning of radio in Canada operators of stations and the public have been up against a situation in which the big United States stations have practically "hogged the air," making the broadcasting of Canadian programmes an uncertain and difficult operation. There are approximately 60 available wave lengths between 200 and 500 meters in North America on which there are operating close to 900 stations, ninety per cent. of which are run in the United States. The result has been almost indescribable confusion and certainly very little uninterrupted enjoyment for the hundreds of thousands of radio fans in this country.

Some years ago there was a general agreement with the United States that six of the 60 wave lengths should be reserved for Canada. On this understanding Canadian stations started to operate on these lengths only to find that the agreement was not being adhered to, and that it was almost as difficult to operate on these reserved waves as on the remaining 52. The situation has steadily grown worse, so much so that several Canadian stations have had to change their wave lengths at short notice in order to get any sort of a chance to put across their programmes.

Taking advantage of a conference in Washington to inaugurate some general control by the United States Government of the complicated radio situation Deputy Minister Johnston and Commander Edwards went to the American capital to look after Canadian interests in the new arrangements. They asked that 12 wave lengths be exclusively reserved for Canada and that the United States Government make it their business to see that Canadian stations were not treated as if they were unwanted interlopers in the ether. It is to be hoped that Canada's case will not be left in this unsatisfactory shape and that our Government will take further action in the matter.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

An English motor driver has broken the American mile record. It is to be hoped his feat will not inspire some of our George street speeders to greater efforts.

The Liquor Control Act having passed the committee stage, the session will soon come to a close. There has been a commendable speed to the proceedings all through, and the present session furnishes an example that should be followed.

The City Council has decided upon a price to be offered for the gas plant and street railway. The Hydro Commission now has the floor.

The Old Age Pension Act has gone one stage further than last year, inasmuch as the Senate, which turned the measure down then, has now given the measure its third reading.

Mussolini is now tackling the censorship of the press, stage, art, movies and records. When he gets through in Italy perhaps he could be induced to try his hand on this side of the Atlantic.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Mar. 26 — After a couple of weeks of light runs, and steadily advancing prices, the cattle market struck a snag in this week's trading. Advances suddenly came to a halt, then followed the retreat, prices finally settling 25c lower on choice offerings, and 40c to 50c lower on leftover stale cattle. At the close of Thursday's market there were still quite a number of stale cattle left over unsold.

The change in the general tone of the market was attributed to various causes, among them a greater proportion of rough, unfinished cattle offering, slower demand from the packers, probably due to the lent season, and a falling off in the demand for the export trade.

Export buyers took 200 steers at $7.75 to $8.25, with the odd steer at $8.40; heifers, $7.25 to $7.75. One car of bulls 5c. Export buyers have no orders for next week. Choice butchers' steers and heifers were a shade lower, from 15 to 25 cents for the medium and best kinds. There were about 1,500 cattle carried over by commission houses on Monday.

Choice butchers' steers sold at $7.60 to $8.15, with a few fancy at $8.25; choice heifers, $7.50 to $7.85; good steers and heifers, $7 to 7.50; medium, $6.50 up. Choice butchers' cows a shade easier, selling from $5.75 to $6, with the odd cow at $6.25. Kosher cows, $6 to $6.50; good cows, $5 to $5.50; medium cows, $4.50 to $4.75; cutters, $2.50 to $3; canners, $2 to $2.50; choice butcher bulls, $5.50 to $6; good, $5 to $5.25; heavy bulls, $4.75 to $5; bologna, $4 to $4.50. Baby beeves sold from $10 to $10.50 for choice; medium, $7 to $8.

Springers and milkers — Trade very quiet. Buyers taking the Durham springers, and choice Holsteins from $75 to $90; good, $55 to $70; common cows very hard to sell at $30 up. Milkers are really not wanted; a few choice, with calf at foot, selling from $65 to $80.

Stockers and feeders—Not enough receipts to make a market. Two loads of western heifers selling at 6c delivered, with two out at $5.25.

Sheep and lambs—Choice lambs sold readily at 13 to 13 1-2c; these included 400 western lambs of choice quality. The balance of the lambs were classed as yearlings at 9 to 10c; choice butchers' sheep, 6 1-2 to 7 1-2c; good, 5 to 6c; heavy fat sheep and bucks, 4 to 5c; cull sheep, 2 to 3c; choice spring lambs, 12 to 14c, with the odd fancy lamb up to 16c.

Calves — Choice veal calves sold from 12 to 12 1-2c; good, 10 to 11 1-2c; medium, 7 to 9 1-2c; common, 5 to 6c.

Hogs — Sold on Monday and Tuesday at $10.25 f.o.b.; $10.75 fed, $11.15 off cars. Week-end prices 25c lower on basis of $10 f.o.b. and $10.90 off cars.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., March 26 (Canadian Press)—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market was very quiet yesterday owing to the fact that exporters offered sparingly overnight.

Trading in coarse grains in the domestic market was of a moderate volume. American corn was stronger and prices were advanced one cent per bushel. Sales of No. 3 yellow were made at 83c, No. 4 yellow at 81c, and sample corn at 79c, per bushel. Canadian western oats were steady.

The undertone to the spring wheat flour market was firm, but the demand was quiet in all directions. Winter wheat flour was also dull, but prices were unchanged.

The millfeed market was again active and firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was again limited and prices ruled steady.

Owing to the continued liberal receipts of eggs, an easier feeling prevailed in the local market and prices were shaded one cent per dozen for five and ten case lots. The demand was good. The receipts were 2,653 cases.

The trade in potatoes continued steady and prices were unchanged. Sales of car lots of Quebec varieties were made at $1.25 pr bag of ninety pounds in bulk.

On account of the increased scarcity of creamery butter and the fact that stocks in first hands are about exhausted, a decidedly strong feeling developed in the market and prices scored another rise of 1-2c to 1c per pound. There was a steady demand for 25 and 50 package lots and sales of New Zealand and Australian finest creamery were made at 45 1-2 to 46c per pound, and Western fresh and re-graded No. 1 pasteurized at 45c per pound. The receipts were 21 packages.

The cheese trade continued extremely dull, but values showed no further chance. The receipts were 88 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 26 (Canadian Press)—Distinct betterment of export demand for all kinds of domestic wheat led to higher prices yesterday. Disturbing advices from China counted as a bullish factor early but later received less attention. Wheat closed firm, 1-4c to 5-8c net higher; corn 3-4 to 1 1-8c up; oats at 7-8 to 1 1-8c to 1 1-4c advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7c.

An oversold condition developed in the corn market with active buying on the part of previous sellers. Some corn export business was noted. Oats followed corn.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

FOR THINKING CHRISTIANS.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir: If a man die, shall he live again? A living man is a soul, and the soul that sinneth it shall die, and the Scriptures say we have all sinned and come short of the glory of God—short of the glory of our first parent, Adam, who was made perfect. But what saith the Scriptures, Jer. 31:17: And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come again to their own border; for thus saith the Lord, refrain thy voice from weeping and thine eyes from tears for thy work shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, and thy children shall come again from the land of the enemy (Death.)

Man's greatest enemy is death and we have no other border but the earth, and to this earth man returns when all that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of God, they shall be awakened from the sleep of death to a resurrection (or raising up) to life, to the new heaven and the new earth, (i.e., new ecclesiastical and new social order of earth) to the restoration of all things —Acts3:21.

Reason would have it that this is yet future; no earthly organization can set up Christ's kingdom, but He did say, Watch, therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour when the Lord cometh; but ye shall see signs of His (parousia) coming: wars and rumors of wars, distress of nations with perplexity, running to and fro in the earth, and knowledge shall increase. The sea and waves roaring, and men's hearts failing them for fear and for looking for those things that are coming on the earth.

We all see these signs. When ye see these things then know that the kingdom of heaven is at hand — the kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.

When the judgments of the Lord are in the earth men will learn righteousness. Isa. 65:24. And it shall come to pass that before they call I will answer and while they are yet speaking I will hear; the wolf and the lamb shall feed together and the lion shall eat straw like the bullock, and dust shall be the serpent's meat. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy kingdom, saith the Lord. We will rejoice and be glad in it.

A LOVER OF TRUTH.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)

The attack upon Charlie Chaplin is no less than a world tragedy. Without going into the merits of the case and without forming hasty judgments we can say this much.

Those who denounce the comedian and who ban his pictures merely upon the appearance of this scandal do not show good judgment. People should keep an open mind until the case has been properly adjudicated.

Charlie Chaplin is known all over the world and has given delight to audiences from Tokio to Timbuctoo. Probably no fun maker has enjoyed so wide a vogue.

It is but natural that his popularity has brought his financial returns. These no one ought to envy him. Unfortunately there is a disposition all common among human beings to pull down any one who occupies a place of prominence. The human grey wolves are always ready to attack any one of their number who gets too far in advance.

It is to be regretted that Chaplin's marital arrangements have become unsatisfactory and possibly his wife may have a good case against him, but the burden of proof is upon her. The temptation to assail a man of such prominence and ruin him is very great and all such attacks should be discounted until they are clearly proved.

No sooner had George Young achieved eminence by his successful swimming of the Catalina Channel than he was assailed by those who claimed he owed them money. No sooner had Amundsen flew over the North Pole than a controversy arose between his lieutentants. Shortly after Dewey achieved his phenomenal victory in Manilla he was attacked by those who did not like the fact that he gave his house to his wife.

The price of a pedestal is pretty high and those in excellent positions need to be more than ordinarily careful.

What a common man may do safely without extraordinary notoriety becomes a capital crime when the doer of a wrong act has a high position.

Uneasy must lie the head of any one who has excelled his fellows. The apostles of envy and discontent are ready to turn and rend him.

It is to be hoped that for the sake of the millions who have enjoyed Chaplin's humor, which has always been human and clean, that he will come out from his trial unscathed. He should be, of course, made to do the right thing in his domestic relations, but we trust that this can be accomplished without disturbing him and sending him the way of "Fatty" Arbuckle.

KIDNEY STONES

The diagnosis of the condition known as stones in the kidney is a very difficult one, even with our modern method of laboratory diagnosis. The X-ray does not always show the presence of these stones, as certain kinds, such as the calcium oxalate form do not show in X-ray pictures. These are the kind which are the hardest to remove, while those which can be easily photographed are always the easiest to dissolve. Sometimes the first laboratory findings which suggest a possible stone in the kidney is the discovery in the urine of crystals of which these stones are formed.

One of the first symptoms which will be felt when a stone has formed in the kidney will be sharp, shooting pains from either one side or the other around from the back to the bladder. The pains closely resemble those associated with gall stones, and are similar to those produced by intestinal gas. They are caused by the injury to the kidney or ureter inflicted by the stone in attempting to pass into the bladder.

These stones themselves are formed of various alkaline materials, which solidify in the urine and become masses of crystals and which, on removal, are often found to be hard enough to cut glass. An operation is usually advised, but I have handled many cases of this trouble and have seldom been forced to recommend surgical interference. I have found that in most cases, under a strict fasting regime, the kidney stone may be sufficiently dissolved so that the pieces will pass down the ureter into the bladder and finally out through the urethra.

When this dissolution takes place, great pain will often be experienced as the particles are attempting to pass through the small openings, and the sufferer must be patient to stand the terrific cramps and spasms from which here is seldom any escape until the pieces pass out.

A fruit juice fast is always to be recommended as the acid fruit juice seems to have a specific effect in dissolving the alkaline concretions. Patients are advised, after recovery, to drink large quantities of water, to use only a small amount of starchy food, and to indulge in more vigorous physical exercise.

Patients and doctors are often misled into believing that a kidney stone exists when a pain in the side is really caused by the pressure of excessive intestinal gas. The hepatic flexure of the colon, when in normal position, comes very close to the right kidney, and if a gas pocket exists at this section of the intestine it will often cause a distress similar to that caused by kidney stones. However, the pain is usually acute, and does not produce the colic and nausea which is present when a stone is irritating the kidney. Likewise, on the left side of the abdomen, the splenic flexure of the colon presses against the spleen and the left kidney, and gas in this section will cause a similar distress.

However, you can make no mistake in taking a fast and diet treatment if you suspect that you have kidney stones, as it will also tend to get rid of the accumulation of intestinal gas. The diet I suggested will also be the correct one to keep down an excessive amount of intestinal fermentation.

where she was before the Nationalist movement began.

But there is little doubt in the minds of the British that China is on the eve of the greatest upheaval the world has seen since Soviet Russia came into being, because the moment the military objects have been attained and the new status of foreigners defined, an economic crisis is bound to arise.

Upheaval Coming.

Workers throughout China have been persuaded, like the Russians were, that a new era is dawning when rises in wages and better living conditions will come naturally, and when they have been disillusioned they are certain to be, even as the Russians, the whole country will be thrown into a turmoil.

So far no man has appeared on the Chinese horizon who is apparently big enough for the gigantic job of lifting the country out of chaos, and the British foresee that they may be able to exercise a valuable influence in welding the future of China, but this will be unarmed influence designed to prevent Soviet influence from becoming predominant.

It is estimated that there are 6,000 missionaries and medical missions in China owning valuable property, most of whom will be compelled to abandon their work and property.

CHANG SEEKS TRUCE.

SHANGHAI, March 26.—(Canadian Press.) — Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian war lord, is reported to be desirous of negotiating with the Moderate Southerners for a truce, to be followed by the conclusion of peace. This report is confirmed by representatives of the Allied Northern armies of which Marshal Chang is commander-in-chief.

WOMEN OUTRAGED.

LONDON, May 26. — (Canadian Press.)— Japanese women and children were outraged and assaulted by Nationalist soldiers in Nanking, says a despatch to the Express. Nearly every garment had been torn from some of the women and children who appeared on the Bund for evacuation as the time limit expired last night. Some of the women had been brutally treated and they had fallen behind.

ALARMING REPORTS.

While the Nanking situation was less tense to-day, reports from other places on the river portray an alarming state of affairs, necessitating rapid evacuation of the remaining foreigners.

Although General Chiang Kai-shek, says the brutality should not be blamed upon the Nationalists, reports reaching Shanghai to-day told of looting, burning and assault on men and women indulged in by the Nationalists at Nanking and other places.

HARROWING TALES TOLD.

SHANGHAI, March 26. Canadian Press. — Harrowing tales of escape from the hands of lawless, bestial Cantonese soldiers, inflamed against foreigners, were related to-day by refugees arriving from Nanking on steamers. The refugees totalled more than two hundred.

Mrs. John Davis, wife of the American consul, and her two children, arrived with nothing save the clothes on their backs. She said the Cantonese had entered the consulate, threatening to kill all foreigners. On Thursday morning the Americans had gathered at the consulate when the consul ordered them to put away their arms for fear of provoking the Chinese. They heard that the British and the Japanese consuls had been killed, and the party started for the concentration point at Socony Hill. They had just left when Nationalist soldiers fired on them. For two miles they walked through constant sniping, reaching Socony exhausted. Private Plumpley was wounded.

Threatened by Soldiers.

Cantonese soldiers began coming in large groups, demanding money, and threatening to kill them. At last the Chinese began attacking in earnest, when a signal was sent to the warships for aid. The Cantonese had entered and were seeking for foreign women, when shells from the warships burst around the hill scaring the Chinese off. The party reached the river and went on board the warships, still facing constant sniping.

All the Americans in Nanking except Dr. Williams (who was murdered in cold blood), were accounted for. Four others were missing, however. Two Britishers were killed and one wounded, but reports that a British landing party was killed have not been confirmed.

CATHOLIC MISSIONARIES SAFE.

OSSINING, N. Y., March 26 — (United News.) — Sixty Catholic missionaries and nuns in China, including three in the northern part, are all safe, according to assurances received by the Rev. James A. Walsh, head of the Seminary of the Catholic Foreign Missions Society. Most of the workers sent from Ossining are in the South of China, away from the zone of fighting.

More U. S. Marines

WASHINGTON, March 26 (Canadian Press).—Fifteen hundred additional Marines have been ordered from Honolulu, to reinforce four thousand five hundred United States men, including the ship's crews already there. Three cruisers carrying a total of twelve hundred men and six destroyers, carrying a hundred each, are ordered to proceed to China immediately.

"SUMMER BACHELORS"

Madge Bellamy is the audacious heroine of Warner Fabian's candid novel, "Summer Bachelors", in the screen version produced by Allan Dwan for Fox Films, coming to the Capitol Theatre Monday. Following Miss Bellamy's brilliant portrayal of the flapper bride in "Sandy," another vivid characterization is to be expected.

Derry Thomas, Miss Bellamy's role in "Summer Bachelors", is a pretty girl of good family who earns her own living. Disillusioned about marriage, she determines never to wed. Despite her dare-devil air, she is instinctively prudent. Derry is a companion figure to Pat in Fabian's "Flaming Youth," but more rebellious, clearer in self-vision, less the creature of convention and accidental adventure.

Derry is drawn into a gay set of prosperous men who have been deserted by their wives for the summer. Parties follow in New York night clubs, fashionable roadhouses and at country estates within motoring distance of the city.

Here is rich material for the art of the camera. With the advantage of an enthralling story, Director Dwan chose an excellent cast. Allan Forest, who is starring in the Helen and Warren two-reel comedies for Fox, has the leading part opposite Miss Bellamy. Matt Moore, fresh from his success in "Early to Wed," is the absent-minded professor. Leila Hyams and Clifford Holland, a decidedly attractive couple, are in the secondary leads.

For players in supporting roles, director Dwan robbed Broadway of names that have been twinkling on marquees. Charles Winninger, star of "No, No, Nanette" and "Bubbles," and Walter Catlett, comedian in "Sally" and "Lady Be Good", have great comedy parts. Hale Hamilton, Olive Tell, Cosmo Bellew, James F. Cullen and Charles Esdale are other names backed by Broadway reputations. Hamilton is best known for his portrayal of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford." Cosmo Bellew was the British major in "Louis the Fourteenth." Charles Esdale played on Broadway in "Loyalties", "Quarantine" and "The Right Age to Marry." Miss Tell played in "Whispering Wires" and "Morphia" on the stage and recently appeared in numerous screen successes.

AT THE REGENT.

THE GREATEST OF ROMANTIC ACTORS AS THE GREATEST LOVER OF ROMANCE.

"Don Juan!" What adventurous and romantic fancies that name conjures up in the minds of the literature lovers of all nations!

Therefore, it is with pardonable pride that Warner Brothers present their super-production of "Don Juan," starring John Barrymore, which comes to the Regent Theatre on Monday.

This inimitable love-chronicle artfully combining intimacy, action and splendour, loosely adheres to the tradition of Don Juan Tenorio, grandee of Spain, upon which Moliere, Balzac, Byron, Zorilla and many others have based enduring contributions to the world's classics. The source-character of Don Juan possesses the characteristics of irresistible charm, grace and masculine comeliness. He is accomplished, aggressive, audacious in affairs of honor or the heart. Men instinctively acknowledge his natural precedence in the kingdom of intellect and power—women his mastery in the realm of emotion and love.

The prologue is set in a grim but beautiful castle in Spain. Decadent Rome, the seat of Holy Church, and, beside it, a whirlpool of intrigue, profligacy; a strange mixture of chivalry and Machiavellian expediency; pure romance and illicit passion, noble aims and ulterior motives, is locale of the story proper. There in all its evil scintillant magnificence is the wordly court of Lucrezia and Caesar Borgia. There, too, the ancient palace of the great and honorable house of Varnese, sheltering the object of Don Juan's love.

Good Turn Brings Man Beating and Heavy Loss

TORONTO, March 26 (Canadian Press).—Arthur Brodey, who offered to give a ride to three men who wanted to drive from one section of the city to another early today, was slugged over the head, beaten into unconsciousness, and then thrown out into a ravine. True Distinction

Beautiful Chevrolet
Chevrolet History

GP-2716

NOT merely to provide an economical means of transportation has been the aim in the making of the Most Beautiful Chevrolet—but to produce a car, at low price, which would satisfy the motorists' finer tastes.

True distinction is evident in every line of the Fisher-Built Bodies of the Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History. Refinement and good taste are reflected in the new Duco colorings—in the rich, luxurious upholsteries—in the handsome new radiator design—in the massive full-crown fenders—in the fine-quality hardware—in the completeness of the appointments.

As there is the quality of the thoroughbred in the appearance of the Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History, so there is the same quality in its performance. New refinements, added to the smooth, powerful Chevrolet engine (the New A C Air Cleaner and Oil Filter, for example) offer definite assurance of longer life, better operation and greater economy.

The Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History is now selling at NEW and LOWER PRICES—the lowest for which Chevrolet has ever been sold in Canada.

PLAN GROUNDS FOR BEAUTY TOO

House Should Be Placed To Make Whole Street Look Better.

GROUP BUILDING.

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON.

Spring is over the hill. For some it is already Spring. But to those of us whose lawns are still buried under layers of snow and ice, comes the exciting thought of snowdrops in two or three weeks thrusting their delicate little heads on bent necks into a weary waiting world.

It is another year.

There is a sort of accumulated activity in the human animal that peculiarly finds an outlet in the Spring by excessive interest in his abode. It may be a coat of paint outside or paper inside— repairs, an addition, perhaps a new house altogether.

To those fortunate people who are going to put up a house of their own a little house, or a big house, or a middling sized house, the plan's the thing of course.

These cold winter nights when heads are bent over the living room table, the talk is chiefly of wedging in extra bath rooms, closets and fireplaces without increasing the cost.

All fine and elegant — and necessary! But how many people are studying the land the house is to go on, or the street, or community? Where is the house to be placed so that not only the house but the entire neighborhood will appear to the best advantage?.

We often pay too little attention to ground conditions and community facts when we build. It is the real secret of the city beautiful. One beautiful city goes in for group building in its suburbs. Three families, for instance, buy three lots and fix it up like a park. There houses are grouped at certain places in the small park to give the greatest effect for beauty.

Fairyland

It is just like fairyland. No rows of stiff houses standing in straight lines with their noses poked out over their toes. Too many people place their houses too near the street and have all the space in the back yard. A little ingenuity will add thousands of dollars to the value of your property.

Another thing! Young poplar trees —Lombardy populars —costs only a dollar and a half each. Try grouping three of them somewhere on your lot. They grow fast.

SYNTHETIC HOMES TAKE QUEER FORMS

Even Puffed Rice and Clinkers Go Into Walls; Steel Houses Offer Possibilities.

Would you live in a house of steel? Perhaps your children's children will, and like it, too. In the not-so-far distant future the world's millions may be housed in synthetic homes, built in a day, not by ones or twos, but by hundreds; not by hand, but by machinery.

To-day experimental houses are going up on all sides, some of steel, some of clay, some of molded concrete blocks. Any one of them may set the style for the homes of the future.

For instance, there is the circular house, result of an interesting experiment by Martin Koerber, of Greiz, Germany. The walls of his remarkable house are fastened to a domelike frame of iron girders. Four days after the brick foundation was in place workmen had completed the five-ton framework. In a short time the outer walls, two-inch slabs of heat insulting material, were screwed on, and the owner moved in.

Houses of steel offer attractive possibilities for economy. As in automobile manufacture, the parts can be standardized and made in such quantity as to greatly reduce the cost. An English iron and steel manufacturer, Lord Weir, has done this in Glasgow, Scotland, where in a notable housing experiment he has provided homes for the workmen of that city. His houses are of felt lined steel plates on a wooden frame; three motor trucks will carry one of them from factory to site, where it is assembled in a few hours. The steel walls are painted to resemble brick, or covered with a thin veneer of artificial stone, to give a pleasing exterior. Such a house of the bungalow type, with living room, two bedrooms, kitchenette and bath, is said to cost only $1,800.

All steel houses, frame included, have been constructed in this country also. Holes are punched in the metal supporting members at the proper places, and wrenches instead of hammers put the house together.

One of Edison's pet ideas is the synthetic house. He sees it, not as of steel construction, but as a shell of quick setting cement, poured at one stroke into a mold the size of the finished house. Could the dwelling be poured in one operation its cost would be slashed to a minimum.

Many kinds of concrete are being tried for home building. Clay is being used in Sorau, Germany. In Amsterdam, Holland, clinkers from the city incinerator are mixed with concrete to form air spaces, small and well distributed, providing waterproofing and insulation against cold and heat. One European engineer has even tried mixing puffed rice with concrete for the same purpose, presenting the interesting possibility of raising a crop to build a home!

SAVES BEASTIE

ASBURY PARK, N.J., March 26—Patrolman Joseph Sullivan must have been reading Robert Burns. Anyhow, he dashed into a blazing delicatessen store here recently to rescue a mouse trapped in the show window. He released it when it revived in the fresh air.

TRENTON MAN IS VERY GRATEFUL

SAYS THAT "FRUIT-A-TIVES" STOPPED NERVOUS HEADACHES

MR. R. A. BOVAY.

Mr. Roy A. Bovay, of Trenton, Ontario, thinks very highly of "Fruit-a-tives" for removing the cause of nervous headaches.

"I wish I could tell every sufferer in the world what 'Fruit-a-tives' have done for me," he writes. "For years I was much troubled by bad headaches, nervous dyspepsia and liver troubles. Then I commenced taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' Thanks to these wonderful tablets I am once more entirely well."

Are you, too, afflicted with nervous headaches? Quite probably they are traceable to lazy bowels, stomach, kidneys or liver. What you need is the gentle, natural help of "Fruit-a-tives" which is made from intensified fresh fruit juices blended with tonics. "Fruit-a-tives" is nature's own ally in promoting health and happiness. Enlist its aid for yourself, today. 25c and 50c, everywhere.

ARMOUR'S HILL A BEAUTY SPOT

Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League Plans Glorious Memorial.

VIEW IMPRESSIVE

How many people are there in Peterboro who know—really know—of the beauties of Armour's Hill, and the beautiful view of the surrounding country that can be obtained from its summit?

How many people are there in Peterboro who have really been to the summit of the Hill? Riding past the school in a car does not take you over the summit by any means. It is necessary to leave the car and go to the extreme top of the hill before you can get the full and impressive beauty of the view.

How many people are there in Peterboro who really know what the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham is doing toward making the hill into a beautiful war memorial?

At present as you drive by the hill in the middle of the summer you see nothing but knee high grass. How many people know that nestling in the grass there are at the present time twenty-five thousand trees already set out, thanks to the Women's Patriotic League, above mentioned?

From funds raised by themselves, the ladies of the league purchased the hill about four years ago, and they are making plans to beautify it further, from their own funds also. It is a worthy object for which they are working and one for which future generations will rise up and call them blessed. In the years to come, when their plans shall have matured, and Armour's Hill stands out in beauty and grandeur, we shall then be able to appreciate the efforts they have put forth.
